

Public set to get first ever U.S. Gov't issued Reagan coins Free

NATIONWIDE - Washington is bracing for massive line ups with everyone trying to get the first Ronald Reagan Coins ever to be minted by the U.S. Government.

That's why droves of collectors are now clamoring to get as many first issue rolls as they can carry home.

To make sure no one gets left out, the general public has until midnight tomorrow to send in just 2 U.S. postage stamps to be among the first guaranteed to receive the shimmering new Reagan Dollar Coins in brilliant, never-circulated condition for free.

The only catch is that the Official Coupon printed in today's newspaper must be postmarked by midnight tomorrow.

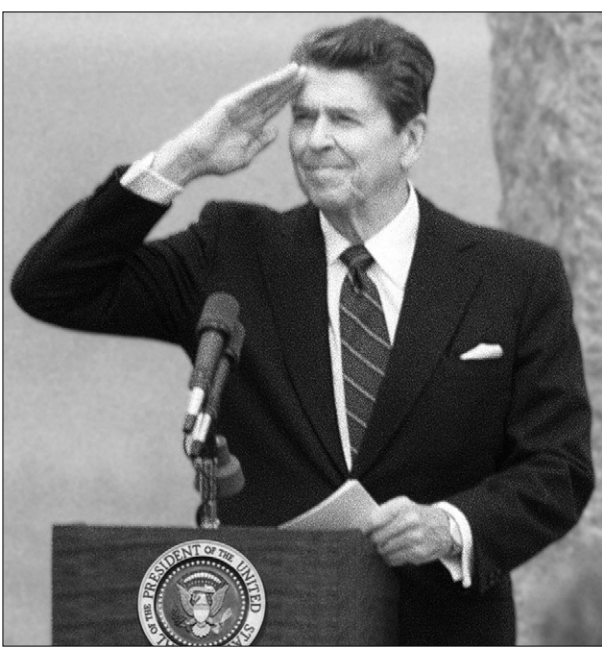

"Get as many as you can now," said Mary Ellen Withrow.

And when Mary Ellen Withrow tells you to do something, it pays to listen. That's because she knows money like no other. She's the now retired 40th Treasurer of the United States of America and presided over the longest economic boom in U.S. history.

Today, she is the compensated Sr. Executive Advisor to the Lincoln Treasury. And when she says it's smart to get the only existing, Sealed Vault Tubes of these brand new, never-circulated U.S. coins, you better do it today.

That's why serious collectors are snapping up these valuable, Sealed Vault Tubes, each loaded with twelve brilliant, never-circulated Ronald Reagan Dollar Coins to be socked away and cashed in later.

Today's readers can claim only ten of these never before seen, Sealed Vault Tubes loaded with one hundred and twenty brilliant, never-circulated Ronald Reagan Dollar
