BANDON — Police are appealing to the public for help after someone brazenly shot out a window of Bandon's police station.

Oregon State Police report that at least one round pierced a window of police headquarters at 555 U.S. Highway 101. No one was inside at the time.

Police don't know whether the window was targeted intentionally, but "it'd be a pretty odd by-chance circumstance," said OSP's Lt. Gregg Hastings.

A Bandon officer noticed the shot-out window in the afternoon of April 7. Two sources told police shots were fired near the police station late that morning.

OSP troopers recovered evidence at the scene, but they are releasing no information at this time.

Anyone with information regarding the shooting should call Detective John Riddle at 541-888-2677, ext. 232.

Attorneys ready for midwife court case

By George Artsitas
Bandon Western World

COQUILLE — An unlicensed Bandon midwife wants only to be treated like others in the medical field, her lawyer asserted in court Monday.

Marcene Rebeck's defense attorney, Laura Fine Moro, repeatedly pushed the idea that the midwife has been unjustly discriminated against because her practice, though legal, is unlicensed in Oregon. Rebeck is charged with negligent homicide and second-degree manslaughter for the 2011 death of an infant she delivered.

Moro argued the state and Coos County District Attorney Paul Frasier are unjustly targeting Rebeck.

The case was brought forward by prosecutors, not the victim's family, nearly a year after it occurred, Moro said. This is the first time in Frasier's near three decades in this county that a case involving a child death like this one has been brought to trial. Moro said she couldn't find any Coos County doctors tried for negligent homicide of a baby.

"They don't go after the health care providers," Moro said. "Why are the medical health care providers

Port Orford remains update

By Alysha Beck, Bandon Western World

Unearthed remains

A Curry County crime team uncovered human remains on March 12 at Anchor Inn R.V. Park. Corey T. Starks, 38, confessed earlier this month to burying his father in a shallow grave in the trailer park.

Police arrested him in Minnesota

Bandon Western World

PORT ORFORD — The mysterious human remains found buried in a Port Orford trailer park have been tentatively identified as Charles Owen Starks.

Investigators working with the Social Security Administration arrested Starks' son, Corey Theodore Starks, last week in connection with the remains.

Corey Starks, 38, admitted to burying his father beneath a trailer in the Anchor Inn RV Park in March 2010, after the 71-year-old man died of natural causes. Video and bank records show that Starks received around $50,000 from his father's Social Security checks.

The Curry County Sheriff's Office has issued a warrant for Starks for second-degree abuse of a corpse.

Police continue to investigate the cause of death and the body's identity. They have not ruled out further charges against Starks.

The Associated Press reported that U.S. Attorney Amanda Marshall said in a government motion Starks should be detained as a flight risk. Acquaintances quoted in the motion reportedly described Starks as "paranoid" and "unstable."

The Associated Press also reported that Starks will have a May court date in Oregon.

The human remains were discovered March 11 by a maintenance crew refurbishing the Anchor Inn RV Park.

The story to each man's Civil War experience will be the heart of a program at the Bandon Historical Society Museum at 1 p.m. Saturday. Admission is free.

Remembering Mary Smith

A weeping crabapple tree was purchased by the Bandon By The Sea Garden Club and planted at Southern Coos General Hospital recently in memory of Mary Smith, who passed away in January. Clean sweep

The Greater Bandon Association is sponsoring a Bandon Spring Cleaning Day on April 27. All area businesses and residents are encouraged to spruce up their environment. Debris from their cleanup efforts can be dropped off in a dumpster that will be provided in City Park by the children's playground. Above, Peter Braun sweeps in front of his shop. "Bandon continues to be a primary attraction for tourists both inside and outside of the state," said GBA coordinator Harv Schubothe. "This is just one more chance we have to demonstrate the pride we take in our community. It is this kind of thing that encourages the tourists to stop and to return to our town." For information, call Schubothe at 541-297-2342.

Local lakes: This week's trout stockings in several local lakes should bring out plenty of anglers this weekend. The weather has kept lake temperatures in the lower 50s and trout fishing has been good. Look for the trout bite to get better this weekend with more sunshine in the forecast. We are still receiving good reports from anglers fishing from the new boat launch pier out at Bradley Lake. The newly stocked trout tend to hang around the boat launch area before dispersing throughout the lake. Casting spinners or fishing bait under a bobber or off the lake bottom have all been successful methods from the pier.

Local angler Bob Gates told me he hooked and landed a nice rainbow while slow-trolling a white wolly bugger fly. Slow trolling flies or wedding ring spinners tipped with night crawlers, are two local favorite methods to fish Bradley Lake from a boat. Next week, Empire Lakes in Coos Bay is scheduled to receive an additional 8,500 legal-size rainbow trout. So far this season, Empire Lakes has received 24,000 legal size and 1,000 trophy size trout.

