Fun with Easter eggs

Easter is just a hop away, and children of all ages eagerly await the Easter Bunny and his eggs filled with candy and other fun treats.

Listed are the areas in the county where children can participate in Easter egg hunts. Children should bring their own baskets to participate in the hunts.

Saturday, March 26

- Straits United Methodist Church: 11 a.m.
- Morehead City Easter egg hunt: 9:30 a.m. at Rotary Park.
- Pine Knoll Shores Easter egg hunt: 10 a.m. at Garner Park.
- Beaufort Historical Association Easter egg hunt: 11 a.m. at the Beaufort Historic Site.
- Salter Path Heritage Association Easter egg hunt: Noon at the Salter Path ball field.
- Operation Uplift Easter egg hunt: 1-3 p.m. at 310 Marsh St. For more information, call 252-838-1263.
- Easter Sensory Event at North River United Methodist Church: 2-4 p.m. The egg hunt begins at 3 p.m. Participants should bring 1 dozen candy filled eggs.
- First Free Will Baptist Church Easter egg hunt: 11 a.m.
- First Free Will Baptist Church of Beaufort will host an Egg Hunt & Family Fun Day at 11 a.m. There will be hayrides, a super slide, bounce house, face painting, games, food and drinks.

Sunday, March 27

- Easter egg hunt at Hammocks Beach State Park: 2 p.m.
- After the candy has been collected, children can partake in another Easter activity: dying eggs.

Children race to gather eggs at the Beaufort Historic Site. Children all over the county will be able to celebrate Easter by participating in Easter egg hunts. (Contributed photo)

Easter egg dyeing kits emerge in early spring. Consumers have a variety of alternatives to these kits at their disposal. There are some people who desire more environmentally friendly Easter eggs, so here are some creative and greener ideas for coloring eggs this year.

- Wooden eggs: Visit a craft store and purchase wooden eggs that can be painted and decorated however as desired. The wooden eggs will be durable and can be stored away for use each and every year. Because they are made of wood, a naturally recyclable material, they are easy on the environment.
- Consider natural dyes. Use different food items to create all-natural dyes for the eggs. Tea, fruit and vegetable juices – even packaged drink mixes – can be used to tint Easter eggs in various colors.
- Experiment with papier mâché. This ancient paper crafting technique uses recycled paper and a paste to create a hardened mold. Turn excess scraps of paper into delightful eggs put on display for the holiday.

- Purchase corn starch eggs. Corn starch is used in everything from packing materials to children's craft products. Corn starch can be molded into solid forms or foam-type consistencies. Egg kits are sold with this green material. When Easter is over, the corn starch eggs can be put out for composting. Foam-type eggs may be dissolved with water.
- Make edible eggs. Traditional Easter eggs can be wasteful if the eggs are boiled and used entirely for display. Rather, make eggs that will be enjoyed and are not at risk of spoiling too soon after being on display. Gelatin-dessert eggs are one way to use the

Spring into Easter with reinvented recipes

Vegetable casseroles and carrot cake have been Easter menu mainstays for decades, but with the majority of millennials now hosting holiday family gatherings, retro dishes are getting a flavorful facelift with new ingredients and flavor twists.

Chef Kevan Vetter of the McCormick Kitchens offers these tips to put a new spin on Easter favorites:

- Liven up the Easter ham with a spicy-sweet glaze of apricot jam, pineapple juice and chipotle chili pepper. Brush on a spiral-cut ham before roasting in the oven.
- Upgrade a traditional vegetable casserole by sprinkling a layer of cheddar cheese and topping with potato tots. Bake until the tots are crisp and golden brown and the casserole is bubbly.
- Combine two classic Easter desserts in one. Swirl carrot cake batter into a smooth and creamy cheesecake base with a hint of lemon. Bake and cut into bars.

Elevate holiday meals with these creative updates to Easter classics. For more recipes and tips, check out McCormick.com and visit McCormick Spice on Facebook and Pinterest.

