kayak

Kayaking may be the ideal way to explore Tillamook County. “In a kayak, you sit low in the water, so you feel more a part of the environment,” said Marc Hinz, founder of Kayak Tillamook County, the area’s only kayak guide service. “And because you are so low in the water, you don’t scare off the wildlife as easily.”

A popular tour is the rarely explored backwaters of the North Fork, on the upper Nehalem River in north county. “There is a very extensive system of old-growth Sitkas up there and a network of forested sloughs. It is beautiful, but you can get lost without a guide,” Hinz said. Bald eagles are often sighted and, sometimes, beavers.

Hoquarton Slough is another popular area. Directed by a guide, groups paddle through the secluded old-growth Sitka spruce forest swamp that flows through downtown Tillamook.

Other tours, available for all skill levels, include the Tillamook River, Pacific City, Cape Meares Lake and Netarts Bay, which hosts colonies of harbor seals and marine bird life. For information about Kayak Tillamook, call (503) 866-4808, or visit kayaktillamook.com.

Kayak Rentals

For those who prefer to strike out on their own, there are several options around the county.

- Wheeler Marina, 278 Marine Drive, off U.S. Highway 101, Wheeler. Kayaks and kayak accessories for sale or rental. Call (503) 368-5780.

- Wheeler on the Bay Lodge, 580 Marine Drive, on U.S. Highway 101, Wheeler. Offers several one-way trips. They will drop you off up-river so you can float back down to the lodge. Call (503) 368-5858 or (800) 469-3204.

- Nehalem River Inn, 34910 Highway 53, Nehalem. Kayaks and bicycles for rent. Call (503) 368-7708 or (800) 368-6499, or e-mail info@river-inn.com.

- Ripple Run Resort and Marina in Nehalem. Kayaks for rent. Contact Ripple Run Resort & Marina, c/o Beach Break Rentals, P.O. Box 881, Manzanita, OR 97130, or call (877) 655-0623, or (503) 368-3865, or visit ripplerunresort.com.

- Pacific City Sporting Goods and Marina, 34650 Brooten Rd., Pacific City. Kayaks for sale and rental. Call (503) 965-6410.

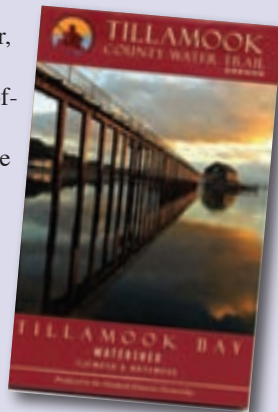

Pick up a guide book

The next time you head for north Tillamook County with paddling in mind, consider taking your cues from the Tillamook County Water Trail Nehalem guidebook.

The slender, waterproofed flip-brochure offers safety and planning advice for exploring the Nehalem watershed, including the river itself plus Nehalem Bay, along with maps that point out camping opportunities, restrooms, picnic areas, marinas, boat ramps and wildlife-viewing areas.

To learn more about the Nehalem Water Trail, or to order a copy of the guidebook, call (503) 322-2222.

Oswald West State Park

In 2008, Forbes Magazine named Oswald West State Park one of the World's 10 Most Secluded Beaches. It's no wonder.

Located north of Manzanita, Oswald West State Park provides access to the beach, the Cape Falcon Overlook and the Oregon Coast Trail.

Make sure to take in the view from the top of the Cape Falcon Overlook.

Parking areas are located just a quarter-mile from the beach. All of the trails to the beach are through a mature forest; one trail follows the winding path of the Short Sands creek.

At the end of the trails you'll find Short Sands beach, nestled in a cove surrounded by mountains and giving the feeling of total privacy. But you might not be completely alone – the beach is popular with surfboarders and boogie boarders.

VITAL STATS: Park is open year-round, but the campground is currently closed. Call (800) 551-6949 for information.

Nehalem Bay State Park

Nehalem Bay State Park – located three miles south of Manzanita off U.S. Highway 101 – is the only state park in Oregon with its own airstrip and associated fly-in campground.

A 1.75- mile bike trail circles the landing strip and offers a breathtaking view of the bay. Along this route and in the campground itself, you're likely to see deer, a herd of elk, or a coyote crossing the road.

There's a horse camp for those bringing their own horses. Crabbing and fishing are also popular on Nehalem Bay.

VITAL STATS: Fly-in camp (primitive sites) adjacent to airstrip. $5 daily day-use fee, or 12-month permit for $30 or 24-month permit for $50.

SERVICES: 284 electrical sites (maximum site 60 feet); 16 yurts for overnight stays; horse camp (17 sites with corrals); hiker/biker camp; fly-in camp adjacent to airstrip.

For information only, call (503) 368-5154 or (800) 551-6949. To make reservations, call (800) 452-5687.

