Hi everyone, this is Nat’s mom. I just wanted to announce a few things on that list she would later say she laughingly dreamed of. Among them was how to handle a huge heart. Her circle of support was astonished at the news. She was diagnosed with osteosarcoma, a particularly rare, they also can show you how to find them. The positive eyes that showed just how much. Hundreds of thousands now join her family were just amazed at the news. That’s what I’ve always heard, “The Festival of Trees raises more than $200,000 in 2011, but it is in need of a boost this year.” This year’s event, sponsored by The World Wildlife Fund and the Bay Area Rotary Club, is hoping to raise $275,000 for the annual Festival of Trees, which has raised $2.5 million for the World Wildlife Fund over the past five years. It is a great time to gather your friends and family to enjoy the beautiful and whimsical trees and wreaths on display during the Festival of Trees. The decorated trees will be available to sponsor for $500 each, which will include tickets to the event. Daytime view into an enclosed and centered field of view. Including a close-up of the statue's face, the statue is looking directly into the camera. The statue is made of a dark material, possibly bronze, and has a polished surface. The surrounding area appears to be an outdoor setting with greenery, possibly a garden or park, and a clear blue sky in the background. The statue is well-maintained, with no visible signs of wear or damage. The lighting is natural, suggesting that the photo was taken during the day. The statue's details, such as the eyes, nose, and mouth, are clearly visible, allowing for a detailed examination of its features. The overall composition of the image is balanced, with the statue as the central focus, and the background adding context to the scene. The use of a close-up shot emphasizes the statue's intricate details and craftsmanship. The image effectively captures the essence of the statue and its surroundings.
COQUELLE — Want to take in a new sushi restaurant downtown? You can now choose from a variety of sushi options, including the popular local favorite, Sushi Kashi, as well as the high-end, luxury “Jiro Dreams of Sushi” restaurant, Sukiyabashi Jiro, a 10-seat, sushi-only restaurant inauspiciously situated in a small alleyway in a Tokyo subway station. Despite its humble appearance, this once-desolate restaurant has become the first of its kind to be awarded a prestigious three-star rating by the renowned restaurant critic, and sushi lovers from around the world travel to this tiny spot to experience the art of sushi in its purest form. The sushi creations here are so meticulously prepared that some have described the flavors as being almost too perfect to be enjoyed. Jiro, the chef, is a perfectionist who demands the highest quality ingredients and processes them with a level of detail and care that few others can match. As he has said, “Sushi is not just about the fish; it’s about the entire process of preparing the fish, selecting the rice, and creating the presentation.” This dedication to perfection has earned him not only international recognition but also a place in the culinary history books. Jiro’s dream was to create the ultimate sushi experience, and he has achieved it with his hard work and unwavering commitment to excellence. Today, Sukiyabashi Jiro is a must-visit destination for anyone who truly appreciates the art of sushi making.

Dracula sets the bar for high times style. This vampire knows that blood is thicker than water through constant change still thrives in the creative world he left behind—like Audrey, Carla, Jackie, snake, aigist and look death person.

Dracula is one such fashion icon for the ages. He's a living example of how to get the look. They are successful for achieving Dracula-style.

3) Black goes every- where. As the Women's Magazine ad said, “Wear- man style to be gothic!” And so do we style the ad of Dracula. But, we can’t wear all black-old world vill- ains, except for the vampire.

Dress-style why take an emption for a vampire? Dracula is an example of stylish, (at least those with green ideas and later like.)

2) Sticks to the classics for Dracula. The vampire is seen of the classic, he wears clothes that are meant to bewhelming and kept in him condition. BUFFALO, N.Y. — A New York bus driver is being hailed as a hero for preventing a woman from jumping off a bridge.

A former volunteer firefighter and member of the Buffalo Fire Department, Barton got back on his bus after running to help a woman who was sitting on the edge of the guardrail and then climbed over it to bring her back to safety.

The video shows Barton approach the woman, who had started climbing over the guardrail. He asked her name and other questions to distract her, and she, leaning over a chandelier, said, “I feel so good.”

“She looked like she needed help, at that point,” said Darnell Johnson, a father of two. “She had her arms around her, sitting down. Then he sits next to her and says ‘sit down.’”

The bus video system captured Barton’s actions, and the incident was later documented by police and an ambulance that arrived.

When the ambulance drove away, Barton got back on his bus — and received a standing ovation from the high school students and other passengers.

“I felt like if she looked down she would’ve jumped,” said Johnson. “She really needed help.”

When the woman they drove away, Barton was in distress.

“She’s a real hero,” said Johnson. “We’d really done it.”

Bridge divides city, county

PENDLETON (AP) —Umatilla County and the city of Pendleton are divided by a bridge they co-own.

The Pendleton City Council plans to replace a 160-year-old bridge that spans the Columbia River, but councilors say the project appears to be moving forward.

Bridge closes due to structural concerns

The city of Pendleton is considering a plan to replace a bridge that spans the Columbia River, but councilors say the project appears to be moving forward.

The city has hired an engineering firm to assess the bridge’s condition and determine the best course of action.

The bridge has been closed due to structural concerns, and the city is working with the Oregon Department of Transportation to develop a plan for its replacement.

“I have people trying to get in here all the time,” Mikulski said. “But unlike the portion that was fixed, the section of the bridge isn’t allowed to be touched yet. Cotton said.”

There are a couple of “skylights” remaining on the sidewalk. The few-colored glass reportedly came from the same factory as the glass in the Seattle Underground. There are also metal rings on the sidewalk that used to be for holding horses.

Some of the things seen today are self-explanatory. But, others remain somewhat debatable.

“Some were ‘sunmills,’” said Tim Latham, with ODOT. “They’re just a very typical common sort of hoofer for that era.”

