Beaufort author's book now available for preorder

Pandamoon Publishing has announced that The Hunted, the second book in the best-selling Crystal Coast Series by Beaufort author Chrissy Lessey is now available for pre-order in an eBook version through Amazon Kindle to readers worldwide.

LESSEY

The publication release date for the eBook and worldwide paperback editions is set for Thursday, Oct. 15.

The release of the book is anticipated for fans of Ms. Lessey's Crystal Coast Series.

"The market success of Lessey's Crystal Coast Series is no surprise to her fans who have bonded with the characters she has created in this magical realism series," said Zara Kramer, publisher of Pandamoon Publishing. "Stevie is an average mom of an autistic child in a small coastal town, juggling all the demands that single moms face every day. Except in Stevie's case, those demands lean towards a newly discovered magical talent and the fact that her Mom is the queen of the local coven."

"The Crystal Coast Series is targeted at readers who enjoy a fast moving story of modern witches intertwined with the coven's historical beginnings in the 1700s when Blackbeard's Queen Anne's Revenge docks at an island off the coast of North Carolina.

The Secret Keepers is the short story prequel to the series in which we discover the horrific role the pirate Blackbeard played in his attempts to destroy the coven. The first book in the series is The Coven, which takes place in present day Beaufort, and is where readers first meet Stevie, her autistic son Charlie and the Beaufort Historical Society, the front for the coven. 'The Hunted' is the second book and is focused on modern day witch hunters who conspire with evil witches to bring the coven down," Ms. Kramer added.

The Hunted, book two in the Crystal Coast Series, continues with Stevie Lewis believing she has vanquished the greatest threat to her son, and beginning to embrace her newly revealed magical legacy.

Someday, she will inherit her mother's role as queen and protector of the amulet. For now, there is much to learn, so she plans to continue her training with the coven.

With Dylan by her side, Stevie settles into a transformed, yet peaceful, life in her beloved hometown of Beaufort.

Left to live out her days in a dreary psychiatric hospital, Susan Moore has no hope of retrieving the amulet that would restore her magical gifts.

But when she meets Chaplain Benjamin Parris, descendant of the notorious reverend behind the Salem Witch Trials, she plots a deadly conspiracy.

The coven members endure their worst fears as Susan and the chaplain work against them.

Left weakened after the theft of their protective amulet, they confront the unthinkable as a modern day witch-hunt begins to unfold in their small town. In the end, Stevie and the coven are forever changed.

Ms. Lessey's writing career began nearly 15 years ago when she penned a weekly humorous advice column for a local newspaper.

Since then, she has discovered fiction writing. Her debut was The Secret Keepers, a historical fiction prequel marking the beginning of the Crystal Coast Series, which was quickly followed up by book one of the series, The Coven.

As a leader in her local autism community, Ms. Lessey has volunteered her time organizing runs and walks, as well as other fund-

She helped create a summer camp for children on the spectrum and has contributed in the development of social and support programs for individuals with autism and their families.

Pandamoon Publishing focuses on publishing quality and unique fiction works and distributes them through Amazon, Barnes & Noble,

Palate-pleasing fall pairings

Beyond breakfast and dessert, a satisfying glass of milk complements a range of culinary flavors, from savory to sweet to spicy, adding delicious taste and unique mouth feel to every bite. From tried and true traditional pairings, such as peanut butter and jelly sandwiches, to exciting new culinary tastes, pairing milk with food makes for a complete and satisfying dining experience.

“It’s widely accepted that adding an unexpected ingredient – such as a touch of salt to watermelon – can enhance flavors in notable ways,” said Steve James, executive director of the California Milk Processor Board, creators of the iconic got milk? campaign. “We’ve applied that same principle to our new Food Loves Milk campaign, which features exciting food pairings inspired by the latest culinary trends. Whether you’re enjoying a rich peanut butter and jelly sandwich, or spicy eggs with Sriracha, a refreshing glass of milk is the ultimate pairing beverage.”

