

Pollution solution one key to Gary airport expansion

The Gary airport's runway extension will pass directly through the NBD Trust and Conservation Chemical properties. The airport has been negotiating with environmental agencies on cleaning up hazardous chemicals long known to saturate the ground there. On Tuesday, city and airport officials said discoveries of even more pollution means the airport's runway expansion cannot be completed until September 2014.

Sources: Airport and FAA environmental reports.

Amy Olding/The Times