The 160-acre oceanfront park is adjacent to the north side of the Barview Jetty.

fish, crab and clam

Boasting four bays, seven rivers and a host of lakes, Tillamook County is a dream come true for boaters, fishers, crabbers and clammers.

Netarts Bay and Tillamook Bay both offer excellent clamming. Principal species found include quahog, littleneck, cockle, and gaper. Geoducks and mussels may be found in Netarts Bay. (Note: There are some posted shellfish preserves in Netarts Bay where clams may not be taken.)

Be sure check the seasonal limits on clams. For information about current shellfish closures, go to the Oregon Department of Agriculture Web site at oregon.gov/ODA/FSD/shellfish_status.shtml.

Boat launching is available at marinas and boat rental facilities on the Nehalem and Netarts bays, on the Nehalem River and at Nehalem Bay State Park. The launching fees vary.

Don't forget your angling or shellfish license. Most boat rental and sporting goods outlets can provide them.

Nehalem Bay

At the north end of Tillamook County, Nehalem Bay attracts crabbers and anglers seeking fall chinook salmon. Perch, sturgeon and trout also are available to sports fishermen. Although the bay features ocean access, its bar can be extremely dangerous.

- Jetty Fishery is located off U.S. Highway 101 between Rockaway Beach and Wheeler, directly across from Nehalem Spit. Boat rental customers are permitted to beach their boats on the Nehalem Bay State Park spit for picnics and wildlife viewing. Crabbing is available off the dock. Call (503) 368-5746 or visit jettyfishery.com.

- Brighton Marina & RV Park rents boats and crabbing and fishing accessories. Its location near the mouth of Nehalem Bay affords great salmon fishing in season. The RV park on the waterfront offers wireless DSL, picnic tables and fire pits. Big rigs are welcome. A convenience store has food, clothing, fishing and crabbing bait, and an assortment of tackle. For more information, visit brightonmarinarv.com, or call (503) 368-5745.

- Wheeler Marina, 278 Marine Drive in downtown Wheeler, rents kayaks and motorized boats, and has kayaks and canoes for sale. The marina also has bait and tackle, crab cooking services and overnight or weekly moorage. Wheeler Marina operates all year. Hours from May 1 through mid-November are 6:30 a.m. to dusk seven days a week. For more information, visit neahkahnne.net/wheelermarina, or call (503) 368-5780.

Netarts Bay

- A little further south, Netarts Bay offers excellent sports fishing, clamming and crabbing. The bay is shallow, with numerous sandbars that are exposed at low tide. Very few boats cross the bar – and they do so only when the most favorable conditions exist.

- Netarts Bay RV Park and Marina, rents boats, motors and crab rings, and sells a broad range of equipment and supplies for the sportsman. Meeting and banquet rooms also available. For more information, e-mail info@netartsbay.com, go to www.netartsbay.com, or call (503) 842-7774. Reservations recommended.

- Big Spruce RV Park and Boat Rental, 4850 Netarts Highway West, rents boats, crab rings and clamming gear. For information or reservations, call (503) 842-7443 or (877) 651-9342.

Tillamook Bay

Tillamook Bay, located in central county, is the largest bay in the county. It offers a full range of fishing, clamming and crabbing. Plus, there are a variety of businesses to help you catch and enjoy the bounty of the ocean.

The bay is a large estuary fed by the Miami, Kilchis, Wilson, Trask and Tillamook rivers. It hosts a historical fall chinook fishery, but is fished throughout the year for sturgeon, spring chinook, steelhead and other fish species. It's also popular among crabbers.

It includes the Port of Garibaldi. Tide changes produce a strong current near the "jaws" of the port's jetties, so the bar can become extremely rough on short notice. Heed U.S. Coast Guard warnings and listen to weather reports.

When fishing near the tip of the south jetty, avoid getting close to shore or too near the jetty. The end is submerged and creates breakers that easily swamp boats. Inland, large areas of the bay become very shallow or exposed at low tide. Avoid being caught on them, or you'll have to wait for the next incoming tide.

And this is a working port: watch for commercial fishing boats.

- Garibaldi Marina, 302 Mooring Basin Road in the Port of Garibaldi, rents boats, crab rings, clam shovels and rakes. Boats are rented on incoming tides, depending upon weather conditions. Garibaldi Marina also offers crab cooking and a fish-cleaning table. The marina has moorage for visiting boat owners, too. For more information, call (503) 322-3312, or visit garibaldimarina.com.

- Nestucca Bay

- At the south end of the county, Nestucca Bay is less popular for tourists because of its continual shoaling and shifting of sandbars. However, the Nestucca River – one of the larger rivers on the Oregon coast – provides year-round salmon and steelhead fisheries.

- Much of the river is accessible by drift boat. Certain sections are good for novice operators, but others require more skill and may be impassible at low flows.

