The Great River Race

"It sounds like a really intense event," Abby said.

"It is," Laura replied, "but these are elite athletes. Two of the racers, as an example, were just awarded a Guinness World record for finishing the Mississippi River in the shortest time ever."

We were discussing The Great Alabama 650, the world's longest annual paddle race, which brought the elite athletes Laura mentioned down the Coosa River and through Logan Martin Lake in late September.

"Another racer has led a National Geographic-backed expedition down the Amazon River," she continued, "and another competed without a lateral muscle after it was used to reconstruct her breast after cancer. Just the grit that these people have and the will to push themselves through a challenge and see it to the end is something to admire and watch."

Laura serves as communications director for the Alabama Scenic River Trail, the state's more than 6,000-mile mapped river trail system. The Great Alabama 650 took place on the trail's core section, extending from the Appalachian foothills in northeast Alabama down through alligator country in the Gulf of Mexico.

"Very impressive," Abby said. "How many days does it take to navigate that?"

"Racers have 10 days to finish," Laura answered. "There are no sleeping requirements, and the athletes have to spend their time on the water in kayak, canoe, or stand-up paddleboard. The entire 650-mile race course has been completed in as few as six days."

"I regret that our deadline didn't allow us to get the results of this year's race in the October issue," I said. "But, as always, Laura, we appreciate you keeping us informed about it."

"My pleasure," she said. "At the Scenic River Trail, we love letting people know that, right here in Alabama, we have this wonderful adventure-style course that brings racers from all over the country to riverbanks in Pell City, not to mention Gadsden, Wetumpka, Selma, and Fairhope."

Laura was at Logan Martin to promote the race at the same time Abby Hathorn was here to discuss Lakeside Living's annual fall fashion report, which she has contributed to the October issue for the past five years.

You'll find Abby's 2021 autumn style update as full of personality as it usually is, and it has the perfect accompaniment in the superb photography of Bob Crisp and Tucker Webb. We appreciate the many lakeside area boutiques and clothiers who worked with us this year to bring this special issue to you.

Also in this issue, you'll meet Emma Terry (the recently crowned Miss Alabama's Outstanding Teen), visit the shoreline home of weekenders Jason and Laura Clark, learn about some colorful wildflowers that can be seen around the lake, and consider some menu ideas for your college football game day plans. And there's plenty more.

Thank you for spending your October with Lakeside Living. We're happy that you choose to make Logan Martin's original magazine a regular part of your

Stay shallow for October bass

ALTHOUGH HOT DAYS STILL HOLD STEADY, FALL IS FINALLY NEAR.

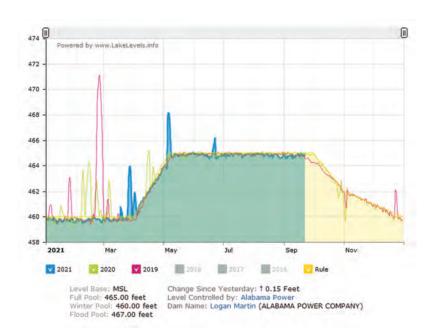

Cool nights cause drastic changes in bass and other game fish species. As water temperatures drop in late September and early October, look to the shallows for action-packed feeding.

Focus on major feeder creeks for success in mid-fall. Bass will migrate to these areas to chase baitfish and food sources. Target grass, wood targets, docks and any visible cover in creek arms. You truly can't fish too shallow this time of year.

Shallow diving crank baits and spinnerbaits are great choices for October. Reactions baits work best to catch these aggressive fish. Don't be afraid to throw Pop R-style top water baits. Bass will often bust (surface schooling) during the fall months, so always keeper a eye out for surface schoolers.

College football isn't the only thing hitting hard in the month of October. Get out and enjoy the pull of an October bass!

Fall Fashion Report

Discover this season's hottest looks with a distinctive Southern twang

Written by Abigail Hathorn Photographed by Bob Crisp and Tucker Webb

Fall in the South holds a special place in my heart because it's the gateway to cooler weather, pumpkin picking, and baking beloved heirloom desserts. I mean, come on — it's fall y'all!

