Late Laughs

The Tonight Show Starring Jimmy Fallon

Apple has announced a product event for later this month [October] where they're expected to debut a touchscreen Mac. They even have a cool name for it — an iPad.

Disney announced that they will air a Star Wars-themed version of Super Bowl LXI and that Darth Vader will start interviewing real players on "Monday Night Football." Disney said that they're excited that they found a way to ruin Star Wars and football.

KFC announced that all their restaurants are switching from Pepsi to Coca-Cola. Right now, it's the one positive thing Trump can point to on his first two years.

Nearly $1 million worth of sports and Pokémon cards were recently stolen from a FedEx truck. Hey, listen, if you go to jail for stealing a Squirtle, just say you're in for murder.

Apparently, many White House officials believe that Democrats will sweep the midterms and Trump will respond by firing some of his key staffers. Yeah, it's tough because some of Trump's key staffers have been with him for three, even four days.

Jimmy Kimmel Live!

I am going to tell you I am still shell-shocked right now. We're still trying to make sense of what happened last night [Oct. 13]. I'll be honest. I've been questioning the existence of God because after what will no doubt go down as the most shocking and unjust elimination in the history of "Dancing With the Stars," the people's champion, the man who put the bar in Baryshnikov, our own beloved Guillermo was cruelly and inexplicably thrown overboard on a Taco Tuesday of all nights. Makes no sense. They eliminated the most adorable part of the whole. It's like if "The Mandalorian" killed off Baby Yoda.

According to The Washington Post, [Pete] Hegseth wanted an antique globe for his office, specifically a globe that had been used by [Dwight D.] Eisenhower during World War II. So, his staff got the globe out of storage and broke it. They literally broke the world. According to the story, trained curators typically move historical artifacts, but Hegseth's staff hired a different team and they broke it. That's what they do. If Trump ran a china shop, he'd staff it with bulls.

Late Night With Seth Meyers

The ice cream chain Cold Stone Creamery has introduced a new menu inspired by the upcoming film "The Cat in the Hat." Meanwhile, Denny's is serving green eggs and ham, but it has nothing to do with the book.

President Trump has reportedly told aides he wants to replace the White House's press briefing room with an indoor swimming pool. Okay, so he's already got a ballroom, and now, he wants an indoor pool. He's slowly turning the White House into a Courtyard by Marriott.

Criminal Claus: Santa recruits from naughty list in festive family flick

By Dana Simpson
TV Media

Alan Ritchson in "The Man With the Bag"

Between 1979 and the early aughts, Austrian American bodybuilding champion, businessman and then-future governor of California Arnold Schwarzenegger ("The Terminator," 1984) spent the bulk of his time performing in front of the camera in both action flicks and family films. Having appeared in 34 films (plus TV episodes and music videos) in the 26 years leading up to 2005, when "Arnie" famously says he'll be back, it's hard not to believe him. Most of us just never thought he'd be back in the form of Santa Claus.

This December, Schwarzenegger dons the big red suit and teams up with 2020s action star Alan Ritchson ("Reacher") for a holiday heist unlike any other. "The Man with the Bag," a new family-friendly movie from director Adam Shankman ("Bringing Down the House," 2003), premieres Wednesday, Dec. 2, on Prime Video.

"When Santa's (Schwarzenegger) iconic red bag is stolen by a rogue elf with a grudge [Awkwafina, "Crazy Rich Asians," 2018], Christmas is suddenly at risk," begins the Amazon MGM Studios logline. "With his biggest night of the year fast approaching, Santa recruits a thief (Ritchson) from his 'Naughty List' who quickly assembles a crew of criminally skilled misfits — with a little help from elves and reindeer — to pull off the most unexpected heist of their lives.

"Packed with holiday magic, big laughs and plenty of heart," the write-up continues, "'The Man with the Bag' is a holiday heist adventure about second chances, unlikely friendships and discovering that sometimes even Santa needs a little help delivering Christmas."

If the plot sounds familiar, chances are you are thinking of "Red One," the 2024 Prime Original Christmas caper starring Dwayne Johnson ("Young Rock") as Santa's head of security, Callum Drift. In "Red One," it is Santa, as played by J.K. Simmons ("Whiplash," 2014) — not his magic toy bag — who has been kidnapped, leaving Drift to enlist the help of Naughty List bounty hunter Jack O'Malley (Chris Evans, "Captain America: The First Avenger," 2011) to help him retrieve the jolly old elf.

While "Red One" did not fare well in theaters, returning just $186 million of its $250-million budget, according to CBR.com, the film went on to set streaming records for Prime Video, reporting 50 million global viewers in its debut weekend on the platform despite complaints regarding heavily used and poorly rendered CGI and visual effects.

