

Cover crop usage in states bordering the Mississippi River

Mississippi River Basin states have steadily expanded cover crop use since 2012, though many farmers discontinue the practice after a year due to costs, timing pressures, and limited long-term support.

1.25M acres of cover crops