It's time to start decorating our front yards with cute autumn decor and brightly colored mums, and, of course, preparing our wardrobes for the new season. The captivating colors of the changing leaves combined with a

Two words — trend renaissance. The racks are filled with spectacular fad rebirths from the 70s and 90s, and not to mention, the revival of early 2000s accessories. Cable-knit is back, and not just for sweaters. Historically worn by fishermen, cable-knit sweaters have come a long way over the years. Their cozy vibes and chunky details make them a autumn staple that can effortlessly transition into winter. While cable-knit might be synonymous with sweaters, it's also trending on skirts, dresses, scarves and other accessories this fall. you don't hear me complaining). Bright, bold, and beautiful colors are one of the easiest ways to express personality through fashion. As you create ensembles following this fad, ask yourself: What color was I obsessed with as a kid? What colors have I been too afraid to wear because they were bright? What bold colors make me smile? Wear cobalt blue everything, combine team colors for a cute tailgating outfit, or incorporate pops of saturated hues in your everyday office attire — you seriously cannot go wrong with this trend!

cute-grandpa vibes. This knitted classic should be a staple in your wardrobe this fall. Pair an argyle sweater vest with a button down and khakis for an easy look that can take you from work to date night. If patterns aren't really your thing, you can still work this trend. 'Beautiful cars and wonderful people'

The Gateway to Logan
Martin Lake hosts third annual LMLPA auto show

Written by Taylor MitchellPhotographed by Bob Crisp

Few events can bring people together like a car show can, and the Logan Martin Lake Protection Association brought that sense of community to Lakeside Park when it staged its third annual show last month.

Director Johnny Capps said the show featured 185 cars, trucks and antique boats, and a big crowd turned out to see them. "It was a great show. We had beautiful cars and wonderful people to go with them."

The event benefited the LMLPA's solar powered buoy program, which places buoys on areas of Lake Logan Martin that are hard to navigate. To date, the organization has placed 50 buoys.

"We want to thank everyone who came to the show and donated to the buoy programs,"

Capps said.

He added that the vehicle expo, which was held Sept. 11, began with a special salute to veterans and first responders, and this year was the first for the event to feature antique boats along with its traditional focus on trucks and cars.

"We had eight registered antique boats there, and they were absolutely stunning," Capps said, adding that anyone who didn't get a chance to see them missed something very special. He thanked the city of Pell City for allowing the LMLPA to host the show at Lakeside Park and gave special thanks to Parks and Recreation Director Bubba Edge and Civic Center Manager Valerie Painter for their help in setting everything up. He also thanked the Pell City Fire Department, which was on site and whose members set up a large American flag with their ladder truck.

BEAUTIFUL BLOOMS BRIGHTEN THE LAKESIDE LANDSCAPE

Written by SUSAN COOK Photographed by TIM BADGWELL

I spent two days trying to identify the name of a flower.

In my search, I downloaded two flower ID apps which gave me two different results. I asked Tim, who had also tried two identification apps after photographing the flowers and had the same results.

I even called my mother.

No one, not even the internet, knew quite what the pink flower with the furled petals in its center was. The final consensus was that it is a type of zinnia, known as Giant-Almost-Dahlias. If only the German botanist Johann Gottfried Zinn was here (for whom the zinnia was named)--maybe he would know.

But my two-day search was not a total loss. I learned that the whipped cream white flower, along with the sunset orange and feathery fuschia ones pictured here, are definitely zinnias. All three blooms even sport matching dainty yellow flowers at their centers, as if announcing to the world that they are related.

Distinguished primarily as Zinnia Elegans (a.k.a.Elegant Zinnia), these flowers are also known by the name of Youth and Age because they bloom from springtime to autumn. Since they are one of the longest blooming flowers, zinnias have come to symbolize endurance, a quality that the hummingbirds particularly appreciate. But the name Youth and Age could also stem from the fact that some zinnias span only one inch across while others grow as large as seven. You might have encountered an eight-inch tall zinnia, but these flowers can even grow up to four feet in height.

Once I had gone down the zinnia research rabbit hole, my obsession with discovering the names of the rest of these late-blooming fall flowers grew.

With its five scarlet red petals, the star-shaped flower blooming on the vine is known as a Cardinal Climber, which is a hybrid cross between a Cypress Vine and a Morning Glory. Its bright blooms appear in midsummer and continue to blossom until the first frost frightens them away.

Another showstopper vine that blooms late into the fall is Crossvine. Its fluted yellow and orange flowers are hard to miss, looking like a garland of Halloween candy corn strung up a tree. Growing 50 or more feet long, Crossvine got its name from the cross-shaped pattern inside the stem when it's cut. My favorite discovery? The blooms are said to smell like mocha.