Pairing foods and beverages that complement each other is a natural and satisfying way to construct meals. Savory and sweet nuances from a variety of cultures and unexpected ingredients can enhance flavors and add fresh appeal.

California, with its diverse population, is impacting the American palate in new and exciting ways. Inspired by California’s growing foodie culture, the Food Loves Milk campaign includes exciting taste adventures such as Spicy Sriracha Penne, Mexican Chocolate Bread Pudding, Korean Fried Chicken and Mediterranean Fire Roasted Chiles.

“Milk is a versatile and unique beverage that complements a range of exciting flavors, from savory to spicy to sweet,” Mr. James said. “For generations, milk has had a healthy relationship with food, pairing perfectly with traditional favorites. These new innovative milk pairings offer a delicious new way to enjoy milk.”

For pairing suggestions and more information about the “Food Loves Milk” campaign, visit gotmilk.com and follow got milk? on Facebook, Twitter and Instagram.

Roasted Chori-Chicken

Recipe courtesy of Chef Manny Carr of Lela’s Restaurant, Fresno, Calif.

Servings: 4

4 tablespoons corn or vegetable oil

4 airline, skin-on chicken breasts

salt and pepper, to taste

3 tablespoons extra virgin olive oil

3 ears of corn, roasted, kernels sliced off

1 red onion, julienned

2 red bell peppers, julienned

1 teaspoon ground cumin

1 teaspoon minced garlic

Gravy

1 tube high-quality beef chorizo

1¼ cups all-purpose flour

2½ cups whole milk

1 bunch cilantro, chopped

salt and pepper, to taste

Garnish

1 small bag potato chips, semi-crushed

¼ cup diced green onion

For chicken: Heat oven to 400° F. In sauté pan, heat corn or vegetable oil over medium heat until it starts to smoke.

While oil is heating up, season chicken with salt and pepper and lay skin-side down. Cook about 1 minute before placing pan in oven. Roast chicken for 10-12 minutes, turning every 4 minutes until done.

For veggies: In another sauté pan, heat olive oil. Add corn, onion and peppers and sauté for about 4 minutes, then add cumin, minced garlic and dash of salt and pepper.

For gravy: In small pot, cook chorizo on medium heat, constantly stirring. Do not strain oil. Add flour and keep stirring. Slowly add milk and let simmer for 1 minute. Continue adding milk until desired thickness. Finish by adding chopped cilantro and salt and pepper, to taste.

To serve, plate chicken over sautéed vegetables and pour gravy over both, as desired. Top with semi-crushed potato chips and green onions, and pair with glass of milk.

Review: The bearable niceness of ‘The Intern’

BY LINDSEY BAHR
ASSOCIATED PRESS

The world of Nancy Meyers sure is beautiful.

But her studied production design and dreamy interiors have become such a focal point, that they’ve almost eclipsed her storytelling. It marginalizes what she does, and how she has, from “The Parent Trap” to “It’s Complicated,” created her own lovely and implausible cottage industry of movies that are, for the most part, exceedingly pleasant to watch.

She tells stories about divorce, affairs and later life loves, using wit and humor that is somehow blue and sassy, but also innocent. Ms. Meyers is one of the more retro writer-directors working today.

“The Intern,” her first film in six years, is a curious case, melding together those modern retro sensibilities in a way that even further distances her work from reality. This is not a love story, though. It’s a workplace tale about a smiley, unflappable 70-year-old retiree Ben (Robert De Niro) who goes to intern for the 30-something CEO of an online retail startup.

With only the most polite issues peppering the plot, it’s less a study of generational conflict and more of a series of loosely connected events about a guardian angel sent out of retirement to tell Anne Hathaway that she really can have it all.