- Winter storms can drop debris into the river, so check with local bait shops for up-to-date information before launching.

Cape Meares Lighthouse is one of nearly a dozen beacons that dot the Oregon coast. It is located at Cape Meares State Scenic Viewpoint, 10 miles west of Tillamook at the north end of the Three Capes Scenic Loop.

The facility, perched on a 200-foot-tall headland, features the lighthouse, picnic areas, restrooms and nature trails. Visitors can scan offshore rocks for the annual whale migration or take in the nearby Three Arch Rocks National Wildlife Refuge.

An interpretive gift shop is located in what once was the workroom of the lighthouse. It features items related to lighthouses, the sea, wildlife and wildflowers. Donations and proceeds from the shop inside the lighthouse are used to enhance the park.

Sadly, in January 2010, vandals damaged the lighthouse's historic lens, which is no longer available for viewing.

The Cape Meares Lighthouse was commissioned Jan. 1, 1890 and decommissioned in 1963. The tower stands 38 feet high, making it the shortest lighthouse in Oregon.

Trees you must see:

The Cape Meares State Scenic Viewpoint also offers access to two of Oregon's most notable trees:

- The candelabra-shaped Octopus Tree is a large Sitka spruce several hundred feet south of the parking lot along a wheelchair-accessible trail. Tradition among local Native Americans suggests the tree once was used for burials. The Killamook Indians' custom was to shape the limbs of certain trees, forcing them to grow horizontally, in order to eventually hold canoes containing the dead.

Octopus Tree

- Oregon's largest Sitka spruce grows adjacent to the park, along a short trail off the main road. Located on land owned and managed by the U.S. Forest Service, the tree is 144 feet tall, with a circumference of 48 feet and an average crown spread of 93 feet. According to the Oregon Big Tree Registry, it is the largest of its species, as well as the third-largest tree overall in the state.

The Tillamook Air Museum is located inside one of the world's largest wooden clear-span structures, according to the Guinness Book of World Records. Stepping inside the cavernous hangar – used to house Naval blimps during World War II – is an awe-inspiring experience. The blimp hangar is 192 feet high, nearly 300 feet wide and 1,072 feet in length.

That's seven acres under one roof.

During World War II, the airbase was home to eight K-series airships. Today, it houses a collection of more than 30 World War II combat aircraft. The exhibit hall's "Home Front" display has examples of wartime ration books, photos and uniforms reflecting everyday life during the 1940s.

In the museum theater, you can watch a 20-minute video history of the Tillamook Air Station.

The gift shop is stocked with aircraft toys, clothes and memorabilia.

The Air Base Cafe offers lunch in a red-and-black 1950s atmosphere, with the jukebox playing Big-Band sounds from the 1940s and rock 'n' roll from the 1950s.

Experience the world of 18th-century sailing – in three dimensions – at the Garibaldi Maritime Museum. Dedicated to preserving the Pacific Northwest’s maritime heritage, the museum along U.S. Highway 101 in Garibaldi focuses primarily on Capt. Robert Gray, who commanded his sloop, the Lady Washington, into Tillamook Bay in 1788.

The stop was part of Gray’s famous voyage from Boston, where merchants had commissioned him to procure furs and eventually trade them for tea and silk in China.

A statue in Gray’s image at the edge of the museum’s parking lot beckons passersby.

Inside the museum, while they look at navigation instruments, photographs and artifacts, visitors will find a replica of the ship Lady Washington.

clude an 8-foot-tall reproduction of the Columbia’s figurehead, a half-model of the Columbia showing how the ship was provisioned for a long voyage, and reproductions of seafarers’ clothing and musical instruments.

Too, the Garibaldi Maritime Museum offers a bevy of maritime fact and lore, including why seafaring vessels measure their speeds in “knots.”

The city of Garibaldi’s history, including its seafood heritage, lumber mills and U.S. Coast Guard presence, is showcased as well.

Look for the restored bowsprit from the Morning Star II, the vessel built and sailed in the 1950s to commemorate Tillamook County’s first 100 years.

The summer of 2009 marked the debut of a 12-foot jolly boat replica, as well as a boatwright shop.

Summer is also the season during which museum staff and volunteers appear in 18th-century attire as reenactors.

The nonprofit Oregon Coast Scenic Railroad, based in Tillamook, regularly offers 90-minute steam locomotive trips between Garibaldi and Rockaway Beach that include time for passengers to disembark and explore.

Departing from Garibaldi, the vintage train chugs up the coastline, affording panoramic views of the Tillamook and Nehalem bays, before turning inland at Wheeler and snaking through the Nehalem River canyon.

The day-long excursion includes a minimum of three photo run-bys, as well as a picnic-style lunch at Nehalem Bay Winery.