CARROT CAKE SWIRLED CREAM CHEESE BARS

Prep time: 15 minutes
Cook time: 40 minutes
Servings: 24
1 cup plus 2 tablespoons flour, divided
2 cups sugar, divided
1½ teaspoons McCormick Ground Cinnamon
1 teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon McCormick Ground Nutmeg
¼ teaspoon salt
2/3 cup vegetable oil
4 eggs, divided
2 teaspoons McCormick Pure Vanilla Extract 1½ cups finely grated carrots (3 packages (8 ounces each)

cream cheese, softened
¼ cup milk
1 teaspoon McCormick Pure Lemon Extract
Preheat oven to 325 F. Mix 1 cup each of flour and sugar, cinnamon, baking soda, nutmeg and salt in large bowl. Add oil, 2 eggs, vanilla extract and carrots; mix well. Spread ½ of the batter into greased and floured 13-by-9-inch baking pan. Reserve remaining batter. Set aside.

Beat cream cheese and remaining 1 cup sugar in another large bowl with electric mixer on medium speed until well blended. Add milk, remaining 2 tablespoons flour and lemon extract; beat until well blended. Add remaining 2 eggs, one at a time, beating on low speed after each addition just until blended.

Drop spoonfuls of cream cheese mixture and reserved carrot cake batter, alternately, over carrot cake batter in pan. Cut through several times with knife for marble effect.

Bake 40 minutes or until toothpick inserted in center comes out clean. Cool in pan on wire rack.

APRICOT PINEAPPLE CHIPOTLE GLAZED HAM

Prep time: 10 minutes
Cook time: 1 hour, 45 minutes
Servings: 24
1 bone-in spiral-cut ham, about 10 pounds
1 cup apricot jam
½ cup pineapple juice
¼ teaspoon McCormick Chipotle Chili Pepper
½ teaspoon McCormick Garlic Powder
Preheat oven to 325 F. Place ham on its side in roasting pan. Mix apricot jam, pineapple juice, chipotle chili pepper and garlic powder in small bowl until well blended. Brush ½ of the jam mixture over ham, gently separating slices so mixture can reach middle of ham. Cover eggs after Easter, and creative people can try crafting eggs out of meringue as well.

- Dough eggs: Have the children get out their favorite modeling dough and craft multi-colored eggs as a fun, rainy-day project. Those who want the eggs to last can purchase actual clay from the craft store or whip up their own medium at home. After drying, the eggs should be ready to paint.

- Drained eggs: Those interested in using the yolks and albumen from the eggs for cooking can poke small holes into the eggs and drain them. Then the remaining eggshells can be decorated and put on display.

loosely with foil.

Bake 1 hour, basting occasionally with pan drippings. Remove foil. Brush with remaining jam mixture. Bake 45 minutes longer. Serve ham with pan drippings.

CHEESY BROCCOLI CAULIFLOWER TATER-TOPPED CASSEROLE

Prep time: 20 minutes
Cook time: 55 minutes
Servings: 14
1 package (16 ounces) frozen broccoli florets, thawed
1 package (16 ounces) frozen cauliflower florets, thawed
2 tablespoons butter
1 cup chopped onion

2 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon McCormick Perfect Pinch Italian Seasoning
1 teaspoon McCormick Garlic Salt
¼ teaspoon McCormick Coarse Ground Black Pepper
1¼ cups milk
4 ounces (½ package) cream cheese, cubed
¼ cup grated Parmesan cheese
2 cups shredded sharp Cheddar cheese
1 pound frozen fried potato tots
Preheat oven to 400 F. Cut up any large broccoli or cauliflower florets into bite-size pieces. Set aside.

Melt butter in large skillet on medium heat. Add onion; cook and stir about 5 minutes or until tender. Stir in flour, Italian seasoning, garlic salt and pepper. Add milk; cook and stir until thickened and bubbly. Add cream cheese and Parmesan cheese; cook and stir until cream cheese is melted. Add vegetables; toss gently to coat. Spoon into 2-quart baking dish. Sprinkle evenly with Cheddar cheese and top with potato tots.

Bake 45 to 55 minutes or until heated through and potato tots are golden brown and crispy. (Content and images provided by Family Features.)

Review: A mother's faith is tested in 'Miracles from Heaven'

BY JAKE COYLE

ASSOCIATED PRESS

The rise of the so-called “faith-based film” – typically low-budget films that are almost uniformly evangelical – has occurred largely in a bubble of its own like a sheltering harbor for Christian believers at that heathen meeting place: the multiplex.