My last search led me to discover Brazilian Vervain, the name of the stalky plant tipped with tiny violet flowers. Also called Swamp Verbena, a decidedly less elegant name, this plant thrives along roadsides and near water. But it's also known by yet another name: Herb-on-the-Cross. In ancient times, vervain was considered a sacred plant and believed to be the herb used to treat Christ's wounds on the cross.

After two days of delving into discovering the roots of these plant names, I've learned quite a lot. Mainly, I've learned that humans like to name things, often after other human beings, as in the case of the zinnia.

But I also realized that in our zeal to name and classify, it's easy to lose sight of the beauty blooming right in front of us. Stop and smell the mocha-scented vines, notice the ancient elegance growing along a roadside, and plant those zinnias you've been saving in a packet for more than a year. Flowers brighten and bring life to our days in all sorts of ways, whether or not we know their names.

"My ideal day by the lake? Let's see," Emma Terry said as she walked along the private shoreline at Palm Tree Villa Cove. "I would love to have a chair by the water with some relaxing music playing, and I'd sit there reading a book.
I feel very calm, comfortable, and refreshed
when I'm by the water."

Emma was spending an evening at Logan Martin after a day of classes at the University of Alabama at Birmingham, where the 19-year-old studies accounting and finance. "This is the perfect place to be after a busy day," she continued.

As a first-year college student, down time was at a premium for her, even before she was crowned Miss Alabama's Outstanding Teen.

"It's been a very busy schedule, but this is a job I have wanted for so long," Emma said. "I'm a fourth-generation Leeds girl and a proud graduate of Leeds High School. My previous Outstanding Teen local preliminary title was Miss Leeds Area's Outstanding Teen, and due to the pandemic I was able to hold that title for two years. It was an honor and blessing to be able to represent my hometown, and now I am incredibly grateful to have the opportunity to represent my hometown and the entire state as Miss Alabama's Outstanding Teen. I'm so grateful to have this opportunity to make a difference."

Amid the palm trees, banana trees, and cacti, she discussed her social impact initiative, explained the purpose of the Miss America Organization, and identified ways in which the organization benefits young women.

Her journey to the state title: "I placed first runner-up to Marcelle LeBlanc at the state competition in March of 2020. Since the pandemic shut everything down, Marcelle's national competition was delayed a year. However, she competed at Miss America's Outstanding Teen this past July and won. I assumed her role as Miss Alabama's Outstanding Teen and will finish out the year and crown the next winner in March. However, I will be attending Miss America to cheer on our fabulous Miss Alabama, Lauren Bradford.

When she learned she'd been named Miss Alabama's Outstanding Teen: "I was truly at a loss for words. The feeling is indescribable. At first I was shocked and couldn't believe it, then I was just overjoyed and incredibly grateful for the opportunity to represent the state. I received the call from Nan Teninbaum, the executive director of Miss Alabama, and Anita Walker, director of Miss Alabama's Outstanding Teen, while I was in the car with my grandmother, so it was extra special that she was there with me at that moment."

About the organization: "The number-one mission of the Miss America Organization is to provide scholarships to young women to help them further their education. It is one of the largest providers of scholarships to young women in the United States. Thanks to the scholarships I've already received through the organization, I'm attending UAB debtfree."

What she has learned from her association with the Miss Alabama Organization: "I have gained life skills that I otherwise would not have had the opportunity to develop. The interpersonal skills I have gained by participating in this organization are things I will be able to utilize throughout the rest of my life. This program transformed me from a shy little girl with no confidence to a young woman who has goals and dreams."

Her social impact initiative: Stomping Out ALS One Step at a Time. "Its purpose is to increase awareness and funding for the Alabama ALS Association. ALS is a progressive neurodegenerative disease that affects nerve cells in the brain and spinal cord. It slowly robs a person of their independence. Imagine not being able to such things as brush your teeth or walk to the kitchen to make yourself a sandwich. ALS takes away a person's ability to do those simple things. It's a truly terrible disease."

Emma's grandfather, Stewart Simpson, was diagnosed with ALS "a little before I was born, and he's been battling it ever since. The average life expectancy after diagnosis is two to five years, so he has really fought. It's been heartbreaking, and that's why I work so hard to support finding the cure we so desperately need."