Local rivers: Anglers fishing the lower Rogue River for spring salmon had a decent weekend as river conditions dropped into near excellent condition. Bank anglers plunking bait between Huntley Bar and Quasatana Creek took a few nice fish. Boat anglers are hooking up near Elephant Rock and slots up river. Local guide Rick Howard, 541-740-4986, has been landing fish and plans on spending lots of time on the lower Rogue. With the season just getting started, anglers have plenty of time to book a trip with Rick.

Reedsport area guide Bob Cobb, 541-271-3850, has been giving us weekly reports on spring salmon fishing on the Umpqua River. Fishing was fair to good last weekend with a couple of fish in the 30-pound range being caught near low water bridge. Lots of boats anchored up from Scottsburg up to Elkton. Fishing should pick up this week with river levels dropping into perfect condition.

Pacific Ocean, bays and beaches: Ocean conditions have been rough, and most sport boats were in port along the South Coast last weekend. Look for conditions to improve this coming weekend, giving anglers an opportunity to get back out bottomfishing and Chinook salmon fishing.

Anglers are still reporting decent rock fishing inside the bay near Charleston. One angler reported catching a mixed bag of black, copper and greenling rock fish.

Next Tuesday, ODFW angler education instructor Jay Chojnacki will hold another class on bottom-fishing inside of Coos Bay. The class will be held at the Port of Bandon's glass picnic shelter from 6-8 p.m. We have been getting some great feedback about Jay's classes.

Surf perch fishing has been decent near the beaches south of Cape Blanco. Look for pink fin fishing to get better in the Bandon and Coos Bay area soon. Don't forget to get signed in the the 2013 May Surf Perch Derby hosted by Port o'Call in Old Town. For info on the derby or area surf fishing stop by or give us a call at 541-347-2805.

Area shellfish: Crabbing off of Weber's Pier in Bandon was decent for a couple of families last weekend. We cooked seven Dungeness crab for one family and 10 for another. So far, the recent rains have not chased out the few keeper-size crab from coming in and out on the tides. Crabbing in Coos Bay picked up a bit last weekend as well. One boat reported catching a limit of Dungeness near Charleston in about two hours.

Clammers reported catching nice limits of local bay clams up in Coos Bay last week. Some of the lowest tides so far this year will be coming up at the end of April, which is good news for razor clam diggers. Right now the entire Oregon coast is open for harvesting clams and mussels.

Note: We would like to thank everyone for their recent donations to the Kids Fish Free program. Also a big thanks to Carmine DeFranco for his hard work in keeping the program alive.

Recently Bob Aten stopped by to let us know that his grandson Gunnar was practicing his casting with a fly rod and reel he received from the program. I'm sure 8-year-old Gunnar will be out fishing with his grandfather soon.

Re-elect Goche for port

I am writing to endorse Commissioner Rick Goche for re-election for the Bandon port commission. During Rick Goche's first term he helped bring the "Old Blue" Bandon Pacific Sea Foods building back into the asset column of the port. It is now a very successful marketplace for local and regional producers of foods and art.

Rick Goche also championed the port's valuable assistance in the completion of the first phase of the Coquille River Walk, and he will be a strong proponent of phase two and the ultimate completion of this great addition to the community of Coquille.

As a longtime commercial fisherman, Rick Goche has been an active defender of traditional users' access to, and protection of, our shared ocean resources. Respect from his colleagues is evident in his chairmanship, over the years, of virtually every Oregon state seafood commission, including his current chairmanship of the Oregon Albacore Commission. He is also active on several other trade groups locally and statewide.

Rick Goche's dedication to landowner rights and protections and traditional marine access has been unwavering. His decades of active participation as a marine-resources-access advocate has earned him the kind of respect from our lawmakers and state and federal agency representatives we on the South Coast need in order to keep our issues and needs on the public radar. Please join me in keeping Rick Goche as Bandon port commissioner.

Find creative solutions

Over a year ago, I stated publicly that I hated politics. I still do. But what I hate even more is that our county has been rendered impoverished by the undue influences of outside forces, and it can and will likely get worse unless we challenge said outside forces.

For the past year, I have been involved with the local community-based non-profit Coos County Today, which has been leading the opposition to the U.S. Fish & Wildlife's plan to expand the Bandon Marsh. I got involved because the threat to agriculture in our little valley of Coquille is real and very dangerous. Yet, even more than that, the expansion effort represents a threat to our ability to have the choice to live here.

Recently I had the privilege of attending a "work session" held by Rep. DeFazio, wherein I learned of the appalling condition of our local ports, some of which are beyond desperate for dredging services. The message I heard very clearly is that the Army Corps of Engineers has very little, if any, money for dredging any of the ports along our Oregon coastline, and it is not just Oregon, it is a nationwide problem.