Ben’s adjustment to working with all these kids might be the hook, but Jules Ostin (Ms. Hathaway) is the centerpiece and heart of the movie. In the past year and a half, she has built an insanely successful clothing business from the ground up and is now juggling a kid, her relationship with her stay-at-home husband, and a board of directors who want to replace her with a more seasoned CEO.

She has her quirks, but Jules is neither the prototypical cutesy, clumsy comedy heroine nor the passionless executive who just needs to loosen up. In fact, Jules isn’t a type at all. Ms. Hathaway plays her as serious, wise, playful and insecure. Every time you think she might descend into caricature, Ms. Hathaway pulls back and grounds Jules.

Her unusually developed character has the somewhat adverse effect of exaggerating Ben’s one-note, but charming simplicity. Ben spent his entire career at a factory that made phonebooks. He was married, now he’s widowed, retired and bored of it. Mr. De Niro plays him as so nice, and so cuddly that he’s almost alien. He is the grandpa from “Up” without the edge, here to tell millennial men to stop dressing like little boys, to carry handkerchiefs because ladies cry, to stay at work until the boss leaves, and to talk to, not text, romantic prospects.

Beyond a flirtation with the office masseuse (Rene Russo), Ben has nowhere to grow. He’s set in his perfectly PC retro-modern ways, just there to help everyone — especially Jules.

It’s an odd relationship with few actual revelations. That’s because there’s no big conflict. Jules says she doesn’t really like old people, and at one point worries that Ben knows too much about her, but those all dissolve without much ceremony.

There are of course some other issues that Jules and Ben must deal with, but even those are minor. Nothing is ever that wrong in the Meyers-verse. It might not be a life you recognize from reality, but is the one that we fantasize about thanks to magazines and movies like this.

It can be cloying at times, but the disconnected timelessness of it all is all the more reason for Ms. Meyers to keep doing her own thing as long as she can. She doesn’t speak to what’s trendy in filmmaking. Aside from the technology, “The Intern” could have just as easily existed in 1990.

Still, in keeping everything so polite, “The Intern,” while being a pleasant and watchable movie, is also entirely ephemeral. Maybe that’s why, like Ms. Meyers’ other films, “The Intern” will likely be so re-watchable, too.

“The Intern,” a Warner Bros. release, is rated PG-13 by the Motion Picture Association of America for “some suggestive content and brief strong language.” Running time: 121 minutes. Two and a half stars out of four.

NC Seafood Festival offers family fun

As of presstime, the N.C. Seafood Festival is still in full swing despite Hurricane Joaquin that will be off the coast during the weekend.

The N.C. Seafood Festival board of directors held a board meeting with the town council, and Morehead City police and fire departments Wednesday afternoon and discussed the plans for the festival.

The fireworks and performances are independently decided. The contractors will make the final call of whether or not they go on.

The board will meet again at 2 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 1, to determine if there will be any more changes, but as of presstime the festival will go on as planned.

"We are prepared to do the best festival that we've ever had," said Mindy Fitzpatrick, chairman for the 2015 N.C. Seafood Festival. "The board has put together a great festival, and we are excited to show it off."

The festival is scheduled for Friday-Sunday, Oct. 2-4, on the Morehead City waterfront.

To celebrate the event, the festival offers many activities for everyone, opening Friday with rides, continuing Saturday with the addition of vendors, sporting events and musical entertainment plus fireworks in the evening and closing Sunday with the Blessing of the Fleet at the N.C. Port of Morehead City and more vendors and activities along the waterfront until 4 p.m.

Entertainment

Three stages will play home to musical performances, as well as entertaining acts from the area.

The Agri Supply Main Stage will host both free and ticketed concerts.

The performers in the free concerts are Gary Lowder & Smokin' Hot, Dakota Blue, Slammin Dixie, Acoustic Highway led by Bobby Webb, The Entertainers and the Band of Oz.

Country star Dustin Lynch will take the stage at 8 p.m. Saturday for a ticketed performance.

