New hospital CEO coming soon

By Amy Moss Strong
Bandon Western World

BANDON — The Southern Coos Health District is getting close to hiring a new chief operating officer.

Some 83 applications were received for the position to fill the vacancy created when the board voted 3-2 to fire former CEO Jim Wathen last July. Of those 83, 55 of the applicants were rejected, 12 were selected to do Skype interviews for the position and the remaining withdrew their applications, according to interim CEO Alan Dow.

Those 12 candidates were interviewed via Skype on Monday and Tuesday and the final cut, probably three candidates, will be given on-site interviews early next month.

A representative of BE Smith, the company hired by the board to conduct the CEO search, was on hand for the Skype interviews this week.

Patient volumes down

The hospital experienced low patient volumes in December and gross patient revenue of just more than $1.3 million is the lowest monthly revenue the hospital has had in the last two years, Dow told the board at the last meeting.

“However, under Medicare cost-based reimbursement, we are able to estimate higher Medicare reimbursements as a result of this lower patient volume,” Dow said. “This, along with lower than budget operating expenses, has helped mitigate what could have otherwise been a significantly larger loss for the month.”

Chief Financial Officer Robin Triplett said there were 49.6 fewer inpatient days

Pipeline would cost city

By Gail Elber
Bandon Western World

BANDON — Extending natural gas service to Bandon would cost $24 million, according to a disappointing estimate from a consultant.

The figure is almost twice the cost anticipated in 1999, when voters approved the $27 million bond issue that brought gas to Coos Bay, North Bend, Coquille and Myrtle Point.

The bond issue paid half the cost of the 12-inch pipeline from Winchester in Douglas County, with the other half borne by the state of Oregon.

The project was supposed to include a 4-inch lateral pipeline to Bandon. Coos County bought 13 miles of steel pipe for that purpose, but the pipe has sat in a county storage yard ever since.

After the county clashed with MasTec, the pipeline's original contractor, the Bandon lateral was never built. The county hired another contractor for the 12-inch pipeline project, sued MasTec, and used the proceeds to mitigate MasTec's damage to property and streams along the pipeline's right of way.

To build the Bandon lateral, the county has $9.9 million left over from the bond issue and from the MasTec settlement.

But Pete Daniels of GTS, a California utility consulting firm, told county commissioners last week that a pipeline to Bandon, as currently envisioned, would cost $24 million.

Much of the cost increase is due to a change in the proposed route.

The 1999 plan was to run a 12-mile pipeline from Highway 42 to Bandon. But last summer, Commissioners Bob Main and Cam Parry asked GTS to study the feasibility of a 23-mile line down U.S. Highway 101 instead.

The new route would let the pipeline serve the Bandon Dunes resort, the county's Beaver Hill landfill site and potential industrial

Caveat seniors

Don't get scammed

Bandon Police Chief Bob Webb and office assistant Sarah Lakey give a presentation to seniors at Heritage Place about how to protect themselves from scams.

Police: Scams target elderly

By Amy Moss Strong
Bandon Western World

BANDON — Senior citizens are often the target of scammers and need to be extra cautious when it comes to money matters.

That's according to Bandon Police Chief Bob Webb, who spoke to about 22 Heritage Place residents at a recent presentation there. Webb comes in each year to speak to the seniors. He was assisted by police department office assistant Sarah Lakey.

Webb warned seniors that they are susceptible to elder abuse as well as scams and need to report both immediately to authorities.

“Police do like to hear of these things, even if it's a scam from another state,” Webb said.

Some seniors are so ashamed when they realize they've been scammed that they don't tell anyone.

“Don't be embarrassed to speak up if you've been scammed,” Webb said.

Webb advised residents to keep their pin numbers separate from their debit and credit cards, to never give out their savings or checking account numbers over the phone and only in person to a trusted source. He also said people should question odd phone calls, such as the common “grandparent scam” where a caller says they are a grandchild in trouble and need cash

“They're smart, and they work you so fast, they don't give you time to think about it,” Webb said.

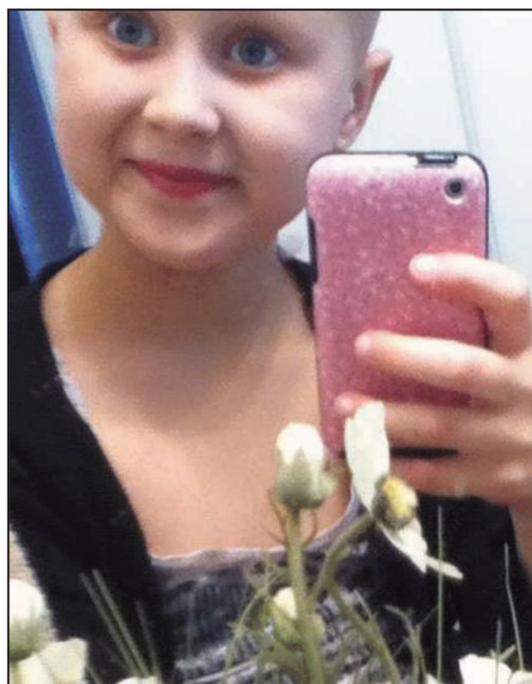

Thankfully, people who wire money for Western Union have begun to question when people come asking for large amounts of money to be sent overseas.

Webb said Craigslist is another place where scams are rampant, though it is monitored.

“We're never going to be 100 percent secure,” Webb said. “All we can do is protect ourselves. But don't fall into the trap. If it sounds too good to be true, it probably is.”

Doctors fight Coquille girl's cancer with HIV virus

By Amy Moss Strong
Bandon Western World

COQUILLE — Avrey Walker has been fighting cancer over half her young life. She is an active and spirited 9-year-old who loves the outdoors and animals.

The daughter of Aaron Walker and Christal Carney-Walker, both graduates of Coquille High School Class of 1992, and the granddaughter of former Bandon resident and businessman Les Walker, Avrey was diagnosed with leukemia in 2007 at the age of 4. Her parents were told at the time that her type of cancer was a “good one,” meaning it has a high cure rate.

Avrey had an 80-percent-chance of being cured with a two-year-regiment of chemotherapy, according to doctors. But seven months after completing her treatment, Avrey relapsed. The family headed back to Doernbecher Children's Hospital in Portland and did another two-year-round of aggressive chemotherapy.

“This time it would work, we all knew it would work,” said her aunt, Coquille resident Jenny Forbes.

