Fairbury lost many seniors off last year's team that finished with a winning record of 5-4. They do, however, return several key starters on both sides of the ball. They return four starters on the offensive line, including two year starter Domenic Hyson. Those linemen will be paving the way for Brody Kroll, who rushed for 548 yards last year. Zane Grizzle figures to be the quarterback this season after being a full- year starter last year. Josh Robertson will be a threat in the aerial attack for the Jefts. On defense, Kazz Hyson returns to the defensive line after registering 40 tackles as a sophomore. Robertson and Grizzle will also be key defensively.

2020 outlook
The Fairbury softball team is coming off a Class C State Championship in 2019. They lost a few offensive weapons off that team, including Jaimi Mans, Raven DeFries, Claire Shumard and Cora DeBello. They return a list of key players from last year’s championship squad, including two year starting third baseman Britteny Wentz, two year starting first baseman Marlee Biehl, two year starting pitcher/catcher Jami Mans and two year starting catcher Ellie Ohlde, two year starting outfielder Josi Mans and one year starting outfield Jordan Tracy.

“We will still be solid defensively, but we will have some shoes to fill on the offensive side of the game,” said head coach Taylor Biehl. “We lost two .300 hitters and two more mid to upper .300 hitters.”

Biehl said their schedule has plenty of challenges that will prepare them for the postseason.

“Our goal would be to have a season first off, but said. “The next goal would be to make another run for a state title.”

Adaline Lincott, Ellie Livingston, Talya Carnavals, Jayden Tracy, Candy Sipk, Brittiane Kroeker, Colee Cobe, Lilly Hunter, Avery Koch, Madison Biehl, Madison Ohlde, Gemma Taylor, Stormie DeFries, Jami Mans and two-year starting pitcher Jami Mans and two-year starting catcher Ellie Ohlde, two-year starting outfielder Josi Mans and one-year starting outfield Jordan Tracy.

Fairbury will have the same work ethic and great senior leadership as previous years, so the runners will be familiar with all the courses.

“Our goal is to be very competitive throughout the season,” Stone said. “We will see some great competition at every meet and if we consistently turn in competitive team scores and individual times, we will be where we need to be for the district and state meet.”

Fairbury will be led by Riley Wood, their lone senior boy. “He has worked very hard over the last five years and over the summer,” Stone said.

“Riley will be our number one runner and he is a great role model for the team.”

2020 outlook

The Freeman Falcons return six offensive and six defensive starters from last year’s team that finished 2-7.

They will welcome the return of Holder-Ross, who head coach Travis Anderson considers the best athlete in school. He missed last season due to injury, but he’ll be back at quarterback and linebacker this season.

Continue Sagedorn also missed most of last season due to injury. He is the fastest kid at Freeman and he is playing running back and defensive back.

Wyatt Carve returns at wide receiver after leading the Falcons with 164 receiving yards last year. Brody Dickson figures to anchor the offensive and defensive line.

Freeman transitions back to eight-man football this year after being one of the smaller teams in Class C2 last year.

“Many of our players have grown up playing 11-man and we will have to learn the subtle differences in the strategic part of the game,” Anderson said. “Also, we will be playing new opponents and new schemes, so there will be an adjustment figuring out ways to defend our 11-man calls in eight-man.”

The Falcon volleyball team is hoping the experience they gained last year will result in more wins this season.

The Lady Falcons return five starters and seven total letter winners from last year’s team. Returning starters include senior setter Brooklyn Ideas, seniors Taylor Anderson, senior outside hitter Auden Dorn, sophomore outside hitter Kylee Boyer and sophomore right side hitter Lea Winkle.

2020 outlook

The Freeman softball team loses six seniors off a team that finished with an impressive 20-10 record in 2019. Despite the lost seniors, Freeman does return some experience and has also gained several new faces.

Head coach Cassie Muir said the girls are entering the season with a positive attitude. “Our small goal is to not let one error multiply into many errors,” Muir said. “Our main goal is for these girls to have fun and have good work ethic.”

