School Board Will Study Oversize Class Problems

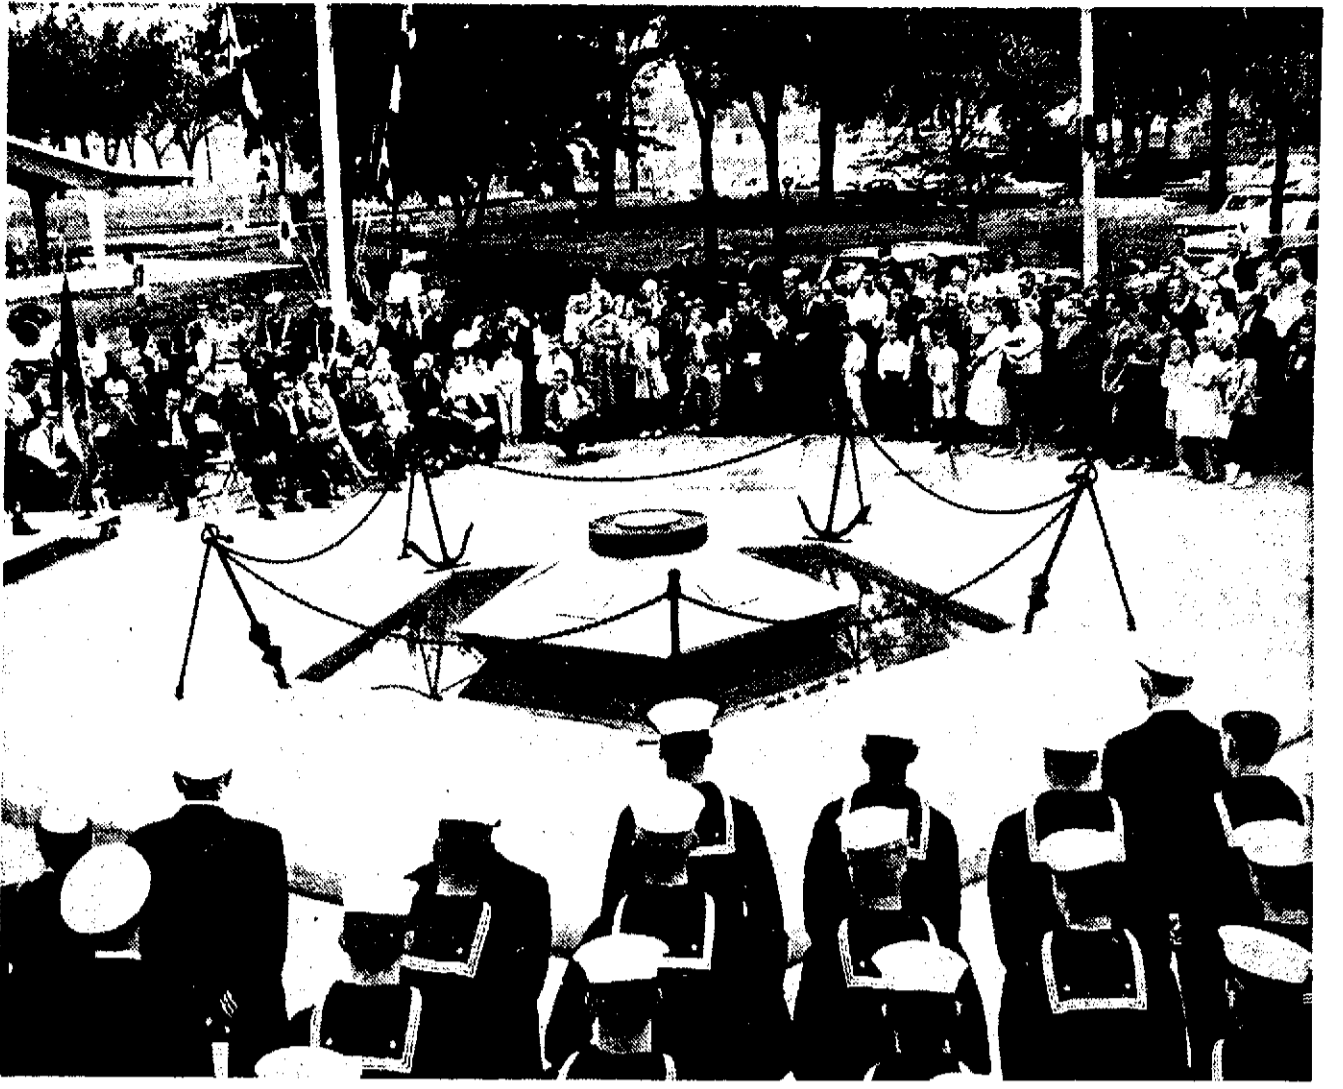

The closing weeks of a political campaign become rigorous for candidates. For example, Last Thursday Attorney General Evan Hultman, Republican candidate for governor, worked in his Des Moines office until nearly noon, flew to Dubuque for a meeting with GOP Vice Presidential candidate William Miller at noon, then by private plane to Waterloo for an afternoon speech, then to dinner at the Mount Hope Methodist Church. He spent Thursday night at Republican headquarters in Waterloo greeting friends at an open house.

The Waterloo Board of Education conducts a reorganizational meeting tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. It will be the first meeting since the election of directors to the board last Monday. In the balloting, incumbents Gordon Spry, Mrs. H. W. Rehder, and Stewart Seidler were reelected to positions on the board. Main issue to come before the new board tomorrow is a report on enrollment situations, according to Dr. George Kohl, superintendent. Kohl says some enrollment problems have been solved at elementary schools but others still exist.

Enrollments at Emerson school have presented problems so far unsolved. Grades five and six each have 37 students. The kindergarten has two sessions of 33 each. Kohl says he would like to keep the maximum for kindergarten classes at 27. "Anything over 30 is not good." He says information is still being gathered in this area and a separate report for the board on enrollments on secondary levels should be ready by next month.

Hohl notes the school system has had to assimilate 3,700 additional students, 130 new teachers, two school districts, a new administration building, and begin operation of a bus system for the first time; all in the space of one summer. Other items to come before the school board include: A request from Black Hawk County to approve the sale of property in the Northdale addition. The county needs the approval of the several taxing bodies before they can sell land. A report on open house and dedication plans for the new administration building. Open house has been scheduled for Oct. 4. A proposal to expand junior high school athletics to include swimming, tennis and golf on a competitive basis.