In what is hopefully good news for "The Man with the Bag" and its audiences, visual effects and computer graphics within the film are reportedly reserved for animation regarding Santa's bag, some elf-related action and other sporatic moments of holiday magic. Additionally, VFX is supervised by Leslie Chung ("Star Trek: Discovery") of Crafty Apes, a company that has provided special effects for "Immaculate" (2024), "The Holdovers" (2023) and the 2025 Disney+ sci-fi horror series "Alien: Earth."

But on-set energy is arguably even more important for a film's success than its visual effects, and that, according to Schwarzenegger, was a delight.

"It is fantastic to be shooting 'The Man with the Bag' with @alanritchson," Schwarzenegger wrote on his Instagram account (@schwarzenegger) on Dec. 17, 2024, during filming. "Our director @adamshankman is one of the funniest directors I've worked with, New York City is an amazing host, working with @amazonmgmstudios is a joy, and I can't wait to share all of this Christmas cheer with each and every one of you."

As for Ritchson's experience on set, the 43-year-old action star visited the "Armchair Expert" podcast in July and told hosts Dax Shepard ("Idiocracy," 2006) and Monica Padman ("Rutherford Falls") how gratifying it was to work alongside such an esteemed veteran of the business.

"He taught me a lot about how gratitude should manifest in the life of somebody dealing with fame," said Ritchson, later adding that "he [Schwazenegger] makes time for everybody. ... He showed me something really interesting in the way that he approaches life and his lot in life, and I really deeply admire how he treats people."

Queens-born comedian and actor Awkwafina, who has a fight scene with Schwarzenegger in the film, likewise commended the "Commando" (1985) actor for his kindness, calling him "so magnanimous, so warm" in a "Late Night with Seth Meyers" interview on Nov. 6.

Berkeley James ("Middlehood"), Jane Krakowski ("30 Rock"), Liza Koshy ("KPop Demon Hunters," 2025), Ken Jeong ("The Hangover," 2009), Roger Bart ("The Producers," 2005), Michael Cyril Creighton ("Only Murders in the Building"), Murray Hill ("Somebody Somewhere"), Adrian Martinez ("The Secret Life of Walter Mitty," 2013) and Kyle Mooney ("Street Fighter," 2026) also appear in "The Man with the Bag," while music for the film is provided by composer John Debney, who is best known for his work on the 2017 feature musical "The Greatest Showman" as well as the 2003 holiday classic "Elf" and Disney's Hocus Pocus franchise.

Catch Schwarzenegger's first Christmas film in 30 years when "The Man with the Bag" premieres Wednesday, Dec. 2, on Prime Video. And for those looking to get into the bemuscled holiday spirit beforehand, check out the 1996 Schwarzenegger classic "Jingle All the Way," streaming on Disney+ and Starz, or available to rent on Apple TV+ and Prime Video.

Doom with a view: New Zealand-set murder mystery series returns with 'Remarkable' new season

By Sarah Passingham
TV Media

Chelsie Preston Crayford in "A Remarkable Place to Die"

Any number of things can label someone an outsider, but a different perspective can really set someone apart when they're a member of a small community. For Det. Anais Mallory (Chelsie Preston Crayford, "Dark City: The Cleaner"), returning home to Queenstown, New Zealand, after years spent investigating Sydney homicides in Australia meant feeling on the outs in the place where she grew up, but that outsider's point of view made all the difference in solving her sister's (Tara Canton, "After the Party") murder. She can see what the crooks of Queenstown don't expect her to.

Back with its Season 2 premiere Monday, Nov. 30, "A Remarkable Place to Die" returns to Acorn TV with another murder mystery that only Anais can solve. Expanded this time to six episodes (Season 1 had just four), new episodes will be available to stream every Monday.

The upcoming season of the crime drama follows Anais as she works cases in her official capacity as a detective, meanwhile maintaining her secret investigation into a shocking murder that was revealed last season. When Anais' former best friend, Maja Staunton (Indiana Evans, "Secrets and Lies"), was found murdered, her body staged in a gruesome scene, the detective's instincts kicked in and she couldn't help but get started on the case.

However, as revealed in the official trailer for the upcoming season, Anais has been barred from investigating Maja's death. No stranger to a little off-the-books detective work, Anais doesn't let red tape stop her, especially once she starts making connections between Maja and her sister's murder. Suddenly hot on the trail of a larger conspiracy, it is not long before dangerous people let Anais know she has gotten too close to the truth.

Reprising their roles in "A Remarkable Place to Die" this season are Matt Whelan ("The Gone") as Det. Simon Delaney; Roimata Fox ("The Brokenwood Mysteries") as Sgt. Hoana Rata; Dahnu Graham ("Sweet Tooth") as Const. Jarrod Renner; Mark Mitchinson ("East of Eden") as regional detective Vernon Kincaid; and Michala Banas ("Blue Murder Motel") as Kylie Shorrock. Joining the cast this season are Luke Arnold ("Nautilus") and JJ Fong ("Shortland Street"), with guest stars including Rodger Corser ("Doctor Doctor") and Antonia Prebble ("Westside").

