Million Needy Given Jobs on New Projects

$100,000,000 Made Available for Wages; Challenge Accepted.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 — A $100,000,000 fund for unemployed relief work was announced by the president yesterday as a challenge to industry to "do its share" in providing work for the jobless.

The announcement of plans for the expenditure of funds for relief work, which was initiated by Administrator Harry L. Hopkins in conference with the president, was made by Harry L. Hopkins in person at the white house.

The $100,000,000 fund is made up of $50,000,000 from the emergency relief appropriation, $50,000,000 from the public works administration and $50,000,000 from special donation of temporary emergency relief funds by the president directly, without congressional action.

Challenge Accepted

"We have accepted the challenge presented by the president," said Hopkins. "Relief is not enough; they want work and relief."

The plans are intended to provide work relief work for the jobless, consisting of short-term projects which can be started within a few days, and projects which will take longer to complete, but which will be completed in the other half the year, or projects which will be started in the spring and will continue for long periods.

Hopkins said the program will be worked out with industry.