Three short weeks after completing treatment Avrey's cancer was back. January 2013 brought sadness and fear to the family, until they heard of experimental treatment that had only been tried on four other young patients. The treatment, called CART 19, involves pulling some T cells from Avrey's body, then engineering them with the HIV virus and programming them to attack the B cells that are causing the leukemia.

EDUCATION

Speech team scores well at tournament

MCMINNEVILLE — Bandon High School's speech team finished eighth out of 32 teams in a recent tournament attended by some of Oregon's biggest schools.

Thirteen of the 16 team members competed at the 81st Singletary High School speech tournament, hosted by Linfield College on Feb. 8 and 9.

Bandon's team competed head-to-head with speakers from such schools as Cleveland, Lincoln, Tigard, Beaverton, Lake Oswego and Ashland. The competition is fiercer than the state tournament since schools are not limited by the elimination process of OSAA district tournaments, according to BHS Speech Team Coach Ellen Howard.

Bandon captured eighth with 42 tournament sweepstakes points, after Ashland with 129; Cleveland, 106; Lincoln, 104; Glencoe, 88; Westview, 56; Century, 46; and Sprague, 43. There are no divisions for smaller schools, so every award Bandon captured was the result of direct competition with every speaker in that event.

Co-Captain Tyler Wiprud stood out with three wins, including first out of 27 in Serious Interpretation with a cutting from "Zits," second out of 29 in Humorous Interpretation with "Paper or Plastic," and second out of 14 in Dual Interpretation with partner Jeneveve Winchell with "Oz."

In an unprecedented move, the first-year Dual Interpretation team of Autumn Moss-Strong and Darby Underdown competed in the open division and captured third place with "Snow White and the Little Men."

In Novice Poetry, Lily Trigg competed in the final round and won sixth out of 17 speakers with a selection of poems on the topic of racism.

Wiprud earned his first prequalification leg in Dramatic Interpretation at the Silverton tournament and the second at Linfield, so he is guaranteed a slot at the OSAA state tournament, Howard said. Wiprud also earned a first leg in Humorous Interpretation.

The dual team of Jeneveve Winchell and Tyler Wiprud earned their first leg at the Clackamas tournament. Since there were only 14 dual teams at Linfield, there were no legs earned in Dual Interpretation.

The current BHS speech team benefits from former team members who volunteer their time and expertise to help judge at tournaments and coach team members before tournaments. Chelsea Hill and Andrew Frank judged Friday and Saturday. Each judge covered 10 individual event entries plus two debate entries, each saving the speech team money in entry fees.

The speech team will travel to the University of Oregon for a tournament Feb. 22-23.

Energy efficiency workshop March 6

Bandon Western World

BANDON – The Greater Bandon Association is continuing its free design workshops and one-on-one consultations for Bandon business and building owners with an offering on energy efficiency.

The GBA has teamed up with Oregon Main Street, Neighborhood Economic Development Corporation, city of Bandon, Port Orford Main Street and the city of Junction City to host Energy Efficiency on Main Street workshops in both Bandon and Junction City.

The Energy Efficiency on Main Street workshop is scheduled for from 7:30 a.m. to noon Wednesday, March 6, at The Barn, Bandon's Conference and Community Center, 1200 11th St. S.W. in City Park.

"We're working with businesses like yours to provide on-site energy assessments, cash incentives, tax credits and federal grants to help your business save energy and improve your bottom line," said GBA coordinator Harv Schubotho.

Residents are encouraged to enjoy coffee and pastries as they join in one of these sessions to find out how the programs and incentives offered can help their businesses save energy and money.

Seating is limited. To register, visit <http://energyefficiencyonmainstreet.bwbrite.com>.

"We encourage all business owners and building owners to attend and hear presentations on utility incentives and assistance, low cost/no cost energy efficiency solutions, grant programs and project financing for small businesses," Schubotho said.

At the workshop, those attending can:

- Sign up for a free, one-hour on-site energy assessment to identify energy efficiency opportunities (many no-cost/low-cost).
- Access cash incentives and tax credits to help pay for efficiency upgrades.
- Find out why now is a good time to upgrade T12 fluorescent lighting.
- Get their energy questions answered.

For more information on the workshop, contact Schubotho at the Greater Bandon Association, 541-297-2342.

VFW thanks public

Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 3440 and Ladies Auxiliary wish to thank everyone who donated to the Christmas Basket program for 2012. The community was very responsive with contributions of money, food and names for baskets. A total of 185 baskets were given out this year serving 620 adults and children.

Thank you to the students, staff and teachers at Ocean Crest Elementary School and Harbor Lights Middle School for their contributions of canned food and non-perishable items. Also, we are grateful for the numerous anonymous contributions of food and toys.

We wish to acknowledge continued support from Bandon Presbyterian Women; Harvey and Betty Hiley; the E.A.T. program; Craig and Linda Wilcox; Joe Addair and Gail Dahl; William and Caroline Halfwassen; Bandon Quilters Guild; Gene Whitsett; Jerry and Debra Earls; Greg and Susan Mast; Carol Vedder; Kellie Flynn; Kendall Ridgway; Cynthia Stone; Kay McDonald; American Legion Bandon Post No. 26; Frederick Russell; Judy Karjola; Nina McNeil; Rebecca Ryder; Bart Domenighini; Jean Ritenour; Ms. Cook; Bill and Stacy Galvin; members of the VFW Post 3440 Post and Auxiliary; and anonymous donors. We wish to express appreciation to McKay's, Price 'n Pride and Williams Bakery for their continued support in this program.

Amy and staff at Bandon Western World are very helpful in the coverage each week and we greatly appreciate this. We sincerely thank everyone who participated in this Christmas program and trust we have not missed anyone.

Duck Derby a success

The 2013 Project Graduation Duck Derby was held on Super Bowl Sunday. The ducks entered Ferry Creek just north of the Station Restaurant at 10 a.m. on Sunday, Feb. 3. It took those 290 little ducks 10 minutes to venture the 500 feet down the creek to the finish line. They encountered several rapids along the way. We are happy to report that none were lost in the journey.

Bandon resident Melody Gillard-Juarez was the lucky winner with her pink duck No. 368. Melody was thrilled to receive her prize of $250. She generously donated a portion of her winnings back to Project Graduation.

