‘Life on the Rocks’ next SEA seminar on April 1

BANDON – Join Shoreline Education For Awareness on April 1 for its next monthly seminar “Life on the Rocks: (How living in a tide pool is no day at the beach).” The seminar begins at 9 a.m. at the Bandon Community Center/The Barn and will be presented by Loren Morris.

At the seminar Morris will present a basic review of what exactly tide pools are and how they are caused, what they contain and tide pool etiquette. He will cover the four recognized intertidal zones and then identify the animals and plant life that inhabit these four zones. Utilizing over 30 picture slides, Morris will provide some insight into each animal’s specialized tools and behaviors that help them survive and thrive in one of the world’s harshest environments. Morris will also review what he has learned about climate change, acidification, and sea temperature and how it is directly affecting tide pool life.

There will be a review of Oregon’s rocky intertidal pool viewing areas covering the well-known traditional go-to spots as well as some secret hidden in “plain sight” pools that you may not know about. Following the seminar there will be a field trip to the Coquille Point tide pools.

Morris is a local board member of SEA whose focus was environmental ecology coastal impact studies at USC. He has spent countless hours studying sea otter behavior and sea life found along the beautiful Pacific shorelines of California and Oregon.

Mark your calendars now for two additional SEA offerings. On Saturday, April 15, the next in the seminar series will begin at 9 a.m. at the Oregon Institute of Marine Biology’s Boathouse in Charleston. Dr. Jan Hodder will present “The Pinnipeds of Cape Arago.” Hodder is senior lecturer and academic coordinator at OIMB.

The SEA volunteer training will take place May 17 and 18 beginning at 9 a.m. at The Barn in Bandon. This training is open to the public and is a great way to learn about coastal wildlife and habitats.

Lions Club to hold spaghetti feed

LANGLOIS – The Langlois Lions Club will hold a spaghetti feed followed by a dessert auction on Saturday, April 1, at the club on Floras Lake Road.

Dinner will start at 5 p.m., followed by the dessert auction. Proceeds are earmarked for the 2017 Pacific High School scholarship fund. The menu includes spaghetti with gourmet sauce, fancy coleslaw, garlic bread and beverages (coffee, tea and punch). Vegetarian option will be available. Cost is by donation. Dinner music will be provided by Simple Harmonies. Community members are invited to bring a favorite dessert to be donated to the auction.

For more information, call 541-348-2507.

Birding without borders next Audubon program

BANDON – Cape Arago Audubon Society invites the general public to its monthly program at 7 p.m. Wednesday, April 5, at the Bandon Community Center, 1200 11th St. SW. Everyone is encouraged to see “Birding Without Borders: An Epic World Big Year” presented by Oregon’s own Noah Strycker.

In 2015, bird nerd Strycker became the first human to see more than half of the planet’s bird species in a single, year-long, round-the-world birding trip. Anything could have happened, and a lot did. He was scourged by blood-sucking leeches, suffered fevers and sleep deprivation, survived airline snafus and car breakdowns and mudslides and torrential floods, skirted war zones, and had the time of his life.

Birding on seven continents and carrying only a pack on his back, Strycker enlisted the enthusiastic support of local birders to tick more than 6,000 species, including Adelie penguins in Antarctica, a harpy eagle in Brazil, a spoon-billed sandpiper in Thailand and a green-breasted pitta in Uganda. He shared the adventure in real time on his daily blog (audubon.org/noah) and now he reveals the inside story. This humorous and inspiring presentation about Strycker’s epic “World Big Year” will leave the audience with a new appreciation for the birds and birders of the world.

Strycker is associate editor of Birding magazine, the author of two well-regarded books about birds and a regular contributor of photography and articles to all major bird magazines as well as other media. Visit his website at: www.noahstrycker.com.

For more information about the program, call society president Harv Schubothe at 541-297-2342.

Spotlines available in Bandon

BANDON – SpotLines, a free zine featuring southern Oregon coast poets and artists, has just released its spring issue and is now available in Bandon at the Bandon Public Library, Second Street gallery, Art by the Sea Gallery, Riverside Studios, Kimberly's Used Books and WinterRiver Books. Stop in, pick up a copy and enjoy some great local writing and line art.