For more information about ALS: "You can go to my website, stompingoutalsonestepatatime.com, and the Alabama ALS Association website, als.org/alabama.

The best advice she ever received: "I had the opportunity to meet Timothy Alexander, a motivational speaker and former UAB football player. His story is truly inspiring. He was in a terrible car accident and was paralyzed from the waist down and was told he would never be independent again. To that, he said 'We don't need it to be easy. We just need it to be possible.' His story showed me that no matter what obstacles I might face in life, I can overcome them with determination and perseverance."

How she describes herself: "Three words -effervescent, optimistic, and fastidious. I have a bright, bubbly personality, and I always look for the positive."

How she describes her style: "One word -- athleisure. I love my cute yet comfortable clothes."

If she were stranded on the hypothetical desert island with one meal, one book, and one music playlist: "The meal I would be would have to be Fancy Nancy, my favorite chicken salad from Chicken Salad Chick. It is delicious, and I could eat it every day. One book I would want to be stranded with is called Prisoners of Geography by Tim Marshall. It is about geopolitics and incredibly interesting. For music, I would have to go with the classics from the 70s and 80s because classics never die."

Another food she could eat every day: "My grandmother's cornbread. Cornbread is a Southern staple, and my grandmother's is the best."

What makes her laugh: "My dogs. We have a standard poodle and rescue. They are the best of friends, and their antics never fail to make me laugh."

Three things she can't live without: "My toothbrush, computer, and ballet. Of course I could not go without my toothbrush for obvious reasons. My computer I need for school. Ballet is a way for me to express myself and take care of my mental and physical health. It is something I try to do everyday, and no matter what is going on in my life, dancing always makes me feel better."

Homewood residents enjoy escaping to the tranquility of Logan Martin

For Jason and Laura Clark, time at their lake home is all about family

Written by FAITH DORNPhotographed by TUCKER WEBB

aura and Jason Clark are part-time Logan Martin Lake residents along with their children Mathew, age 12, and Mary Elizabeth, age 10, and Shug, a 10-yearold Cocker Spaniel mix and Cooper, a oneyear-old mixed breed dog advertised as a Wheaten Terrier by a rescue group.

"Shug is a rescue dog whose name was originally Sugar Bear, but my husband was adamant that no dog of his would be named Sugar Bear, so he renamed Shug after 'Shug' Jordan," Laura said.

The Clarks live in Homewood full-time and enjoy taking time on weekends to reconnect with each other at the lake. Shug and Cooper have a difference of opinion on their favorite lake activity.

"Shug does not like the boat. Cooper loves the boat and hates swimming," Laura explained.

Jason and Laura were high school sweethearts who went their separate ways after high school. The couple married about 20 years after they first met.

"It was always a dream of mine to have a reprieve or vacation home we could enjoy as a family," Laura said. "Times when we have the children are precious, and with technology and sports and everything else, I wanted us to have the opportunity to reconnect as a family unit. I felt doing that in a place that was beautiful and allowed for recreation would be good for our family, and I wanted it to be close enough to Birmingham for the children to get to activities on weekends."

The Clarks started looking at potential lake home locations. Being from north Alabama, Laura was very familiar with Smith Lake, and Jason's family wanted them to look at Logan Martin.

"Smith Lake has some really steep terrain, and that ended up being a reason we scratched it off the list because we wanted our parents to be able to visit us," Laura said, "Hands down, the convenience of Logan Martin made it ideal for us."

The 2,000-square-foot home that is now the Clarks' lake house sits on a flat one-acre lot in a slough. The openness of the home appealed to Laura, and the stack stone fireplace caught Jason's eye.

"We may not have given a lot of thought to how much maintenance is required for an acre of property," Laura said with a laugh.

She enjoys the contrast of styles between their primary residence and the lake house.

"What draws me in the most is that the home we live in currently in Homewood was built in 1938, so it does not have the open style we have at the lake. It is really an ideal home for entertaining because of the openness and flow."

Laura and her father used to shop together for antiques, and after he passed away in 2013, she and her sister inherited antiques from him.

DEVILED EGGS

Who doesn't love a deviled egg? It's a classic starter, and there are plenty of flavorful and colorful versions of the recipe. Avocado with a touch of citrus; bacon and cheddar), and classic topped with caviar are some of the tasty variations of the beloved appetizer and snack.

