Connick Still Loving the Gig

Candace Havens
FYI Television, Inc.

Between his music and his acting career, Harry Connick Jr. is a busy guy. He still spends a great deal of time on the road touring, and he didn't necessarily need to return as a judge to "American Idol XIV," airing Wednesday at 7 p.m. on FOX. He likes working with fellow judges Jennifer Lopez and Keith Urban and host Ryan Seacrest, but for Connick, it is about the music.

"I wanted to come back and do 'Idol' after my first year," Connick says, "primarily because of how much fun I had. It's a great chance to sit and listen to amazing young performers and do a little bit to help sort of mold their decisions and careers. It's a great opportunity, and I am having a really good time."

Of the three judges, Connick is a bit tougher, but he always gives constructive criticism. "I think being a fair judge kind of comes down to just that, being fair," he says. "I think you have to be spontaneous. I think it's important to be honest and focus very intently on the person that's in front of you, and if you really clear your mind and listen and feel, almost invariably you will come up with something to say that will be of help to them."

The audience doesn't always appreciate his opinion, but he takes it all in stride. The booing has become a regular part of his life. "When I go into a Starbucks and order a latte, people start booing me," Connick says. "I think things like that happen a lot more."

One of the more positive moves the producers made this season will help contestants with their careers, and Connick approves. "There have been a lot of changes on 'Idol' from year to year, and I think there are some substantial ones this year," says Connick. "One of the bigger changes was the addition of Scott Borchetta, who is a really talented music industry professional who knows a lot about what it takes to go from point A to point B. A lot of people have this amazing opportunity on 'American Idol' to launch their careers, but many times they don't know what to do. What kind of records do you make? Who do you call to get a manager or agent? There are all of these kinds of questions and he is really good at that. I mean, he did it with Taylor Swift. The whole 'Idol' team is excited to have him."

There are other mentors Connick would like to see on the show. "I think about Kim Burrell, who is a great gospel singer, and Kelli O'Hara, who is a great Broadway singer," he says. "You think about Prince, Stevie Wonder and people like that. There are a ton of people who would be awesome."

The show has always been youth-centric, but this year the judges are looking for performers who might be professionally and emotionally ready for the platform the show provides.

"We have seen some amazing talent this year - it is always interesting," Connick says. "As much experience as I have in show business, you still have first impressions. Sometimes people will come into the room and your first impression is 'Wow, I wonder if they're going to be any good,' or 'Boy, this person just looks like they can sing,' and sometimes it's exactly the opposite. I love being surprised by that and I think the viewers will be surprised, too. Sometimes they're going to hear voices coming out of people and it is just going to blow them away."

"After we do the auditions in the six cities, we go to Hollywood Week, and we narrow down the contestants to 48 or so," he continues. "Hollywood Week is where they get up and do all kinds of performances. We have 10 of them on stage, and each will step forward to sing one at a time. Then there is a group round where they have to get together in groups of three or four and pick a song, arrange a song, choreograph it and perform it in a very short amount of time. Eventually we whittle that group down to 24, and that is the group that we will see live in late February. It's important that they are ready for what is about to happen."

There was one final reason that Connick decided to return to the reality competition. "I think it comes across on camera that we have a really good time," he says of Lopez, Urban and Seacrest. "A lot of times when we take a lunch break or something, we all sit around and talk about our families and what we did over the weekend or vacation. It's a nice environment and maybe people don't really know that because Jen, Keith, Ryan and I all have busy lives, but when we are on set a lot of times we have a chance to kind of relax and talk to each other. It is pretty cool and a great group of people."

Epic Movies

- Among feature films of sweeping scope and spectacle is this beloved classic from the Golden Age of Hollywood, a memorable tale of romance set during the Civil War and the Reconstruction Era of the Old South.
- Inspired by ancient myths and classical science fiction, this space opera saga of 1977 has already spawned two trilogies, with more films on the way.
- The title of this 1966 Spaghetti Western refers to a bandit and two bounty hunters who become rivals in the search for a buried cache of Confederate gold.

- Launched in 2001, this film trilogy corresponds to a popular work of fantasy literature that began as a sequel to the author's earlier novel, which later became a film trilogy itself.
- This hit trilogy about a Sicilian crime family won a total of nine Academy Awards, with the second edition winning twice as many Oscars as the first.
- Winning five Oscars, this historical medieval war drama of 1995 recounted the First War of Scottish Independence.
- History's most famous maritime disaster served as the backdrop for the romantic drama of this 1997 winner of 11 Academy Awards.

Laugh Along w/ LateNight

Jimmy Fallon

According to a new study, people with certain names tend to work in the same profession. Many women named Susan are hairdressers. Women named Janet tend to be scientists. Guys named Bobby are race-car drivers, Eleanor for librarians and, apparently, Jimmy for talk-show hosts.

Jimmy Kimmel

The flu season is especially bad this season. Ground zero for most disease is that electronic stylus attached to the credit card swiper at stores. I'm not a germ freak, but why would we all touch that thing? They are filled with bacteria. They should store them in that blue liquid they have at the barber shop.

Conan O'Brien

California's 74-year-old Senator Barbara Boxer announced she will not run for re-election in 2016. When I saw the headline "74-Year-Old Boxer," I assumed they were making another "Rocky" movie.

Seth Meyers

New research shows that thousands of homes are robbed every year because people hide their house keys in obvious places. So, make sure you hide them where no one looks, like on your middle child.

Moments in Time

On Feb. 1, 1885, John Taylor, the president of the Mormon Latter-day Saints Church, goes "underground" to avoid arrest and continue resisting federal demands for polygamy. Taylor had at least seven wives. Although the Mormons wanted freedom from outside interference, they also sought the benefits of being a part of the United States. Inevitably, these two goals conflicted.

On Jan. 30, 1920, Toyo Cork Kogyo, a Japanese cork business, is formed. A decade later, the company produced its first vehicle and changed its name to Mazda. The Mazda-Go was a three-wheeled truck that resembled a motorcycle with a cargo-carrier at the back.

On Jan. 31, 1945, Pvt. Eddie Slovik becomes the first American soldier since the Civil War to be executed for desertion. Slovik was originally classified 4-F because of a prison record, but was reclassified 1-A when draft standards were lowered. In 1944, he was trained to be a rifleman, which was not to his liking, as he hated guns.

On Jan. 28, 1959, the Green Bay Packers of the National Football League sign Vince Lombardi to a five-year contract as the team's coach and general manager. The Brooklyn-born Lombardi played college football at Fordham University as a guard on the offensive line, dubbed the "Seven Blocks of Granite."

On Jan. 29, 1964, Stanley Kubrick's black comic masterpiece "Dr. Strangelove" opens in theaters to both critical and popular acclaim. The movie focused on the actions of a rogue U.S. military officer who believed that communists are threatening the "precious bodily fluids" of Americans.