Congratulations to Melody, and thank you to all those who helped to make the 2013 Duck Derby such a success. Your donation makes it possible for Project Graduation to provide a safe and sober graduation night for Bandon High School's seniors. We raised $2,900 toward Project Graduation activities.

Project Graduation's next event will be the annual Bash for Cash to be held on Saturday, April 27. Please save the date. Project Graduation parents will be collecting donations for Bash for Cash in the upcoming weeks. If you have something to contribute or would like more information on the event, please contact Mary Webb at 541-404-1675.

What Mary taught us

We had the pleasure at the port office of many visits from Mary Smith. Prior to the first flower show in the picnic shelter on the boardwalk honoring her, Mary appeared in my office, in her own gracious way, like she had done many other places over the years, with a bouquet of roses following my selection as the next port manager. It was following one of her visits that staff decided we just had to do a local flower show in her honor.

After much prodding we convinced her that she deserved to be honored for all of the community work she has done, including her unrelenting love of home flower gardens. Like the flower shows years ago, it would give people the opportunity to see what can be grown in our local climate. Mary would share how she gardened in her heavy winter coat and scarf to protect herself from the cold, sunny north summer wind on some days at her home. Mary persevered like no other, through her life and her flower gardens. Mary was adamant that the flower shows in the picnic shelter would not be judged. “Who are we to pass judgment on which flowers are the most beautiful or how they are arranged?” she would say. “They're all beautiful and come from a special place in people's hearts and all deserve recognition,” Mary added.

Mary taught us perseverance and never to pass judgment. The love she had for her family, friends and flowers was unconditional. Our lives are fuller and richer for having known her.

Morrison Road dog seeks home

“The greatness of a nation and its moral progress can be judged by the way its animals are treated.” — Ghandi. In this light, thank you, to all the people who assisted the “Morrison Road dog” with food, shelter, money to buy food and to Jerri Carroll, animal communicator. The dog survived through the summer and most of the winter and is currently at the Coos County Animal Shelter. She is a great dog and would like a one-dog home (without kitties would be nice too). She is young, intelligent, faithful and so willing to please. So thank you all.

Vote no on lighting ordinance

On Jan. 31, The Bandon Western World ran an article titled “Light fight will be on March 12 city ballot.” The paper missed the point. This issue is not so much a fight, as it is a choice denied to the people of Bandon by the City Council.

The city councilors could have put the measure on the ballot. They could have given the voters of Bandon the opportunity to decide on whether or not to yoke property owners with the burden of more intrusive regulations. The ballot title submitted by the city to the County Clerk was a little misleading. The title read, “The Ordinance adding outdoor lighting regulations to the Bandon Municipal Code.” The City of Bandon already has a lighting ordinance, so there is an established remedy for these types of residential problems. In addition, citizens can currently file nuisance lawsuits in civil court against those violating their property rights, so there is no need for more rules.

What should really be disturbing to the people of Bandon is that the U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service had some influence in the construction of this law. Oddly enough, the law designates the Bandon Marsh as one of the protective zones in the ordinance, so now a complaint from an officer in the USFWS can warrant a fine for a city resident. This would give a federal agency unprecedented advantage over local law enforcement and sway the power of local governance from the people to an out-of-control bureaucracy, whose authority will continue to grow with the expansion of the USFWS's territory. Eventually, this will affect every municipality in the county.

In a recent article about the Bandon Lighting Ordinance published by www.Landscapeonline.com, the author demonstrates in a picture the type of outlawed landscape lighting designs contained in the new commandment. One quote states, “This of great importance to Oregon lighting professionals, as a proposed change in the ordinance would hamstring a popular lighting technique.” Law-making busybodies, whose only goal is to make mundane life more oppressive and expensive for their neighbors, always overlook these unintended consequences.

The Committee for Citizens Involvement will continue to make ill-advised recommendations to the City Council and the council will continue to subject the people of Bandon to more restrictive regulations if the voters do not keep a tight and unrelenting leash on these groups. The people on these committees are more concerned about building their perception of Bandon tomorrow rather than troubling themselves about the condition of Coos County today. It is distressing when city leaders have tyrannical desires to turn our hometown atmosphere into a strangely perverted Neighborhood Association, with little to no input from the disenfranchised.

The city manager is trying to make this issue about the person who filed the referendum. However, the manager overlooked the very important fact that one person alone cannot put a measure on a ballot — it takes the signatures of 178 reiled up residents to file a referendum, therefore making this a community driven policy. Ironically, that is exactly what most people wanted from the beginning.

When the ballots go out at the end of February it will be an opportunity for the voters of Bandon to take back their community from a rogue group made up of a minority of citizens. Please, do not hesitate — immediately fill out, and submit the ballot, because the opposition is counting on public apathy to win the day. Stay vigilant and do not give them the satisfaction. Read the Bandon Lighting Ordinance for yourself at the city's website and make your own objective decision. Then vote NO on Measure 6-148. Vote NO on the Bandon lighting ordinance. There is more information on this subject at www.CooCountyWatchdog.com and please sign the “NO Bandon Marsh Expansion” petition while visiting the site.

Dark sky ordinance is good

The idea to address lighting in Bandon came from a local businessman who approached a city councilor at coffee, complaining that his neighbor's harsh, outdoor lighting was interfering with his hobby of astronomy. The city councilor sent him to Bandon's city manager who had heard similar concerns. The manager sent the man to the city planning department, where an intern offered to study the issue and report to the Planning Commission. She did. She learned lighting ordinances were being adopted all over the country. They save money on electricity, respect individuals who like to sleep at night and those who study the stars or learn the basics of navigation. They protect wild creatures that need the rhythms of light and dark for successful mating and feeding habits. She learned “dark sky” lighting fixtures are more effective in lighting streets and walkways by directing light down, instead of up or out to places where the wild things are.

The Bandon Planning Commission liked the idea. They sent this material to Bandon's Citizen Involvement Committee, which held a citywide forum to get information out and reactions in. The attendance was terrific. The Boy Scouts got involved and yes, the Fish and Feather folks were invited. Everybody had a good time and the recorded feedback was very positive. Then, the Planning Commission held a public hearing, afterward recommending a carefully written, non-intrusive ordinance in which existing lighting was grandfathered. They referred it to the City Council and later the council adopted the ordinance. This was a four-year process involving many volunteers. It is a fine example of government working the way it should.