"A Remarkable Place to Die" was created by executive producer Philly de Lacey ("The Gulf") and writer John Banas ("City Homicide"). Directors this season include Peter Burger ("One Lane Bridge"), Emmett Skilton ("Millennial Jenny"), Victoria Boult ("literally dead") and Charlie Haskell ("Power Rangers Dino Fury").

The series is filmed on location in Queenstown — Tahuna in Maori language — and is an international co-production for Acorn TV, Germany's ZDF, Nine Network in Australia and TVNZ. "A Remarkable Place to Die" contrasts grizzly crimes against beautiful local scenery made famous in Peter Jackson's Lord of the Rings film trilogy, including the mountain range, The Remarkables, which get a nod in the show's title.

This season, Graham serves double duty with some behind-the-scenes work in the writers room. The actor penned the third episode of the upcoming season, which delves into local Maori customs and language.

Wherever Anais turns, she sees a ghost of her past or evidence of encroaching evil. In the trailer, Vernon asks her what experience she has with investigating professional killers, "someone who doesn't leave trails, traces." After last season's investigation unearthed Queenstown's dark side, not even hired guns are out of the question.

A frightening threat tells Anais that news of her investigation has reached those involved in Maja's death, however. The trailer also reveals that her extracurricular work has caught the eye of her boss. "Why shouldn't I refer all of this to the Police Conduct Authority?" Vernon asks Anais. Confident that they want the same thing at the end of the day, even though she's defied professional boundaries, she tells him she will be the one to solve the case.

As Anais' secret investigation catches up to her, she is both forced to act quickly and warned that her tactics are dangerous, putting her in an impossible position. On the verge of a breakthrough in Maja's case, Anais must make all the right moves in order to potentially save the next victim.

Making a meaningfully local production of "A Remarkable Place to Die" was important for de Lacey, who said in a statement that when New Zealand Prime Minister Christopher Luxon visited the set last November, "this renewal is more than continuing a great international co-production, it's about building a sustainable industry in Queenstown/Tahuna, showcasing our culture to the world and creating opportunities for local talent."

Join Anais' case and catch the season premiere of "A Remarkable Place to Die," Monday, Nov. 30, on Acorn TV.

'CMA Country Christmas' sends cheer from Nashville

By Sarah Passingham
TV Media

Sleigh bells twang: Country music stars Lady A ("Just a Kiss") host a night of holiday cheer straight out of Music City with the 17th annual "CMA Country Christmas," airing Tuesday, Dec. 1, on ABC. Catch the special next-day streaming on Disney+.

Dust off the decorations and let the sweet sounds of country's biggest artists keep you company while you deck the halls or simply snuggle up with a seasonal drink and settle into a winter wonderland.

"CMA Country Christmas" hosts Charles Kelley, Hillary Scott and Dave Haywood of Lady A have topped country charts since their breakthrough 2009 hit "Need You Now" and perfected the country Christmas album, releasing "On This Winter's Night: Volume 2" just in time for last year's festivities.

Now, the Nashville, Tennessee, based band welcomes other country artists to join in the merriment and celebrate the season in what will be anything but a silent night. Filmed in front of a live audience in the country music capital, the special features performances from Lady A and friends BeBe Winans ("I Wanna Be the Only One"), Dan + Shay ("Say So"), Debbie Winans ("Perfect World"), Grace Bowers ("Fleas"), Jordan Davis ("Turn This Truck Around"), Lindsey Stirling ("Eye of the Untold Her"), Russell Dickerson ("Worth Your Wild"), Trisha Yearwood ("Thinkin' About You") and Zach Top ("I Never Lie").

Per ABC, "Lady A brings warmth and holiday cheer to the stage as they guide viewers through a night of one-of-a-kind musical performances of festive classics from country music's biggest stars." This year's hosts are no stranger to the annual special, having performed holiday tunes at several past celebrations. Last year, Lady A opened the show with its rendition of the Christmas standard, "Angels We Have Heard on High," accompanied by dancers and a full band. That wasn't all, though, as they reappeared in the middle of the broadcast to perform a track from their latest Christmas album, "Wouldn't Be Christmas."

The official home of CMA specials, ABC recently aired the live 60th annual CMA Awards ceremony Wednesday, Nov. 18, hosted by "Kinda Love It" singer Lainey Wilson, who was nominated for four awards. ABC also airs the annual summer concert series, CMA Fest.

Whether it's a white Christmas or a blue Christmas this year, let the holiday sing with "CMA Country Christmas," airing Tuesday, Dec. 1, on ABC. Catch the special next-day streaming on Disney+.

O Christmas tree: The iconic tree lights up with the 94th annual "Christmas in Rockefeller Center" holiday special, airing Wednesday, Dec. 2, on NBC.

