Dr. Brar visits JMA fifth-graders

Dr. Prabhdeep Brar visited with the JMA fifth grade class to share her knowledge about the skeletal system. The fifth grade has been studying the skeletal system and has learned the names of 20 bones. Brar shared information about the bones, muscles, cartilage and tendons. She shared how bones are connected and used throughout the body. Also, she shared information about the spinal cord and how the nervous system works. Pictured: Tristen Wilson, Elle Ethridge, Butler Dupree, Mr. Bones, Elizabeth Marsh, Dr. Brar and Kaleb Holland.

Blandy fifth-graders become 'Science Survivors'

Contributed photos

Mrs. Popes' fifth grade students at Blandy Hills Elementary have become 'Science Survivor' contestants! They work with a partner or team to complete the science-related tasks determining if a chemical or physical change has occurred. When they complete the task, they win immunity. Students enjoyed trying to melt the ice cubes and used creative materials and minds to help them.

Pre-K celebrates 100th day of school

Contributed photos

Mrs. Simons and Mrs. Johnson's pre-K classes had a great 100th day of school! They made crowns, went to the Exchange Bank where they exchanged 100 pennies for $1 and then went to the Dollar Tree to spend their money. They also dropped off 100 canned goods for the local food bank in honor of Dr. Martin Luther King. Pictured: The class at the Exchange Bank and with crowns; Joshua and Maci dropping off canned goods; and Averie, Eden, Jordon, Brenden and Brynlee with their purchases.
