On Sunday, Dec. 22, at 5 p.m., St. John will offer A Blue Christmas service for those suffering from loss of any kind, anxiety or depression this holiday season. "Christmas can be a tough time of year," said the Rev. Beth Hoffmann. "We invite you to join us for a service designed to give voice and comfort to all people of faith who are grieving this Christmas time."

St John Episcopal Church is located at the corner of Eighth and Franklin.

A Cape Blanco Christmas at Hughes House

Victorian Christmas on Cape Blanco is a highlight again this season. Every room at Hughes House will be decorated by community groups following the theme of "Angels," under the leadership of Linda Smith.

The house is open on Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 14 and 15, again on Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 21 and 22, and on Dec. 26. Hours are 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Roald Young's cookies will again be served, along with hot spiced cider, to inspire a festive mood and holiday visiting. Cape Blanco Lighthouse, though not decorated, is an added bonus for visitors, weather permitting; days and hours are the same as at Hughes House.

Gift shops at both locations will be open for last-minute shopping.

'A Christmas Tale' offered by New Artists

E. Ben Eazer is the proprietor of the "Ben Eazer Used Car Company" in the little hamlet of Dickens in up-state New York. The setting is Christmas, 1961. Ben's disposition is the consequence of years of toil in the pursuit of personal wealth. Although he has a family, he prefers to live alone without responsibility or dependence ... until!

Ben sells an old, dilapidated and unsafe automobile to a poverty-stricken family. Divine intervention brings about what seems to be the worst outcome. Ben is emotionally shaken as he is come upon by three angels who recount to him his past, present and future.

Does this sound like the plot of the Dickens Christmas classic? Of course it is. However, it is flavored with a more current setting and entirely different situation.

This tale, in the form of a stage play, is authored by a local theatrical producer, Dan Almich, co-founder of New Artists Productions. "A Christmas Tale" is intended to remind us that no matter how far or how long one goes astray, God is always prepared to guide us back to His side.

"A Christmas Tale" will be performed by an all youth New Artists Productions cast of 22 at the Sprague Community Theater in Bandon on Dec. 20, 21 and 22.

The Aaron Hill family includes parents Dustin and Emily Wilson and children Kristina Allen, Oden and Tiernan Almich and Natalie Vincent. The David Barret family includes parents Russell Jones and Alyssa Matas and children Rachel Etsel and Isabella and Natalie Jones.

E. Ben Eazer is played by Caleb Shupe, his partner Jacob Morley by Nathan Woodruff, and his staff by Nathan Malamud and Gabe Castelli. Angels Past, Present, and Future are played by Megan Wood, Grace Mahr and Sarai Perkins respectively. Additional cast members are Kayla Dugan, Michael Guerin, Olivia Kincaid and Adam Wood. Stage crew and make-up assistance will be provided by Becca Wilson.

Show times are Friday and Saturday at 7 p.m.; Sunday at 2 p.m. Admission to each of the three showings is free in appreciation for audience support of New Artists Productions over the past 14 years.

For more information, contact Almich at 541-347-2517.
