MarLo costume and bake sale fundraiser

BANDON – MarLo Dance Studio parents will hold a bake sale and costume sale fundraiser to raise money for new costumes for “The Nutcracker,” (specifically revamping the snow scene and battle scene).

The sale will be held from 10 a.m.-3 p.m. (or until sold out) Saturday, Oct. 22, in the breezeway of Price ‘N’ Pride. (The date was moved from last Saturday due to the predicted storm).

MarLo director Maria Merriam has cleaned out the studio's costume wardrobe and will be selling unique costumes in children's and adult sizes. The quality of these costumes are twice that of big variety stores, Merriam said, and some are brand new. Costumes will have a suggested donation and few will have a minimum donation. Costumes include robot/space, international, the proverbial princess, animals and even an adult fur Lion (Wizard of Oz/Aslan), with a original value of $300.

MarLo Will be presenting “The Nutcracker” on Dec. 10, 11, 17 and 18 at the Sprague Community Theater.

New student registrations will close Oct. 31. Visit www.marlodance.com for more information, or call Merriam at 541-347-4616.

SEA annual meeting is Oct. 22

BANDON – Shoreline Education for Awareness invites the public to join the SEA annual membership meeting. Find out how you can help in meeting SEA's mission of education on shoreline habitat and the wildlife along the southern Oregon Coast. The meeting is scheduled for 1 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 22, at the Bandon Community Center/The Barn, 1200 11th St. SW.

The SEA president's year in review, officer elections and anticipated 2017 projects, seminars and volunteer opportunities are some of the topics to be discussed. The annual meeting will feature a presentation by Charleston Marine Life Center Director Trish Mace. Afterwards, spend a little time getting to know the SEA board of directors and fellow members over refreshments. Everyone is welcome.

Dr. Al Solomon, retired national program leader for Global Change Research in the U.S. Forest Service will launch the new season of SEA seminars in November. In addition to 90-plus research publications, Solomon was a contributor to the 2007 Nobel Peace Prize awarded to the International Panel on Climate Change. Solomon will present at 9 a.m. Saturday, Nov. 19, at the Coos History Museum, 1210 North Front St., Coos Bay.

New Artists to present 'The Ventriloquist'

BANDON – “The Ventriloquist” is a new approach for New Artists Productions, a rare dramatic presentation being staged at the Sprague Community Theater.

“Typical New Artists productions are comedies or musicals because they are less intense emotionally and offer more freedom for the actors to show their personalities. Although natural humor occurs throughout ‘The Ventriloquist,’ the maturity of this cast suggested that a more dramatic effort would be successful, but beneficial for individual development,” said playwright Dan Almich.

“The Ventriloquist” is a Christian-themed play about young people confronting their “faith” and how that faith manifests itself in view of tragedy. The story takes place on any street of America with a homeless boy trying to survive – trying to survive ridicule, violence and the cold of the night.

“The Ventriloquist” will open Friday, Oct. 21, and run two weekends: Oct. 21, 22 and 23; and Oct. 28, 29 and 30. Performances begin at 7 p.m. on Fridays and Saturdays and 2 p.m. on Sundays. Ticket prices are $5 for young people through age 18, $10 adults and $8 for senior citizens over age 60. Ticket outlets are Bandon ACE Hardware (541-347-2506) and Bandon Mercantile (541-347-4341)

New Artists Productions is a nonprofit organization operating along Oregon’s South Coast. Based in Bandon, New Artists Productions serves youth from Reedsport to Port Orford with cast members from North Bend, Coos Bay, Coquille, Bandon and Langlois in between. Now completing its 16th year of service and approaching 500 performances, New Artists has provided on-stage and backstage experience for some 500 young people over the years. The program operates at no cost to the students.

For information about “The Ventriloquist” or New Artists Productions, call the Almichs at 541-347-2517 or visit newartistsprod.com.

Oktoberfest at Old Town Marketplace benefits Youth Center

BANDON – Come by the Old Town Marketplace, 250 First St. SW in Bandon, on Friday and Saturday, Oct. 21 and 22 to enjoy a taste of Oktoberfest. German sausage with sauerkraut and mustards, German potato salad, cheddar soup, pretzels, apple cider, beer and cheer will be offered from 10 a.m.-4 p.m., with live music from noon-2 p.m. both days.

Proceeds will benefit the Bandon Community Youth Center and will help offset the cost of a new roof on the center's 17-year old building, constructed in 1999 with donated labor and materials on Bandon School District property. The Youth Center's lease with the district was renewed last year and runs through 2025. Oktoberfest event sponsors include the Old Town Marketplace, the Beverage Barn, Bandon Rain Unique Craft Ciders and 7-Devils Brewery of Coos Bay. The Old Time Fiddlers will play on Friday and T-Bird and the Night Shift from Port Orford are scheduled to play Saturday.

The Youth Center provides structured after-school homework help and snacks, with STEM/science and other fun activities Monday through Thursday, a robotics club, and a math tutoring program coming soon. For more information about the Youth Center, visit the Facebook page, call 541-347-8336, or email: bandonyouth@gmail.com. The website is currently under construction.