The apparent abundance of money available to purchase and convert prime agriculture land to wetlands, while ports are starved for regular maintenance, is a crime. It appears a double economic whammy: Rob our county, yet again, of its ability to create revenue, this time through both farming and fishing.

I have a deep and abiding love for this valley, for the people who live here, and I am passionate that we be able to live here because we choose to do so. That will not happen if we do not step up to the plate and take charge.

It is my conviction that the people who live and work "where the rubber meets the road" are the ones with the knowledge of the problems, the ones most motivated to find solutions, the ones who care the most about the outcomes, and the ones who will abide by the consequences of any decisions made about our collective future. We must develop creative solutions that address real problems, not continue to look at the traditional methods or funding sources.

Please vote for Jill Halliburton, Position 1 on the Port of Bandon. We have to drive an agenda that puts a higher priority on supporting our local population.

As Edmund Burke said, "All that is necessary for the triumph of evil is that good men do nothing."

Jill Halliburton
Coquille

Goche will work for you

I am a Coquille resident, commercial fisherman and businessman who has served for the last four years as a Bandon Port Commissioner, and I have filed to run for another term.

As a commercial fisherman, I travel up and down the coast visiting ports in all three states. The Port of Bandon is a gem! It is attractive, welcoming and exceptionally clean and well run. I am proud to tell people I am associated with the Port.

As Port Commissioner, I see the opportunity in the Ports asset's, both old and new. Among the highlights of the last four years was bringing the "Old Blue" Bandon Pacific Seafood's building back into the asset column of the Port. Regaining control of the building has allowed us to reinvent that space as the Bandon Old Town Marketplace which has been a huge success for the Port, the vendors and the community. The vendors bring business from around the Coquille Valley, and beyond, all of which contributes to the Port District collectively.

Another accomplishment I am passionate about is the Coquille Riverwalk. I have been an advocate of the Port's support of the Riverwalk project from the start and am very proud of this addition to the community of Coquille.

Before my term is up we will have completed our Strategic Plan for the Port. This is a major undertaking that will lay out a road map for the ports development for decades to come.

Here are my positions on some current Port-related issues:

Dredging: Smaller port dredging all across the United States has been eliminated from the Federal budget! This is an unbelievably harsh blow to the Port of Bandon. Without dredging, the mouth of the Coquille will silt in; the bar, already one of the most treacherous in Oregon, may become all but impassable. The situation cannot be overstated. In March I traveled to Washington D.C. to meet with our legislators and other administration representatives to work toward a solution. This will be my top priority during a second term.

Coquille River Walk: I am eager to see the next phase of the River Walk Project come to completion and will work to make it happen.

Bandon Old Town Marketplace: The building is a great space with immense promise. I am excited to help bring the Marketplace to its full potential.

Bandon Marsh Expansion: The Port's job is to hold land in public trust for the benefit of the residents of the Port District, not to move those lands into the federal government's asset column.

Keeping the Port of Bandon debt free: Thanks to previous and current commissions, the Port of Bandon is one of the few Oregon ports that are debt free. I and my fellow commissioners are proud of that fact and are dedicated to maintaining that heritage.

Election law's fine as is

A valid point was raised in a recent letter about the possibility that the two best-qualified people could be running against each other in the upcoming elections.

I think a point in favor of the current system is that it gives voters a better chance to vote someone out or keep them in. Under the present system if you want to vote out those who dismissed the Southern Coos Hospital District CEO, you know your vote will count.

Under the system proposed in the letter, votes against could be diluted across many candidates, with the result being the incumbent holds their position.

Best-qualified is subjective. Candidates don't have to take tests or demonstrate proficiency.

I am not so sure I would like to see the election law changed.

Plant something local

Friday will be our Earth Day celebration and Native Plant Sale at Ocean Crest Elementary School. Bandon High School students will be educating about our own watershed and a variety of other topics.

Many educational activities from a wide variety of agencies and individuals will be taking place within the gym and on Gross Creek behind the school. Fourth-graders will lead creek tours and teach about invasive plant species as well as the native plants.