One of the Big Apple's most magical nights is memorialized in a special featuring the official lighting of the picture-perfect tree that sits in front of Rockefeller Center, looking over the skating rink. A memorable part of New York's skyline, the Rockefeller Center tree is a can't-miss stop if you're in the city for the holidays, but those of us outside of the five boroughs can get in on the festive action by tuning in to the tree-lighting ceremony from the comfort of our couches.

"Christmas in Rockefeller Center" is an annual special that features live performances from all-star musical guests gathered to celebrate the debut of the impeccably decorated tree. While the host and guests have not yet been announced as of press time, the star of the show has already rolled into town. This year's tree is a stunning Norway spruce that measures an incredible 23 meters and weighs in around 11 tonnes. The charming conifer traveled from its West Edmeston farm in Upstate New York to its new Midtown Manhattan home where it will be decked out with 50,000 multicoloured lights and a Swarovski crystal-studded star to top it off before being adored by millions of visitors over the holiday season.

Hand-chosen by Rockefeller Center's head gardener Erik Pauze six years ago, this year's tree was destined for showbiz and now that it's had a glow-up, it's almost ready for its close-up. The 94th installment of the special counts down the seconds till the lights are powered up as music's finest performers sing holiday hits, warming up the crowd of lucky audience members until it is time for the big show.

Last year, country music legend Reba McEntire ("Happy's Place") hosted with some help from her "Today" co-host friends Al Roker, Savannah Guthrie and Craig Melvin. The star-studded, music-filled night of cheer is a perfect backdrop for decorating a tree at home, with two hours of holiday fun to keep spirits up while untangling the lights.

Get lit with the 94th annual Christmas in Rockefeller Center holiday special, airing Wednesday, Dec. 2, on NBC.

"Trinity" – Season 1

Could an unexpected connection put national security at risk? Gugu Mbatha-Raw ("Surface") and Richard Madden ("Bodyguard") star in "Trinity," a new seven-episode thriller from "Bodyguard" creator Jed Mercurio, premiering Tuesday, Dec. 1, on Netflix. Cmdr. Katherine Decker (Mbatha-Raw), second-in-command aboard the nuclear submarine USS Kansas, is devoted to her duty. But an unexpected bond with Secretary of Defense Webb Preston (Madden) complicates her loyalties. Drawn to his idealism and plan to prevent a global conflict, Katherine becomes involved in the secretive program known as Trinity. As she learns more, however, she begins to suspect Webb may be at the center of a dangerous conspiracy. Torn between her feelings and responsibility to the crew and country, Katherine must decide how far she can trust the man behind the program. Marcia Gay Harden ("Mystic River," 2003) co-stars as Margaret Vandenburg, a business leader with deep political ties, and JD Pardo ("Hypnotic," 2023) plays Navy Lt. Cmdr. Tom Reyes.

"The Good Boss" – Season 1

Buckle up for the ride of a lifetime when the first season of "The Good Boss" begins streaming Wednesday, Dec. 2, on Netflix. At a steering wheel factory in Italy's Motor Valley, Giulio Zagni (Luca Zingaretti, "Detective Montalbano") is the boss. Employees, relatives and friends know he will fix whatever goes wrong, no matter the cost. But when this well-oiled machine breaks down, his life begins to spiral out of control, and Giulio begins scrambling to get back on track. Francesco Colella ("The Good Mothers"), Giovanni Esposito ("Jay Kelly," 2025), Alessia Giuliani ("Made in Italy," 2018), Carmine Buschini ("The Red Band Society") and Sara Drago ("Call My Agent — Italia") also star. Roan Johnson ("Piuma," 2016) and Niccolo Falsetti ("Margins," 2022) direct, from scripts by Davide Lantieri ("Murders at Barlume"), Michele Pellegrini ("Imma Tataranni — Deputy Prosecutor"), Marco Pettenello ("The Great Ambition," 2024), Serena Patrignanelli ("Electric Rose") and Virginia Virilli ("Bang Bang Baby"). The series is based on "El buen patron" (2021).

Freya Mavor and Emma Corrin star in "Pride and Prejudice"

"Pride and Prejudice" – Season 1

Fall in love with this faithful, classic adaptation of Jane Austen's beloved 1813 novel when the first season of "Pride and Prejudice" premieres Thursday, Dec. 3, on Netflix. Elizabeth Bennet (Emma Corrin, "The Crown") is clever, quick-witted and in no hurry to marry. Her mother, Mrs. Bennet (Olivia Colman, "Broadchurch"), has very different plans, and she is determined to see all five of her daughters settled. When wealthy newcomers arrive in the neighborhood, the local balls and dinners fill with hopeful matches and juicy gossip. Elizabeth meets Mr. Darcy (Jack Lowden, "Slow Horses") and takes an instant dislike to the proud and aloof gentleman. He seems to look down on everyone around him, and she is never shy about telling him so. But the more the two clash, the harder it becomes to ignore the sparks between them. Rufus Sewell ("The Diplomat"), Daryl McCormack ("Peaky Blinders"), Fiona Shaw ("Killing Eve") and Anjana Vasan ("We Are Lady Parts") also star in this series directed by Euros Lyn ("Heartstopper"), from a script by Dolly Alderton ("Everything I Know About Love").