2020 outlook

“The Homeland Table Rock-Stanwood football team won their first two games, but finished the season with six-straight losses. Lack of depth was the biggest factor as the Titans finished the season just 1-6. TRLS but just one key player off that team in quarterback Isaiah Lockard. Key returners include Dru Rodgers, K痃nthorpe, Ashen Worthing, and Jaden Monroy. "This is our second year and all of these guys played a team last year against good competition and got better as the season progressed," said TRLS head coach Caleb Lempka. "They gave us a three-headed backfield that should ease some match ups this year." Andy Schlaffer, Arie Stiver and Hunter Frewin will give TRLS experience and some new faces.

“Tara Zimmerling and Mikkayla Fyock are New.”

The Homeland Table Rock-Stanwood girls golf team, which won state last year with Sarah Helms, graduated their two-time state qualifier Caleb Frey. Head coach Matthew Helms said this year, the team has a good mix of age groups on the team with some returning experience and some new faces.

“We will have three returning varsity players from last year’s team in Grace Shafer, Tara Zimmerling and Mikayla Fyock,” Helms said. “I am very excited to see who steps up to that leadership role.”

Helms is also hoping some of the incoming freshmen can provide competition and even some opportunities.

“We have some first-year golfers on the team and they have already improved a bunch over the first couple of weeks,” Helms said. “It will be interesting to see how they end up by the end of the season. The full season is so short and it goes fast, so we always just hope to end the year playing better than we started.”

“Tara Zimmerling and Mikayla Fyock were first year players last year, so we are excited to see what they can do this year. We have some returning players from last year’s state qualifying team. "The fall season is so short, you want to make sure you’re giving the best effort every time you play," said TRLS head coach Kara Engles said the team’s strength will be their offense.

“We have several girls that can put the ball away for us," Engles said. "Unfortunately right now, our biggest weakness is our defense and back digging. If we don’t improve, we won’t be able to get the ball to our hitters.”

Engles said the team has a challenging schedule, including potentially several matches against defending state champion El Dorado.

"We hope to play in the championship of every tournament we play in. Our biggest goal is to improve throughout the season and peak at the right time.”

The Johnson County Central cross country team sent two runners to the state meet last season and one of those runners returns this season.

Junior Ashlei McConald returns as a three time state medalist who also won a state championship in the 3,200-meter run in track.

On the boys side JCC returns three runners in senior Jason Kettelhake and sophomores Hayden Huskeby and Aiden Weber.

“They will be important leaders on the team for the new runners this year,” said head coach Nick Weber.

JCC’s strength is they have runners with experience who know the courses they’ll be running on. Their biggest weakness, though, is they don’t have a large team.

“We lost some runners from last year and we don’t have a lot of extra runners if someone gets injured or sick,” Weber said.

JCC has a competitive schedule, but Weber hopes that will prepare them for districts.

“Our goal is to finish in the top three in our conference and in the top three at state,” Weber said. “Individually, each athlete has a personal goal they are striving to meet by the end of the season.”

The Johnson County Central girls golf team is low on numbers, but head coach Ben Swanson said that will allow more opportunities for the girls who are playing.

Junior Kaita Baird is the team’s top player from the district tournament last year. She is the team’s most experienced player as the rest of the team just has one year of experience. She will be joined by Kaita Baird and Anzel du Preez.

“Our goals for the season are to learn the rules of the game, gain a better understanding of managing ourselves on the course and of course getting some individual medals and team plaques,” Swanson said.

Lewiston returns four starters on both sides of the ball and they hope their experience will result in more wins in 2020.

Assistant coach Whitney Atkins says of the returning seniors, "They are up to the challenge. They are hungry to improve. They do lack depth, though, which will be the team's weakness.

Lewiston will have the task of replacing Levi Methfond and Daniel Gonzalez, who were lost to graduation.

Defensively, Gonzalez and Jared Knapp were some of the team's top tacklers last year. Sophomore Ty Arenas figures to anchor the offensive and defensive lines.

"We showed our youth often last year and lost some close games," Knapp said. "Despite our record, last year was great experience for our six returning letterwinners."

Lewiston lost one senior in Garett Christian, who was one of their best players. They return Meagan Gonzalez and Tristen Gonzalez, who led the team in tackles. Kailey Sandy's returns to her normal position at outside hitter. She led the team in assists last year as the setter.

Carleigh Weyers will be a key player for the Lady Tigers this year, but Gonzalez can take snaps if the team's weakness.

Things will be different for the Meridian football team in 2020. Not only will they have a new coach for the first time in 15 years, they will also be dropping to six-man football.