is in a small room not intended as a classroom." Sixth grades at Whittier of 36 and 40 students present a problem as yet unsolved. Second and sixth grades at Kittrell school number 35 and 38, Hohl says. He plans to add a teacher at that school and will use a music room as a classroom. The teacher will come from either Longfellow or Grant, he says. Plan Second Report "Fortunately we haven't run into any serious problems on the junior and senior high school level," Hohl says. "There have been indications that relatively few classes of 35 or more students exist." He says information is still being gathered in this area and a separate report for the board on enrollments on secondary levels should be ready by next month.

THE SULLIVAN BROTHERS MEMORIAL, a granite pentagon with one of the five boys' names on each of the five sides, was the object of attention yesterday for those attending dedication ceremonies for Waterloo's newest park. Signal flags on the pole in the left background spell out "Sullivan Memorial" in Navy code.

Six New Courses For Adults

Six new courses are being offered during the fall season of the evening adult education program of Waterloo Public Schools, according to Don Lippold, director of adult education. "Let's Analyze and Sell" is a sales training course offered in cooperation with the State College of Iowa business education department and the Sales Executives Club of Western Iowa.

Which Foot?

If you drive a car with an automatic shift and brake with your left foot you would be denied a driver's license in at least eight states or Canadian provinces. The left foot braking issue has stirred quite a controversy among safety education people and officials of the various states.