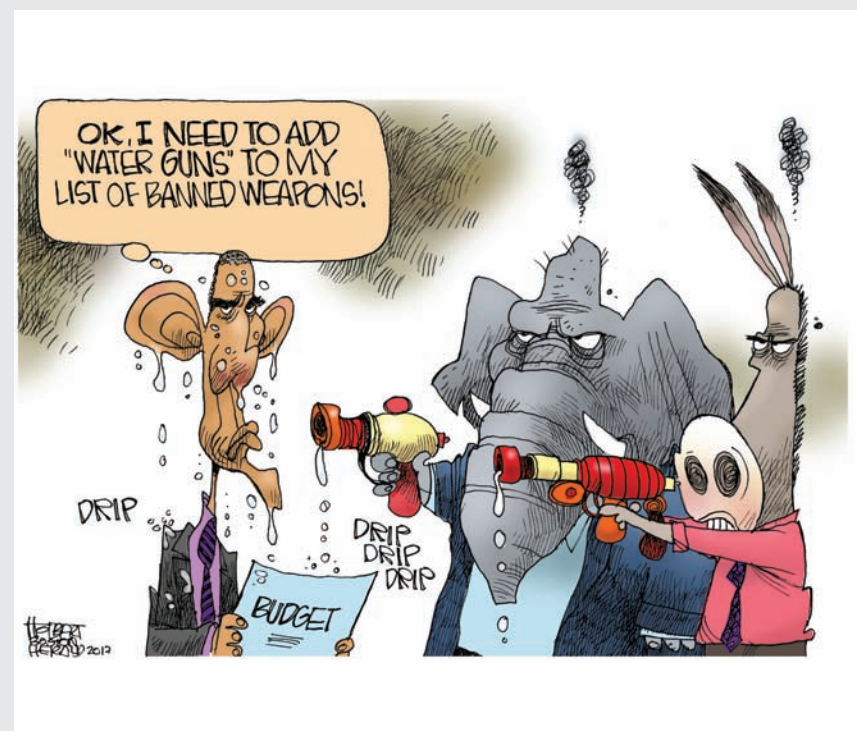

Everyone is invited to come and find the right plant for your yard or property. We have a variety of trees, three kinds of ferns, native bleeding hearts, and huckleberries, snowberries and gooseberries. We have vine maple for your fall color and red-flowering currants to make the hummingbirds happy, among other choices.

This year's plant sale proceeds support the Go Native project at Bandon High School. The Go Native project is planning a greenhouse to be built this summer behind the high school and will develop a native plant nursery as project-based learning for grades 9-12. Both school curriculum and an after-school program will engage students in a wide variety of experiences related to running a wholesale nursery.

This project is being completely funded by a variety of grants, requests, and fundraisers. Within a few years, it will become sustainable and make available plants that are perfectly adapted to our environment.

Hope to see you on Friday, April 19, at

Issues deserve notice

Three items are pulsing palpably in our county.

One is the cross on the Vietnam memorial in Mingus Park. I will buy lunch for the first objector who can show me where in the U.S. Constitution, or its amendments, it suggests or mandates separation of church and state; it is not there. The Constitution does not demand separation of church and state. This separation is a tenet of revisionist history.

Another issue is the National Defense Authorization Act, a military spending bill being updated in 2013. On Tuesday April 2, Tom McKirgan, Coos County Oath Keeper and Shane Ozburn, Eugene, presented to the county commissioners a well-outlined presentation of the perils contained in that bill. The NDAA contains language that allows the military to seize American citizens, on American soil, without charging them with anything, to detain them without representation and even to ship them out of the country.

Commissioner Melissa Cribbins questioned whether this should be handled at the state level. This might happen, in time, but the county is the domain of the sheriff and this is where a sheriff can draw the line, telling the feds to go home.

And then there was an administrator, or two administrators? Two is what the recent Portland State University report recommended. Do you recall that only months ago you voted down having an administrator? Well, they're advertising for a chief financial officer. Commissioner Cribbins said last week that two applications had already come in.

This is an unelected administrative position paying between $4,000 and $7,000 a month, unaccountable to the voters and serving solely at the pleasure of the commissioners.

To make this even better, a gentleman suggested that the other administrator might be someone hired to oversee the four newly realigned county department groupings. Wonderful! Then we'd have an unelected, unaccountable administrator over elected officials. It could happen.

Musical misperceptions

I was saddened as I read the perceptions of local business presented by musician Robert Jump in a recent letter. It is unfortunate that wages for nearly all aspects of the arts are typically low. However, accusing local businesses of "abusing" musicians and seeing them as "nothing more than another window dressing to be had at no cost" is a bit unjustified. Additionally, drawing the conclusion that music should be "expensed" by a business, as a "vital part of the total service businesses offer customers," neglects to examine large aspects of the total business, community, artist and event relationship.

Having been on all sides of the aisle, I can attest to the complexity of the problem at hand.

First, hosting events usually adds costs to daily business activity. While chambers and nonprofits operate with much volunteer assistance, most businesses do not. Hosting special engagements means providing space and employee time, in addition to extra advertising costs. Second, there are costs incurred by business, i.e. rent, liability insurance, utilities, etc., that performers don't have to bear, as well as an undervalued reciprocity factor, publicity, that occurs when a business provides a venue. These factors equate to a dollar value largely unconsidered by artists, yet always on the minds of business owners.

External perceptions aside, businesses quite often see value in networking with artists, as both a means to create enriching community experiences and to promote tourism. While every business likely hopes inviting performers will add to their customer count and bottom line, that doesn't always happen. The value of this type of activity may be less easily perceived and quantified. Musicians and other cultural contributors are not taken for granted. However, we might also consider whether we take our businesses for granted.