Audience members will hear the best hits of Mr. Lynch, as well as music from opening act, Emily Minor. Tickets for the performance are $40, and can be purchased online at www.ncseafoodfestival.org.

The Agri Supply Main Stage can be found in the parking lot of the Sanitary Fish Market and Restaurant.

Several musical acts and performers will grace the Coastal Stage during the weekend.

Performers are the Beaufort Blues Projects, the String Peddler, pure t. mommicked, Touch of Grace, The Nelsons, Fish House Liars with Rodney Kemp, Connie Mason, 3 Day Weekend, The CSA Band, The Crystal Coast Band, The David Dixon Trio and Gaylon Pope and SweetWater

The Coastal Stage is on Ninth and Shepard streets beside the Cooking with the Chefs Tent.

SasSea's Stage offers another location for festivalgoers to enjoy a show.

Performers are Lonesome Crow, Marye Amanda, Delta Holler, Eastern Tumble and Cheer, Limited Dance Works, The Carolina Strut, Steadfast, Swansboro Dance, Allison Conner, Jillian and the Garbage Pail Kids, I Forgot, the Crystal Coast All Stars, Carolina Dare and the Crystal Coast School of the Arts.

SasSea's Stage is on Eighth St. in Morehead City.

For a full performance schedule of all three stages, visit www.ncseafoodfestival.org.

Cooking with the Chefs Tent

When not being entertained by various performances, festivalgoers will be able to browse through tents featuring local produce.

One popular tent is the Cooking with the Chefs Tent.

Chefs from various restaurants will show fans how to cook with local North Carolina seafood in cooking demonstrations held each hour.

This year, fans will be able to walk through the Cooking with the Chefs Tent while sampling and purchasing North Carolina

Blessing of the Fleet ceremony honors commercial fishermen

BY MEGAN SOULT
NEWS-TIMES

Blessing of the Fleet, a ceremony honoring working watermen and those who have given their lives in the pursuit of commercial fishing, will be held at 10 a.m. Sunday, Oct. 4, at the N.C. Port of Morehead City.

The seafood industry has a major impact on North Carolina's economy. Recognizing that importance, the N.C. Seafood Festival is held each October to promote the positive social and economic impact of the seafood industry.

However, the festival would not be possible without the fishermen who spend their days bringing seafood to the shore.

Commercial fishing is more than a lifestyle for the men and women who spend their lives on the water.

"'Proud to be a commercial fisherman' is beyond a slogan; it is the brotherhood, camaraderie, kinship of the men and women of this industry," said Jonathan Robinson, of Atlantic, who is a Carteret County Fisherman's Association representative and the County Board of Commissioners Chairman. "This kinship is shared by commercial fishermen unlike any other profession. It's a connection we share beyond geography and social barriers – celebrated all up and down the coast in fishing hamlets and villages along the waters of the sounds, bays and rivers of our state.

"Once you've experienced that kinship you can never distance yourself from it, nor would you want to. It's who you become."

Many families in the county are connected to commercial fishing, and the Blessing of the Fleet ceremony means a lot to those who spend their lives on the water.

Commercial fishing has been a part of Davis resident Elizabeth Ritchey's life for as long as she can remember.

She is the daughter of James Styron, owner of the fish house in Davis, and the mother of commercial fishermen.

"The Blessing of the Fleet is an occasion to commemorate the profession of commercial fishing. As the service is dedicated to past fishermen it is also the time to stand with pride and observe the current industry as the boat procession moves slowly by with dignity and perseverance. It is the time to grant them a moment of respect that they have so diligently worked for and deserve," Ms. Ritchey said.

"As the daughter, sister, wife and mother of two sons (all of which have been and are commercial fishermen), I hold in my heart feelings that flood my soul with satisfaction and comfort to know that I have had the honor to be a part of all their lives."

The Rev. Ed Renfrow of the First Baptist Church in Davis will deliver the Blessing of the Fleet Message.

