The Self-Absorbed Get a Makeover

Candace Havens FYI Television, Inc.

In our modern culture, if you want to know where your friends went to dinner, you just check out their social media pages. We document our lives for the world to see, without working on those relationships in real life that matter. We'd rather text or tweet than talk and actually hang out. It's a sad lesson that Eliza Dooley (Karen Gillan, "Dr. Who," "Guardians of the Galaxy") is learning on "Selfie," airing Tuesday at 7 p.m. on ABC.

In this twist on George Bernard Shaw's "Pygmalion," Eliza recently discovered that she had no friends, even though she had more than 263,000 online followers. One mishap in public and she's become the laughing stock of the web and at work. She's enlisted the help of market guru Henry (John Cho, "Star Trek Into Darkness") to give her a lifestyle and personality makeover. Henry has his work her phone and fails to see the world around her.

"I think that it does feel very topical and very relevant to me," says creator and executive producer Emily Kapnek ("Suburgatory"). "I think that as an area to explore, that sort of investigation of someone who is stuck behind that device, and in some ways realizes that she's not getting out of it what she thinks she is, just feels like a great, rich area.

"I think 'selfie' is a very provocative word," Kapnek continues. "But I think that for us, it really speaks to the disease that Eliza has in that she's sort of consumed by this world and keeping the world at arm's distance. She has the phone in her hand, and it becomes a descriptive word for us. I think John's character in Henry is probably equally as self-absorbed as Eliza."

The transformation will take some time. "We do expect it to take seasons and seasons," Kapnek says of the character's more immediately, but I think with her character it's a little bit of one step forward, two steps back. Karen and John have fantastic chemistry. I think we were surprised by how much it popped for us in the pilot, particularly in the scene where he picked her up to go to the wedding, and even at the end somewhat, so it's definitely something we want to grow slowly, but we have our work cut out for us with Eliza and her lessons bit by bit."

A brilliant workaholic, Henry isn't exactly perfect. While he has a refined nature and can teach Eliza a great deal, the lines between teacher and student sometimes blur. "She notices quickly that what he's preaching, he isn't necessarily practicing," Kapnek says. "His life needs work as well. So, it really is our intention to grow Henry into a character who is really right for her in some ways and vice versa."

Cho admits he has some of his character's cynicism. "It does seem like the entire world is Eliza to me," says Cho. "Everyone is posting everything as it happens in real time, and it's distracting. Jonathan Franzen says, 'Social media is like looking in a mirror and inviting the whole world to look in it with you, at you.' And I feel like that's pretty accurate.

"I was just thinking recently about Henry's background and looking at 'My Fair Lady," continues Cho. "[Henry Higgins] was a linguistics expert. I was thinking about how as an immigrant I kind of have that. I'm a bit of a linguistics expert, too. When you're not born in this country, you tend to study how the natives talk. A little bit like 'Gatsby' or something - I mean, it doesn't work when you look different, which is the lesson I learned. But you become an expert in how your neighbors, friends and schoolmates come off."

While Scottish actress Gillan is aware of social media, became more aware of it when I was on 'Dr. Who' because we were being talked about," Gillan says. "I learned then that you should probably never Google yourself, so that became a rule in my life. I did join Twitter. It was very exciting. I don't understand hashtags. I don't understand what they're for. I know how to use them. I should probably know that. Maybe I should do some research on that," she laughs.

THIS WEEK'S BEST BETS

FRIDAY A to Z

NBC, 7:30 p.m.

When a computer glitch sends her a total mismatch, Zelda (Cristin Milioti) is asked to come in for an interview at the Internet dating site where Andrew (Ben Feldman) works, and so begins the romance. Despite their differences, sparks fly between Andrew and Zelda. She thinks it's by chance, whereas he believes it to be fate. But it remains to be seen whether this pair that almost wasn't finds true love or just a detour in destiny.

SATURDAY College Football

NBC, 2:30 p.m.