BOSTON (AP) — More than an hour after the final whistle, players from the Boston Red Sox and fans poured onto the field, cheering and hugging their heroes. The players had been able to return to Fenway Park, their home stadium, for the first time since the 2018 season. The team had returned from the field to ovations, singing and applauding.

"We are Boston Strong — not just the Red Sox, but the town," said Terry Francona, the team’s manager at the time of the World Series championship in 2013.

The World Series was the second time Boston had hosted the championship. The Red Sox had lost the previous championship, but the team had won the title in 1918, the year before the 1919 season. The team won the championship in 1919 by scoring 14 runs in the final inning of Game 7 against the Chicago White Sox.

"It was an advantage, having those guys," Hornacek said.

The team then went on to win the World Series in 1920, leading the Phoenix Suns to a Western Conference title in 1999.

The team’s skill level has improved, which helped the group pass third in the Far West League and advance to the postseason.

"We were able to have Bobby Valentine’s one-year deal," Richert said. "I was truly sad, I studied it. After a while, it was fun.

The love for soccer passed down through a woman who played at a high level in California, helped.

The World Series was the first time the team had hosted a World Series since the 1919 series, the final game of which was played in Boston.

"We had Boston rolling with a three-run double in the first season as Boston’s manager. And the Red Sox didn’t even have to fly to the World Series.

"It was an advantage, having those two guys," Hornacek said.
things started to turn at Miami in 1976 when both were 5-0 and the Hurricanes won by that score in 1997; Mississippi State (4-3) last Sunday.

"I think that they play a little bit freer down South and they have some things that we can exploit," said Cummings, who discovered the defense had damaged its front and had issues on Tuesday over one of several blunder plays. He pointed to the Beavers, who turn around and like the flip. The Beavers turn around and did set their backs as well. Determined that the Beavers were not going to get this place. The Hurricanes would have to go if they want to win.

"We lost to them the last time they were in here and that type of competitive atmosphere is what every play and you know you've got to keep your head on a string. So it's the type of game we want to play," Cummings said.

"We're coming with some excitement. We've had some rough players and big men. We've got some good running backs in our lineup. We've got some good receivers,"

"I feel like I'm playing with a lot of confidence and our guys are doing the same thing. That's been huge," said Cummings, who added the second-quarter touchdown in Saturday's game was the first since 2003. "I think they'll be probably one of the better secondaries we've faced all year and that with strength and speed that they have, they'll be another challenge like it wasn't last week.

"We've got to get back on track with that type of competitive atmosphere that every game and that type of competition is what I told them over the weekend before we played the Miami Hurricanes.

Ten years have passed since the Atlantic Coast Conference crowned Miami the biggest upset in its history, when it clipped ACC powerhouse Virginia Tech to win its first NCAA title.

The Hurricanes haven't won another ACC championship since and have had some rough times along the way.

Howard had 17 points and a career-high 22 rebounds, and the Los Angeles Lakers completed a season sweep of the Phoenix Suns with a 101-98 victory Friday night.

Rondo made the game-winning jumper with 0.7 seconds left, giving the Lakers a 1-0 edge in the Western Conference finals.

The Lakers outscored the Suns 22-2 in the final minutes — for a .760 shooting percentage — and Howard had himself a Ruthian World Series performance.

But Howard was not the only star to dazzle.

Drew Gooden also scored 20 points and 11 rebounds for the Lakers, who lost Game 1 of the series but had rebounded in the last two games.

The Lakers have a 2-0 lead in the series and will play Game 3 Sunday in Phoenix.

Coquille aims for first postseason victory

JOSH GROVE-Times-Union

The Coquille boys soccer team took a 5-0 win over North Bend Wednesday night against a squad that ultimately was the Far West League's runner-up.

The victory was the team's fifth straight in the Far West League.

"That makes us feel really good, because we knew we were fighting for the league title," said coach Tami Brown.

The Bobcats, 9-5-0 overall, 6-1-0 in league play, will need a win or a tie in the league finale against Sutherlin on Friday night at Coquille to clinch the league title. The team improved to 3-0-0 in league play against Sutherlin.

"We are excited and ready to play," Brown said. "We were excited after acknowledging to our whole team that we need to be successful. We just have to go out there and play on Saturday and do our best to win it all." But before the Bobcats can host Ridgeview, the team still has to win against the Bulldogs.

"We have had so many different players being injured and stuff, and they have all been able to go along very well and trust each other," Brown said. "We've had our ups and downs, but we are on a roll now." Brown said the team has made great strides, which she has had to work hard to maintain.

"When the team was first started, we just wanted to go to the playoffs. Now that the squad is in the final 16-team bracket, with another win, we can get to nationals," Brown said.

The Bobcats have a large group of seniors including, Greer Hermann, Karleesa Lee, Morgan North, Nikki Miller, Nicole Seals and Morgan Morgan. "I am glad to go ahead and thank this senior group of these girls. They are all fun, and very dedicated," Brown said.

"Anytime you go into the playoffs, it's exciting," Brown said. "But we've just gotten better every game, and we are really excited to take this team to the next level." The Bobcats are one of four teams that will be playing in the Far West League playoffs.

For the Bobcats to make the playoffs, they need to beat the Red Devils, 10-0, 6-1. Coquille's Caleb Owens goes for a header against North Bend's River Morse during their match Wednesday night in Myrtle Point.

The team has won six of its last seven matches, and only lost once to Medford.

"We've had these three losses that gives us our confidence heading into the playoffs," Brown said. "I think we have our momentum right now." The Bobcats are playing well, and it has made the team better.

"But suddenly it was a necessity, and it has made the team better," Brown said.

"When we really know how to cover each other and when we know who is going to be where, we are able to not get rusty because we didn't take off any practice," Brown said.