"Bad Monkey" – Season 2

Aloha! Grab your Hawaiian shirt and head back to the Sunshine State as "Bad Monkey" returns Wednesday, Dec. 2, for Season 2, with episodes streaming on Prime Video via the Apple TV channel. Andrew Yancy (Vince Vaughn, "True Detective") is determined to win back his detective's badge. Then, he witnesses the murder of Florida's finest fixer, so the state attorney (Yvonne Strahovski, "The Handmaid's Tale") pairs Andrew with a strait-laced forensic accountant to solve the case. Along the way, he meets plenty of Florida oddballs, including an erudite mob boss named Spencer (John Malkovich, "Being John Malkovich," 1999), the boss's unhinged son and a hard-edged young woman who needs Andrew's protection. Meanwhile, he deals with his aging father and "unresolved romantic tension with Dr. Rosa Campesino [Natalie Martinez, 'Under the Dome'], who launches her own investigation into a mysterious rash," according to the series' description. Developed by Bill Lawrence ("Ted Lasso"), "Bad Monkey" is based on the novel by Carl Hiaasen.

"The Devil's Hour" – Season 3

Time loops back one last time when "The Devil's Hour" returns for its third and final season, streaming Friday, Dec. 4, on Prime Video. Lucy Chambers (Jessica Raine, "Call the Midwife") remembers every life she has lived. She was a police detective who couldn't stop a string of terrorist attacks. She was a mother to Isaac (Benjamin Chivers, "Fountain of Youth," 2025), a child "who became unbound to his own reality" (per Prime Video). Now, she's been born again, neither detective nor mother, yet haunted by both lives. Lucy has only one person to turn to: Gideon Shepherd (Peter Capaldi, "Doctor Who"), a serial killer who once warned her the attacks were coming. Together, the old foes hunt a monstrous child-killer who has evaded Lucy across multiple lifetimes. Gideon teaches Lucy how to harness her memories, how to adapt, how to fight and how to survive. But will any of it be enough when their enemy knows just as much as they do? Nikesh Patel ("Starstruck") and Saffron Hocking ("Top Boy") also star. Created and written by Tom Moran ("The Feed"), "The Devil's Hour" is directed by Johnny Allan ("The Irregulars") and Shaun James Grant ("Criminal Record").

"Blade Runner 2099"

The fight for survival is far from over. Stepping into the next chapter of the iconic sci-fi franchise, "Blade Runner 2099" is now streaming on Prime Video. Fifty years after the events of "Blade Runner 2049" (2017), Cora (Hunter Schafer, "Euphoria") is a fugitive desperate to stop running. In a final bid to escape her past, she takes on a new identity as a Blade Runner, placing her on the trail of a dangerous runaway. Her assignment brings her together with Olwen (Michelle Yeoh, "Everything Everywhere All at Once," 2022), a Replicant nearing the end of her life. Though they come from different sides of a divided society, the unlikely partners must work together as they pursue their target through a city reshaped by artificial life. But the runaway carries a secret that could upend the fragile order both women have been drawn into. The closer they get, the danger grows. Created by Silka Luisa ("Shining Girls"), the eight-episode limited series is directed by Jonathan van Tulleken ("Shogun").

Guy Fieri hosts "Tournament of Champions: All-Star Christmas"

The Sound of Music

(22) 7:00 PM

From 1965, this beloved, Julie Andrews-led musical follows as the free-spirited Maria (Andrews) begins a job working as a governess for the seven charming children of widowed navy captain Georg von Trapp (Christopher Plummer) in 1938 Austria.

Tournament of Champions: All-Star Christmas

FOOD 8:00 PM

Naughty-list energy takes over the kitchen. Guy brings back the Great 8 duos for round two. However, the randomizer is in a Grinch-like mood, and only three teams can survive to chase the trophy, $100,000 and a hefty donation for their favorite charity.

Miles to Christmas

HALL 8:00 PM

A snowstorm grounds every flight out of Chicago, so buttoned-up Cassidy Fields (Ashley Williams) and free-spirited Jo Woods (Alison Sweeney) hop into the 18-wheeler of Jo's trucker brother, Chase (Steve Lund), for a mad holiday dash to Tennessee.

Tracker

(3) 9:00 PM

When two kids disappear along with their au pair, Colter (Justin Hartley) heads to the wealthy family's home in Maryland, where he begins a race against the clock. Plus, Reenie (Fiona Rene) investigates the death of Mel's (Cassady McClincy Zhang) mother.