Everett Golson is back under center for the Fighting Irish of Notre Dame, who will be hosting the Stanford Cardinals. Golson has returned to Notre Dame following a one-year suspension for an academic violation. In 2012, Golson led the Fighting Irish to the National Championship game, where the Irish were soundly defeated by Alabama, 42-14. Golson returned and in his first game back with Notre Dame, he threw five touchdown passes against Rice. Notre Dame leads the all-time series with Stanford, 18-10, but the Cardinals have won four of the last five meetings.

Stanford is 3-11 at Notre Dame Stadium.

SUNDAY

Mulaney FOX, 8:30 p.m.

Emmy-winning writer and comedian John Mulaney ("Saturday Night Live") stars as a rising stand-up comic trying to take his career to the him back and push him around on the multi-camera ensemble comedy series. Costarring on the series are Zack Pearlman, Nasim Pedrad, Seaton Smith, Martin Short and Elliott Gould.

MONDAY

Gotham

Mulaney

FOX, 7 p.m.

Detectives Bullock (Donal Logue) and Gordon (Ben McKenzie) track down a vigilante who is killing corrupt citizens of the city by attaching them to weather balloons. Meanwhile, Oswald Cobblepot (Robin Lord Taylor) returns to Gotham and secures a new position that is close to an important figure in the local underworld.

Scorpion

TV STAR

CBS, 8 p.m.

After Team Scorpion fails a military training mission, they are determined to prove their worth to Agent Cabe Gallo (Robert Patrick) and Homeland Security when a bomber threatens to take out the internet infrastructure of the entire Southwest. Co-starring on the spy drama are Elyes Gabel, Katherine McPhee, Eddie Kaye Thomas, Jadyn Wong and Ari Stidham.

TUESDAY

Manhattan Love Story ABC, 7:30 p.m.

The new series follows Dana (Analeigh Tipton, "Crazy, Stupid, Love") and Peter (Jake McDorman, "Shameless") as they navigate the complicated terrain of a modern-day relationship in New York. The romantic comedy is based on this simple premise: The only way to maintain relationships – with lovers, spouses, family, co-workers or friends – is to keep most of our thoughts to ourselves. But the audience will hear Dana and Peter's inner thoughts, which highlight the differences of men and women as this couple traverses the highs and lows of dating.

WEDNESDAY

Criminal Minds CBS, 8 p.m.

Penelope Garcia (Kirsten Vangsness) heads to Texas to confront the man she shot while defending Reid (Matthew Gray Gubler) and herself, as he waits on Death Row. Meanwhile, a series of abductions and murders in Seattle sends the BAU seeking an UnSub who was abused in the past and is out for revenge. C.S. Lee ("Dexter") guest-stars on the episode as high school English teacher Justin Leu.

THURSDAY Bad Judge NBC, 8 p.m.

Wild child Rebecca Wright (Kate Walsh) may know how to have a good time, but she also happens to be one of L.A.'s toughest and most respected criminal court justices, albeit one with a reputation for unorthodox behavior in the courtroom, on the new drama series. As a judge, Rebecca is known for her creative rulings and saying exactly what's on her mind. Her private life, on the other hand, is anything but innocent. She parties too much and rocks out on the drums in a band with her best friend, Jenny (Arden Myrin). While there's no shortage of male admirers who would love to spend time with her, Rebecca is just not ready to settle down. No excuses, no apologies, and no compromises. The cast also includes Tone Bell, Ryan Hansen, John Ducey and Miguel Sandoval.

Optimism in a Flash of Red

Dan Rice

FYI Television, Inc. The DC Comics universe

continues its expansion onto the small screen as the fastest man alive streaks onto The CW with the new action drama "The Flash," premiering Tuesday at 8 p.m. First appearing in Flash Comics #1 of 1940, created by Gardner Fox and Harry Lampert, the identity of the speedy superhero has been assumed by four different characters in print, while Grant Gustin provides the second live-action incarnation on television.