“Miracles from Heaven,” a film whose title even Hallmark would blush at, is an attempt to expand the reach of the faith-based film a little beyond the flock. To do so, it has armed itself with two things: the star power of Jennifer Garner and a full barrage of sentimentality. The fate of a sick 10-year-old girl precariously hangs in the balance.

The film, directed by Patricia Riggen (“The 33”), is adapted from the memoir of Christy Beam, whose Texas family is jolted when one of their three daughters, Anna (played sweetly by Kylie Rogers), is found to suffer from a rare disorder that leaves her chronically unable to digest food.

“Based on real events” is how the film presents itself, and some of its best qualities are in depicting elements of life – the frightful anxiety of parenthood, the struggle to find meaning amid hardship – that don’t often make it into the movies.

But the course of “Miracles from Heaven” is never in doubt. When Ms. Garner as Ms. Beam intones in the opening voiceover questions of where miracles come from, the film’s title has already stated the answer. Just as certainly will it turn out well in the end for Christy, who strays from her faith while watching her daughter’s belly painfully swell, and Anna, whose health deteriorates while the family desperately searches for a knowing doctor.

For those girding for religious propaganda, that is here. And the Beams – a white, churchgoing, flannel-shirt-wearing Texas family with horses on their pastoral, homespun ranch – offer little that deviates from the most stereotyped, limited view of who’s Christian.

But to the film’s credit, its more distinguishing characteristic is an earnestness to recognize the small and large gestures of kindness that alter lives. It’s not the most radical epiphany, but in “Miracles from Heaven,” it feels genuine.

Ms. Garner is, of course, a better performer than many of these films have had, and her white-knuckle maternal worry propels the movie to something a touch better than the Lifetime movie you’d expect. Several years after “Dallas Buyers Club,” Ms. Garner is back in hospital halls, this time as a pleading parent of a patient.

Along the way, a handful of people brighten Anna’s journey: a playful doctor (Eugenio Derbez), an exuberantly friendly waitress (Queen Latifah, incredulously playing a Bostonian), a thoughtful boy at school.

“Miracles are everywhere” is the movie’s concluding ethos, something that might also be said of Terrence Malick’s bursting-with-life films, the latest of which was his LA version of the prodigal son tale, “Knight of Cups.” The connection, between radically different elevations of movie-making, is maybe a little silly.

But it’s a reminder that, just as “miracles” are all around, spirituality in the cinema is, too, and it should be sought out in films that exceed the narrow boundaries of “faith-based.”

“Miracles From Heaven” is rated PG content thematic material, including accident and medical images. Two stars out of four.

Easter egg hunt to return to Tryon Palace

Children ages 12 and under are invited to Tryon Palace's Easter Egg Hunt on Saturday, March 26, where thousands of eggs are waiting to be found on the Tryon Palace South Lawn and Daves House Lawn.

This popular event returns for a second year with numerous updates that include multiple egg hunts, preregistration and a special area for children 4 and under.

"We want families to see Easter egg hunts at Tryon Palace as a fun tradition they come back for every year," said Tryon Palace director of education Megan Raby. "Last year we had our first egg hunt on the South Lawn and were blown away by how many people showed up. We learned a lot that day and are looking forward to trying lots of new ideas and improvements in our second year."

Tryon Palace will host three egg hunts throughout the day (11 a.m., 12:30 p.m. and 2 p.m.) for children ages 5-12. There will also be a special area on the Daves House Lawn from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. for pre-K children to play, hunt for eggs and meet the Easter Bunny.

Age categories will be divided into ages 4 and under, 5-8 and 9-12. Each participant will receive a goody bag full of candy, coloring pages, toys and more.

Ticket prices are $6 for adults, $3 for youth 13-17 and free for children 12-and-under.

Space is limited and preregistration is strongly recommended for all tickets, including free

Children 12 and younger will get to hunt for Easter eggs like these on Saturday, March 26, on the Tryon Palace South Lawn and Daves House Lawn in New Bern. The Easter Bunny will be at the event, and participants will receive goody bags. My Fair Lady April 22-May 8

"The Perfect Musical" comes to Morehead City! Fridays and Saturdays 8 PM
Sundays at 2 PM

My Fair Lady set the record for the longest run of any major musical theatre production in history. As a winner of six Tony awards, the endearing story continues to charm audiences of all ages. Henry Higgins, a misogynistic and snobbish phonetics professor, agrees to a wager that he can take Eliza Doolittle, a common flower girl, and make her presentable in high society. Little does he realize how much Eliza changes him throughout the course of their time spent together. Don't miss your opportunity to see one of Broadway's most memorable musicals!