'Holiday Baking Championship' returns to preferred format on Food Network

By Dana Simpson
TV Media

Food Network is one of the most festive stations serving up content on cable television, and it wouldn't be Christmas on the channel without "Holiday Baking Championship."

The fan-favorite series returned to Food Network for a 13th season Monday, Nov. 2, welcoming 12 new elves (aka bakers) to Santa's Village to compete for the title of Holiday Baking Champion.

New episodes air Mondays on the network until the estimated Dec. 21 finale, while old and new episodes of the competition series are available to stream via Discovery+.

"During this season, competitors will prove they have the creativity, skill and teamwork needed to support the biggest holiday guy around: Santa," reads the Food Network description for the show's newest season. "Every challenge is designed to help Santa and his operation succeed, from creating festive treats to solving delicious holiday dilemmas."

Initially split into two teams called the Elf Squad and the Reindeer Crew — an unpopular format adopted last season — the series has now returned to its preferred solo-competitor format, where it will stay for the remainder of the competition. There still remains plenty of chatter surrounding Food Network's choices for the show, however, as Season 13 of "Holiday Baking Championship" returned without beloved longtime judge Nancy Fuller ("Farmhouse Rules").

Host Jesse Palmer with judges Kardea Brown, Duff Goldman and Molly Yeh in "Holiday Baking Championship"

Although neither Food Network nor Fuller has offered any details regarding the decision itself, Fuller appears to be making the most of her newfound time.

"I've been renovating my kitchen!!!!!" the "Farmhouse Rules" cook excitedly shared via Instagram (@fullerfarmer) while showing off her new Invisacook countertops on Aug. 10. "Can't wait to share my adventure… It was a tad longer than I anticipated. But worth the wait!"

No news yet on whether Fuller's departure is permanent, but "Girl Meets Farm" host Molly Yeh has stepped in this season to bridge the gap. Yeh is joined by returning judges Duff Goldman ("Buddy Vs. Duff") and Kardea Brown ("Delicious Miss Brown"), while former NFL quarterback and Bachelor Nation heartthrob Jesse Palmer ("The Golden Bachelor") resumes his annual hosting duties.

It's not too late to join the party! "Holiday Baking Championship" airs a new episode on Food Network each Monday until Christmas. Discovery+ subscribers, meanwhile, have access to new episodes as well as the competition series' back catalogue for some serious seasonal streaming.

Practical Magic 2

Years after the events of the first film, Sally (Bullock) has lost her second husband to the Owens family curse that dictates that any man who falls in love with an Owens woman is destined to die. Terrified that her daughters, Kylie (King) and Antonia (Williams), will suffer the same fate, Sally uses her magic to erase their memories of their family's witchcraft. Years later, Kylie falls in love with a young man named Gideon (Mariduena). When he tells her he loves her, he is struck by a car and falls into a coma. After rediscovering the truth about her heritage, Kylie steals an ancient book of magic and travels to England to find a way to save Gideon.

Director: Susanne Bier. Stars: Sandra Bullock, Nicole Kidman, Joey King, Maisie Williams, Lee Pace, Xolo Mariduena, Dianne Wiest, Stockard Channing. 2026. 130 min. Romantic Fantasy.

Insidious: Out of the Further

Gemma (Eve) is a single mother raising her daughter, Maya (Austin), in the house where she grew up. When Gemma was a child, she witnessed her mother Ingrid's (Gordon) traumatic death. As an adult, she begins experiencing strange supernatural encounters and discovers she can astral project into The Further, a dark, timeless purgatorial dimension where demons and lost souls reside. She also learns she is a special kind of traveler referred to as a "Courier." Whereas some people can enter The Further, she is also able to bring objects and supernatural beings back with her. Cyrus Lam (Spruell), a former cult leader who is trapped in The Further, plots to exploit her ability to bring himself and other spirits back into the real world.

Director: Jacob Chase. Stars: Amelia Eve, Brandon Perea, Maisie Richardson-Sellers, Lin Shaye, Sam Spruell, Island Austin, Laura Gordon.

Coyote vs. Acme

After decades of being injured by defective ACME products while in pursuit of the Road Runner (Bauza), Wile E. Coyote decides he's had enough. Wile E. hires Kevin Avery (Forte), a struggling personal injury lawyer, to sue ACME corporation. Kevin initially wants to settle the case quickly, but his niece Paige (Condor) believes they have a legitimate chance of exposing the company. ACME sends its powerful lawyer Buddy Crane (Cena) to defend the company.

Director: Dave Green. Stars: Will Forte, Lana Condor, Tone Bell, Luis Guzman, Martha Kelly, P.J. Byrne, Eric Bauza, Kenneth Choi, John Cena. 2026. 103 min. Comedy.

Tuesday Best Bets

Kyle Schmid in "NCIS: Origins"

NBA Basketball

⑤ 8:00 PM

The defending champion Knicks bring Jalen Brunson, Karl-Anthony Towns and OG Anunoby to the Windy City, where Josh Giddey, Matas Buzelis, rookie Caleb Wilson and new coach Tiago Splitter's rebuilding Bulls lie in wait at the United Center in Chicago.

