American Troops Spreading Over Subdued Tokyo

By MERLIN SPENCER

TOKYO (Sunday), Sept. 9 (AP) — Helmeted U. S. troops with bayonets ready spread their control over more of subdued Tokyo today (Saturday, U. S. Time), behind them additional men, tanks and guns streamed into Japan.

The American flag flew proudly over this devastated capital of a fallen empire, placed there yesterday at the command of General MacArthur at a brief and simple ceremony in the U. S. Embassy grounds.

Other soldiers were swarming ashore in Korea, under Japanese thralldom since 1910. The Tokyo Radio said American rule over the homeland would reach up to Japan's northernmost limits at Hokkaido by Oct. 4.

The Japanese were scheduled to yield Okinawa naval base, 400 miles north of Tokyo, to the U. S. North Pacific Fleet at 10 A. M. (9 P. M. Saturday Eastern War Time), extending the occupation of Honshu island beyond the capital for the first time.

Sixty warships crowded into Okinawa's anchorage, Marines in reconnaissance boats prowled the coastline, and naval crews prepared to immobilize all Japanese shipping in those waters.

A similar drama was being enacted at Kagoura naval and submarine base on Honshu's eastern coast southeast of Tokyo, which will pass completely under U. S. Army and Navy control before nightfall.

Tokyo Radio announced a schedule of occupation which would place American forces in control of many strategic points of the fallen empire by early October.

By this account, the naval base of Sasebo on the western coast of the southernmost island of Kyushu will be taken over Sept. 11, presumably by the U. S. Fifth Fleet assigned to Kyushu's waters.

Wakayama, steel city of 195,000 population 30 miles southwest of Osaka—the great industrial complex lying 250 miles southwest of Tokyo—will change hands Sept. 25, Tokyo said.

Tokyo reported Yokkaichi, oil refining center 60 miles northeast of Osaka, will be occupied Oct. 2, the north Honshu port of Aomori Oct. 3 and the northernmost island of Hokkaido Oct. 4.

To Occupy Kyoto

The Japanese also said two officers of the U. S. Sixth Army had left Tokyo yesterday for Kyoto to arrange for its occupation. Kyoto, ancient capital of Japan, is 20 miles north of Osaka.

Meanwhile, as Army authorities checked war prisoners' atrocity stories, Japanese intellectuals called on the Americans to announce at once a list of war criminals to which

Albanians Charge Greeks Made Forays

LONDON, Sept. 8 (AP)—The Moscow radio, quoting Albanian Telegraph Agency and Belgrade radio reports, said tonight that the Greeks shelled and machine gunned the Albanian coast and towns and made forays into Albania territory.

The broadcast listed three specific incidents: On Aug. 31 three Greek motor cutters pulled up to the Albanian coast and towed away an Albanian barge loaded with timber. On Sept. 1 Greek soldiers crossed into Albanian territory in daylight, and that night a six-man Greek patrol crossed the frontier but retreated when Albanian troops fired their weapons into the air. The broadcast said that on the following day the Greeks shelled the Albanian coast twice.

25,000 Japs Give Up In Solomon Islands

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 8 (AP)—Melbourne radio reported in a broadcast monitored tonight by the American Broadcasting Company that the formal surrender of 25,000 Japanese on Bougainville and the adjacent Solomons Islands was signed Saturday noon, Australian time (9 P. Yank Veterans Land In Korea

Japanese Fall Back From Occupied Coast

JINSEN, KOREA, Sept. 8 (AP) — Veteran combat troops from Okinawa swarmed ashore and into this Korean port on the Yellow Sea today and turned east toward Seoul, capital of this little empire seized by Japan.

The Japanese, who pulled their forces 12 miles inland, will surrender formally tomorrow in this port.

It was not known when the Seventh Infantry Division, spearhead of the occupation forces, would begin the 23-mile march to Seoul, which the Japanese renamed Keijo when they took over 35 years ago.

Obviously it will be soon, because the country which never ceased to resist its conquerors was reported simmering with minor civil disorders, and even the Japanese are believed anxious to surrender control.

With the guns of the Seventh Amphibious group ready to blaze at the first sign of resistance, the landing barges put off through the dangerous tides which often rise 23 feet.

Convoy Lies Offshore

The convoy itself lay outside the treacherous shoal and reef-studded waters at the approaches to the harbor as the invasion boats headed for the dark green shores.

The advance party of soldiers hit the beaches at 3 P. M. (2 A. M. Saturday Eastern War Time) and prepared the way for the main landing party.

