Classic Image Dance

Classic Image Dance Studio in Chandler has a solid reputation for training well-rounded dancers, who not only are competent in their skill level and execution, but who also have confidence and who work well as a team.

"We do our best to run the studio in a professional manner, where we have a friendly atmosphere and family environment, but where the instructors take charge to create the best possible results," said owner and director Devin Moss.

With 15 instructors and four class studios, Classic Image offers classes in ballet, tap, hip hop, jazz—"basically all styles of dance, except ballroom," Moss said. "We have classes for ages three up to adult," including recreational classes for those who want to learn to dance

Classic Image Dance Studio offers benefits for both beginning and seasoned dancers and have fun and more intensive classes for those who want more extensive professional training.

Moss said, the fact that she has been in business for 21 years is evidence that Classic Image Dance Studio is doing a lot of things right.

"That, along with the fact that our kids come out with high marks on our testing and in competition," Moss said.

This summer, 65 of their dancers participated in Los Angeles in LA Dance Magic, where they had an excellent showing; and another Classic Image-trained dancer, Mariah Spears, made it through to the top 16 on "So You Think You Can Dance."

A relatively late starter, Moss begun dancing when she was 11, but she learned early on that she loved teaching and taught her first classes at 14.

"I am a much better teacher than I ever was a performer," Moss said. Moss and the others at Classic Image continue to progress as instructors. Moss is certified in the Cecchetti method of ballet and is the only one in Arizona certified to teach other teachers.

"I love seeing the kids progress. I love trying to see how to reach each student and fine tune their talents and find what makes them click as dancers."