In stating his personal frustrations, Mr. Jump has illuminated a larger societal assumption that businesses are the only entities receiving value in return for the work extended by others. If viewed from a different angle, we might ask, "Why should we worry about benefiting local businesses?" Quite simply, in addition to the opportunities businesses provide, such as jobs, showcasing local talents, etc. we often forget that each is composed of individuals who live in our communities and also need support day to day. Our business owners are usually extremely generous members of society, constantly tasked with donating to local projects.

Beyond dollar contributions, these individuals also donate dozens of hours as they volunteer to develop economic revitalization organizations, such as the Oregon Main Street program. Now soundly under way in Coos Bay/North Bend, Bandon, Port Orford and many other nearby towns, these Main Street groups are focused on strengthening our communities, including arts and performance opportunities. The other perspective: It's not always about what you think businesses should do, rather what they already do and how you can keep your businesses doing what they do, for you.

Spontaneous Sound at Sprague

Every other week for the past seven years, Christopher Tree of Bandon has volunteered at Head Start. Recently, he brought along two large drums from his collection of more than 300 instruments from around the world. Tree, who turns 81 this week, gets along well with very little people.

"The biggest lesson for these little guys is to learn to listen," Tree said.

Bandon residents will get a chance to experience Tree's Spontaneous Sound first hand on the evening of Saturday, April 20, when Tree, back by popular demand, gives another concert at the Sprague Theater.

Tree has given more than 2,000 concerts in his lifetime and has played everywhere from St. John's Cathedral in New York City to San Quentin Prison in San Francisco, to France and around Europe.

For the concert in Bandon, Tree will fill the Sprague stage with gongs, bells, drums, flutes, horns and dozens of noisemaking instruments of wood, glass, reeds and metal from all around the world. Although Tree always starts with a kind of game plan, he never knows exactly where his trip through his forest of instruments will lead him; he's totally in the moment, which makes it a mesmerizing experience.

Tickets are $10 and available at Mother's Natural Grocery and Deli, 541-347-4086 or at Pacific Blues in Old Town or at the door.

'Little Mermaid Junior' auditions

New Artists Productions will be conducting auditions for the Disney musical "Little Mermaid Junior" from 2:30 to 5 p.m. Sunday, May 5, at The Barn/Community Center, 1200 11th St. S.W. in City Park.

Auditions are open to youth ages 6 to 18.

"In the past we have cast everyone who auditioned for our plays. However, due to the structure of the script, the licensing agreement with Disney, and complexity of the sets, the cast size will be limited," said Anita Almich, who will co-direct the play with her husband Dan.

"We are looking for enthusiastic, energetic and excited vocalists and actors to play characters including Ariel, Sebastian, Mersisters, Prince Eric, Scuttle, Flounder, King Triton and Ursula. Additional cast will participate in choral groups or play sea creatures. There are specialty roles like Ursula's tentacles, the ship's crew, kitchen chefs, princesses, sea gulls, fishes and other parts to be filled. Everyone in the cast will participate in the Sea Chorus."

Those auditioning will be asked to sing excerpts from one or more of the songs listed: "Part of Your World," "Kiss the Girl," "Under the Sea" and "Poor Unfortunate Souls." Searching the Internet, especially YouTube or watching the Disney movie are recommended methods to become familiar with the songs. Lyric sheets will be available at the auditions for the vocalists to use.

In addition to vocal auditions, acting auditions will occur as dialog between characters is critical to telling the story and transitioning between scenes. Only those new to the New Artists program will be asked to read lines.

Those who audition are asked to bring school, church, dance, extra-curricular schedules to help the Almichs better plan the rehearsal schedule. Show dates at the Sprague Theater are July 12 to 15 and July 19 to 21. Rehearsals will begin on Monday, May 13, at Ocean Crest Elementary School.

For those who cannot make the scheduled audition, please contact Anita Almich at 541-347-2517 prior to May 5 to make other arrangements.

Spring show at SCH by kids

The spring show at the Southern Coos Hospital & Health Center, "Kids Art," features art created by students at Ocean Crest Elementary School, as well as children's book illustrations by Donna VanderZanden of Langlois and other children's book illustrators in the area.

Henry the Fish and Lidia the Seal that are now on display near The Bandon Coffee Cafe were created with volunteers in similar workshops in the last 2½ years. New workshops are free and open to the public 6-9 p.m. every Tuesday and Thursday and 2-5 p.m. every Saturday in a large space in the HEC.

The full Washed Ashore exhibit will soon be on display at the center and volunteers can get a sneak preview of the entire exhibit, which includes a musical sea star and a fascinating marine debris museum. For details, call 541-329-0317.

April library art

Laurel Sweigart and Karen Batchelder have paired up for the April art exhibit at the Bandon Public Library, 1204 11th St. S.W. in City Park.