Bandon's outdoor lighting ordinance is a good one. The goal to light our streets and pathways, our football games and flags (all of which the ordinance permits) and combine it with minimizing light pollution, allowing neighbors to sleep or gaze at the stars is desirable.

Truth, after all, is the most important light and the lights are on in Bandon! Keep Bandon's new lighting ordinance. Vote “Yes” on Ballot Measure 6-148!

Solutions to dredging crisis?

For nearly two years, boats have sat idle during low tide at the Port of Port Orford, waiting on the dry dock for clear passage and a navigable channel that leads them to the open sea. Since it was last dredged in 2010, the harbor has gradually filled with sand and blocked access for the fishermen that depend on the ocean to earn a living, feed their families, and fuel the local economy. Today, Port Orford fishermen risk life and limb just to go out for a day's catch.

This is unacceptable.

For the last 20 years every administration, Republican and Democrat, has zeroed out funding for small port dredging in Oregon and throughout the country, making it hard to find funding for even the most critical dredging projects. Throughout my career, I have had to fight to secure earmarks to fund vital dredging projects for the ports of Bandon, Brookings, Coos Bay, Gold Beach, Port Orford, Siuslaw and Umpqua. But in 2011, the House Republican leadership banned all earmarks, making it impossible to direct needed resources toward specific dredging projects.

We desperately need a new approach.

Recently I convened a public meeting between the United States Army Corps of Engineers, federal and gubernatorial representatives, the state legislative Coastal Caucus, local officials and community members to come together and forge a long-term solution that can help ports on Oregon's South Coast get the dredging they urgently need.

The meeting was productive and gave stakeholders the opportunity to present innovative ideas that we can begin to implement. Attendees were in agreement: Our coastal ports need a short-term solution that will provide some immediate relief and a long-term solution that will provide the port, fishermen and community with predictability.

Stakeholders pitched a number of inventive ideas to solve our crisis. I am interested in two ideas that could help our ports get some dredging over the next few years. The first idea is to purchase a truck-transportable dredge, much like the one used by the Port of Brookings Harbor after the 2011 tsunami. Local ports and the USACE officials say this type of dredge can help maintain boat basins in the near-term. I plan to

HOUSE REPORT

U.S. REP
PETER

work with state leaders and the USACE to find funds to purchase one of these dredges.

The second idea is for Oregon to become a “sponsor,” with the USACE so it can supplement the anemic federal dredging budget. North Carolina currently has “sponsor” status with the USACE, which allowed it to fund USACE port dredging and keep its rural fishing communities alive. The process to become a sponsor is time consuming, but with the support of state leaders this is a great option for Oregon.

Neither of these ideas is a long-term fix. A truck-transportable dredge can't operate in the open ocean to maintain critical channels and we can't expect the state to pay for federal infrastructure indefinitely. For the long-term, Congress must act to fully dedicate the Harbor Maintenance Trust Fund so it is used for its intended purpose — the maintenance of our ports and harbors.

Currently, the HMTF has an excess balance of $8 billion. That's money that could be invested today in our ports, jetties, channels, locks and dams. The funds collected in the HMTF for dredging have also been raided to fund a host of non-harbor related projects. I am an original sponsor of the RAMP Act (H.R. 335), which would protect the trust fund by ensuring monies collected for harbor maintenance must be spent only on the maintenance of ports, harbors, and waterways.

But dedicating and properly investing HMTF money isn't a slam dunk. Advocates in Congress will need to fight to ensure the USACE doesn't receive additional cuts in its overall budget if the HMTF is opened up. And Congress also must act to ensure small ports receive their fair share of the funds.

There is no politically easy fix that will happen tomorrow to bring our South Coast ports the relief they need. However, we cannot continue to allow our ports, the fishermen that depend on those ports, and the economies that depend on fishing to be held captive by inaction.

Any change at the local, state, or federal level will be a heavy lift. The message was clear in the meeting; everyone at the local, state, and federal levels will work together on these ideas and others until our ports and channels provide a safe and easy passage for all our maritime vessels.

Actress portrayed in next Playhouse show

Judith Chapman, from "Young and the Restless" fame, will star in the next Bandon Playhouse production, the one-woman show, "Vivien," a journey into the triumph and madness of Vivien Leigh.

The show will be performed at 7:30 p.m., Saturday, Feb. 16, and at 2 p.m., Sunday, Feb. 17, at the Sprague Community Theater, 1202 11th St. S.W. in Bandon City Park.

Chapman's performance in Rick Foster's critically acclaimed play will be a limited engagement to celebrate Vivien Leigh's centennial birthday.

Opening in a darkened theater, "Vivien" is an illuminating journey beyond Leigh's triumphs into madness that tortured her all of her life, as she reflects on her tumultuous relationship with actor Laurence Olivier and her tragic battles with manic depression and tuberculosis. Leigh also expresses her insecurities despite winning two Oscars for her Southern Belle performances in "Gone With The Wind" and a "Streetcar Named Desire." Judith Chapman has been praised for her uncanny mastery of Leigh's mannerisms.

Only two performances at the Sprague Community Theater are sure to be sold out, so those interested are advised to get their tickets early. Tickets are $15 each and available at Bandon True Value Hardware, Bandon Mercantile, Billy Smoothboar's Restaurant or by calling 541-290-5383.

Foster Parents training

The Coos County Foster Parents Association will sponsor a training from 9 a.m.-4 p.m. on Saturday, Feb. 16, at The Barn/Bandon Community Center, 1200 11th St. S.W. in Bandon City Park.

The speaker, Scott "Q" Marcus, is well known across the United States. His topic will be "Striving for Imperfection." How do you realize you're only human and can't do it all? The talk deals with attitude, communication, handling difficult people, staying focused and will provide some motivation.

Cost of the training is $40 per couple. The fee includes fruit and rolls for breakfast, a lunch and beverages. For reservations, email mmsscott@juno.com or call 541-347-4224.

Spinners to meet

No Lazy Kates will be spinning at 1 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 16, at the Wool Company, 990 Highway 101 in Bandon. Visitors are welcome.

Call Isabel Buschman at 541-347-3115 for more information.

Champneys, Mueller at Author Night

The February Author Night will be held at 7 p.m., Monday, Feb. 18, at the Bandon Public Library, 1204 11th St. S.W. in City Park.

The public is invited to an evening of light verse, prose, music and art with local authors Weld Champneys and Joyce Mueller, members of the Bandon Writers Group who have read together at various public presentations for more than a decade.

