City of Athens, OH
Request for Bid of Refuse and Recycling Services

Section 2      Background Information

2.1      General

The City of Athens is located along the Hocking River in southeast Ohio. The city contains the junction of US Route 50, US Route 32 and US Route 33. The city is also the home of Ohio University, a major college campus with over 22,000 students. The city has a population of 23,832 according to the 2010 census.

2.2      Specific History and Current Information

The city is soliciting requests for bids for the purpose of managing solid waste and recycling collection and processing services for all city related operations, with service beginning July 1, 2019. These services include the collection and processing of all landfilled waste and recycling for all residential housing, a geographically delineated franchise area and numerous special events that occur on an annual basis. The city is seeking to build upon existing solid waste and recycling collection systems in effort to achieve all future waste related diversion and minimization goals.

For purposes of this bid the terms “standard recycling” and “standard single-stream recycling” are defined to include at minimum paper, cardboard, pasteboard, steel, aluminum, plastic and glass.

Currently, The city waste management efforts in the franchise area is accomplished with a combination of rear-loader dumpsters for trash and cardboard, 1 and 2 yard tilt carts for cardboard and Rubbermaid “Tote” style bins for “standard” recycling collection. The current recycling system is multi-streamed. Residential collection is two-fold. Refuse material is picked up at the curb in containers of the customer’s choice. Recycling is collected from standardized bins in which the customer manages material sorting. Materials are collected with a combination of rear loader packer trucks for landfill and cardboard as well as flat-bed trucks with custom compartments for manual loading of separated recycling categories. As detailed below, The city is accepting bids from qualified applicants to ensure all standard recycling operations are serviced as single-stream in an effort to simplify and standardize collection systems.

The city has existing collection and recycling systems for categories including but not limited to E-Waste; discs and data; lightbulbs; batteries; toner cartridges; Styrofoam packaging; books; confidential materials; scrap metal; yard waste; and systems of donation. The city will accept recommendations for collection processes that would accommodate one or more of these efforts in addition to the single stream recycling collection/processing and food waste/composting, though it is not a requirement of a bid submission.

As the city desires to become a Zero Waste community, a sustainability-focused waste management plan is integral to the overall success of the city’s commitment to reducing solid waste and increasing waste diversion. The city defines sustainability as the ability to meet the needs of the present without compromising the ability of future generations to meet their needs. The core tenet of sustainability at the city is the concept of the “triple bottom line” of Economy, Environment and Equity. The city is requiring that all future efforts associated with waste management processes successfully address the triple bottom line. Successful respondents to this bid will address how their program offerings positively impact each aspect of the triple bottom line and should include at minimum:

1. Economy: impact on local jobs, contributions to local community and long-term investment in the region.

City of Athens, OH
Request for Bid of Refuse and Recycling Services

2. Environment: projected carbon footprint of waste management operations associated with services to the city and efforts taken to offset this footprint in support of the city's efforts toward carbon neutrality. This assessment should include miles driven per service day, type of fuel utilized, offsets associated with operations, landfill contributions, etc. The city may utilize the CarbonMAP online calculator.
3. Equity: it is imperative that the issue of regional environmental impact be addressed in any bid response. The successful respondent will supply information regarding downstream outlets and processing efforts engaged with each commodity collected and how that process impacts the region to which it is sent.

The City of Athens community extends well beyond the residential and franchise areas. Ohio University's Athens Campus has over 22,000 students, plus 1,194 faculty members and 2,411 staff members. Ohio University manages a housing system of 42 residence halls that house nearly 8,000 students during the academic year. That equates to approximately 35% of the student population. The vast majority of the remaining 65% of the student population, staff and faculty live off campus yet within the city and surrounding counties. Numerous employers and employees that work in the city commute from surrounding cities and counties. For purposes of this bid please consider the "greater City of Athens community" to include all daily members of our city.

Additionally, the city is a driving force within the Athens Hocking Solid Waste District (AHSWD) efforts to meet EPA required recycling and waste reduction benchmarks as well as other educational and operational goals. The successful respondent will address how in partnership, their services may assist in providing waste related, waste reduction and recycling opportunities throughout the city, the AHSWD, the "greater City of Athens community" and the SE Ohio region.