If you would like to contribute, the contact information is on the back page of the publication.

Living Stations of the Cross is Friday

BANDON – The youth of Holy Trinity Catholic Church will hold their 14th annual Living Stations of the Cross at 7 p.m. Friday, March 31, at the church, 355 Oregon Ave. SE in Bandon.

This year's event will be dedicated in memory of the late Rev. Barbara Mudge, also known as "Rev Mum." Rev Mum never missed a single Living Stations of the Cross at Holy Trinity, said organizer Elaine Caldwell.

The public is invited to this moving event, which depicts Jesus' last hours and crucifixion.

Class of 1967 to offer scholarship

BANDON – The Bandon Historical Society is sponsoring a "50 Years Later - 2017" scholarship for a deserving, meritorious, in-need BHS student who has displayed the potential to benefit society by the furtherance of their education.

The scholarship will be funded by donations from the BHS Class of 1967 and supporters who wish to celebrate the education and positive experiences they had while growing up in Bandon. Fifty years later they want to give back to the community and provide some assistance to others as a result of what they gained during their Bandon years.

Class members and other supporters are donating to a nonprofit so the donation is tax deductible. An anonymous donor has committed to covering fundraising costs which means 100 percent of individual donations will go directly to the scholarship.

The Bandon Historical Society and Museum will make the scholarship presentation at the June 2017 graduation exercises. The Bandon Historical Society may consider making it an ongoing scholarship, provided future 50-year anniversary classes are interested in taking the fundraising lead.

The deadline for donations for this year's scholarship is May 1. If a person wishes to donate online, there is a GoFundMe website for the "BHS 50 Years Later 2017" scholarship donation: <https://www.gofundme.com/bhs-50-years-later-scholarship>.

Checks can also be mailed to: BHS 50 Years Later Scholarship 2017, c/o Bandon Historical Society, P.O. Box 737, Bandon, Oregon 97411

For more details regarding the 2017 scholarship contact Bo Shindler, 541-698-7178 or email bo@shindlersbar.com.

New Artists to present 'Fiddler on the Roof Jr.'

BANDON – The small Jewish village of Anatevka, Russia, home to a tight-knit community of peasants, becomes the setting for New Artists Productions' spring stage presentation, Broadway Junior's "Fiddler on the Roof Junior." The year is 1905 when this musical story takes place and is concerned primarily with the efforts of a poor dairyman, Tevye, his wife, Golde, and their five daughters to cope with their harsh existence under Tsarist rule.

The presentation of "Fiddler on the Roof Junior" takes the Sprague Community Theater stage on March 31, April 1 and 2 and April 7, 8 and 9, under the direction of Dan and Anita Almich, founders of New Artists Productions a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization.

In Anatevka, one will find others in the village, people of different faiths (the Catholics) and political beliefs (the Constable and the Russian Guards) who are neighbors. The calm in the community is possible because as Tevye says, "We don't bother them and so far, they don't bother us." On the other hand, the growing anti-Semitism in other parts of Russia soon threatens the tight-knit community. It becomes evident that life's foundation, based on ancestral traditions of the family and faith, is becoming "as shaky as a fiddler on the roof."

The cast of 37 young actors, ages 6 to 18, residing in Reedsport, North Bend, Coos Bay, Coquille, Bandon, Langlois, and Sixes, will bring the audience on a journey through life in Anatevka. The journey outlines life's triangle formed by the traditions of the Jewish faith, the love of family, and the subtle changes occurring within the family and village because of the outside influences.

The musical collection is the thread that ties the story together. They bring out the love, humor, and emotion of life in Anatevka. The choreographed musical pieces provide another dimension to the performance, said Anita Almich. "I know the audience will enjoy and appreciate the hard work these young actors have put into this production. They all deserve acclaim."

Show times for "Fiddler on the Roof Junior" are 7 p.m. on Fridays and Saturdays and at 2 p.m. on Sundays. Tickets are available from Bandon ACE Hardware, Bandon Mercantile, by calling 541-347-2517, or at the door on show nights. Prices are $10 for adults, $8 for Senior Citizens, and $5 for students/children K - 12.

For additional information about the play or the New Artists Productions program, contact the Almichs at 541-347-2517.
