Dance Competition Shakes Things Up

Candace Havens
FYI Television, Inc.

The dance series "So You Think You Can Dance," airing Wednesday at 7 p.m. on FOX, is a favorite summer staple for many viewers. Executive producer Nigel Lythgoe is aware that the audience likes the show to be a certain way, but they are changing things up a little this season by adding dance crews to the competition.

"Obviously we don't want to get in the way of the main competition," Lythgoe says. "So, this is going to be occurring over the audition shows. We're going to introduce two crews in each show and ask the public to tweet which crew out of the two that they would like to see in the studio. That's going to be presented by Justin Bieber."

"He's a huge 'So You Think You Can Dance' fan. Obviously he watched it in Canada and here in America, loves it and is going to be presenting that part of the show. We really do want to keep it separate from the individual competition. They will move on to the show and perform on the actual stage live."

That isn't the only change. The show is returning to the format where there will only be one winner. "We've been quite lenient in the past and said, 'Which is your favorite male, which is your favorite female?' But we're going to make America choose one," Lythgoe says.

The dancers, who often go off and find work once the show is done, aren't the only ones who benefit from having so much exposure. "I think something that we didn't originally realize is how it important it would be for the choreographers," Lythgoe says. "We focused on the dancers and what the dancers had to do but, of course, it's just as important for what the choreographers do. We sort of gave faces to choreographers, and we even led America to say 'choreographer' and pronounce it correctly. So, it had a major impact, I think, on choreography with wonderful choreographers like Mia Michaels, Sonya and Wade Robson involved. It just gives them much more commerciality because they can do so much more. So, from that point of view, it's always great to come down to New York and watch Broadway shows that the kids are in, whether it's 'After Midnight,' 'Newsies' or any of them as well."

Speaking of Broadway shows, Lythgoe is using the show to tie in to another project he's working on. "I'm going to be a part of the team that's producing 'An American in Paris' early next year. We're opening in Paris in November/December, and hopefully the winner of 'So You Think You Can Dance' will be offered a part in 'An American in Paris' as well. So, it all ties in at the end of the day."

The guest judges can sometimes be as fun as the contestants. There are a few people on Lythgoe's wish list that he'd like to have on the show some day. "I guess I would love people that sort of give us the creditability of dance like Baryshnikov," Lythgoe says. "Certainly in the ballroom field, Pierre Dulaine, who I've just done that movie with, 'Dancing in Jaffa.' He knows what he's talking about, and he knows what he's looking for. In the world of tap, it would've been great to have had Savion Glover on. You don't know how they're going to be as judges. They're wonderful in what they do, but how are they going to be as a judge? So, it's difficult really.

"I just love that revolving chair that gives us so many different people. We've just used Fabrice Calmels from the Joffrey Ballet, who is this 6-foot-5 ballet dancer. He was a really very nice and pleasant, and good-looking guy. Tara Lipinski, your Olympic gold medalist, was an absolutely terrific judge. So, you try people out. You don't have to have them every single week.

Misty Copeland came on as a judge. We had good people this year, I think, that came on and were honest in their critiques and entertaining, because at the end of the day we have to entertain people who are not necessarily interested in dance."

THIS WEEK'S BEST BETS

FRIDAY Crossbones

NBC, 9:01 p.m.

Blackbeard's (John Malkovich) plans are complicated when a popular pirate captain comes to Santa Compana and violently disagrees with his grand design for the rogue nation. For his master plan to survive, Blackbeard must weigh the risks of ridding himself of a dangerous old friend. Meanwhile, trying to gain insight to the Commodore's mysterious endgame, Tom Lowe (Richard Coyle) finds himself an unlikely instrument of Blackbeard's will.

SATURDAY Smurfs

ABC Family, 7 p.m.

When Papa Smurf (voiced by the late, great Jonathan Winters) and a handful of his little blue brethren find themselves transported through a mysterious vortex to New York City, he must somehow lead them back to their village before the evil Gargamel (Hank Azaria) catches up with them in the family-friendly live-action and animated adventure. Fortunately, the bumbling Band of Blue finds allies in the human couple of Patrick (Neil Patrick Harris) and Grace (Jayma Mays), but the complexities and sheer size of the Big City presents some overwhelming distractions.

The live-action cast also features fashion guru Tim Gunn and Latina bombshell Sofia Vergara, while the movie's voice talents include Fred Armisen, Alan Cumming, Jeff Foxworthy, George Lopez, B.J. Novak, Wolfgang Puck, Paul Reubens, Kenan Thompson, Anton Yelchin and Katy Perry as Smurfette.