The Blessing of the Fleet will open with a musical interlude by Tracey Merkley, pianist. Mindy Ballou Fitzpatrick, 2015 chairman for the N.C. Seafood Festival, will lead the Pledge of Allegiance and welcome guests.

Mr. Robinson will offer words of appreciation.

Following the call to worship by Connie Mason, Deborah Booth and Gayle Piner, Gerry Smith of First Baptist Church in Morehead City will offer the invocation.

Ms. Mason will lead the audience in the performance of "Jesus Savior Pilot Me."

After prayers for the people led by Jess Hawkins, First Baptist Church of Morehead City, the congregation will have a responsive reading of the "Seaman's Psalm."

After the Blessing of the Fleet message and prayer, families of fishermen will participate in the throwing of the wreath into the watermen for fishermen everywhere.

The families of Janice Smith, Milton Styron, Tom Tosto, Billy Willis, Joey Piner, Duke Daughtry and William Earl Nelson accompanied by Bradley Styron, president of the Carteret County Fisherman's Association, will participate in the event.

In conclusion, Ms. Merkley will perform a selection of "Hymns of the Sea" in memory of the late Robert Morris, pianist and composer, an Atlantic native who resided in Beaufort.

The recorded closing hymn, "Remember Me," performed by the Menhaden Chantymen, will precede the blowing of the horn from the M/V Grace Moran, with Capt. Don Thomas, to signify the end of the service.

Parking is free at the port. The service is along the south-facing dock.

Beaufort Wine & Food to partner with Asheville restaurant to host dinner

Beaufort Wine & Food will partner with The Blind Pig of Asheville to host a collaborative dinner experience, titled "Brogue."

Proceeds from the event will be donated to the Beaufort chapter of The Boys & Girls Club of Coastal Carolina.

The dinner is set for 6 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 10, at an undisclosed and scenic location on Harkers Island.

Information on the location will be announced via email to ticket holders one week prior to the event. There were a 135 spots available for the dinner, but tickets are almost sold out, according to Beaufort Wine & Food staff. Tickets must be purchased before Friday, Oct. 2.

Tickets are $95 plus a $3.37 fee. Gratuity is not included in ticket prices.

Through an experiential tour with local farmers, historians and fishermen, visiting celebrity chefs will delve in the cultural history and cuisine of Beaufort and the surrounding area.

Chef Mike Moore, founder of The Blind Pig, holds events throughout the south and always features a team of celebrity guest chefs to design a concept-driven charity dinner.

The dinner will feature seven courses and include a pairing with distinct wines from local purveyors and feature fresh and locally supported cuisine prepared by some of the best creative chefs of the regions of North Carolina, Virginia and Tennessee.

Along with Mr. Moore, guest chefs are Clarke Merrell of Circa 81 in Morehead City; Jason Scott of Island Grill in Atlantic Beach; Travis Milton of Shovel & Pick in Richmond, Va.; Nate Allen of Knife & Fork in Spruce Pine; and Levon Wallace of Cochon in Nashville, Tenn.

"We are so fortunate to be able to collaborate with Mike and The Blind Pig to host the top notch chefs that are involved," said Lindsay Parker, Beaufort Wine & Food executive director.

The visiting chefs will be taken on historic tours and fishing expeditions in order to maximize the experience of the event as a research dinner.

The Blind Pig dinner experiences have been televised through The Food Network, The Travel Channel and the Discovery Channel during individual episodes and have also received local and national media attention through magazines and publications such as Our State, Imbibe Magazine, Garden & Gun, The Local Palate, Southern Living, Departures Magazine and WNC Magazine, to name a few.

The supper club was conceived almost four and a half years ago. The idea was to gather a community of chefs, farmers and other artisans in order to illustrate memorable experiences outside of the framework of the standard restaurant kitchen.

The Blind Pig sets goals to research and preserve cuisine in history with dinner events, which focus on specific cultures within Southern food.