Admiral Kinkaid's Chief of Staff, Rear Adm. Thomas Coombs, was instructed to make the final arrangements for Sunday's surrender ceremony shortly after the first Americans entered the seaport.

The signing of the surrender will formally free 32,000,000 people, who for 35 years have lived under Japanese rule.

Court Martial Offered If Kimmel Wants One

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (AP)—Senator Walsh (D., Mass.), disclosed today that the Navy has offered Rear-Adm. Husband E. Kimmel Navy commander at Pearl Harbor when the Japanese struck, a court martial if he wants it.

The revelation came in a letter from Secretary of the Navy Forrestal, part of which was made public by the Senator, which checked to Congress the decision of making public confidential information which a naval court of inquiry gathered about the Pearl Harbor disaster.

The Navy said later there had been no response from the Admiral on the offer of trial.

Wainwright Reaches San Francisco; Tells Of Terrible Shelling On Bataan

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 8 (AP)—Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright came home today and voiced his grim satisfaction at having watched the Japanese bow their once arrogant heads in surrender.

But the hero of Corregidor, rendered almost speechless by his enthusiastic welcome at Hamilton Field, was mute about the treatment he received from the enemy during his 42 months' imprisonment.

He told how his valiant troops on Bataan and Corregidor were subjected to the most intense artillery bombardment in history.

"When my men battered and overwhelmed, further resistance was useless," the general told a press conference. "So I surrendered to M. Homma, the Japanese general.

"A few days ago it was my turn. The shoe was on the other foot, it was present at Baguio in the Philippines when Gen. Yamashita was obliged to bow his head in surrender."

Hundreds of military personnel and scores of civilians greeted the big C-54 transport in which Gen. Wainwright from Honolulu, en route to report to Gen. Marshall at Washington.

This morning at 11:10 I dropped out of a heavy cloud bank just above San Francisco," Gen. Wainwright said.

Long-Anticipated Moment

"For many weary months I had thought of that moment—when I would see the Golden Gate again."

The big plane came down through the clouds into brilliant sunshine and settled gently on the Hamilton Field runway.

The hatch was opened and the general's gray-thatched head popped

U. S. To Spend 2½ Billions On Construction

Starting Signal Expected From WPB About October 1

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (AP)—Plans are ready for $2,500,000,000 worth of public construction jobs to be undertaken in the next 12 months.

Work can begin on many projects as soon as the War Production Board gives the signal. There may be some delay on Federal projects—principally flood control, rivers and harbors and reclamation—until Congress appropriates funds.

The relaxing by WPB of construction bans, except perhaps on housing, is expected about Oct. 1. That will be the starting gun for the vast backlog of needed work that has accumulated during the war.

The $3,000,000,000 three-year Federal aid road program is all set to go. The $500,000,000 Federal allotment for the first year, to be matched equally by the States, already has been apportioned, although Congress has to make the appropriation. On Aug. 1 the States reported plans completed for work estimated to cost $616,000,000.

Park Roads Planned

President Truman has asked Congress to release, in addition, $164,-750,000 of road authorizations for previous years which were held up during the war. These plans call for roads in national forests and parks, access roads to Indian reservations, and parkways.

Construction was stopped or deferred on reclamation and irrigation projects totalling $1,158,981,200 because of the war. The Reclamation Bureau estimates that to complete work now under way will cost $171,-997,000. The bureau has $60,000,000 immediately available for construction without waiting for additional appropriations.

Army engineers have plans ready for more than 250 flood control and rivers and harbors projects to cost $750,000,000.

They estimate that more than $75,000,000 can be spent in the first year on flood control works suspended during the war and nearly $200,000,000 on new projects. The projects have been authorized by Congress but no money has been appropriated. The engineers will seek funds for commencement of work in a deficiency appropriations bill.

Hirohito May Lose Throne, Go On Trial

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (AP)—Emperor Hirohito of Japan may find himself out of a job soon.

And once the bespectacled little man has ceased to be the royal figurehead of Japan's religious-political system, he may be tried as a war criminal.

At the moment, as far as official Washington will say, these are good possibilities. Some foreign diplomatic persons say they are certainties. Evidently the final decision is up to Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Top developments are tentatively expected to include withdrawal of Hirohito from the throne—either by voluntary abdication of by order of the Allied powers. He will be replaced by a regency for the schoolboy Prince Akihito. The regent probably will be an elderly member of the royal family.