Like many artists, Sweigart is inspired by the beautiful world we live in and tries to capture it in photos and then paintings. Showcasing watercolors and acrylics from the last 25 years, "From Land to Sea, Fantasy to Reality" will be displayed in the library's gallery.

Taught by her mother, a Native American from the now extinct Takelma Tribe, Batchelder incorporates Native American and contemporary designs in the art of pine needle basketry. She uses several different species of pine needles as well as ancient artifacts and beads in her work, which will be displayed in the cases.

The exhibit will be up through April.

Preppers to meet at Fire Department Saturday

Port seeks items for time capsule

The Port of Bandon is accepting items to put in the 100-year time capsule it plans to bury on Saturday, Sept. 14, as part of its centennial celebration.

Submissions will be accepted through July 31 and the container will be buried near the port offices in the historic Coquille River Lifesaving Station, 390 First Street S.W.

A reception for the public, port friends and partners is being planned to coincide with the interment of the stainless steel capsule, which has a capacity of about 2 cubic feet.

Port General Manager Gina Dearth explained that before the box is welded shut, it will be purged with dry argon gas to help prevent oxidation or acidic reaction within the contents.

"We're told this is a specialized process that's used in the food, chemical, cryogenic and pharmaceutical industries," she said. "According to the manufacturer, the contents of our capsule will last virtually forever."

Public submissions, which must be limited in size due to the container's capacity, should be intended to inform people in 2113 about Bandon's culture in 2013.

"Or it could be advice or a small heirloom that you wish you could give to your great-great-grandchildren," Dearth said. "We encourage photographs or other paper items, like poems or drawings."

Small artifacts, family heirlooms or heirloom seeds will likely be accommodated. CD's and DVD's may meet space requirements if they're not submitted in overwhelming numbers.

The port doesn't plan to police political or religious ideas if they meet space requirements.

"You could submit a copy of a menu from your favorite restaurant, a family historical record or the scorecard from the best golf round of your life," Dearth said.

Other possibilities include labels from a favorite food or beverage, recipes, maps, toys, coins, business cards or agates. Photo possibilities might include autos, grandchildren, scenics or group shots like a graduating class, service club, professional group, commission, board, a business with its staff posed out front, police, municipal group, firefighters or others.

An engraved brass plaque with the port's name, date of burying and opening instructions will be affixed to the capsule, which will be registered with the International Time Capsule Society at Oglethorpe University in Atlanta, Ga. It is to be opened on Sept. 14, 2113.

"Use your imagination in deciding what to submit, and please join us and enjoy cake and help us celebrate the port's centennial on Sept. 14," Dearth added.

Washed Ashore takes to the road

Special trip for Earth Day

In anticipation of Earth Day, The Coos Bay Public Library, located at 525 Anderson Ave., will host a family-oriented program presented by the Washed Ashore Project, starting at 2:30 p.m. Friday.

This organization offers a unique solution to ocean pollution. Information on how ocean trash affects marine life will be presented, followed by a lowed by a small hands-on art activity to contribute to the group's project.

The Washed Ashore project creates an inspiring metaphor of the challenges shared by our environment, society and ourselves. Can we take the garbage at our feet and transform it into beauty and hope?

Washed Ashore is sponsored by The Artula Institute for Arts & Environmental Education, whose mission is to provide opportunities to express and teach environmental issues through the arts.

Langlois stayed in the west after his enlistment and fought Indians. Felter joined after his older brother was killed. Blumenrother, a drummer boy, left for dead on the battlefield, was captured and held in a confederate prison camp. Rodgers was paid to take the place of a wealthier draftee. Zeek lied about his age and joined the army at age 14.

The war's 150th anniversary has heightened interest in the Civil War. A Civil War presentation in October at the museum was well attended and well received.

The museum will host the rollout of a new book Saturday, April 27. Robin Miller and Reg Pullen will be on hand to autograph the book "Bandon," the latest addition to the "Images of America" series published by Arcadia Press. That event also begins at 1 p.m.

An excerpt

An affidavit written by Civil War survivor Charles T. Blumenrother is in the collection of the Bandon Historical Society Museum. This is an excerpt:

"Was wounded in left wrist, Shell wound left backside of the head, and Bayonet wound through lobe of right lung breaking off a piece of lower rib near the breast bone, the bone was removed at Libby Prison by two rebel surgeons, it was taken out about 5 inches below the wound on the right side; at Chancellorsville, Va., at the same time General "Stonewall" Jackson received his mortal wounds, and a little to the right of the place where he was wounded on the mid-night of May 2 & 3rd, 1863, as our regt. had been pretty roughly handled on the afternoon of the 2nd..."