African Visitors

Three foreign students from Africa last week completed a month-long "visit" to the Black Hawk county superintendent of schools office. While at the office and in the company of various county education workers, they observed practical application of educational methods they had learned previously at State College of Iowa.

Potential Threats to Life, Health Lurk in Every Home

In nearly every room in your home, there is a potential cause of death. Furniture polish, rust remover, household ammonia, toilet bowl cleaner, lye, or washing soda, in the kitchen. Aspirin, tincture of iodine, camphor, rubbing alcohol, and other pills in the medicine cabinet. Rubber cement or airplane glue in the children's playroom. Nail polish, room deodorizers, sleeping pills, and cough syrup in the bedroom. And in the garage or basement, weed killers, insecticides, and the remnants of last year's house paint are potential killers. Cleaner Deadly Carbon tetrachloride, a chemical used for cleaning, so dangerous that most industrial plants have outlawed it as a solvent, still is readily available for home use, reports the National Safety Council. Although major chemical manufacturers have stopped selling carbon tet for use in the home, it gets to consumers through small companies that buy large quantities of it and repackage it under their own labels, according to an article in the fall issue of "Family Safety," a NSC magazine. A spot check of 15 Waterloo area drug stores revealed that all carried carbon tet. It can be purchased in sizes up to gallon jugs. The druggists, said, however, that whenever possible, they warn buyers of the dangers involved. Triple Threat Carbon tet represents a three-fold hazard. It is one of the most toxic household substances known, and swallowing only a teaspoonful of it has caused death. There is evidence that carbon tet can be absorbed through the skin. Probably the most vicious hazard is its vapor, which can be innocently inhaled. Only three thimblefuls of carbon tet will saturate the air to the danger point in an unventilated room 10 feet square. No Warning To make matters worse, the victim who inhales the chemical usually has no warning he is being poisoned. Symptoms appear only after the damage has been done. A stricken person may become dizzy, nauseated, jaundiced and begin to cough. Often he suspects he is coming down with flu. In severe cases, the kidneys stop functioning entirely, the cause of death in about 90 per cent of carbon tet fatalities. Carbon tet also appears in fumigants, insecticides, paints, and fire extinguishers. The best advice, according to the NSC—look for the ingredient carbon tet on the label of products. When you see it, put the container right back on the shelf. Another household cleaning product, hydrofluoric acid, used to remove rust stains, can cause severe burns, not immediately noticeable. It is also highly toxic. When using such products, rubber gloves should be worn. Lye or washing soda, both strong alkalis can also cause burns. Toilet bowl cleaner should never be used with a product containing chlorine, such as bleach. The two compounds react, releasing deadly chlorine gas. Expect 350 At Dad-Lad Program

Approximately 350 persons, including boys from eight to 10 years and their fathers are expected to attend the Sunset district Dad and Lad day today at Camp Ingawanis near Waverly. They will attend from West Waterloo, Washburn, Hudson and La Porte City, the areas, which comprise the Sunset district. The meeting is for all Cub Scouts, and new prospective Cub Scouts in the eight to 10 year category and their dads from this Scout district. Special Activity General Chairman Sid Qual of La Porte City announced that registration will begin at 12:30 p. m. with an opening flag ceremony at 1 p. m. The afternoon will be spent horseback riding, swimming, shooting the bow and arrow, firing the 22 rifle and shotgun and canoeing. Act as Team These activities will provide each cub and his father a chance to participate as a team in the cubbing program. It also will give each Cub Scout a brief view of some of the adventures, which await him in the Boy Scout program. The day's fellowship activities will be rounded out with an evening meal in the camp dining hall, followed by a general campfire. The cost of Dad and Lad day will be $1.50 per person and will include all activities and the evening meal.