There is no cost to attend and refreshments will be served. Author Night is sponsored by Bandon Library Friends and Foundation.

Vendors sought for craft fair

The Coastal Harvest Spring Craft Fair & Bake Sale is quickly approaching. The two day event will be from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Friday, March 22, and Saturday, March 23, at The Barn, 1200 11th St. S.W. in Bandon City Park.

Vendors spaces are available. For more information or for an application or if you wish to donate something for the bake sale, call Lyn Silverman 541-347-1585, email bandonlyn@yahoo.com or write to Coastal Harvest, P.O. Box 1122 Bandon OR 97411.

Coastal Harvest is a nonprofit, all volunteer, gleaners group that helps low income persons with food security. Members are asked to give eight hours of volunteer service a month in exchange for a box of food every Wednesday and firewood when available.

Coastal Harvest food distribution is every Wednesday from 8:30-10:30 a.m. and is located in the gymnasium of the Seventh Day Adventist Church located in Bandon at 10th and Elmira.

February library art offered

Tonya Rosen's needlepoint in the glass cases of the Bandon Public Library through February in a show she has titled, "It's Not Your Mother's Needlepoint."

Lea Lyman's woven tapestries, titled, "Reflections," are on display in the library's hall.

Twenty-eight years ago, Rosen's best friend introduced her to needlepoint. Betty only had two warnings for Rosen: First, that needlepoint was addicting and second, that it was an expensive hobby. Rosen took her first class in Carmel, Calif., and now has more than 100 finished pieces.

Lyman said, "I am calling this exhibit 'Reflections' for many of the friends who have died during the past few years, and whom I miss. Also, I love using light-reflective materials whose allure has been part of my visual experience, always."

'Trees' on display at SC Hospital

The newest show at Southern Coos Hospital, "Trees," features works by some of the finest painters and photographers in the area, including David Castleberry and Robin Jenkins of Coos Bay, Susan Applegate of Yoncalla, Magda Druzdzel of Gold Beach, Lane Hall of Medford, Janne LaValle of Lakeside, Steve and Susan Dimock of Bandon and all the Monday Plein Air Painters who have made "Trees" the subject matter of their paintings all this past summer and fall.

The show also includes paintings done by students of Harbor Lights Middle School and Bandon High School (working with Vicki Affatati and Jen Ells).

The show will remain on display through March 31. It is sponsored by AVK Arts, a foundation based in Los Angeles whose mission is to promote art in public places.

'Great floods' next geology lecture

The Geology Lecture Series continues at 7 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 16, with "Cataclysms on the Columbia, A New Perspective - A Talk About the Great Missoula Floods" by Dr. Scott Burns. The free lecture is at the Hales Center for the Performing Arts on the Southwestern Oregon Community College campus and is open to all members of the community.

Burns received his Bachelor of Science and Master of Science degrees from Stanford and PhD from the University of Colorado. Burns is a professor of Geology at Portland State University where he specializes in engineering and environmental geology, soils, geomorphology, Quaternary Geology and terrior.

He has also taught at the university level in Switzerland, New Zealand, Washington, Colorado and Louisiana. An author or co-author of two books, more than 80 articles and more than 200 published abstracts, Burns has worked on research topics as diverse as landslide, debris flow, radon and earthquake hazard mapping, heavy metals and trace elements in soils, loess stratigraphy, slope stability, Missoula Floods, bio-geomorphology (pocket gophers, tree throw, and ants), alpine soil development, and terrior (relationship of geology, soils, climate and wine).

Burns has won many awards for outstanding teaching. He actively helps local TV and radio stations and newspapers bring important geological news to the public.

Future talks in the lecture series this year include Dr. Daniel Fisher of the University of Michigan on April 26, discussing "New Insights into the Lives of Mammoths" based on his research in Siberia; and Dr. Brandon Dugan of Rice University on May 18, who will talk about massive undersea landslides as an Ocean Leadership Consortium distinguished speaker.

All of the talks are free and start at 7 p.m. in the Hales Center for the Performing Arts on the SWOCC Campus.

Continuing sponsors of the lecture series include Oregon Resources Corporation, the SWOCC Foundation and the College.

So Avrey traveled at the end of January to one of the few places the treatment is available, Philadelphia. Avrey's mother said she was nervous about the experimental treatment until she contacted the parent of one of the four other children who has received the same treatment. That little girl was close to death and after receiving the CART 19 treatment, has fully recovered.

In Philadelphia, some of Avrey's cells were extracted and the five-week wait began as the cells are re-engineered.

"We're just blessed and happy they have technology that can save our daughter's life," Aaron Walker said.

The Walkers have been living in Redmond, but are now back in Coquille. The CART 19 treatment is experimental, so insurance doesn't cover the costs. Several fundraisers have been held or are being planned locally to help the Walker family with medical expenses for Avrey.

Christal and Aaron are grateful for all the community has done to help the family.

"Thank you all for your prayers, kind words, fundraising, and everything else," Christal said on Avrey's Facebook page.

"We're here to fight and win this thing," said Aaron. "And she's on board with that for sure."

Monday, Feb. 18, from 9 a.m.-4 p.m. all proceeds from haircuts at Sharon's Cut 'n' Curl in Coquille (each costing $15) will be donated to Avrey's fund. Sharon's Cut 'n' Curl is located at 65 E. Fifth St., Coquille, 541-396-3716.

Saturday, Feb. 22, there will be a karaoke night at Mr. Zack's Restaurant and Lounge. Donations will be accepted at the door and T-shirts supporting Avrey will be available. Good singers are especially encouraged to come help. Mr. Zack's is located at 90 W. First St., Coquille, 541-396-7111.

Sunday, March 17, from 2-5 p.m., there will be a Zumba-thon at Pony Village Mall, hosted by many local Zumba instructors, organized by Kimmie Cook. Cost is $15 for three hours of Zumba and includes a free T-shirt provided by Gertrude & Ethel, and a live DJ provided by Party of 4 Entertainment. Cone 9 will be host a beverage bar.

Friday, March 22, there will be a spaghetti dinner and auction at the Coquille Community Building, featuring a live local band, All Fall Short, lots of silent auction items, food and a bar.

Bandon suffered from Spanish flu

By Jim Proehl
Contributing writer

BANDON — In 1918 and 1919, the Spanish influenza swept the world. Historians speculate it helped bring about the end of World War I and estimate it may have infected 500 million and killed 50 million people worldwide.