Local author seeks info on 'tree army'

Bill Lansing, a local author who has written four books on various regional topics, is considering writing another book on the Civilian Conservation Corps and how the "tree army" played an important role in southwestern Oregon. One of the first camps that was established in Oregon was near Gold Beach. Eight camps were established in Coos County locations to do work on constructing parks and buildings, fire protection, road construction and many other projects. Coos County camps were set up at Sitkum, McKinley, Brafore (upper Rock Creek), Glenn Creek, China Flats and at Coos Head near Charleston. There was a large camp in Reedsport, located near the current high school location — one of their projects was to build the airport in Lakeside.

Many folks throughout the county helped Lansing uncover unique stories in his previous books that help bring our local history alive. He may be reached at blansing7@charter.net or 541-269-1642.

City planner wants locals to 'rethink downtown' on coast

Talk will cover revitalization

Historically, a city's downtown core has been the community's cultural and economic center, expressing shared values and aspirations. But these days, many downtowns show signs of a community's social and economic distress. Cities of all sizes are trying to revitalize their downtowns, but the qualities essential to this revitalization remain elusive. "A City's Center: Rethinking Downtown" is the title of a free conversation with Nan Laurence, a senior planner for the City of Eugene, that will start at 2 p.m. on April 20, at the Flora M. Laird Memorial Library meeting room, 435 Fifth St., Myrtle Point. For more information about this free community discussion, contact Joshua Shaklee at 541-572-2626 or rare@ci.myrtlepoint.or.us.

Micro Biz Fair is April 24

BANDON — The Bandon Chamber of Commerce invites the public to its first Micro Biz Fair from 2-5 p.m. Wednesday, April 24, at The Barn, Bandon's Community Center, 1200 11th St. S.W. in City Park.

Bandon businesses will showcase their products and services to front line employees and volunteers, service organizations, chamber members and community members.

"The Bandon Chamber of Commerce wants to help promote our businesses during the 2013 season," said Chamber Executive Director Julie Miller. "And we can think of no better way to do that than to make a positive memorable impression on those individuals who regularly field questions from visitors. We are keeping it small and we hope the 2013 Micro Biz Fair will be the foundation for expanded annual events."

The public is welcome to attend this free event and learn more about what is new from the local business community and what those businesses have to offer. For more information, contact Miller at 541-347-9616.

Tigers shut out Gold Beach

Bandon Western World

Bandon baseball coach Tyler Pendergast put things in perspective discussing his team's season after a 6-0 win over Gold Beach on Tuesday.

"To say we'd be 8-2 after 10 games in the season would be a pretty positive thing for us," he said.

That's exactly where the Tigers are, and also riding a five-game win streak.

They owe the latest win to another outstanding pitching performance from Mychal Yarbor, another strong night in the field, and some timely hitting.

Yarbor limited a potent Gold Beach lineup to just two hits and struck out 15 batters.

"Yarbor threw his usual nice game for us," Pendergast said.

Bandon led just 1-0 before scoring two runs in both the fifth and sixth innings.

Robert Martino had two doubles and went 4-for-4 at the plate with a run and an RBI. Quentin Coomer also had two hits and two runs. Yarbor hit a triple.

"I thought we had a lot of good at-bats today," Pendergast said.

The Tigers had 11 hits and four other balls they hit hard, but right at Gold Beach defenders. Bandon batters struck out just three times.

Bandon didn't commit any errors, while Gold Beach had just one miscue.

"Both teams played good, solid defense," Pendergast said. "We just happened to hit it a little better today."

Bandon was scheduled to play Myrtle Point in a doubleheader on Friday, weather permitting, and hosts Riddle next Wednesday and Marshfield next Friday.

The Tigers also have upcoming games against Umpqua Valley Christian and the three Sunset Conference games against top-ranked Glide.

"We really get into the meat of the season for us," Pendergast said.

The meeting with UVC will be the third this season for the Tigers. Each team now has one win.

Bandon faced the Monarchs for the second time last week, traveling to Roseburg and returning home with a 13-8 victory.

Yarbor pitched the first six innings as Bandon built a 13-3 lead.

Coomer pitched the seventh, when a few Bandon miscues helped the Monarchs score five runs.

Yarbor had a double and a triple in the win. Bandon also got a double by Jon Wilhite and a triple by Chance Garrett.

Winning Relay

Bandon's Trae Dyer hands off the baton to anchor runner Marcus Hardman from in the boys 4x100-meter relay race Friday afternoon at the Coos County Meet. Hardman caught up with North Bend's anchor leg just before the finish line to give the Tigers a victory in the event.

Tigers win county title in relay

Bandon Western World

With one phenomenal finish, Bandon's boys 4x100-meter relay team claimed the title at last week's Coos County Meet at Marshfield High School.

It was the only win for the Tigers in the 105th annual meet.

With star hurdler Justin Angove out of town on a family trip, the Tigers still managed to win the relay. The squad of Jacob Taylor, Mitchell Brown, Trae Dyer and Marcus Hardman finished the race in 46.41 seconds. The Tigers finished just .05 seconds ahead of North Bend, which entered the final leg with a sizeable lead.