SUNDAY The 68th Annual Tony Awards

CBS, 7 p.m.

Jessie Mueller is nominated as Best Musical Actress for her starring role in "Beautiful: The Carole King Musical," a Best Musical nominee telling the story of the prolific songwriter's rise to success from her teenage years, airing live from Radio City Music Hall in New York City.

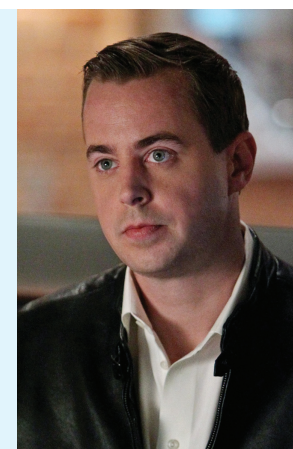

Filled with the beloved songs of King and her former writing partner, husband Gerry Goffin, "Beautiful" has also been nominated for Best Featured Actor (Jarrod Spector), Best Featured Actress (Anika Larsen), Best Book (Douglas McGrath), Best Orchestration (Steve Sidwell) and Best Sound Design (Brian Ronan). The "Tony Awards" welcomes actor Hugh Jackman back for his fourth stint as host. Previously, Jackman served as host from 2003-2005, earning an Emmy Award for his 2004 duties at the 58th annual ceremony, and an Emmy nomination for his 2005 appearance at the 59th annual ceremony.

MONDAY American Ninja Warrior

NBC, 8 p.m.

Jenn Brown and her co-hosts Matt Iseman and Akbar Gbaja Biamila head to St. Louis, Missouri, where competitors face such new obstacles as the Rope Junction into Cargo, the Double Tilted Ladder and the Crazy Cliffhanger. X Games gold medalist Kevin Robinson, motorcycle racer Dominic Anderson and "Ghost Adventures" host Nick Groff compete as former Olympic gymnast turned police officer Terin Humphrey returns for another shot at completing the course – and winning the cash prize of $500,000.

TUESDAY NCIS

CBS, 7 p.m.

An emotionally shaken McGee (Sean Murray) struggles to come to terms with the ramifications of the drone attack. Meanwhile, Gibbs (Mark Harmon) and the NCIS team attempt to track down one of the cohorts of the terrorist Parsa using evidence from the drone incident.

WEDNESDAY Motive

ABC, 9 p.m.

The questionable behavior of Sgt. Mark Cross (Warren Christie) earns the disapproval of Detective Angie Flynn (Kristin Lehman) on the ABC crime drama. Meanwhile, the homicide team investigates a case that hits close to home where the victim is one of their own.

THURSDAY Undateable

NBC, 8:01 p.m.

Justin (Brent Morin) expresses his feelings for Nicki (guest star Briga Heelan), but he doesn't get the reaction he expected. Danny tries to help but realizes his advice is wrong. Meanwhile, things get awkward between Burski and Leslie (Bianca Kajlich). And then at 8:30 p.m., Danny thinks Brett is ready to ask a guy out and convinces him to do so against Justin's better judgment. Meanwhile, Leslie and Sabrina (guest star Eva Amurri Martino) give Justin tips on how to be romantic.

Host Nation Brazil Favored to Win the 'World Cup'

Pete Stein
FYI Television, Inc.

Americans have been reluctant to embrace the world's game, but since the United States hosted the World Cup in 1994, interest in soccer has steadily grown. The increased appetite for soccer in the United States led FOX to outbid ESPN for the rights to televise the 2018 and 2022 World Cups, but ESPN is sparing no expense to present the "2014 FIFA World Cup," starting Thursday at 2:30 p.m., when host country Brazil and Croatia kick off the tournament.

Not only will ESPN present all 64 matches of the tournament live and in high-definition, but the network is planning extensive studio programming originating from Brazil.

ESPN will televise 43 matches, including Thursday's opener, and ESPN2 will air 11 games. ABC is slated to show 10 of the matches, culminating with the championship game on July 13 at 1:30 p.m.

The 2010 World Cup in South Africa was the most viewed in American television history, and ESPN snared three Sports Emmy Awards for its coverage of the tournament.

Alejandro Moreno, who had an 11-year career in Major League Soccer, will work as a match and studio analyst during this World Cup for ESPN. He is not surprised that Americans tune into the World Cup, but he would like to see the sport grow even more in the United States.

"I think people have the tendency to get excited about the World Cup every four years here in the United States," says Moreno. "For those of us that really enjoy this game, love this game, we would love for those people that are the casual fans to not only enjoy the World Cup but support their local teams."

