

THE GIRLS' BASKETBALL ALL-STARS

Maddie Jolin/Bishop Feehan

This three-time all-star will take her talents to Providence College next year. Jolin led Feehan with a 15.0-point average, finishing her career with 1,113 points to tie former Feehan star Missy Traversi for eighth in school history. She hit a career-best 31 points against Somerset Berkley on the night she reached 1,000. Good as she was offensively, Jolin was an absolute terror to opponents defensively, using her quick hands and speed to steal the ball from opponents for transition baskets. Regarded as one of the best soccer players in the state. She is a four-time all-star and an honor roll student. She played AAU basketball for the Rhode Island Breakers.

Katie Nelson/Bishop Feehan

Nelson moved up to the starting lineup after a year of being first off the bench, earning a repeat all-star selection. She will enter her junior year with 614 points. Nelson averaged 13.2 points a game and equaled her single-game high of 22 against Attleboro. She's a smart player that can score from inside or out, shooting 44 percent overall and 41 for threes. She had 50 assists and 49 steals and used those to contribute to Feehan's trapping defenses and produce transition baskets. Nelson has already been a part of two Eastern Athletic Conference championships. She's an honor roll student and a member of the Art Honor Society, and is a part of the Honey Badgers AAU program.

Lauren Manis/Bishop Feehan

Already committed to Holy Cross, this 6-foot-1 junior from Franklin further established herself as one of the best frontcourters in the area. Manis averaged 10.3 points a game (she has 531 career points) as well as pulling down 202 rebounds and blocking 21 shots. She hit just under 70 percent of her free throws. A top scorer and rebounder, Manis can also extend her shooting range to the three-point circle and has impressive ball-handling skills for a player of her size. She also had 50 steals. A volleyball all-star and Eastern Athletic Conference selection in both sports, Manis was a repeat Sun Chronicle all-star choice and plays AAU ball for MT Elite.

Sarah Deyo/Attleboro

Few improved as much between their first two seasons as Deyo, Attleboro's 6-foot-1 sophomore forward, who led the area in scoring with a 16.4-point average (378 in 23 games), hitting a career high of 29 in the season-opener against Dartmouth. She was held out of double figures only four times. She also averaged 11.7 rebounds, had 12 double-double performances and grabbed double-figure rebounds in 15 games, and shot 75 percent from the foul line. She also blocked 78 shots. Deyo was also selected to the Hockomock League all-star team. She was crowned the league's three-point shooting champion, and plays AAU ball for MT Elite. She also plays soccer.

Emily Houle/Attleboro

Another player that took her game up a huge notch, this return all-star averaged 15.8 points a game (363 in 23 games) for the Bombardiers and will enter her senior year with 708. Houle added the point guard role to her responsibilities for much of the season yet still scored with regularity and pumped in a career-high 32 against Milford. She also grabbed 9.1 rebounds per game and contributed 2.1 steals, with eight double-doubles. She made 49 three-pointers and had 57 blocks. Houle was selected to the Hockomock League all-star team, played in the league's all-star game and competed in the three-point shooting contest. Also a field-hockey all-star.

Katherine Tamulionis/Foxboro

This three-time all-star ended her career as the 11th-leading scorer in Foxboro High history with 967 points, leading Coach Lisa Downs' Warriors to a 21-3 record and a berth in the MIAA Division 2-South title game. She scored 367 this season (16.0 ppg) with a 78-percent free-throw shooting rate, and hit 49 three-pointers. Primarily a penetrating guard, she also contributed averages of three rebounds, 4.1 assists and 2.2 steals. Tamulionis was named MVP of the Hockomock League all-star team by the league's coaches. She has also been an all-star in soccer and track and played her AAU ball for the Bay State Jaguars. She will attend Merrimack College.

Melissa Beaupre/North Attleboro

Consistency and athleticism were the calling cards of this three-time all-star, always out in front of the Rocketeers' transition game. Beaupre finished her career with 694 points, averaging 11.7 a game this year (268 over 23 games). She also averaged 3.8 steals and 3.5 rebounds a game. The Rocketeers won the Hockomock League's Kelley-Rex Division championship in each of her three all-star seasons, and went 40-8 in the league over that span. Beaupre is a Hockomock League all-star and has been an all-star in volleyball and spring track. A member of the National Honor Society, Beaupre will attend either Northeastern or UMass-Amherst.