Bandon was not spared. The town went into quarantine. Schools were closed. Sports seasons were canceled. Public gatherings were forbidden.

A young Bandon couple, Mathias and Bessie Lux, were among the plague's victims. They left behind a 5-month-old infant.

The word "flu" entered the vocabulary.

In the wake of the epidemic, the Bandon Garage Co. ran an ad in the Bandon Western World drawing upon newfound than December 2011. Outpatient visits for December were 254, down 23 percent from the previous year, and there were 328 emergency room visits for the month, which was down almost 3 percent from the previous year. Laboratory tests, respiratory visits and clinic visits also were down, but Dow said December was an unusually slow month. Radiology visits increased over the prior year, as did surgeries.

However, the hospital has the equivalent of 73 days cash on hand, mainly due to the assertive collection of receivables.

"We're doing a good job hanging on to this money," Triplett said.

Operating expenses, payroll and overtime continue to remain below previous years, in due part to lower patient load and continued efforts by the staff to keep expenses down.

ER services

Critical access care via the emergency room is an important part of what Southern Coos provides, according to Dow. With Em Care, the company the hospital contracts with for emergency room and hospitalist care, the physician on duty rotates between the two, which can be a challenge at times when the ER is busy.

Southern Coos Hospital triages emergency room patients with life-threatening conditions and gets them ready for transfer to larger hospitals for specialized care. In December there was a total of 56 transfers to Bay Area Hospital (28), Sacred Heart at RiverBend (23), Rogue Valley Medical Center (2), Roseburg Veterans Administration Hospital (1), and Oregon Health Sciences University (1).

Finance committee

The public members of the hospital finance committee were selected at the December meeting and officially appointed at the January meeting. The committee members include Harv Schuboth, Tom Bedell and Betty Daniels, committee members at large, along with Southern Coos Health District board members Bob Hundhausen and David Allen. The committee is advisory and will review and recommend financial policies, goals and budgets that support the hospital.

Hospital foundation busy

The 2012 year-end report for the Southern Coos Hospital Foundation was submitted to the board. Thanks to many donations from the community and from area clubs, the Bree's Foundation, the Oregon Community Foundation, Devon's Boutique and the Human Bean, as well as individuals, the foundation was able to provide 50 mammograms to uninsured people.

Also from 2012 gifts, including from the Mildred and Harvey Mudd Foundation and the Mr. and Mrs. Michael Keiser Fund of the Oregon Community Foundation, the foundation was able to purchase new equipment to upgrade the tools used by health care professionals to serve residents, including a new Holter monitor to track cardio activity; bedside computer capability; a cardio-cap to measure vital signs while a person is undergoing surgery; a scanner and software that transfers earlier radiology reports to be read from other locations; three new Stryker stretchers; Lippincott's Nursing Solutions software to increase clinical knowledge, standardize care and ensure staff competence to improve patient outcomes; and provided a drive-through flu vaccination clinic, raising nearly $8,000 to cover most of the costs.

Elections

The terms of board members Bob Hundhausen and Marilyn Noorda expire in June. Elections for these two position are on May 21. Interested candidates must file with the county clerk by March 21. Noorda has indicated that she will not run for another term, but Hundhausen has not indicated his intentions.

Gas

development in that area.

It also would make the pipeline available to transport gas from the wells in the so-called Westport area south of Coos Bay.

Those wells, originally drilled by Methane Energy Corp., were acquired by Westport Energy LLC after MEC went bankrupt in 2008. They now belong to Carbonics Capital Corp., a New York-based company that acquired Westport Energy in 2010.

If the wells were connected to the county's pipeline, the county could get royalty payments, Daniels said.

But even the $24 million would bring the pipeline only to the north shore of the Coquille River. Bringing gas service to Bandon would involve an additional cost — one that Bandon's 3,000 residents have never agreed to pay.

In addition, the city of Bandon runs its own electric utility and natural gas would compete with that unless the city also ran that utility. The city opted out years ago from having natural gas in the area when NW Natural was expanding its territory.

"Given the costs of running the pipeline into town, I don't know that natural gas would be something the community wants," said City Manager Matt Winkel.

"We haven't heard of any big demand for natural gas and there has been no particular pressure to bring natural gas to the city of Bandon," he added. "I fail to see, on the surface of it, if there's enough benefits to justify the expense to the rate payers. There's more questions than answers."

Main said it's not clear what obligation the county has to bring gas to Bandon. He said the commissioners will seek advice on the subject from the county's bond counsel. If it turns out that the passage of the 1999 bond issue obligates the county to build the Bandon lateral, "We may have to go to a vote to say, 'Do we want to continue on with this?'"

The county owns the 12-inch pipeline and leases it to NW Natural. Main in the past has characterized the relationship as a break-even proposition. He'd like to see the county sell that pipeline.

A $125,000 item on the estimate would cover reconditioning the steel pipe, which the county has stored outdoors since 1999. Because it was stored without end caps, Daniels said, the pipe has rusted and would have to be sandblasted in California to be functional.

Daniels said the pipe is no longer under warranty, so the manufacturer will no longer guarantee its fitness for use. But, he said, the manufacturer said that if the pipe were sandblasted, it would meet the specifications for corrosion resistance of its new pipe.

NOTICE OF DEFAULT, ELECTION TO SELL, AND NOTICE OF SALE

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that the undersigned Trustee elects to foreclose the following Deed of Trust by advertisement and sale proceedings and to sell the property covered by the Deed of Trust to satisfy the obligations secured thereby:

Deed of Trust dated January 10, 2005, given by Clarence W. Schulze and Patricia J. Schulze, as tenants by the entirety, as Grantor to First American Title Insurance Company of Oregon as Trustee for the benefit of Umpqua Bank and recorded in the official records of Coos County, Oregon, on January 18, 2005, as Document No. 2005-819.

The present Beneficiary, Umpqua Bank, has appointed Ky Fullerton, an active member of the Oregon State Bar, as successor Trustee. The successor Trustee's mailing address is: MC 030-12-LEGL, 1 S.W. Columbia Street, Suite 1200, Portland, Oregon 97258.

The following property is covered by the Deed of Trust: See attached Exhibit "A," which is incorporated herein by reference.

