An evening with Shannon Applegate in Langlois

LANGLOIS – Shannon Applegate, descendant of a prominent Oregon pioneer family, will speak of her family's history at 7 p.m. Saturday, March 5, in Langlois at the old Cheese Factory.

Applegate's deep research led to the chronicling of Applegate facts and lore in "Skookum," a startlingly original narrative rendering of the experiences of this westering family from 1843 on the Oregon Trail crossing to the present. The remarkable story encompasses many of the predominant themes of the early American West.

The free event is sponsored by the Friends of the Langlois Library with support from the Oregon Cultural Trust and the Curry County Cultural Coalition.

An author reception will follow the presentation. Call the Langlois Library at 541-348-2066 for more information.

Symbolism art at hospital through March

BANDON – The Southern Coos Hospital & Health Center is hosting a show of artworks created using symbols from the past or present or ones speaking to the future. “Symbolism – Speaking from the Past, Present, or to the Future,” opened on Jan. 10 and will run through March.

Works span a variety of mediums and feature representations of petroglyphs, hieroglyphs, and other ancient symbols and means of communication, record keeping, or mark-making. Artwork will explore personal cultural heritage, family stories, and artist-created symbols, and feature media such as painting, collage, mixed media, drawing, photography or assemblage in all artistic styles: representational, abstract, or futuristic.

The Symbolism art show also features the work of several renowned local artists, including the late Charles Tatum, plus artists Laurel Gregory and Molly Dufort, among others.

For more information, contact Scott McEachern at 541-329-1040 or smceachern@southerncoos.org.

Museum reopens with refurbished exhibits

BANDON – The Bandon Historical Society Museum reopened Feb. 1 after being closed during the month of January to rebuild and refurbish exhibits. A large crew of volunteers worked to get the museum ready for the coming year.

Several exhibits were rebuilt, created or refurbished.

Tom Hultin, Will Turner and Craig Tresidder did a lot of the “heavy lifting,” moving and remounting some of the museum’s larger objects in advance of rearranging some exhibit space.

Ray Murphy and Jim Cowan borrowed a truck from Goddard Energy and retrieved two large display cases from the Coos History Museum’s former building. The Coos Bay museum has been sharing with neighboring historical societies furnishings that don’t fit the décor of its new museum.

Donna Mason and Nancy Murphy have led the job of rebuilding exhibits. Kathy Cowan, Kathy Phillips and Jim Proehl produced and mounted photographs and exhibit labels. The project is financed by a grant from Trust Management Services.

Paula Colgrove has volunteered to manage the museum gift shop and used January to take inventory and rearrange the stock.

Doreen Colbert, Elaine Stohler and Barbara Scherer worked on a project, funded by the Coquille Tribal Community Fund, to move the museum’s stored artifacts and documents into better storage systems.

“I think the public will be impressed with what we’ve done with the exhibits,” said Executive Director Judy Knox. “I hope everyone will come in and see the work our volunteers have done to put our old objects in a new setting.”

The museum, located at the corner of Highway 101 and Fillmore Avenue is open daily from 10 a.m.-4 p.m.

Bandon Showcase presents The Barefoot Movement

BANDON – Bandon Showcase presents the heartfelt, energetic and down-home Nashville-based bluegrass band The Barefoot Movement at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, March 12, at the Sprague Community Theater, 1202 11th St. SW.

All the worries and frustrations of the world melt away as this charming, acoustic band takes listeners back to a simpler place and time. Whether seeking emotional ballads or rip-roaring barn-burners, the audience can expect a collection of music that offers something for everyone.

The talented young players of The Barefoot Movement, with an ear for all things musical, found their niche by creating their own brand of bluegrass. With two full length albums, an EP of traditional music, several cross-country tours and appearances at some of the top bluegrass festivals in the United States already under their belt, the possibilities for this act are endless.

As they crowd around a single microphone, their show is as fun to watch as it is to hear. The smiles on the faces of the band are obvious displays of the joy and excitement they feel when performing, and the audience shares in the fun.