Superman, also known as James Seretti, throws a punch to Batman, also known as Rodney Leary. These heroes are a part of Project Superhero Inc., which is hosting a toy drive from noon to 1 p.m. Saturday, March 26, at Atlantic Station Cinema and again that day from 4 to 5 p.m. at AB Ice Cream & Candy Shoppe. (Sarah Leary photo)

Heroes to host toy drive

Project Superhero Inc. is preparing for the upcoming movie, "Batman v. Superman: Dawn of Justice" in a way that benefits area children.

Project Superhero will team up with Atlantic Station Cinema and the AB Ice Cream & Candy Shoppe for two different events, a toy drive and "Dessert with Superheroes."

AB Ice Cream & Candy Shoppe contacted Rodney Leary, founder of Project Superhero Inc., about helping the nonprofit group. With the superhero movie being released, Mr. Leary thought it was the perfect opportunity.

"We contacted the manager at Atlantic Station and asked if they would be willing to partner up with a fundraiser of some sort," Mr. Leary said. "Paula Lewis (the Atlantic Station manager) was very excited to help out."

From noon to 1 p.m. Saturday March 26, Batman and Superman will be in the lobby of Atlantic Station Cinema to meet and take photographs with moviegoers attending the 1 p.m. showing of "Batman v. Superman: Dawn of Justice."

Participants that bring an unwrapped or unopened toy will receive a free small popcorn.

After the movie ends, participants can step next door to the AB Ice Cream & Candy Shoppe for "Dessert with Superheroes." From 4-5 p.m., Batman and Superman will be eating ice cream and meeting super fans. Be sure to bring an unwrapped or unopened superhero toy for donation to receive a free kids cone.

AB Ice Cream will also donate 10 percent of the evening's proceeds to Project Superhero.

Photos with the superheroes are free with a personal camera. Donations will be accepted. All superhero toys collected will be donated to children that the nonprofit group meets on their charity visits.

Project Superhero Inc. is a nonprofit volunteer organization that sends superheroes out to local youth events, charities and pediatric hospitals in Eastern North Carolina. Their mission is to inspire the youth of the community and make a positive impact through the spirit of imagination, while also reinforcing superhero values and character.

In "Batman v. Superman: Dawn of Justice," viewers are introduced to a time shortly after Superman's battle with General Zod, one of Superman's most formidable enemies.

The loss of life and collateral damage left many feeling angry and helpless, including crime-fighting billionaire Bruce Wayne, also known as Batman.

Convinced that Superman is now a threat to humanity, Batman embarks on a personal vendetta to end his reign on Earth, while the conniving Lex Luthor launches his own crusade against the Man of Steel.

Fans of these DC Comic Inc. superhero characters can also look forward to seeing other well-known characters, such as Wonder Woman and Aquaman in the movie.

SUDOKU

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Education

SUMMER SCIENCE SCHOOL REGISTRATION OPEN 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the N.C. Maritime Museum in Beaufort. Summer Science School investigates the coastal environment and North Carolina's rich maritime history. The N.C. Maritime Museum offers students the opportunity to learn about the natural and maritime history of coastal North Carolina through creative, hands-on experiences. Courses are offered from June through July. There is an emphasis on small class size. Students travel with instructors by van or boat to field sites. Only registered children may attend classes. Lodging facility not available; parents or guardians must provide transportation to and from class daily. For more information, call 252-728-7317.

VOLUNTEERS NEEDED FOR U.S. COAST GUARD AUXILIARY FLOTILLA 20-02 While volunteering, participants will learn how to perform free boat safety checks as a vessel examiner, become an instructor or teaching aide for local boating safety classes, become a boat crew for on-water missions, become a Radio Watchstander who works directly with active-duty Coast Guard personnel manning the communication radios at a Coast Guard station or become a chef in the food services program. Chefs will board Coast Guard ships to prepare meals for the crews, verify buoys and aids to navigation on local waterways and educate the public and businesses about protecting the marine environment. To become a uniformed volunteer Coast Guard Auxiliary member in Flotilla 20-02 in Morehead City, call 252-393-2869 or email lhorton4@ec.rr.com.