The Beneficiary has directed the Trustee to foreclose the Deed of Trust as a result of the following default(s): Grantor's failure to comply with the terms of the various agreements relating to Grantor's loan(s) with Umpqua Bank, including but not limited to Grantor's failure to pay all sums due Umpqua Bank in connection with said loan(s).

The Beneficiary has declared the entire unpaid balance of all obligations secured by the Deed of Trust immediately due, owing, and payable, in the sum of $270,481.26 with interest at the applicable rate until paid, together with all costs, fees, future advances by the Beneficiary to protect its security interest, and other expenses allowed by law.

THE TRUSTEE WILL SELL THE DESCRIBED PROPERTY to satisfy the obligations secured by the Deed of Trust on April 10, 2013, at the hour of 12:00 p.m. based on the standard of time established by ORS 187.110 at the main entrance to the Coos County Courthouse,

Women's Health Day

Women partake of the healthy choices for lunch offered at the Southern Coos Health Foundation's 10th annual Women's Health Day Saturday at The Barn. The lunch was catered by Mother's Natural Foods and Deli.

Women's Health Day drew 85 participants Saturday to listen to several different speakers. Above, Dr. Sarah Kehl talks about allergies and their causes and treatment. Other speakers included Dr. Nicole Erenfeld on eye health, Lindi Quinn on getting organized and Stephanie Polizzi on healthy eating. Andrea Bowden of Masterpiece Fitness led stretching exercises.

Members of the Pacific Coast Corvette Club from Coos Bay said they drive down every year for the Lions Pancake Breakfast and Auction in Bandon.

Tigers end with losses

Bandon Western World

Bandon's basketball teams both ended the season with a pair of losses, dropping games at Coquille on Friday and Glide on Tuesday.

Bandon's girls continued their pattern for the year of close losses to the Red Devils and Wildcats.

They fell 43-35 at Coquille in a game decided in the closing minutes.

Raelyn Freitag had 13 points, Hailey Iverson added nine and Riley Wahl scored eight in the loss.

The Tigers lost to Glide 45-32 on Tuesday, after trailing just 19-18 at halftime.

Iverson had 12 points, Wahl 10 and Freitag eight for Bandon.

Freitag played the entire second half with an injured hand.

"It was basically a one-possession game most of the time," Duey said of the contest before Glide pulled away in the final minutes.

Bandon finished 4-8 in the Sunset Conference and 9-11 overall.

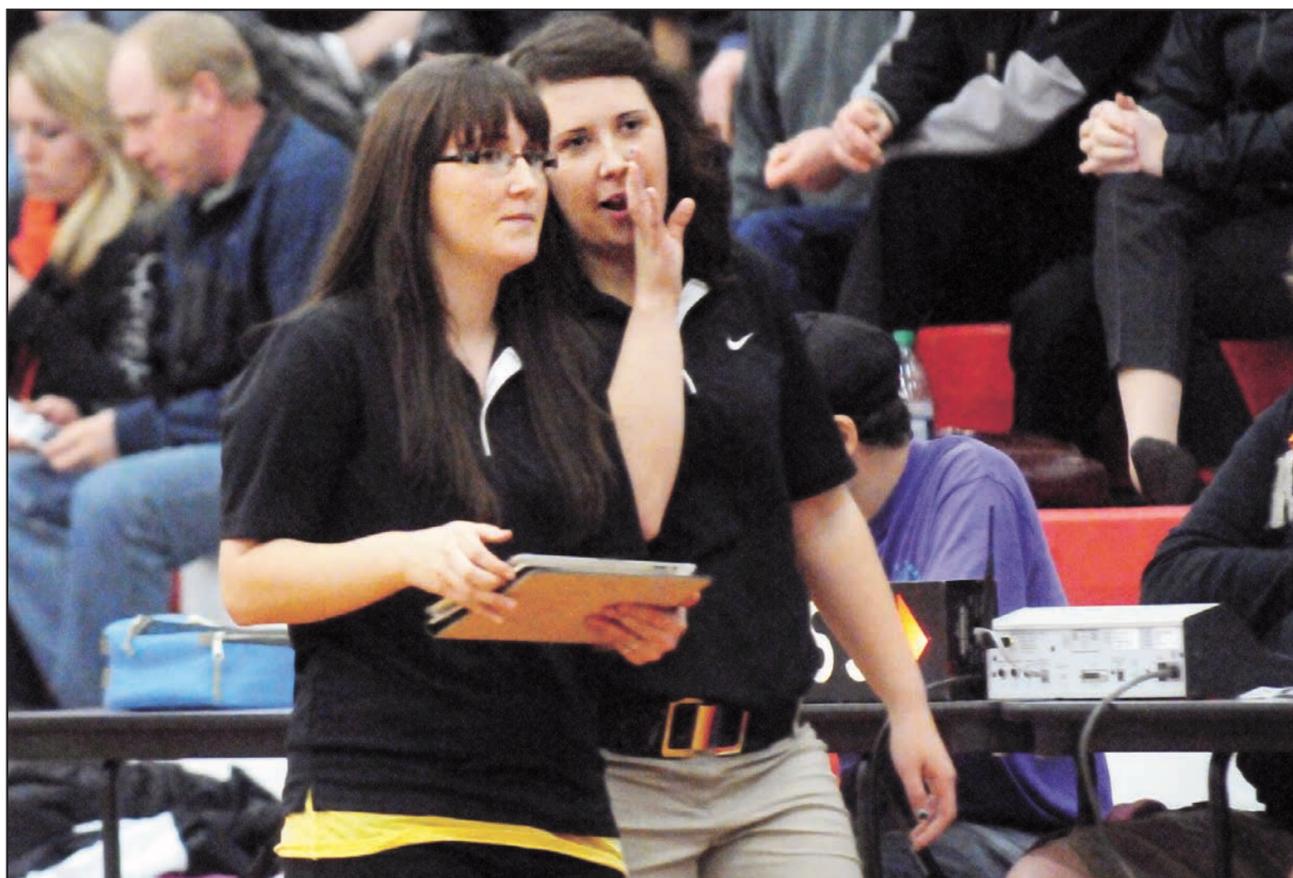

The Bandon boys had a strong defensive effort against Coquille in a 39-12 loss, but were undone by their scoring woes.

The Tigers gave up just 12 points in the middle two quarters, but scored only five themselves in the first three quarters.

Tristian Davidson scored seven points for the Tigers, but no other players scored more than two.