Prep Time: 40 minutes Cook Time: 20 minutes Yield: 18 half eggs

Ingredients

- 9 large hard boiled eggs, peeled
- 3/4 cup mayonnaise
- 1 avocado
- 1 tsp. lemon juice
- 4/5 oz. bacon
- 3 oz. grated cheddar cheese
- 1 tsp. Dijon mustard
- 2 tbsp. unsalted butter, at room temperature
- ½ tsp. cayenne pepper
- 2 tsp. paprika
- 3 tsp. caviar
- Salt and pepper, to taste
- Fresh Parsley, chopped, for garnish

Directions

1.Cut the eggs in half. Remove the yolk, and set aside the whites in a bowl with clean water. Puree the yolks and divide intro three batches.

2. For Avocado Citrus Deviled Eggs: Drain 6 eggs whites over a paper towel until dry. Peel and slice avocado into thin slices. Take 3 slices, cut into small triangles, spritz with lemon juice and reserve. With a blender, puree the rest of the avocado with the lemon juice, salt and pepper. Add the egg yolk, 1/4 cup of mayo and blend until smooth. Transfer the mix into a piping bag and pipe into the egg whites. Garnish with avocado triangles and fresh parsley. 3. For Bacon and Cheddar Deviled Eggs: Drain 6 eggs whites over a paper towel until dry. Fry the bacon until crispy, pat dry with paper towels. Reserve 3 pieces for garnish and chop the rest, finely. Reserve 1 ½ tbsp. grated cheddar for garnish. Mix the egg yolks from the second bowl with ¼ cup mayonnaise, chopped bacon, the remaining cheddar and mustard. Transfer the mix into a piping bag and pipe into the egg white halves. Sprinkle with remaining chopped bacon and grated cheddar. 4. For Caviar-topped Deviled Eggs: Drain 6 eggs whites over a paper towel until dry. Blend the final batch of egg yolks with butter, ¼ cup mayonnaise, cayenne and paprika. Transfer into piping bag and pipe into the egg white halves. Finish with ½ tsp. caviar on the top.

VENISON CHILI

There's something about the heartiness of chili that makes it a perfect dish to eat while tailgating or watching football at home. This recipe can be served with a scoop of sour cream and a handful of shredded cheddar for a hearty, comforting dish that's ideal for autumn.

Prep Time: 45 minutes

Cook Time: 1 hour 30 minutes

Yield: Serves 6

Ingredients

- 0.5 lb black beans
- 1 large chopped onion
- 3 chopped garlic cloves
- 4 tbsp. extra virgin olive oil
- 1 lb ground venison meat
- 0.3 lb Italian sausage (or Chorizo)
- Salt and black pepper
- 1 tsp. coriander (can be ground)
- 1 tsp. cumin
- 2 chopped dried chilies
- 1 tbsp. paprika
- 2 tbsp. tomato paste
- Vegetable stock, as needed
- Cilantro leaves for garnish
- 1 cup shredded cheddar (optional)
- 1 cup sour cream or cream fraiche (optional)

Directions

- 1. Start by covering the black beans with boiling water in a bowl and covering. When the water cools down, drain and add more boiling water. Repeat twice more. Drain and boil the beans in a pan with a good amount of water until they're tender. Drain and reserve.
- 2. In a large saute pan (with lid, which you'll use later), heat 2 tbsp. olive oil over high heat, and saute the chopped onions and garlic for 4-6 until they onions are tender and translucent.
- 3. Add in the venison and sausage, mix and stir with a wooden spoon, then season with salt and pepper, and add the coriander, cumin, chilies, paprika and tomato paste. Give it a good stir then add the vegetable stock, covering completely. Bring to a boil and then lower heat and simmer until the stock is reduced by approximately half, 20-30 minutes.
- 4. Incorporate more vegetable stock and add the cooked beans, then cook for another half hour. Once ready, garnish with cilantro, a sprinkle of shredded cheddar and a scoop of scour cream and serve.

WAGYU BEEF AND BLUE CHEESE SLIDERS

At tailgates and gameday parties, sliders are always a hit. They're easy to make, versatile, and fun to eat, and this recipe elevates the small sandwich to a whole new level.