Kylie D'Ambrosio/Dighton-Rehoboth

Already a three-time all-star selection, D'Ambrosio will enter her senior season with 796 points and is poised to become D-R's third female 1,000-point scorer (and only the second to score all of her points there). She averaged 12.6 points a game, hitting 50 three-pointers. She extended her game by averaging 3.2 assists, 2.6 rebounds and 1.4 steals, and her consistent play helped set up her teammates for markedly increased offensive production. Also a repeat selection to the South Coast Conference all-star team, D'Ambrosio will captain the Falcons' volleyball team next year. She also plays lacrosse. She plays AAU basketball for Mass. Premier Courts.

Emily Sullivan/King Philip

Sullivan averaged 14.7 points a game, finishing her four-year varsity career with 557. She was most effective in getting herself free for the open baseline three-pointer, as her 48 successful attempts attest. She also averaged 6.5 rebounds a game. Her career-high total of 25 points came in a game against Rhode Island state champion Bay View. She was selected to the Hockomock League all-star team and played her AAU basketball for the Thunder of Mass. Premier Courts. Sullivan plays in the KP symphony band and is a member of National Honor Society. Also runs cross country and spring track, Sullivan's college plans are undecided.

Jennifer Peel/Mansfield

The sophomore point guard had a breakout season, adding consistent scoring to her dribbling and distribution skills. She averaged 10.8 points a game (260 points in 24 games), 12.4 over her last 11 games, and hit a career high of 22 in the Roundball Classic title game against Abington. She had 127 assists and 51 steals, and shot 40 percent from the field (49 percent from two-point range). Peel was selected to the Hockomock League all-star team, was MVP of the Roundball Classic and the first sophomore to be team MVP under coach Mike Redding. She plays soccer, volunteers in Special Olympics, and is a member of the Honey Badgers AAU team.

Caroline Maher/Mansfield

A repeat all-star, Maher was the Hornets' second-leading scorer at 10.5 points per game (252 in 24 games), hitting her high of 21 in an early-season tournament in Maryland. She also had 51 assists, 55 steals and 116 rebounds (39 offensive, 77 defensive). Her ability to elevate her game at crucial times was a big part of why Mansfield exceeded expectations and finished 19-5, 13-3 in the Hockomock's Kelley-Rex Division. Also a lacrosse and field hockey all-star, Maher was named to the Hockomock League all-star hoop team. She participated in the Relay for Life, and will return next year as captain-elect with 520 career points, already with 89 three-point baskets to her credit.

Danielle Perron/North Attleboro

North's senior guard was one of the driving forces behind three straight Hockomock League Kelley-Rex Division championships and 40-8 league record over that time. A repeat all-star, she finished with 592 points, averaging 8.4 and 10.7 in the MIAA Tournament. She averaged 4.1 rebounds, 4.1 steals and 2.7 assists per game. Perron was selected to the Hockomock all-star team and was an all-star in field hockey and lacrosse. Perron is a member of the Leo Club, the National Honor Society and Project Unite, and played her AAU ball for Mass. Premier Courts. She is choosing between Springfield College and the University of New Hampshire.

Madeline Murphy/Norton

Murphy, a sophomore, already has 511 career points and accounted for 38 percent of her team's scoring this year. Named the Lancers' most valuable player, she shot 74 percent from the foul line (89-120) and pulled down 184 rebounds (9.2 average) as well as averaging 15.3 points, fifth-best in the Tri-Valley League. She also averaged 2.5 assists and 2.3 steals a game and had 20 blocked shots while being named to the TVL's all-star second team. Murphy, who plays AAU ball for MT Elite, set a single-game school record with a 31-point effort against Holliston, breaking a mark that stood for 33 years. She helps to run the Norton Recreation Department's youth instructional league.

Kate Loonie/Tri-County

A sophomore guard and North Attleboro native, Loonie took a giant step up in her second year on the Cougars' varsity. She averaged 12.8 points a game as she took over the primary responsibility for scoring, hitting a high of 21 points against Blue Hills. She finished with 307 points (425 career) as Tri-County marched through the Mayflower Large with an undefeated record and finished 20-4, reaching the MIAA Division 4-Central semifinals. Also a league all-star and Sun Chronicle soccer all-star, Loonie plays softball and AAU basketball for Mass. Premier Courts. She's on the Tri-County math team and volunteers at North Attleboro's World War I Memorial Park Zoo.