In the finale against Glide, Bandon lost 63-37. They trailed just 12-9 after the first quarter, but the Wildcats pulled away.

Logan Shea scored 18 points, Evan Henson added eight and Shawn Peters had seven for the Tigers, who finished the season with a 1-19 overall record.

Siblings guide Tigers into future

By John Gunther
Bandon Western World

Several years ago, a pair of sisters came through the Myrtle Point basketball program, helping continue the strong tradition the Bobcats had under coach Marty Stallard.

Now the sisters are one year into what they hope will become establishing a similar tradition in Bandon.

Amanda Duey and Krissy Chavez completed their first season with the Tigers on Tuesday when the Tigers lost at Glide.

"It was a good start to Krissy and my coaching career," said Duey, Bandon's head coach.

The year started abruptly. Duey was hired the week practice started after former coach Jeff Sutherlin resigned to pursue an opportunity outside the area.

Duey had volunteered one year at Myrtle Point and helped two years at Bandon following her own career. She graduated from Myrtle Point in 2005 and played two years at Umpqua Community College and two more at Oregon Institute of Technology.

Chavez, meanwhile, had no formal coaching experience.

"She recruited me," Chavez said of her older sister. "I've always come and helped out now and then. She said, 'If you're going to be here all the time, you might as well be the JV coach.'"

Chavez said both sisters benefited from their time playing under Stallard — they had one season together, when Krissy was a freshman.

"Playing under Marty, you learn a lot about the game and how to play it.

"I owe the world to Marty. I've learned so many things from him, even in regular things. I'm always 10 minutes early for work or anything I do. That's from Marty." Duey had similar thoughts.

"We have the same basketball mentality," she said. "We were in the same programs. We learned under the same people."

That primarily was Stallard.

"I hope that what we brought to Bandon will kind of show how we grew up and what we were taught," Chavez said.

The siblings were the Johnston sisters then. Three years ago, Krissy married Felipe Chavez and Amanda married Nathan Duey.

"Me and Amanda got married the same summer," Chavez said. "We almost gave my dad a heart attack."

They both ended up in Bandon.

Chavez is a pharmacy technician — "to pay the bills while I do other things," she said.

Duey is a stay-at-home mom for her 18-month-old daughter, Peyton.

She said she's thrilled the coaching opportunity came up.

"I loved it," Duey said. "I'm going to miss my girls a lot."

Though the season ended without a spot in the playoffs — the Sunset Conference got just one berth for the Class 3A postseason, and Glide won that — it was a successful year. Bandon finished 9-11 overall and 4-8 in the competitive hybrid league.

"I'm proud of our girls," Duey said. "I'm proud of our season."

"I hope the seniors had a memorable season."

They got a trophy (from the Oakland Christmas Tournament). We gave everybody a run for the money. In the past, we got beat by 20-plus points every night. This year teams had to show up to beat us."

Bandon won just one game a year ago.

"The girls should be proud of this season and all the sweat and tears they put into it," Duey said.

Now the sisters are hoping to continue building the program.

The next step is the summer basketball season.

"I'm so excited," Duey said, adding that time is for "a lot of strength building and knowledge of the game."

"During the season, you don't necessarily have time to break down everything that you want to. During the summer, you get the girls who really want to learn it. They have a passion for the game."

So do the sisters. "I've always been addicted to the game," Duey said. "From (the coaching) perspective, I'm loving every minute of it."

Chavez agreed.

"It's been a lot of fun," she said. "It went by way too fast."

Fish slow and deep for bass on Tenmile

Local lakes: A few large-mouth bass are starting to bite out at Tenmile Lakes in Lakeside. Anglers that fish the lake often have been having some success slow retrieving crank baits and sinking jerk baits. If you have a chance to get out on the lake, you are going to have to fish deep and slow. The bass are not very active in the 49-degree water, so getting your bait down to them is important.

The Frost Bite Bass Tournament is scheduled for Saturday, Feb. 23, out at Tenmile Lakes. For more information or an entry form you can Google EmeraldBassClub.com.

Trout fishing has been slow in local lakes mainly because of the cold water temperatures. Cathy from Ringo's Lakeside Marina told us that anglers trolling for holdover trout in Tenmile Lakes have been catching an occasional winter steelhead traveling through the lakes. Tenmile Lakes is open for adipose fin-clipped steelhead all year. Rainbow trout over 20 inches are considered steelhead from Jan. 1 until April 30, and Nov. 1 to Dec. 30. May 1 to Oct. 31 rainbow trout over 20 inches are considered trout and may be harvested 1 per day as per zone regulations.

The limit for largemouth bass in Tenmile Lakes is five per day under 15 inches. All bass 15 inches or over must be released.

Local rivers: There are plenty of winter steelhead opportunities on most South Coast rivers and streams. Look for most rivers to drop down to low and clear conditions this week with the dry forecast. Last week anglers plunking SpinGlos from the county boat launch near Coquille reported catching some nice winter steelhead.

The basic rule of thumb is to use larger SpinGlos in murkier water, and as the water drops and starts clearing, progressively downsizing to match the conditions. Drift fishing this time of year when steelhead have established their spawning redds and since their eggs are smaller than salmon eggs, you'll want to consider using smaller Corky's or SpinGlos in sized 12 to 14.

Using smaller baits will match the size of the egg that will be floating away from the steelhead redds, and will help in clear water conditions.

Pacific Ocean: Rough ocean conditions have kept sport boats from fishing the ocean in recent days.

Anglers have been doing well fishing for ling cod and rock fish inside the jetties at Coos Bay.

The international Pacific Halibut Commission set the annual allowable catch for the West Coast at the same level as last year. At a recent public meeting to discuss the date structure of the 2013 sport halibut fishery, the proposed was that the first "fixed day" period opens the second Thursday in May (May 9) for the central coast.

It will be open Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays. The dates need to be approved by several governing boards before they are finalized.

Area shellfish: Boaters crabbing in lower Coos Bay near Charleston are still reporting decent numbers of crab being taken. Bay clamming was excellent last week during the minus tide series in Coos Bay. Clammers took home plenty of gaper, butter and cockle clams.

Mussel harvesting remains closed on the beaches from Cape Arago to the California border because of elevated levels of paralytic shellfish toxin. The Oregon Dept. of Agriculture's shellfish safety hotline is toll free and provides the most current information regarding shellfish closures: 1-800-448-2474.