City, Navy In Tribute To Sullivans

Admiral Speaks At Dedication Of New Park

"World War II taught us a lot of good lessons," said Rear Admiral H. A. Yeager, commandant, ninth Naval District, in a speech dedicating the Sullivan Brothers Memorial Park Saturday. "We no longer have several members of one family serving in one ship." Admiral Yeager, recipient of the Bronze Star twice, said "We emerged triumphant from World War II because we were able to project our seapower to places like the Solomon Islands, where the USS Juneau was lost. "Our victory was not without sacrifice," he continued. "The Sullivan family, perhaps, suffered the greatest loss of all." Sunk Off Solomons The USS Juneau was torpedoed Nov. 13, 1942, off the Solomon Islands. Going down with the ship were the 5 Sullivan brothers, George Thomas, 27, Francis, 25, Joseph, 23, Madison, 22, and Albert, 19. The brothers, natives of Waterloo, had enlisted in the Navy, with the provision that they could serve on the same ship. Only Albert was married. His son, James Thomas Sullivan, now 23, joined the Navy when he was 18, and now lives in Texas. Mr. and Mrs. Tom Sullivan, parents of the boys, and Mrs. Murray Davidson, their sister, were present at the ceremonies yesterday. Mrs. Davidson is a former WAVE, enlisting in the Navy after her brothers were killed. Lost Friend Admiral Yeager said that he had lost one of his best friends in the same sinking. He was Commander Graf, the Admiral's roommate at the Naval Academy. Four survivors of the Juneau tragedy were present, along with Captain Kenneth Centry, retired first commanding officer of the USS The Sullivans, Navy destroyer named after the five brothers. Captain Ira M. King, presently the commanding officer of recruit training command, and another former captain of The Sullivans, also attended the dedication. He was the ship's captain when the Sullivan Christmas program was originated. Lt. M. C. Schaefer, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Schaefer, 504 Riehl St., arrived with the Admiral's party. Schaefer is with the recruiting office, Ninth Naval Reserve, Great Lakes, Ill. Other Guests Other distinguished guests included Vice Admiral Maurice Sheehy, retired Navy chaplain from Cedar Rapids, Lt. Commander Ben Sanders, current executive officer on the USS "The Sullivans," Mayor Ed Jochumsen, Chamber of Commerce President Hugh Patterson, Captain Ralph Whannel, local representative for the commandant, and the chairman of the Sullivan Brothers Memorial Committee, and N. O. Paulsen, chairman of the Board of Park Commissioners. Paulsen pledged the park commission to keep the Sullivan Park as a fitting memorial to the brothers and to all the war dead. Jets scheduled to fly over See PARK Continued on page 14, col. 9

Rath Packing Plans To Continue Work

No Contract With Union Tomorrow

The Rath Packing Co. is planning operations for tomorrow although members of Local 46, United Packinghouse Workers, will be working without a contract with the company. Both company and union officials have agreed to a meeting at 1:30 p. m. Wednesday for further negotiations on a contract which expires today at 1:30 p. m. Members of Local 46 at a mass meeting yesterday voted to support the union's negotiations with the company. Union members will meet again at their regular meeting Thursday. Company Notified The union notified the company Friday of termination of the existing extension of the contract which originally expired Aug. 31. The union can strike after 48 hours of notification of termination. Local 46 members have worked at the company plant in the past without a contract. A statement yesterday from company officials said: "After a series of meetings at which the issues have been fully discussed, the company met with the Union Friday afternoon and made a comprehensive proposal for a new three-year contract. "Master Agreement" "Included in the company's proposal was a master agreement covering Waterloo and the four other company plants at which the UPWA has bargaining rights. "The company proposal offered to the union the industry pattern of increased wages, benefits, and other improvements which formed the basis for recent settlements at Armour, Swift, Wilson and Oscar Mayer, as well as concessions on some additional local demands which had been made by Local 46. "The company regrets that the union has found this offer unacceptable and that the union has given the company a 48-hour notice of cancellation of the contract extension. "We continue ready to grant the improvements which the UPWA has found acceptable at other major packing companies and are prepared to continue discussions looking toward a satisfactory conclusion of a new contract. "The company is planning operations for Monday." "Company's Reluctance" Fred Nolting, president of Local 46, has said negotiations were broken off with the company "as a result of company officials' reluctance to make any meaningful offers on any of our basic demands." Contract negotiations at Rath have traditionally followed the patterns set by other meat packers. Armour and Wilson have both signed contract agreements with UPWA recognizing the master agreement principle in which one contract between the company and UPWA locals at the various plants is in force. Negotiations were continuing in an attempt to avoid a walk-out tomorrow midnight by some 10,000 workers in 15 Swift plants and by about 3,600 employees in five John Morrell & Co. plants in the Midwest. Waterloo Trucker Is Killed