Kasey Keller, the former U.S. goalkeeper and three-time U.S. Soccer Athlete of the Year, will also be commentating for ESPN in Brazil. Keller was a backup goalkeeper for the 1990 U.S. team that went to the World Cup in Italy after a 40-year absence. He was the only member of that squad playing for the United States in 2006, starting all of the World Cup matches in Germany, including a memorable 1-1 draw with Italy.

"We somehow found a way to get a draw against the future champions. It was a good day and a tremendous experience with the fans in Kaiserslautern, where there's 40,000 expatriates, and the stadium was split pretty evenly," recalls Keller.

If the former goalkeeper is uneasy about his role in this World Cup, it doesn't show. "It'll be a little bit nerve-racking," he says. "But in comparison to the prospect of letting a ball go between your legs, it's considerably less stressful."

To really make the ratings needle move into uncharted territory, ESPN will need the U.S. Men's National Team to do well in the tournament, but Moreno says that won't be easy with Ghana, Germany and Portugal in Group G along with the United States.

"They're playing in their group some of the best teams in the world, some of the best players in the world, and if they are able to work themselves out of that group, if they rely on the work of the collective unit rather than the individuality of other teams in their group, then maybe just maybe not only will they capture the imagination of U.S. fans, but they'll also capture the imagination of fans around the world."

The United States is being coached by Jurgen Klinsmann, who won the World Cup as a striker with West Germany in 1990 and managed the German National Team to a third-place finish in the 2006 World Cup.

"He's starting a process," says Keller. "It's a different way of doing things. He's trying to change a mentality in the player, trying to get them to understand that if you want to take it to a world level, you need to be a soccer player 24/7; everything you're doing is preparing to be a top player."

Keller says it's an interesting transition time for the U.S. Men's National team, but "there's some big question marks hanging over the U.S. going into this World Cup," he surmises. The United States is a longshot to win the World Cup in 2014, while Brazil is favored to win the coveted trophy for a sixth time. Argentina, Neymar and his teammates on the Brazilian National Team are favored to win the coveted trophy for a sixth time at the "2014 FIFA World Cup," beginning Thursday at 2:30 p.m. on ESPN.

Germany and Spain are also expected to be contenders for the world championship this year.

Moreno recognizes that casual fans, hardcore soccer aficionados and supporters of various nations will be tuning in to watch the action from Brazil. "I think it is important to acknowledge that there are different groups of people that will be watching our games, but in the end we call the games and paint a picture that is objective and insightful, and that really tells a very clear story about what's happening in a particular game or in the World Cup as a whole," says Moreno.

This will be the last chance ESPN has to broadcast one of the great spectacles in sport, for a while at least, but the network is hoping to set a standard that will be hard to follow.

Is There a Doctor in the House?

1. One of the cinema's most famous doctors, Dr. Frankenstein was played the most times by this distinguished British actor.
2. That actor also made a couple of feature films in which he starred as this very different type of doctor, a time-traveler exploring the universe in a blue phone booth, who has been played on TV by 11 different performers so far.
3. Time travel also figures in this hit comedy film franchise about a hip British secret agent from the Swingin' Sixties who is brought to modern times, its star and creator also playing this out-of-touch arch-nemesis of the spy.

4. Speaking of arch-nemeses, this doctor was the human foil for the greatest vampire of all in the movies and Bram Stoker's source novel, "Dracula."

5. That character – often played by the actor in question one – was depicted as a hunter of all monsters in a 2004 action thriller named for him, with this "X-Men" star in the lead role.

Toronto Mayor Rob Ford's car was involved in a DUI. Somehow a woman named LeAnne McRobb wound up in his car. You know what a McRobb is? It's half Rob Ford, half McRib.

This Rob Ford is something else. His car gets pulled over for DUI even when he's not in it. It's over. The machines have won. I mean, for God's sake, Rob Ford's Cadillac Escalade is drunk.

Jimmy Fallon

Fans of "The Price is Right" got angry at President Obama yesterday because a speech he was giving interrupted the show. So let me fill them in on what they missed: Three people you don't know got called down, and they were extremely happy about it. That's all you missed.

Craig Ferguson

On this day in 1897, Bram Stoker's "Dracula" was published. Happy birthday, Dracula! You know who else's birthday it is? Lenny Kravitz. Dracula and Lenny Kravitz are very different, of course. One's an elegantly dressed scoundrel who swoops into my dreams at night and bites me on the neck. And the other one: Dracula.