8 British Soldiers Killed By Milanese

MILAN, Sept. 8 (AP)—Eight British enlisted men have died at the hands of armed Italian civilians as the result of incidents in Milan during the past week, official reports disclosed today.

Six of the eight were killed during altercations which arose between Italians and British soldiers in bars and restaurants. The other two were slain by Partisans who declared the truck the British were driving failed to halt upon order and was not recognized as an Allied military vehicle.

The reports do not revealed whether any arrests were made.

British Told Better Times Are Coming

Sunday Newspapers Foresee Supplies Of Merchandise

LONDON, Sept. 8 (AP)—Better times are coming, and they're not too far off, London Sunday papers told restless Britons.

In rosy predictions of the future, newspapers said there would be more food, more household goods and more cigarettes.

The Chronicle emphasized reports of a bumper Fall harvest and summarized reports to the National Farmers' Union from virtually all of the empire's agrarian regions with, "More home produce will be in our larders this Fall."

Food in England's No. 1 problem, particularly with a current slump in milk and meat.

The publication News of the World, foresaw release of surplus blankets, sheets, towels and possibly pots and pans by Christmas or early next year.

Predicting sale of such items at controlled prices and with distribution handled by a specially created trading corporation, News of the World said announcements were due soon regarding such almost nonexistent articles are electric refrigerators and automobiles.

The newspaper's headline reported end of the British cigarette famine was in sight, with "reasonably plentiful supplies" due back on the tobacconists' shelves in two months.

To Try Jap War Criminals

About 400,000 Nazis Accused

LONDON, Sept. 8 (AP)—The United Nations War Crimes Commission disclosed tonight that extensive steps are being taken to bring Japanese war criminals to justice.

Indications were that the number of Japanese who will have to answer for some of the most diabolical atrocities ever committed may exceed those to be tried in Europe.

The first list of Japanese war criminals—all military officers—was submitted to the War Crimes Commission almost a year ago by the United States.

Since the Spring of 1944 the War Crimes Commission has devoted particular attention to the question of punishment for Japanese war criminals when it took steps resulting in the establishment of a Far Eastern and Pacific sub-commission.

400,000 Nazi Criminals

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (AP)—The Allies expect to try perhaps 400,000 Germans for war crimes.

The courts will deal with the smaller fry after disposing of at least 24 Nazi big shots in a master trial at Nuremberg.

A large part of the 400,000 will be made up of members of Hitler's terror outfits—the Gestapo and the SS (elite guard).

Both those groups will be charged collectively with war crimes. Any member of the two organizations automatically would face conviction unless he could prove he had been forced to join.

Unfinished Battleship's Escape Dramatic Story

PARIS, Sept. 8 (AP)—The story of how France's unfinished 35,000-ton battleship Jean Bart escaped German capture during the debacle of June, 1940, finally was told today following her arrival at Cherbourg.

Workmen manned machine guns studded barricades around the St. Nazaire docks to keep off the onrushing Germans while tugs towed the Jean Bart in the wake of dredges which were still clearing the channel.

It was not known whether the mighty warship's engines would function, for two years work remained to be done on her. Electric current broke down three times plunging the ship into darkness. The compass arrived too late for mounting.

Once tugged into the unfinished channel the Jean Bart ran aground and listed heavily. In the pitch black night dredges dragged the bottom under her bow and she cleared with the rising tide.

GIs In Berlin, Okinawa Already Casting Ballots

By SAMUEL SCHOR

Although the general election is still two months away, GIs in Berlin and Okinawa already are casting their ballots.

The county clerk's office mailed on Aug. 18 approximately 6000 absentee ballots to men and women in the armed forces. Thus far 275 returns were received the day after at the County Board of Elections.

Up to yesterday 275 ballots have been returned, most of them from GIs with APO addresses in Europe and the Pacific. The envelopes will remain sealed until election day.

Meanwhile, discharges are appearing daily at the board's office in City Hall Annex to have their records transferred from the military file to the civilian file.

The procedure is simple if the ex-GI is registered permanently all that is required is the filling out of a card, and proof—he can cast his ballot on Nov. 6 at his old voting place. Those not registered permanently, must do so before Sept. 27, which is the last day of registration.

Anthony "Bart" Serenato, chief clerk of the election board pointed out that GIs now being discharged who already mailed in their ballots may get their voting status restored to civilian records by applying at the office in such cases however the serviceman's card will be kept in the military file until

Bulgaria Pardons Political Prisoners

SOFIA, Sept. 8 (AP)—A formula for solving Bulgaria's political crisis appeared today in action by the government granting opposition parties and granting mass pardons to political prisoners.