Ingredients

For the Sliders

- 1½ lbs. ground Wagyu beef
- 1 medium white onion, finely chopped
- 1 tbsp. chopped parsley
- 1 tbsp. olive oil
- 12 small buns
- salt and pepper to taste

For the Toppings

- 2 oz. blue cheese, crumbled
- 8 cherry tomatoes
- ½ white onion, sliced
- ½ tbsp. olive oil
- 1 tsp. sugar
- 1 tsp. vinegar
- 4 crispy smoked bacon slices
- 4 tbsp. mayonnaise
- A bunch of small parsley leaves

Directions

- 1. Using a wooden spoon or spatula, mix the ground meat in a bowl with chopped onion, parsley and 1 table spoon olive oil. Season with salt and pepper to taste
- 2. Knead the mix with your hands for one minute. This will help achieve great texture.
- 3. Divide the mixture in 12 parts, of about 2 oz each. Shape them into discs burgers and place them on a tray on top of parchment paper. Freeze the tray for half an hour prior to cooking.
- 4. Start the grill, and once it's hot, cook the burgers 3 to 5 minutes on each side, until desired doneness.

- 5. Halve the cherry tomatoes and sauté in a pan with ½ tbsps. olive oil. Set aside.
- 6. Slice the $\frac{1}{2}$ white onion and caramelize in a pan with olive oil, sugar and vinegar. Set aside for later.
- 7. Mix the mayo with the parsley.
- 8. Arrange the burgers on top of the buns, and top with blue cheese, seared tomatoes, caramelized onions, bacon and mayo (optional).

BLACK TRUFFLE FRIES

An ideal accompaniment to the sliders or the recipe that follows, truffle fries are a delicious side item full of flavor and sophistication.

Prep Time: 10 minutes Cook Time: 10 minutes

Ingredients

- 2 Russet potatoes, clean and julienned
- peanut oil
- 2 tbsp. black truffle oil
- Truffle salt

Directions

- 1. Fry the potatoes in peanut oil until golden brown and crispy. Do it in small batches, placing them over paper towels to absorb oil.
- 2. Coat an aluminum bowl with truffle oil, making sure you coat the edges. Toss the fries into the bowl, coating with oil, season with truffle salt and serve.

PORK RIBS WITH DIY BARBEQUE SAUCE

This recipe for tender and delicious pork back ribs doesn't call for long marinades is a savory addition to a game day menu. Just the right amount of time on the grill, and you have mouthwatering, fall-of-the-bone ribs. Plus, a delicious and easy homemade barbecue sauce that keeps in the fridge for up to two weeks.

Prep Time: 30 minutes Cook Time: 2 hours Yield: 6 servings

Ingredients

For the BBQ Sauce

- 8 small peeled and de-seeded tomatoes, diced
- 2 garlic cloves, chopped
- 1/3 cup muscovado sugar
- 1/4 cup red wine vinegar
- 1 ½ cup of water
- 1 tbsp. Worcestershire sauce
- ½ tbsp. smoked paprika
- 1 tsp. smoked maldon salt
- ½ tsp. fresh ground black pepper

For the Ribs

- 2 back ribs whole, about 3 lbs.
- Water spray

Directions

1. Bring the bbq sauce ingredients to a boil in a saucepan at medium heat, then lower and simmer for about 6 to 8 minutes.

2. Allow to cool and blend with a hand mixer. Reserve.

3. Trim any excess fat from ribs and remove the membrane.

4.Fire up the grill to maximum heat and place the racks bones side down. Cook on medium indirect heat for 30 minutes on each side. Brush the bone side with the barbecue sauce every few minutes. Spray with water ever 15 minutes or so.

5. Place on a cutting board and cover with a lid or metal foil. Allow to rest for 5 minutes before slicing and serving.

Filling

- 1 1/2 cups sugar
- 3/4 cup salted butter (melted)
- 1/3 cup all-purpose flour
- 1/3 cup 100% cocoa powder
- 1 tbsp. honey or corn syrup
- 1 tsp. vanilla extract
- 3 large eggs
- 1 cup toasted chopped pecans

Salted Caramel Topping

- 3/4 cup sugar
- 1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice
- 1/4 cup water
- 1/3 cup heavy cream
- 4 tablespoons butter
- 1/4 teaspoon table salt
- 3 cups toasted pecan halves
- 1/2 teaspoon sea salt optional

Directions

Pastry

- 1. Make the pastry by putting all the ingredients into a food processor with a paddle attachment and processing until the dough separates from the walls of the bowl. Add water as needed.
- 2. Remove and place in a plastic bag and put into the fridge to rest for 1 hour.
- 3. Roll out the pastry to at least ¼ inch thick, and line two 8-inch round pans.
- 4. Let rest in the freezer for 15 minutes.
- 5. Preheat the oven to 400 F.
- 6. Blind bake the tart crust: line it with parchment paper or aluminum foil and weight it down with beans or pastry weights and bake at 400F for about 15 to 20 minutes. Remove from the oven and reserve to cool.