Irwin Brown Dies Unloading Machine

Funeral services for a Waterloo man, Irwin Dean Brown, 45, of 4045 Niles St., who was killed yesterday at Cozad, Neb., when crushed by a piece of machinery, are pending at the Chapel of Memories. Brown, an owner-operator truck contractor for Warren Transport Co., had left Des Moines Thursday. He was carrying a load of farm implements when he arrived at Cozad. The accident occurred while he was unloading the machinery at an implement firm there. A physician said Brown died instantly when crushed by a stalk-cutter. Mr. Brown was born Sept. 14, 1919, in Danbury, Neb., the son of Irwin and Bernice Brown. He married Ola Mae Colyer on March 3, 1950, in Ogallala, Neb. He was a member of the Immanuel Baptist Church. In addition to his father, living in Danbury, and his widow, he is survived by a son, Rodney, of Reno, Nev.; two stepsons, Jerry and Dennis Mullenix, at home; a brother, Leslie Brown, of Danbury, Neb.; and two sisters, Mrs. June Summ and Mrs. Neva Page, of Oberlin, Kans.

Absent Voters Ballots Sent 307 in Service

The number of absent voter ballots issued to military personnel from Black Hawk county stood at 307, yesterday, according to Howard Gibbs, county auditor. The figure represents an increase over the total for the same date of the last general election, he said. Sept. 24 is the first day for placing such ballots in the mail or for voting them in the auditor's office. The date of Oct. 14 is the first day to make application for regular absent voters general election ballots and Oct. 19 is the opening day for voting them in Gibbs' office. A voting booth will be available there at that time. Those who will be out-of-town on election day may vote absentee ballots until the day before the election if they make application.

Shriners Charm Snake

It's not at all surprising that this reasonable facsimile of a hooded cobra emerging from a basket appeared charmed by the music of the Oriental band yesterday in one of the units of the Shrine parade as it turned at Commercial and 4th Sts. The bystanders also appeared to be charmed by the spectacle and the general air of fun that was created by the 600 Shriners, who were in Waterloo for the day. Units from Austin, Minn., Dubuque, Marshalltown, Iowa Falls, Mason City, Davenport, Cedar Rapids, Des Moines marched in the parade in addition to the Oriental band and Cycle Patrol of Waterloo. Fifty candidates for the Mecca Shrine were initiated last night as the highlight of a day long celebration, according to Miles Newcomb, secretary for the El Mecca Shrine. There was a dinner at the Masonic Temple at 5 p. m., followed by the initiation ceremonies at the auditorium. El Mecca Shrine is a branch of the El Kahir Shrine of which Hugh T. Dewies, Cedar Rapids, is potentate.

Handicraft

Classes will begin the week of Oct. 12 in the temporary Recreation Center, according to Ray Forsberg, commission chairman. Scheduled are classes in beginning and intermediate bridge, ceramics, drawing and sketching, hat making, jewelry, knitting, oil painting and photo tinting. An all day painting workshop will also be held. In the Recreation Center shop, classes will be given in lapidary, furniture refinishing, wood-working, and picture framing and matting. One class, upholstery, will be at the Belmont Park shelter house. Times for the classes will be announced later, Forsberg said. Saturday mornings, he said, will again be devoted to the Young People's Fine Arts Center, which features painting and drawing, jewelry, ceramics, and modern dance for high school and college students.