A spin-off to The CW's "Arrow," "The Flash" begins its origin story with the mother of 11-year-old Barry Allen getting killed in a bizarre incident, for which his father (played by John Wesley Shipp, who starred on CBS' "The Flash" from 1990 to 1991) is wrongly convicted. His life forever changed by the unimaginable tragedy, Barry is taken in by Detective Joe West (Jesse L. Martin) and grows up to be a skilled forensics investigator (Gustin). Obsessed with every checks out the powerful new particle accelerator created by visionary physicist Harrison Wells (Tom Cavanaugh) and his S.T.A.R. Labs team, but a devastating explosion causes a freak storm and Barry is struck by lightning. After nine months in a coma, he awakens to find the accident has given him super speed, but The Flash is not the only metahuman created by the blast, and not everyone is using their new powers for good.

scientific advancement, Barry

"We've incorporated almost everything from the mythology into it and added a whole new backstory with S.T.A.R. Labs and that team," says writerproducer Geoff Johns, Chief Creative Officer for DC Entertainment. "But it's probably the most faithful DC Comics adaptation ever, as deep as we're going to go and as many characters as we're using."

Those characters also include Dr. Caitlin Snow (Danielle Panabaker), the civilian identity of the DC Comics villain Killer Frost. Snow is convinced the S.T.A.R. Labs explosion is responsible for the loss of her fiancé, Ronnie Raymond (Robbie Amell), who is destined to be one-half of the hero known as Firestorm. Eddie Thawne (Rick Cosnett), a recent addition to the Central City Police Department, is based on DC Comics' Professor Zoom, a supervillain who becomes the archenemy of The Flash. And there will be others.

"Wentworth Miller will be playing Captain Cold in episode 4 of our show," reveals writer-producer Greg Berlanti. "Leonard Snart, we'll be seeing his origin and the origin of The Rogues." Their villainous ranks also include Heat Wave, played by Miller's "Prison Break" costar Dominic Purcell.

While some of these comic book villains aren't so well known, even the hero required a bit of study. "To be honest, I didn't know too much about Barry Allen," Gustin admits. "I knew what The Flash's powers were. I kind of knew how he got his power. I didn't know the specifics of the origin story. This is my favorite character I've ever gotten to play thus far in my young career. I mean, he's just so endearing. He's so sweet. He's curious ..."

"He's a nerd," Martin interjects. "He's a nerd, veah," Gustin concurs. "And now he's a superhero."

Not just a superhero, but a spiritual hero determined to spare others from the pain and sadness that drives him on in his mission.

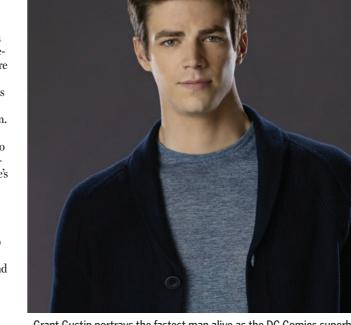

"Well, he's always wanted to be helpful," Gustin explains. "He's always wanted to help people. I mean, his life goal is always to kind of make up for what put his dad in prison and get him out and kind of help his dad in any way he can. I mean, it's just now he has these powers, and he can use them to help other people's families so nobody has to experience what Barry experienced when he was 11."

"Flash is such an optimistic character and it's all about > moving forward," Johns agrees. "When I wrote the comic, it was really about giving him an emotional anchor that would hold him back, something that happened a long time ago that would make his journey - he could have easily become a Batman like character, but Barry Allen's an optimist and keeping hold of that hope despite the tragedy in his past makes him an even better hero."

1. This former "King of Late Night" incorporated such comedy routines in his show as psychically divining unseen answers to unknown questions in his guise as "Carnac the Magnificent."

2. This recently passed comedienne was a favorite quest host for the previous star, but when she accepted a talk show gig on rival FOX, he never spoke to her again.

3. Running from 1989 to 1994, this host's late-night show was known for the "Woof! Woof! Woof!" howls and whirling fists of its attendant "Dog Pound."

When this innovative and soon-to-retire host first started his late-night show, one of its recurring characters was Larry "Bud" Melman, played by the late Calvert DeForest.

5. One of the original cast members of "Saturday Night Live," this comedian's shortlived talk show on FOX was canceled after only five weeks on the air.