These dinners are a culinary history lesson as the chefs dive into oral histories of cultural cuisine and recreate menus from those eras, often times cooking on primitive fire sources to offer the ultimate authenticity of the experience.

"The soul of what we do is to achieve this experience for our guests and to give proceeds of each dinner to a different charity nonprofit," said Mr. Moore. "We especially believe in raising funds for children, products. Each product pairs well with seafood, including sauces, oyster shuckers, jams and more.

On Sunday, the chefs will go head-to-head in the Food Lion Cooking Challenge, where two chefs compete as they cook a secret North Carolina-caught seafood.

Sporting events

Festivalgoers can participate in various sporting activities.

The Flounder Fling, the tradition of tossing a flounder at the N.C. Seafood Festival, will be held every hour each day, from 4 to 7 p.m. Friday, noon to 5 p.m. Saturday and 1 to 4 p.m. Sunday.

Fans will throw a flounder into a Carolina Cooker pan, where the size of the flounder and distance from the pan will determine the prize.

There is no registration fee to participate, and fans can walk away with an "I flung a flounder" T-shirt, or bigger prizes.

The 8K Twin Bridges Road Race, which is sponsored by the Morehead City Parks and Recreation Department, is at 8 a.m. Saturday, just west of the Grayden Paul Bridge. It extends over the Newport River bridge as well as the Atlantic Beach high-rise bridge. The early entry fee is $30.

To register online, visit www.nseafoodfestival.org/road-race or visit Morehead City Parks and Recreation Department office at 1600 Fisher St.

Family fun

The festival offers many family-friendly activities at SasSea's Island Playground at 10th and 11th Evans Street.

Children up to 8 years old can enjoy entertainment, face painting, hands-on activities and a calm playground away from the festival crowds.

Sound and Sea and Camp Albemarle will be hosting SasSea's Island Playground from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday and from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Sunday.

Professional face painting by Fantasy Faces will be available Saturday from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday and from noon to 3 p.m. Sunday.

Children can join Dr. Oliver from Aurora Fossil Museum for the Fossil Dig from noon to 4 p.m.

both Saturday and Sunday. Fossils are courtesy of PotashCorp.

Children can also get their photograph taken with the festival's official mascot, SasSea.

A nursing and changing station will be available at SasSea's Island Playground.

Blessing of the Fleet

On Sunday, the festival will honor the memory of fishermen who lost their lives at sea as well as those who continue to make a living off the water during the 18th annual Blessing of the Fleet. The ceremony is at 10 a.m. Sunday at the port's waterfront.

Representing a large part of the county's heritage, the service, sponsored by the Carteret County Fishermen's Association and Carteret-Craven Electric Cooperative, commemorates the seafood and fishing industry that is so vital to the area.

The service tries to provide county residents and visitors an understanding of the families of the fishing industry and their way of life.

Day-Of Concert Sales on Corner of 5th & Evans Street
(If Available)

Stage Located at 502 Evans Street, in the Sanitary Parking Lot

Museum to hold book sale during festival

During this year's Seafood Festival, the Carteret County Historical Society will sponsor a porch sale of rare, antiquarian and used books.

The sale is from noon to 4 p.m. Friday and 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday on the porch and entry ramp of the History Museum of Carteret County, formerly The History Place, at 1008 Arendell St. in Morehead City.

The sale will feature many different types of books.

"This 'super' sale will feature some real treasures, including thousands of titles that range from new, gently used volumes of fiction and nonfiction, to rare one-of-a-kind books (and book sets) not available anywhere else for the price," said Steve Anderson, executive director of the museum.

All books will be sold on a first-come, first-served basis.

There will be books available on local interest, cookbooks, genealogical tracks, long play phonograph albums from the 1950s forward and other out-of-print titles.

Most paperback books will be sold for 50 cents, while most hardback books will be sold for $1.