Concessions are available for purchase on board the train. New this year is the addition of a 1925 American Locomotive, which was featured in the movie "Stand By Me."

Mild-mannered dogs are allowed in the open air cars.

Excursion season opens on Memorial Day weekend and trips continue through September. In June and September, the railroad runs excursions on weekends only.

Cost is $16 for adults and $9 for children (2 and younger are free). Reservations may be made by calling 503-842-7972 or visiting ocsr.net.

When Northwesterners think of cheese, they think of Tillamook Cheese. The Tillamook County Creamery Association, a dairy cooperative and makers of Tillamook Cheese, is known for its century-long history of producing premium quality and consistently delicious dairy products.

The Tillamook Cheese Factory, where guests can glance into the inner workings of the creamery, has long been one of Oregon's top tourist attractions, with nearly a million people visiting each year.

Guests at the Cheese Factory can take a self-guided tour that begins with a video presentation about the history of the cooperative. The tour proceeds upstairs, where they can learn more about TCCA's history, how the Tillamook brand was developed, and the company's commitment to quality from both its farmer-owners and the cooperative.

The tour ends at the cheese sampling counter, where guests can experience the delicious taste of Tillamook cheeses. The facility also hosts the Tillamook Ice Creamery, where guests can choose from 38 different flavors of Tillamook premium ice cream. A retail store is also on-site to purchase Tillamook products, as well as the Farm-house Café, where guests can enjoy grilled cheese sandwiches and many other deli item choices.

If you're a history buff – especially one with an interest in Oregon – the Tillamook County Pioneer Museum is a must-see destination. The three-story museum itself is a piece of local history. It was built in 1905 and served as Tillamook County's second courthouse for 30 years. Among the museum's most popular attractions are a blacksmith shop, replica of a forest fire lookout station, Victorian-era parlor and an early farm kitchen and cheesemaking equipment.

Other features include a pioneer barn workshop and home display, and a replica of the stump house occupied by Joseph Champion, the county's first white settler who arrived by boat in 1851. In the basement, visitors will find a 1907 Buick and the last stagecoach to make the mail run from Tillamook to Yamhill in 1911. Outside, there's a tribute to the county's logging industry, including a restored turn-of-the-20th-century steam donkey.

with food. He has been perfecting this craft for more than 15 years, which is long before the trend began nationally.

The Pacific City Dory Fleet

For decades, Pacific City has been home to one of the few dory fleets left on the West Coast. Dories are small, flat-bottomed boats capable of launching from and landing on the shore. They are noted for being fast, easy to handle and able to carry a lot of weight. Some are powered by inboard motors; others rely solely on oars.

Dories have been traced as far back in history as 300 A.D., when they were used as surf boats on the Arabian Sea. The Portuguese and Europeans used them for fishing as far away as Iceland and Newfoundland until the start of the 16th century.

Dories came into prominent use in Pacific City in the 1930s, after a state law was passed closing Nestucca Bay and its tributaries to commercial fishing. Using dories, commercial fishermen were able to launch directly into the surf off the beach near Haystack Rock, instead.

By 1976, there were some 450 dories in the fleet. Today, the fleet numbers about 300.

In 1959, Pacific City celebrated its first annual Dory Days Festival, an event that drew upwards of 10,000 visitors during its prime. The festival is still a key south Tillamook County event each year and features dory boat races, a parade, a fish fry and bazaar.

The Dory Days Festival

Sand Lake Recreation Area

Riders at all levels of experience will find challenges on the sand dunes north of Sandlake Estuary in south Tillamook County.

Sand Lake Recreation Area is 1,076 acres of open sand dunes surrounded by forests and adjacent to the Pacific Ocean.

The area is 6 miles north of Pacific City, between the Sand Lake Estuary on the south and Cape Lookout on the north. The staging area is popular with off-highway vehicle enthusiasts.

The dunes at Sand Lake are an example of an extensive parabola system. Parabola dunes are roughly U-shaped. They are developed from breaks, or “blowout,” occurring when wind attacks an unstable vegetated point at the edge of a coastal forest.

The dunes and deflation plain are actively moving in a northeasterly direction. Vegetation consisting primarily of European beach grass and shore pine is constantly changing.

There are four different fee-based campgrounds within the Sand Lake Recreation Area. They are: East Dunes Campground, West Winds Campground and Day Use Area, Sandbeach Campground, Derrick Road Dispersed Campground.

Be sure to get your permit – required in advance for Memorial Day, Fourth of July and Labor Day weekends – from the Hebo Ranger District. During these high-volume times, the number of permits is limited to 1,200.

Applications are accepted in person or by mail.

For more information or to order permit applications or copies of riding regulations, contact the Hebo Ranger District, P.O. Box 235, 31525 Hwy. 22, Hebo, OR 97122. Call (503) 392-3161.