6. Formerly a big-band singer, this gentle and amiable host was long joined by veteran British character actor Arthur Treacher as his announcer and sidekick.

7. It was on her prestigious talk show couch that Tom Cruise iumped up and down while declaring his love for Katie Holmes.

In Germany it's the start of Oktoberfest. It is a time of many contradictions. It's called Oktoberfest but it starts in September. It's a joyous celebration but it takes place in Germany.

Oktoberfest is the best time to visit Germany. Probably the worst time would be about 1937.

Justin Bieber's monkey is not German. He is abandoned in Germany, but he's actually Canadian. He went from "Give me the banana" to "Papers, please."

THE BOLD AND THE BEAUTIFUL

Wyatt was rocked by Hope's news that will change their lives forever. Having almost experienced a great loss, Bill and Katie made an agreement to get along for the sake of their child. Brooke made a life-changing decision about her future. Eric was caught off-guard when he received an unexpected visit from his longlost brother, John. Bill made a desperate plea to Brooke to keep him in her life after she left Los Angeles. Katie was blindsided when Brooke told her that she was moving to Italy and the reason behind her sudden decision. Ivy was stunned by the identity of the guest of honor at Pam's dinner party. Quinn confronted Hope about the disdain she felt for her. Wait to See: Liam is forced to reveal his intentions toward Ivy. Rick learns a closely guarded secret. Katie begins to second-guess her future.

DAYS OF OUR LIVES

Sami couldn't help but question EJ about Kristen's accusation. Kate and Chad plotted to outwit Stefano. Clyde made plans to doublecross EJ. Paige was thrown by JJ's odd behavior as he struggled with whether to come clean with her. Nicole and EJ shared a surprisingly warm moment. Kate played mind games with Jordan concerning Rafe and Clyde. Jennifer smacked Eve after she critiqued her marriage to Jack. Ben and Abigail made love for the first time. Theresa's worst nightmare came true. Marlena and John shared a huge, emotional reunion. Victor had some stunning news for EJ. Hope told Victor and Maggie that she was divorcing Bo. Wait to See: An angry Stefano turns his back on EJ. Kayla is uncomfortable when Paige questions her about JJ's dad. Brady finds himself being drawn back into Kristen's web.

GENERAL HOSPITAL

Elizabeth continued to keep a close watch over the mysterious John Doe patient. While Sam took Danny to a checkup, Silas questioned Sam about her relationship with Patrick. Meanwhile, Danny accidentally wandered into John Doe's hospital room. Julian encouraged Ava to keep a low profile. Sonny warned Julian not to mess with his family. Anna asked Jordan if she was prepared to testify against Shawn. Kiki was incensed after Michael filled her in on his recent predicament. Maxie questioned her choices in life. Franco made a decision about whether to trust Carly. In the interim, Sonny pleaded his case to Carly about their irrefutable bond. Patrick and Sam embarked on a journey to find Luke. Monica shared John Doe's diagnosis with Elizabeth. Wait to See: Silas starts to question Nina's actions. Judge Walters gives Maxie an ultimatum regarding her daughter. Milo takes Epiphany out on a date.

THE YOUNG AND THE RESTLESS

Sharon was pleased when Mariah arrived to try on bridesmaid dresses. Victor found out that Phyllis had fled the clinic. Paul and Christine fought about the evidence mounting against Dylan. Nikki started drinking again. Mariah asked Kevin to be her date to her mom's wedding. Neil encouraged Hilary to go alone on the business trip to New York. Devon booked a hotel room in the middle of the day. Ashley let Jack know that she wanted to be co-CEO of Jabot. Billy reminded Victoria that she was the one who wanted the divorce, so she had no right to be jealous of Chelsea. Gloria accused Lauren of lying to her about Fen. Avery was shocked to see her ex-husband, Joe, in Genoa City. Nikki worried that the bartender at the bachelorette party would recognize her. Wait to See: Friends and family gather for Nick and Sharon's wedding. Devon flies to New York to see Hilary. Joe decides to stick around.