Beat Bobby Flay: Holiday Throwdown

FOOD 8:00 PM

Culinary icons Bobby Flay and Brooke Williamson have their teams of pro chefs compete in a festive cookie cutter challenge with guest chefs Geoffrey Zakarian and Adrienne Cheatham. After that, the teams battle in a sundae showdown.

NHL Hockey

TNT TRUTV 8:00 PM

A Boston icon gets his moment as Patrice Bergeron, a record 6-time Selke Trophy winner, sees his No. 37 rise to the rafters before puck drop, then David Pastrnak and the Bruins tangle with Nathan MacKinnon, Cale Makar and Colorado at Boston's TD Garden.

NCIS: Origins

③ 10:00 PM

Every legend starts as a rookie. Young special agent Leroy Jethro Gibbs (Austin Stowell) earns his stripes at the fledgling Camp Pendleton office, where hard-nosed boss Mike Franks (Kyle Schmid) runs a scrappy, ragtag crew that plays by its own rules.

Wednesday Best Bets

Will Ferrell stars in "Elf"

Krampus

FX 12:35 PM

When a young boy (Emjay Anthony) loses his Christmas spirit and accidentally summons an ancient Australian demon (Luke Hawker), he and his parents (Toni Collette, Adam Scott) find themselves being terrorized by toys in this seasonal horror-comedy film.

94th Annual Christmas in Rockefeller Center

⑤ 8:00 PM

A Norway spruce from West Edmeston, N.Y., takes center stage as more than 50,000 LEDs and a sparkling Swarovski star flicker on for the first time. Live music, celebrity cameos and holiday surprises fill Midtown Manhattan for the 94th annual lighting.

Alaska State Troopers

A&E 8:00 PM

Cuffing season takes on a whole new meaning as break-up season brings troopers to Fairbanks, Alaska, where they rescue a naked, hypothermic woman gone missing. In Soldotna, Alaska, troopers rush to respond to a Tinder date gone terribly wrong.

Elf

AMC 8:00 PM

Raised at the North Pole, Buddy (Will Ferrell) learns he's human and heads to New York to find his father, Walter (James Caan). But city life is a far cry from the toy workshop as Buddy brings the holly and jolly spirit of Christmas to his new family.

Sin City Rehab

HGTV 9:00 PM

After a year of saying yes, designer Alison Victoria decides she wants full control over her own house makeover. But while she risks it all on herself, can she avoid drawbacks and rein in the project to ensure it stays profitable?

"The First Omen" (2024)

The Omen franchise goes back to the beginning with 2024's "The First Omen," the sixth film in the franchise and a prequel to the original 1976 supernatural classic, arriving Monday, Nov. 30, on Hulu. Set in Rome in 1971, an American novice nun named Margaret (Nell Tiger Free, "Servant") arrives at an orphanage and befriends Carlita (Nicole Sorace, "Summer Limited Edition"), a young resident who has haunting visions. After unsettling incidents, Margaret becomes suspicious of the institution's secrets. Father Brennan (Ralph Ineson, "The Northman," 2022) warns her to stay away, but she uncovers a dark conspiracy within the Church. Also starring Tawfeek Barhom ("Mary Magdalene," 2018), Sonia Braga ("Aquarius," 2016), Bill Nighy ("Living," 2022) and Charles Dance ("The Imitation Game," 2014), the film is directed by Arkasha Stevenson ("Legion"). Stevenson co-wrote the screenplay with Keith Thomas ("The Vigil," 2020), based on a story by Ben Jacoby ("Bleed," 2016). David S. Goyer ("Hellraiser," 2022) and Keith Levine ("The Night House," 2020) produced the film.

"All's Fair" – Season 2, Finale

Prepare for court to adjourn, as Season 2 of "All's Fair" concludes Wednesday, Dec. 2, on Hulu. Allura Grant (Kim Kardashian, "The Kardashians"), Liberty Ronson (Naomi Watts, "Mulholland Drive," 2001) and Emerald Greene (Niecy Nash-Betts, "Reno 911!") — the talented lawyers of Grant, Ronson & Greene — have seen plenty of drama in their lives, both in the courtroom and out. But when the ladies' mentor, veteran divorce lawyer Dina Standish (Glenn Close, "Fatal Attraction," 1987), was arrested for the murder of Lloyd Walton (Lyriq Bent, "She's Gotta Have It") at the end of Season 1, it seemed they'd reached the height of chaos. Since then, however, things have only spiraled further out of control for the once-buttoned-up attorneys, as long-hidden truths come to light. Will Grant, Ronson & Greene survive another scandal, or will the ladies decide they've dealt with enough secrets and stilettos for one lifetime? From creator Ryan Murphy ("Glee"), Season 2 of "All's Fair" also stars Matthew Noszka ("No Hard Feelings," 2023), Teyana Taylor ("One Battle After Another," 2025), Jemarcus Kilgore ("BMF"), Armani Barrett ("Dying to Learn," 2022), Joshua Suiter ("A Different World") and more, including guest stars like Dorinda Medley ("Murder at the Mansion"), Noah Fearnley ("Love Story"), Denise Richards ("The World Is Not Enough," 1999) and Margo Martindale ("August: Osage County," 2013).