SOAP OPERA REVIEW

THE BOLD AND THE BEAUTIFUL

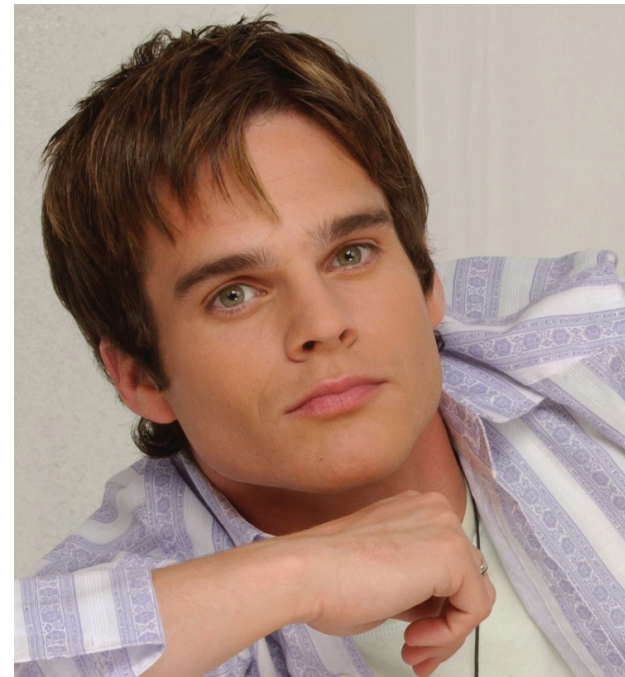

Brooke looked on as a terrible accident occurred over the Persian Gulf. Katie left Ridge a voicemail when she got a feeling that something bad had happened. Liam tried to convince Hope that Quinn and Wyatt were not good people. The Forrester and Logan families gathered to mourn the loss of Ridge. A master manipulator and his pilot discussed their role in the accident. Hope was shocked to see Wyatt's violent side when he punched Liam. Katie and Eric remained a rock for each other on their way to Abu Dhabi. Hope made a big decision about her love life. Wait to See: Maya keeps a cautious watch over Aly and Oliver. Eric has a change of heart, but it might be too late. Accusatory fingers point to Quinn.

DAYS OF OUR LIVES

Several lives were changed forever as Nick's murderer was revealed. Eric confronted Nicole over her deception. Jennifer pondered the fallout of her decision. Sami ripped into a stunned Jordan while defending Rafe. Marlena learned a shocking secret about a family member. An emotional Nicole made a final plea to Eric for his forgiveness. Brady lost it when John tried to come between him and Theresa. Nick's murderer prepared for a life in prison but had one last confession to make. Ben was alarmed when Paige recognized him. An emotional Hope broke down in Aiden's arms. Brady and John's fight spun out of control right in front of Theresa. Wait to See: Abigail learns of a long-buried secret. Bev sets up Paige for a fall. Gabi was surprised by Kate's compassion.

GENERAL HOSPITAL

Julian assured Lucas that he would protect him. Alexis had some troubling news to tell Molly about Ric. Nikolas comforted a distraught Elizabeth. Patrick and Sabrina wondered if the car accident was intentional. Sam and Silas found a new level of intimacy. Nathan deliberated on whether to tell Silas about Nina being alive. Molly had her suspicions regarding Julian.

Greg Rikaart stars as "Kevin" on "The Young and the Restless."

At the end of the day, Danny's birthday party was filled with surprises. Nathan provided moral support for Maxie at her custody meeting. A shocked Carly and a brazen Ava got into a fiery altercation. Sonny begged Morgan to forgive him for sleeping with Ava. Sam confided in Alexis about her relationship. Carly had a proposition for the artistically frustrated Franco. Wait to See: Julian questions his loyalty to the mob. Jordan must make an important decision. Sonny and Ava continue to taunt each other.

THE YOUNG AND THE RESTLESS

Billy asked Kevin to dig into Stitch's past. Victoria thanked Chelsea for keeping her secret but asked her to stay away from Billy. Victor found out that Victoria is pregnant. Tyler ignored Mariah's urgent text message. Sharon informed Dr. Mead about the date of her traffic ticket, hoping that he could unlock her memory. Cane planned an elaborate scavenger hunt for Lily on her birthday. Avery cautioned Summer not to get involved with Austin. Lily was still upset about Neil dating Hilary. Jill and Colin looked for information on Katherine's necklace. Tyler tried to win Abby back with a romantic gesture. After sharing a surprise kiss with Nikki, Victor asked her to move back in with him. Wait to See: Avery confronts Ian. Abby still has trouble trusting Tyler. Billy begs Chelsea to keep Stitch away from Victoria.
