Israeli Security Chief Will Visit Police Here

Brig. Gen. Shaul Rosolio

Brigadier General Shaul Rosolio, one of Israel's key security officers, will meet with Cleveland Police Chief Patrick L. Gerity on Monday, Jan. 13, at Central Police Station.

Commander Rosolio heads Israel's southern police district, which includes the Old City of Jerusalem as well as the Al-nby Bridge, Hebron, and Bethlehem. He was also in charge of police security at the Eichmann trial.

Born in Tel Aviv in 1923, he was educated at Herzlia College and the Hebrew University (Continued on Page 23)

Miller Reappointed to Head Bonds Campaign; $2.5-Million Goal Set

Samuel H. Miller, executive vice-president of the Forest City Enterprises, was named to his second term as chairman of the Cleveland Committee of State of Israel Bonds at a year-end meeting of the board of governors on Dec. 30.

Enthusiasm ran high at the meeting as the 1969 Israel Bond cash goal of $2.5-million was proposed by Julie Kravitz, Special Sales chairman. The goal was accepted unanimously as a realistic one, based on the 1968 cash sale of $2.184-million.

Mr. Miller will be formally installed in office at a dinner event on Feb. 17 at the Statler-Hilton Hotel. He has recently returned from a fact-finding trip to Israel, where he was accompanied by U.S. Congressman Charles Yanik and Dorothy-Fuldheim, WEWE news analyst.

medical Academy of Baltimore. The dinner will be held at the Taylor Road Synagogue at 6:30 P.M. Rabbi Gewirtz will discuss the role of higher Tora education in an age of youthful rebellion.

4 From Cleveland Attend Conference With Eshkol

Prime Minister Meets With Leaders of World Jewry in Parley on National Security

Four nationally prominent Clevelanders are now in Jerusalem attending a conference of world Jewish leaders which has been convened by Prime Minister Levi Eshkol. Planned long before the current crisis in the Middle East, the unprecedented conference was designed to permit frank, thorough discussions among the Prime Minister and his colleagues and world Jewish leaders.

Participants from Cleveland are Edward Ginsberg, general chairman of the United Jewish Appeal; Irving Kane, chairman of the America-Israel Public Affairs Committee; Jordan Band, chairman of the National Community Relations Advisory Committee (NCRAC); and Sidney Z. Vincent, executive director of the Cleveland Jewish Community Federation, who will participate as a representative of the Council of Jewish Federations and Welfare Funds.

Top Leadership

A select group of 150 top leaders of world Jewry are attending the conference, which opened on Wednesday evening, Jan. 8. High priority is being given to a discussion of Israel's political and security situation, as well as the status of its public relations, within the international context.

In addition, topics being covered include the need for deepening of personal links between Israel and Jewish communities abroad; and the state of Jewish education throughout the world.

Yaacov Herzog and Avraham Aye-hai of the Prime Minister's Office are working together as coordinators of the event. According to Mr. Herzog, the conference has been in the planning

France Says Use of Its 'Copters In Beirut Raid Triggered Embargo

BY JTA TELETYPE TO THE JEWISH NEWS

PARIS -- France indicated Wednesday that use of helicopters it had provided to Israel in the Dec. 28 reprisal raid against Beirut International Airport was a factor in President De Gaulle's decision to slap an embargo on shipments of war material to Israel.

Information Minister Joel Le Theule made this statement following a two-hour cabinet meeting, and also told the press that, contrary to rumors, Paris had no intention of breaking diplomatic relations with Jerusalem.

The French Government expressed apparent indifference Wednesday to the barrage of criticism of the embargo leveled against it by France's press and politicians. M. Le Theule commented, "It has been noted that Israeli influences make themselves felt in certain ways in circles close to the press."

Top level Gaullist sources said that Gen. De Gaulle had ordered the embargo without consulting his cabinet or parliament and that Cabinet Ministers first heard about it by Israeli radio. They said the embargo orders were sent to customs officials with instructions to block all shipments of military material to Israel.

M. Le Theule commented "To say French politics has been hostile to Israel for a long time is incorrect." He noted that France had sold Mirage V jet fighters for defensive purposes, adding that they had become a "symbol of aggression" in the Six-Day War and thus were embargoed in 1967.

The minister said France imposed the latest embargo because it wants permanent peace in the Middle East.

De Gaulle's Embargo Denounced By Israel As One-Sided Affront

JERUSALEM -- Israel's Foreign Ministry denounced the French embargo on the shipment of military material to Israel Tuesday as "a one-sided and unwarranted annulment of agreements between states" that demonstrated "the will to hurt Israel's ability to defend herself against the continuing aggression and enmity of the Arab states."

The Foreign Ministry's statement, released late Tuesday night, said French policy has been "steadily approaching that of countries which are the declared enemies of Israel," and declared that the embargo annulled any possibility that the French government might fulfill a positive function in the Middle East crisis.

President Charles De Gaulle met with his Cabinet in the Elysee Palace Wednesday amid reports that he might sever diplomatic relations with Israel over the Dec. 28 reprisal raid on Beirut Airport.

The De Gaulle embargo of military spare parts and equipment to Israel was under sharp attack in virtually all sections of the French press, except the Communist one.

The Soviet ambassador to Paris, Valerian Zorin, said at a reception Wednesday that "other countries, notably the United States, should follow the example of France."

Praise From Cairo

Egypt also praised the De Gaulle move as a "model" for the world. The authoritative Cairo newspaper "Al Ahram" said Wednesday that the embargo "clipped the wings" of the Israeli Air Force.

Defense Ministry circles here said Wednesday that while the embargo posed serious problems, Israel had prepared itself for such contingencies by stock-

WELCOME HOME TO INJURED AIRCRAFT

Shown on its arrival at Israel's Lod Airport is the El Al plane which was severely damaged in the recent El Fatah raid in Athens, with the loss of one passenger's life. Despite the repairs already made on the plane, bullet holes are still clearly visible on the nose of the aircraft.

Israel Confident on Delivery Of F-4 Phantom Jets from U.S.

WASHINGTON, (JTA) -- Israel's charge d'affaires expressed confidence on Monday that the United States would not let his nation's attack on Beirut International Airport block the sale to Israel of 50 supersonic F-4 Phantom jets. Appearing on a local television program, Shlomo Argov said he was certain that "your Government, having made an agreement, will live up to it."

Rumors circulated here however, that Israel has been informed that delivery of the jets must be left for final approval to the incoming Nixon administration.

He was asked if the timing for the Dec. 28 reprisal raid affected the U. S. decision, announced a day earlier, to sell the Phantoms to Israel. "The timing was not of our own choice -- it was glued to the Athens incident," he said.

"We launched this operation to make the Lebanese realize the consequences of acting as hosts to these kinds of people," he added. Israel claims the two Arab terrorists who attacked an El Al airliner in Athens, killing one Israeli and injuring two others, came from Beirut.

Israeli diplomatic sources in Washington, said the U. S. never raised the subject of the Phantoms to Israel after the Beirut raid despite the fact that it lodged a strong protest with Israel.
