

Define Your Agricultural Injuries

People may identify agricultural injuries differently. This agricultural injury dashboard allows you to explore agricultural injuries based on your own definition. To begin, let's identify the following key aspects:

- Did the injury occur inside the farm or outside of the farm? (For example, a traffic incident would occur outside of a farm.)
- Are incidents that occur to non-workers part of the definition?

If you have restriction on the above, then select the filters below. In addition, you could select the range when the injury takes place and are they fatal or not.

Note: leaving the filters blank includes all the data options. (You only need filters if you want to limit the data type)