"The Secret Lives of Mormon Wives: Orange County" – Season 1

After five successful seasons in Utah, this drama-filled reality series has found itself a second home in sunny California, where "Mormon Wives" veteran Jen Affleck is joined by podcaster Bobbi Althoff, Ashleigh Pease, Aspyn Ovard, Avery Woods, Jordan McClanahan, Madison Bontempo, Salomé Andrea and McCall DaPron — sister of Mayci Neeley, one of the show's original stars — for the inaugural season of "The Secret Lives of Mormon Wives: Orange County," now streaming all eight episodes on Hulu. After leaving #MomTok behind, Jen has packed her bags and moved to The Golden State, where she brings together two groups of women who celebrate and practice the Mormon faith. In Southern California, life's a little different than Jen's used to, however, and in a brand-new world filled with podcasters, celebrities, Las Vegas trips, throuples and Erewhons, Jen tries her best to navigate friendships, relationships, parenthood and the laid-back Cali lifestyle. Amanda Weinstein ("Keeping Up with the Kardashians"), Brandon Beck ("The McBee Dynasty: Real American Cowboys"), Georgia Berger ("The Secret Lives of Mormon Wives"), Melissa Bidwell ("Kourtney & Khloe Take the Hamptons"), Lisa Filipelli ("Zac and Mia"), Russell Jay-Staglik ("Total Divas") and Jeff Jenkins ("The Simple Life") are credited as the series' executive producers, among others.

Sonia Braga and Nell Tiger Free star in "The First Omen"

Kim Kardashian and Glenn Close in Season 2 of "All's Fair"

Bri Davis, Aspyn Ovard, Salome Andrea and Bobbi Althoff in "The Secret Lives of Mormon Wives: Orange County"

Hollywood Q&A

By Adam Thomlison
TV Media

Q: Are celebrities paid to be on talk shows?

A: Yes, but it's basically a formality.

Understandably, stars don't like talking about how much they get paid and for what. But on numerous online forums, industry insiders have said that talk-show guests all receive union scale for their appearances — that is, the bare minimum they can be paid under their collectively negotiated contracts.

So whether they're first on the couch or last — a major star or an up-and-comer — they get essentially the same pay, amounting to little more than a couple of hundred dollars.

That's because, of course, they aren't there for the paycheck. They're there to promote the thing that actually pays them — their new movie, book, TV show or whatever.

That's why the interviews always at least touch on the new project, and the host usually ends with a "plug" for it.

This model can sometimes feel almost absurd. Think, for example, of Robert De Niro ("The Whisper Man"), an absolutely legendary actor who, for a while, was spending most of his time doing forgettable comedy films such as "The Intern" (2015) and "Dirty Grandpa" (2016) (apologies if you loved either of those). Talk-shows hosts — often true students of acting as an art form — would struggle to keep discussing the new thing when they would obviously much rather talk about "Taxi Driver" (1976) or "Raging Bull" (1980).

Q: Why did Aidy Bryant leave "Saturday Night Live"? What's she been doing since?

A: Aidy Bryant ("The Big Sick," 2017) was part of something like an exodus after "Saturday Night Live's" 47th season in 2022.

She and six other long-standing cast members — most notably Kate McKinnon ("Ghostbusters," 2016) who, like Bryant, had been on the show for a decade at that point — left at the same time.

As with so many things that happened in the world around then, the COVID-19 pandemic had a lot to do with it.

"If it weren't for COVID, I probably would have left a few years earlier," Bryant told Variety magazine shortly after leaving. She said she was seeking "one last normal year."

McKinnon gave a very similar answer, telling Vulture magazine she wanted to "wait until it was normal again" before departing.

Bryant had big plans to stay within the NBC family, but so far, they haven't come to fruition. As she was leaving "SNL," she was working on a non-fiction comedy series called "Cheeky," based on a series of books teaching people about the human body. It was set up at NBC's streaming service, Peacock, but never came to be.

Shortly after that, it was announced she'd star in the comedic thriller series "Lonely Hearts Club," also on Peacock. That, too, got stuck in development.

That's not to say she hasn't been busy. While trying to get those series through (she was also planning to serve as writer and producer on both, so there was work to do before a single scene was shot), she had ongoing voice-acting gigs in hit series "Big Mouth" and its spinoff, "Human Resources." And earlier this year, she did a couple of episodes of "Mating Season," from the same producers.