However there was no indication yet that opposition ministers would join the Fatherland Front since there was said to be little time for elections are not sufficient to insure free elections.

Both ministries now are held by Communists.

The pardons to a large number of political prisoners sentenced by the People's Court set up by the Fatherland Front earlier in the year, will mark the celebration tomorrow for commemorating the first anniversary of the revolution which put the present regime into power.

The government will grant full pardons to 302 political prisoners while another 511 have their prison terms reduced.

Navy Fire-Fighting Methods To Be Used

WASHINGTON (AP)—Fire-fighting techniques developed by the Navy during the war may revolutionize post-war civilian fire-fighting organizations.

Methods developed by the Navy were credited with saving uncounted lives and millions of dollars worth of property including such vessels as the aircraft carriers Franklin, Bunker Hill, Saratoga and Thunderbolt.

The Navy said yesterday the practical results of the techniques promise to save billions of dollars for property owners in years to come.

All applicable details of its equipment and methods, the Navy said will be given freely to civilian fire departments, industrial firm protection and insurance organizations.

Sen. Byrd Raps 30-Hour Week Plan For U. S. Government Employes

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8 (AP)—The proposed 30-hour federal work week became under fire today from Senator Byrd (D.-Va.) who declared it would mean all private industry will be forced to do the same.

"The 30-hour week in the capital of France was the 30-hour week. Byrd said in a statement. America cannot become a nation of drones and maintain our future economic stability."

The 30-hour week was proposed in a bill as Senator McCarran (D.-Nev.). It was referred to the Civil Service Committee, of which Byrd is a member.

McCarran wrote Chairman Downey (D.-Calif.) of the committee asking early hearings.

Downey told reporters the committee will meet Tuesday on other business, but will be glad to hear a

Hearing To Be Heard

Chairman Arthur S. Flemming of the Civil Service Commission said he favored and probably will be questioned as to what would be the effect of a 30-hour week, Downey added.

Asked if he agreed with Byrd that industry would have to follow if the government went on a 30-hour week, Downey replied:

"It would seem that any serious consequences would flow from it and that it would require careful study."

Senator Aiken (R.-Vt.), another committee member, told reporters he thought there is no doubt industry would have shorter hours if the government did.

"But I think a shorter work week is inevitable and not far away," Aiken added.

Cheery View Of Future

Wallace Predicts 53,500,000 Jobs

NEW YORK, Sept. 8 (AP)—Henry A. Wallace, Secretary of Commerce, tonight joined with the Committee for Economic Development a non-political organization of business men, in predicting that approximately 53,500,000 jobs would be available in the first year after reconversion.

The job estimate was made in a radio broadcast by Marion Macgowan, head of the CED's marketing committee and in charge of marketing research for Firestone Tire and Rubber Company. The broadcast originated in New York.

Wallace who participated in the broadcast, said the estimate was "confirmed by a recent survey of the investments planned by manufacturers, made by the Departments of Commerce."

Miss Gowan said he based his prediction on surveys made among 1400 manufacturers. He declared that 53,500,000 industrial workers would be needed in the first year after reconversion, and added:

"It seems reasonable to forecast that the 53,500,000 jobs in manufacturing industry would be about one-fourth of total employment including those in armed forces. Consequently, total civilian employment might vary between 51,000,000 and 57,000,000. Our best guess is figure of 53,500,000."

Wallace said "there is in sight purchasing power for almost 170,000,000 cash," adding that "to build up to this level would require an output of over 40,000,000 cars a year and about four years."

He said the estimated demand for such durable goods as refrigerators, radios and vacuum cleaners probably would equal that for automobiles. In housing Wallace declared, "there is much longer to work off the pent-up demand."

Stephanie's Death Recalls Mayerling

LONDON, Sept. 8 (AP)—The Brussels radio reported tonight the death of Crown Princess Stephanie of Austria-Hungary in Belgian Prisoners whose Habsburg Crown Prince husband died in circumstances that shocked the royalty of all Europe in 1889.

Stephanie, daughter of the 17-year-old daughter of King Leopold II died in Hungary a few days ago, her death means that true circumstances surrounding the death of Rudolph, the young and dashing Crown Prince Rudolph, and his beautiful mistress, the Baroness Marie Vetsera, may never be known.

In 1955 the former Crown Princess published her memoirs in which she said that her husband and the Baroness, whose bullet-pierced bodies were found in the Royal Hunting Lodge at Mayerling, died in the throes of suicide pact.