If shoppers pay $5 to park at the museum during the festival, they will receive a coupon (valid for the duration of the book sale) worth $1 toward a book purchase.

The sale may go longer in the BOOK | CONTINUED ON 14

community health and preservation charities. It is our way of having a voice with the cuisine we serve and effectively making a community impact. We do what we do because it is our way of having a voice with the creative cuisine that we serve and it in many ways effectively makes a community impact by awareness as well as financial support."

Beaufort Wine & Food began as a weekend event in April 2004 and has evolved into an organization that holds fundraising events year round.

Through the generosity and support from sponsors, members and wine and culinary participants, Beaufort Wine & Food has raised more than $450,000 that has been donated to nonprofit organizations in the last decade.

Funds raised from the April

2015 festival allowed Beaufort Wine & Food to donate more than $80,000 to 19 separate Carteret County charities during the 2015 grant cycle.

For the event, Mr. Moore is working with Mr. Big Seafood on Harkers Island; Carteret Catch in Morehead City; Seven Springs Restaurant in Seven Springs; Garner Farms in Havelock; and Underground Farms in Gloucester.

For more information on The Blind Pig dinner or to purchase tickets, call 252-515-0708, go online to beaufortwineandfood.com or stop by the Beaufort Wine & Food office at 400 Front St., Suite No. 8.

Beaufort Wine & Food is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization, and proceeds from its events benefit nonprofits that excel in community enrichment and enhance quality of life in Carteret County.

The Broad Street Clinic Foundation is a nonprofit volunteer organization. It provides health care to qualified, uninsured and underinsured residents of Carteret County and surrounding areas.

Since 1993, The Broad Street Clinic has provided free medical care and medications for chronic diseases of diabetes, hypertension, thyroid disease, heart disease and pulmonary diseases.

Although the Affordable Care Act has been set up, many people still fall into a coverage gap. They are unable to afford insurance and do not qualify for a subsidy. Fundraisers such as this one are critical to the clinic's day-to-day operation.

SUDOKU

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Carteret Writers to discuss manuscripts at meeting

Local author and teacher Krisan Murphy joins Carteret Writers on Tuesday, Oct. 13, to discuss the five most common mistakes that will cause a contest judge or a prospective publisher to reject a manuscript.

The meeting starts with lunch at 11:15 a.m., followed by the free presentation at noon at Golden Corral in Morehead City. Anyone interested in writing is welcome and no reservations are necessary.

Ms. Murphy is a teacher and writer passionate about the benefits of writers working in community to sharpen their skills.

She holds a bachelor's degree in English from the University of Texas at Arlington. She worked for four years as a writer for www. InsiderInfo.us, an online tourist and community resource.

Ms. Murphy joined Carteret Writers after moving to the area in 2009, and later became a member of their Seascibes critique group. Ms. Murphy has garnered awards for both children's fiction and flash fiction.

Chicken Soup for the Soul has published her work in two of their anthologies. Her editorial book reviews (about 60 a year) for Children's Literature are posted on Barnes & Noble's website.

While living in Fayetteville, Ms. Murphy facilitated and wrote a column by teachers for two years and then wrote a weekly column, both for the Fayetteville Observer.

Currently, she hosts a writing critique group for young adults and directs the Classical Conversations Challenge II high school program for home-schooled students.

Inspiration for her stories comes from her diverse geographical and cultural experiences. Born and raised in Mississippi, Ms. Murphy currently lives in Ocean with her husband of 33 years.

Tribute to Sally Colbert

Carteret Community Presents a concert honoring the memory of Sally Colbert. Gay Willis and friends will sing songs from the music of Andrew Lloyd Webber and a few of Sally's favorite songs. The late Sally Colbert loved music and was an avid supporter of the theater as well as her family. Sally wanted the money to go to our building fund so we could pay off our mortgage. If you would like to donate more than the $3500 tickets please contact us.

Garner Farm provides fall activities for families

Garner Farm in Newport offers new ways to enjoy fall with family activities.