John Adam takes over the Mustang football program from Clint Pribyl and Josiee Chwisow, both of whom served as assistant coaches for the Mustangs.

Adam takes over as head coach after previously serving as an assistant coach for the Mustangs.

Meridian loses their top two defensive starters, including quarterback Brayden Rat and running back Corin Paul. They also return three offensive starters. Keagan Jones figures to be a big presence on both sides of the ball.

Key players this season will be under leadership in John Adam, Kyan Somes, Brayden Rat, Conin Paul and Lane Barton.

LUKE MCDERMA/MISSOURI SPORTS EDITOR

Norris returns nine starters on offense and 10 starters on defense from last year’s team that finished 7-4 and qualified for the Class B State Playoffs.

The junior class will play a large role in the team’s success. Olsen and Walsh are also returning starters.

Sophomore quarterback Aiden Oerter, but they return several players from last year and head coach Johnathan Middlemiss is confident in them.

“We have a very talented group at the skill positions and will need to build the offensive and defensive lines,” Middlemiss said.

Southern football

First row: Carson Borzekofski, Doug Rainey, Isaiah Dumas, Dusty Hawkins, Brad Schmidt, Kaylee Klover, Carley Vitosh, Kenzie Allison, Zander Rollins, Addyen Forney, Brenden Salts

2020 outlook
The Southern Raiders finished with a winning 6-5 record in 2019 and they return two offensive and four defensive starters off that team.

Senior Carson Borzekofski will be calling the signals at quarterback after passing for 811 yards and 14 touchdowns last year. Junior Brock Adams started on both the offensive and defensive line last year and will figure to be a big key to Southern's success in 2020.

Doug Rainey, Howard Bennett and Alex Botherfield are also returning starters on the defensive side of the ball. The Raiders will also get big contributions from Isabel Sparks, Chance Swearingen, Juan Buenos, Preston Bauser and Tori Wearingen. Southern has to deal with the loss of 11 seniors, including running back and linebacker walk-on Braiden Branner.

"While there are several key positions to fill, 10 returning letter winners will provide a good nucleus to build off of," said Southern coach Kane Hollingsworth. "We have qualified for the state playoffs for the past two seasons, but we will need these returning with experience to embrace their roles and develop their skills so we can expect to make our third straight playoff appearance."

2020 outlook
The Southern volleyball team finished with a winning record in 2019 and they hope to improve upon that this year.

They return four letter winners off that team, including senior outside hitter Kaylee Klevor who finished with 341 kills last year. Senior Tori Smith also returns after registering 138 kills and 11 blocks as a middle hitter.

Sophomore Callie Cooper and junior Maddie Wegner are two more returning letter winners. Others back to contribute are sophomores Alaina Khlebnik and Karlee Crosier as well as junior Carley Saalhoff.

"This year, we have 11 total players and our returning starters with only replacing the same positions as last year," said head coach Carly Vitosh. "Multiple girls have already stepped up this year and are filling spots from the six seniors we lost last year."

2020 outlook

The Southern softball team is under new leadership for the 2020 season. Helby Thernes takes over as head coach after serving as an assistant for Southern during the last two seasons. The Lady Barracudas finished 11-18, but Thernes said many of those losses were decided by one or two runs. They lost seven seniors off that team, including Sami Cresse, Claire Joleanna Miller, Jaiday Engelman, Kylar Pretzer, pitcher Karley Laudy, first baseman Maddy Yocum, second baseman Kendrea Troxel, and second baseman Kendrea Troxel.

“We return five starters, which will be a strength for us,” Thernes said. “We still have a young team, but there is potential in this team and for years to come.”

Southern once again opens their season with two of the toughest teams in Class B, Beatrice and Nor- ton. They also play two of the top teams in Class C in Fairbury and Ashland.

“They will be coming out of my first year as head coach with a winning record and a chance to play in a district final game with the new format,” Thernes said.

2020 outlook
The Sterling football team must return six two-way starters off of last year’s team that finished with a winning 5-4 record.

Senior Derek Bass returns after starting at both running back and linebacker last year while senior Kaleb Masur returns after starting at center and fullback. Senior Sam Boldt will return to play on both sides of the ball after missing half of last season with an injury.

Junior Tanner McDonald, Andrew Richardson and Garrett Her all started on both sides of the ball last year. Her was the team’s quarterback and will be calling the signals again in 2020.