The first face of the night also was the biggest highlight for Bandon, which finished fourth in the boys team race and third for the girls.

The closest the Tigers came to another victory was in the 200 meters, where speedster Hardman finished second to North Bend standout Wyatt Cunningham. Hardman ranks fifth in Class 3A in the event. Bandon's relay team ranks seventh.

Other placers for Bandon's boys were Justin Flores-Meza in the shot put, Dyer in the high jump and 100, Maison Menser in the pole vault, Brown in the 100, Shannon Forty in the 400, and the 4x400 relay.

Bandon's girls had a pair of high finishes in the distance races. Aida Santoro was second in the 3,000 and Sarah Cutler was third in the 1,500. Kristina Knox was third in the shot put and Claire Ledig placed third in the long jump.

Other Bandon placers included Kady Valentine in the discus, Haley Freitag in the javelin, Hannah Smith in the 100 and triple jump, Toni Hall in the high hurdles and the 4x100 relay team of Kasia Tuma, Hall, Erin Wheeler and Alana Hultin.

Bandon will be back at the Marshfield track Saturday for the Prefontaine Rotary Invitational.

Meanwhile, Bandon held its first small schools invitational Tuesday, welcoming Coquille, Myrtle Point and Pacific.

Bandon's girls won the meet, with Ledig winning both the long jump and 200 meters.

Bandon also got wins by Knox in the shot put, Valentine in the discus, Cutler in the 1,500, Santoro in the 3,000 and Hall in the high hurdles.

Bandon's boys finished second behind Coquille.

Back in town, Angove won the 300 hurdles with another solid time near his Class 3A-leading mark for the season.

Hardman won both the 100 and 200 meters for Bandon. Alex Killough won the long jump. And the Tigers swept the two relays.

Bandon softball team comes up short

Bandon Western World

Bandon's softball team ended a long, long break with a game against Gold Beach on Tuesday, coming up short at home 7-1.

"The Lady Tigers played a very good game," said coach Rick Hinojosa.

Amy Schoonmaker pitched a solid game for Bandon, allowing six hits and striking out four.

Schoonmaker also had two of Bandon's six hits on offense. The others were by Ann Marie Pickett, Raelyn Freitag, Jessica McGeehon and Kit Jackson.

Savanna Rucker struck out seven Bandon hitters.

The Tigers trailed just 3-1 before the Panthers scored two insurance runs in the sixth and seventh innings.

The Tigers hadn't played for two weeks. Games against North Douglas on Tuesday were canceled because of the rainy conditions.

"They are all anxious to be playing softball games again after recent rainouts," Hinojosa said.

Weather permitting, the Tigers will play a doubleheader against Myrtle Point on Friday and then host Reedsport on Saturday.

Bandon is now 4-5 for the season.

Harbor Lights has strong start to season

Bandon Western World

The Harbor Lights track and field team opened its season with strong results in a meet at Brookings, especially among the seventh-graders.

Out of 30 events, Harbor Lights had 20 first-place finishes, as well as 10 seconds and five thirds, while competing against host Azalea and Driftwood.

"Both teams have some of the top marks in the district and some are in the top 10 in the state," said Boe Pickett, one of the team's coaches.

Winners for Bandon's seventh-grade boys were Oscar Munoz in the 100 and 200 meters; Ben Bean in the 400; Hunter Hutton in the 800 and 1,500; Malakai Joyce in the shot put, discus and turbo javelin; and Ethan Wright in the high jump.

Harbor Lights also swept the two relays for the seventh-grade boys.

The Harbor Lights girls got wins by Kailynn Pickett in the 100 and discus; Sailor Hutton in the 1,500, 200-meter hurdles and pole vault; Lakota Tamblyn in the shot put; Lauren Forty in the turbo javelin and Sarah Skeie in the high jump. Harbor Lights also won the 4x100-meter relay.

In the eighth-grade meet, Harbor Lights winners were Homar Ferrer in the shot put and discus, Tristin Green in the turbo javelin, Mark Austin in the high jump and Bianca Salcido in the girls shot put.

Harbor Lights will host a meet today at Bandon High School that also will include the two Bay Area teams — Marshfield and North Bend. The first events start at 4 p.m.

COOS-CURRY ELECTRIC COOPERATIVE, INC. IS LOOKING FOR MEMBERS — TO RETURN UNCLAIMED MONEY!

Coos-Curry Electric Cooperative, Inc. is looking for members who have not claimed the capital credits retirement checks that were issued to them in 2008. Unfortunately, some capital credits refund checks issued in 2008 were never cashed. That's why we're looking for you. Please call 1 (866) 305-1278 if your name appears on the list, you are legally authorized to claim one of these checks, you have the current address of someone on this list or the member on this list is deceased and you are an heir.