Retired Marine, FBI agent to sign books

BY BRAD RICH

NEWS-TIMES

Emerald Isle will host a book signing on Thursday, March 31, with a retired Marine and FBI agent who has written a tale that will hit home to many area residents.

John Ligato, who lives in North Carolina, will sign his new book, Dirty Boys, from 6:30-8 p.m. in the town hall.

According to publicity material, the novel "documents the steady decline of the United States as a world power. It answers the question of, 'What happens if America continues down its current path of political correctness in dealing with our sworn enemies.'"

Dirty Boys is the tale of a maverick FBI undercover agent ordered back into the office and assigned to the Joint Terrorism Task Force. He uncovers an international terrorist plot to destroy America without firing a single bullet.

Unable to convince his bosses that this sleeper cell exists, former Marine John Booker goes rogue and must battle both terrorists and the bureaucracy. Mr. Booker forms a task force of misfits who are comfortable working "off the books." They realize that the government does not understand our enemies.

Mr. Ligato originally hails from south Philadelphia. He attended Slippery Rock University, earning a degree in secondary education and a master's in educational psychology.

In his 23 years in the FBI, his assignments included, Pittsburgh, Memphis, New York City, Buffalo and Cleveland. The 2006 movie, "10th and Wolf" was loosely based on his life. It featured Val Kilmer, Dennis Hopper, Tommy Lee, Brad Renfro, Giovanni Ribisi, James Marsden and Lesley Ann Warren.

As a young man, Mr. Ligato was with the lead contingent of Marines into Hue City, Vietnam, during the 1968 TET offensive. He received three Purple Hearts for wounds suffered in Vietnam.

He has been an adjunct college professor for the past 12 years and teaches counterterrorism and international security at Campbell University.

Various works of art from Craven County school students will be on display in the Duffy Exhibition Gallery until Sunday, March 27. (Contributed art)

Student artwork to be featured in Duffy Exhibition Gallery

The works of art students from Craven County schools are now on display in the Duffy Exhibition Gallery at the N.C. History Center in New Bern.

This free annual kindergarten through 12th-grade student art show is presented by the Craven Arts Council and Gallery.

Featured in the gallery will be an array of art from students around Eastern North Carolina covering many different artistic styles and mediums.

Craven Arts Council

Executive Director Carol Tokarski said the annual exhibit is important for fostering the arts among the future generations of artists in Eastern North Carolina.

"It's always wonderful to witness children excited about seeing their art, and the art of their friends in professional galleries," Ms. Tokarski said.

"Having their work hanging in their school or tacked to their parents' refrigerator is one thing, but to see it at the Bank of the Arts or the North Carolina History Center's terrific Duffy Gallery is quite another," she added.

The gallery will remain open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Saturday, and noon to 5 p.m. on Sundays through Sunday, March 27.

For more information, call 252-639-3500 or visit www.tryonpalace.org.

Smyrna resident to perform senior recital at Tennessee college

Josiah Hodge, of Smyrna, will perform his senior recital, at 7 p.m. Saturday, April 2, at Visible Music College in Memphis, Tenn.

This recital represents the culmination of three years of study at Visible Music College, a music and worship college.

Mr. Hodge will present his recital in the area of Modern Music: vocals. The recital is juried and is the last major academic step toward graduation. Recitals require a full semester of preparation and rehearsal.

All recitals at Visible Music College are free and open to the public.

Visible Music College trains and equips musicians, technicians and business professionals in skill and character for effective service in the music industry and in the church.

Founded in 2000 by Ken Steorts, the college moved into its downtown campus in late summer 2011. The campus includes four floors of performance, practice, classroom and administrative space. Visible Music College is committed to a philosophy of education that prioritizes community through teaching, accountability and discipleship; therefore, enrollment growth will be achieved through partners and teaching sites around the United States and world.

Schal Werk Stadt, a partner campus in Holden, Germany, opened in fall 2011 and a Chicago campus opened in fall 2014.