Filling

- 1. Turn oven down to 350 F.
- 2. Stir together sugar, butter, flour, cocoa, corn syrup, and vanilla extract in a large bowl. Add eggs and whip with a wire whisk until everything well blended. Add chopped pecans, mix, and pour into the 2 pie shells.
- 3. Bake at 350°F for 35 to 40 minutes. You will find that the filling seems uncooked but it thickens as it cools on the wire rack. Caramel
- 1. Bring the sugar, lemon juice and water to boil in a saucepan. Be sure not to stir the mixture, just swirl the pot from time to time. Watch for the sugar to change color to a nice brown for 8 minutes or until dark amber.
- 2. Remove from heat and add cream and butter. Continuously stir the mixture until boiling stops and all ingredients are mixed. Stir in table salt.
- 3. Arrange pecan halves on top of the chocolate filling. Top the pecans with the caramel mixture.

Optional: Let the pie cool for 15-30 minutes before sprinkling the sea salt on top. The caramel mixture will thicken and keep the pecans in place.

Lakeside property brings Mediterranean vibes to Logan Martin

Written by VALLEAN JACKSON Photographed by BOB CRISP

Prospective home buyers looking for a modern Mediterranean style home on Logan Martin Lake will want to see 508 Lindy Circle in Pell City.

The single-family home boasts wonderful landscaping, was constructed in 1997, and is situated on 1.81 acres. It has four bedrooms, four full bathrooms, and one half bath within its 3,575-square-foot interior.

The spacious living area features arched frames, columns, tiled floors, a tray ceiling with recessed lighting, a ceiling fan, and a floor-to-ceiling window that allows for plenty of natural light.

The tiled flooring continues into the kitchen, which has large glass doors, ample windows looking out on the in-ground swimming pool in the backyard, a wall statue, white cabinets, granite countertops, stainless steel built-in appliances, a double oven, recessed lighting, an island at the center with a built in flattop, and a large breakfast bar that's perfect for family meals.

A distinctive feature about this home is the master bedroom with its master bathroom that features cathedral windows, spiral columns, and a whirlpool bathtub with three overhead shower heads.

Exterior amenities include a private boat house, fenced yard, sprinkler system, patio, private dock, builtin grill, porch, storage building, Jacuzzi, boat parking, and RV parking.

The property lists at $1,400,000. For more information, call Maria Price of RE/MAX Souther Homes at 205-812-4921.

ERA King agent enjoys helping clients start new chapters of their lives

organ Munn understands what it is like to start a new chapter in life.

"Before becoming a real estate agent, I sold parts for John Deere tractors for 12 years, and before that I decorated cakes for a living," she said. "However, one of my quilty pleasures every night was staying up and looking at houses online. I have always had a love for houses and with the encouragement of my family I finally decided to make a change."

Now an agent with ERA King, she couldn't be happier. "Deciding to become an agent is one of the best decisions I have made."

Munn believes in being honest and working diligently with her clients to ensure that they are satisfied. She also believes in being fully committed to each client. "When it comes to one of my favorite selling experiences, it has to be when an offer gets accepted and the joy it brings my clients."

Munn said that one of the reasons her family encouraged her to be an agent is not just because of her passion for it, but they knew she would be a perfect fit. She doesn't meet a stranger and loves talking to people. "One of the biggest rewards I take from being an agent is helping people find their home and being a part of giving them the start to their next chapter."

While she wants the best outcome for everyone, "I know it can not always turn out that way. When clients get denied, I truly take it personally and despise having to be the barrier of bad news, but I believe in giving it my all before having to do so because I care just that much."

Asked what advice she would give to prospective home buyers, she said that patience is of foremost importance. Secondly, she encourages asking as many questions as needed and to always get a home inspection. "That is a super big one. It is very important for buyers to always have a home inspection done."

Munn, who holds a degree in business administration from Faulkner University, is a native and resident of Talladega. When not showing homes, she enjoys bowling, 5k runs (she recently signed up for her first 10k at Disney World for 2022) and spending time with her pets.