“We have some experience returning, which bodes well for us,” said Sterling coach Brent Holthus. “We will have speed should be better than in the past.”

Holthus said they need to work on their passing game in order to take their game to the next level.

“We, like everyone else, will need to avoid the injury bug to have the successful season we want.”

Holthus said, “Our goal is always to qualify for the playoffs and to see where things go from there.”

2020 outlook
The Sterling volleyball team loses just one senior off of last year’s team, so they are hoping their experience will turn into more wins in 2020.

Key returners included Katy Weak, Tara Walters, Kody Masur, Elias Wargent, Cassidyn Janssen and Mary Richardson.

First year coach Shauna Patz says their returning experience will be one of their strengths, but they will have to navigate a difficult Pioneer Conference schedule before competing in a difficult district.

“We have some experience returning, which bodes well for us,” said Sterling coach Brent Holthus. “We will have some size to work with and our team speed should be better than in the past.”

Holthus said, “Our goal is always to qualify for the playoffs and to see where things go from there.”

The Tri County football team has returned after finishing last season with a 7-4 record. Head coach Brett Boyce said, “We are looking forward to an experienced group returning.”

“We came up short in the quarterfinals against a good Cross County team, so we go at it hungry.”

“We have a lot of guys that have starting experience, but we still have to maintain a high level on both sides of the ball.”

“We only graduated four and we have a large group returning,” said Boyce. “We are doing everything we can do to make another deep playoff run this season.”

“We have a lot of guys that have starting experience and these young guys while playing at a high level this season.”

Assistant Coach Jen Kim said, “We came back as a team and we have a large group returning as well.”

“We are looking to develop our program and do some great things while playing at a high level this season.”

2020 outlook

The Tri County girls golf team had one golfer qualify for last season while the team just missed qualifying for state. They return eight golfers off that team, including four seniors, three juniors and one ninth-grader. "The four seniors will be key for us this year," said Tri County Coach Samantha Pfingsten. "I'm expecting the seniors to step up and be good role models and leaders for the underclassmen." Pfingsten said her team goals are to have a medalist at each invitational and qualifying as a team for state.
Wilber-Clatonia football

2020 outlook

A youthful Wilber-Clatonia team was still able to win seven games last year and win their eighth straight district championship. They lost four key players off that team in Taul Molderhauser, Mason Zimmerman, Eric Eckel and Trevor Kosnal, but they return a host of other key players. Coach Bomberger returns at quarterback after starting as a freshman and passing for more than 500 yards and rushing for nearly 300 yards. Wilber-Thompson returns at running back and linemen while Adam Neitsch returns on the offensive and defensive lines. He was the leading tackler last year from his defensive tackle spot. Mason Combs returns as a receiver and free safety. “We have some very talented skill players with experience,” said Wilber-Clatonia coach Lynn Jurgens. “Our weakness will be our depth, especially at the skill positions.”

The Wolverines schedule will be extremely tough with three of the last four skill positions in Class C2 along with C2 powerhouse Bishop Neumann. The schedule also includes last year’s state runner-up Tewksbury. “We have one of the most difficult schedules in C2,” Jurgens said. “We want to qualify for the playoffs and be a contender by the end of the season. Hopefully we are fortunate enough to contend for a district title, but that will be extremely difficult this year. The season will be long and we try to keep our athletes in the gym that will make an impact on the team as well. They have been working hard each day in the weight room, open gym, and conditioning.”

Gruss said in the small amount of time he has been the head volleyball coach, she has already seen tremendous progress. “They have been working hard each day in their practices and have really improved in their skills. We are really excited that you are already outstanding at the improvement,” especially in the serve category, “we are looking forward to a great season.”

2020 outlook

Wilber-Clatonia will have a much more experienced team than their 2020 season. The Lady Wolverines return their entire team from last year and they hope that experience results in more wins. “We have a bit of experience and leadership,” said first year head coach Erin Cross. “There are many young talented athletes in the gym that will make an impact on the team as well. They have been packing each other all summer in the weight room, open gym, and conditioning.”

Cross said in the small amount of time she has been the head volleyball coach, she has already seen tremendous progress. “They have been working hard each day in their practices and have really improved in their skills. We are really excited that you are already outstanding at the improvement,” especially in the serve category, “we are looking forward to a great season.”
