

Lake Powell and Lake Mead supply water to roughly 40 million people

The reservoirs are fed by snow melt from the Rocky Mountains, but warmer, drier winters mean less meltwater reaches them.