A corn maze opened Sept. 11, and will be open every Friday, Saturday and Sunday until the first weekend in November.

The maze is open from 3 p.m. to dark on Friday, 10 a.m. to dark on Saturday and 1 p.m. to dark on Sunday.

As well as the corn maze, a U-Pick Pumpkin Patch will be open.

Families will also be able to enjoy the Family Fun Center.

The center includes the Little Kids Straw Bale Maze, Corn Kernel Pit, Sand Fossil Pit, Tire Mountain, Pumpkin Chunker and family-friendly games including cornhole, checkers and more.

A Fall Festival will be held on Saturday, Oct. 10. Tickets for Garner Farm activities are $11 for ages 11 and older, $8 for children ages 4-11. Children 3 years old and younger are admitted for free with a paying adult. Pumpkins picked at the U-Pick Pumpkin Patch are not included.

Garner Farm is not booking private groups for the Corn Maze and U-Pick Pumpkin Patch. To make a reservation, call 252-241-1184.

Garner Farm is off Highway 70 in Newport and is open from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday and 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday. The farm is closed on Sunday.

For more information about Garner Farm, call 252-223-5283.

Carteret Catch's Second Fishermen's Village set at Jack's

Jack's Waterfront Bar on the Morehead City Waterfront will be the host site for the second Fishermen's Village from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 3.

This is the real deal with working commercial fishermen and families serving up authentic Carteret Catch, Ocracoke Fresh and NC Catch seafood.

In addition, four captains of National Geographic Channel's "Wicked Tuna Outer Banks" will appear. Attendees can meet Capt. Greg Mayer of Fishin' Frenzy, winner from 2014, Capt. Britt Shackelford of Doghouse, Capt. Charlie Griffin with Reels of Fortune and Capt. Tami Gray of Real Deal, the only female captain and all female crew.

Event sponsors are Shellback

Rum, Jack's Waterfront Bar and Carteret Catch, a nonprofit organization dedicated to sustaining the livelihoods of Carteret County fishermen through public education. Other organizations supporting the event are Beaufort Wine & Food, the Carteret County Fishermen's Association, Core Sound Waterfowl Museum and Heritage Center, N.C. Shellfish Growers Association, N.C. Fisheries Association, N.C. Watermen United and Ocracoke Working Waterman's Association.

A working shrimp trawler operated by Beaufort Inlet Seafood will be docked at Jack's so the public can experience "a day in the life of a commercial fisherman." A tasting of fresh-boiled shrimp and other North Carolina seafood will be served with special sauces made with Shellback Rum, one of the event sponsors.

After the event, Patricia Holm, winner of the Carteret Catch Raffle, and five of her guests will be served a four-course dinner featuring Carteret Catch restaurant members and wine pairings provided by Mutual Distributor on the shrimp trawler. This year's Fishermen's Village will kick off ticket sales for next year's raffle. The winner will be drawn in March 2016. A video for this year's winner is on YouTube and the Carteret Catch website.

For more information or to purchase a raffle ticket, go to www.carteretcatch.org.

Fashion show, luncheon and fundraiser set

The Crystal Coast Republican Women will celebrate fall by holding their annual fashion show luncheon and fundraiser on Friday, Oct. 16, at the Dunes Club in Atlantic Beach.

Ann Lynn's of New Bern will provide the fashion, and the menu will feature a trio of shrimp, chicken and tuna salads. Muffins, dessert, coffee and tea will also be included. Starting at 11 a.m., a cash bar will be available for those who attend the show. There will also be a 50/50 drawing.

Reservations are necessary, as tickets will not be sold at the door.

Tickets for the show are $35, and must be paid for before Monday, Oct. 5. Tickets include the price of the meal. Send payment for the tickets to Judy French, P.O. Box 335, Atlantic Beach, N.C. 28512.

Call 252-726-0719 for details.