Courses

ous forms of fiction and non-fiction.

Mrs. Marjorie Rohrer will teach the course. She has been a correspondent for Fairchild Publications and was a reporter on two newspapers in Kansas. Fee for the course is $6.

"Mathematic for Electronics" is to be taught by Robert Pedersen, electronics instructor in the Technology School.

The course provides a background in basic mathematics for workers and students in electrical and electronics fields. Cost is $15.

Auto Repairing

The remaining new course, "Engine Overhaul," is designed to provide depth in engine construction, design and theory of operation. It will include a study of valves, block, pistons, rods, and crankshaft.

Robert Beck, auto mechanics instructor in the Manpower Development and Training program, will teach the course. This fee is $10.

Lippold also emphasizes a course which has not been taught for some time in the evening program. Called "Securities and Investments," the course is to be taught in nine units and concerns the stock market, how to select stocks, how to buy and sell stocks of corporations, the New York Stock Exchange and how it works, interpreting financial statements and annual reports, and how to develop a sound investment program.

Richard Schermer, a Waterloo stock broker, will teach the course. Fee is $5.

Courses begin the week of Sept. 28. Registrations are being made through Lippold's office, 1615 Washington St., or by phoning 233-5281.

MOVING DAY—Yesterday was moving day for the Dairy Cattle Congress as it moved its offices from the Dairy Shrine Club across Rainbow Dr. to the Hippodrome in preparation for upcoming National Dairy Cattle Congress Oct. 3-10. Richard Morgan, 1214 Wallgate, carries framed pictures onto the moving van for the trip across the street.

Williamson Statement Inadmissible

District Judge Blair C. Wood ruled Friday that a statement given to Waterloo police by a man charged with murder will be inadmissible as evidence in his trial.

Police said that on April 4, James J. Williamson, 41, of 547 Ash St., signed a written statement admitting that he had murdered Lonnie Alexander, 38, of 22 Cascaden Place, earlier that day.

Williamson's trial in district court is scheduled to begin Oct. 19.

His attorney, Walter Rothschild, argued that the statement was signed while he was not in his presence and after he had instructed Williamson not to sign a statement.

The statement was signed the afternoon of April 4. Williamson had been picked up about 2:50 a.m., booked at 3:15 a.m., allowed to talk with his attorney about a half-hour later and arraigned in municipal court about 9:30 a.m.

Alexander died after being shot with a .22-caliber bullet in the lung and his heart. The shooting occurred in front of the Linn Barbeque at Linn and Oneida Sts.

from the Glenview Naval Station, Glenview, Ill., were not able to take off, due to weather conditions.

The park was dedicated by Rt. Rev. Msgr. Klassen, pastor, St. Mary's Church. The program also included a band concert by the American Legion Band, and a display of colors from the USS "The Sullivans."

The Sullivan Brothers Memorial Park is located in the Logan Ave. Urban Renewal area, off E. 4th St. near the brothers' original Waterloo home. In dedicating the park, Msgr. Klassen said "we can never pay our proper respects or honor those who have departed from our midst for the cause of freedom without first examining our own separate feelings of sacrifice, and rededicating ourselves to the unfinished task of extending the cause of peace, justice and liberty."

New Intern at Our Saviors Lutheran Church

The new intern at Our Saviors Lutheran Church is James Witschorke who will serve here for one year. His first service will be today.

Mrs. Witschorke has been studying at Wartburg Seminary in DuQuette. He is a graduate of Texas Lutheran College, Seguin, Tex., and his home is in Hamilton, Tex. His wife, Joanne, is from McGregor, Tex.

A reception and potluck was given at the church last Sunday in their honor. Pastor is the Rev. Robert Hildebrandt.

2 Sections of County Paving Work Complete

Two major portions of Black Hawk county's 1964 road paving program were virtually completed yesterday as a result of excellent progress by work crews the last half of the week.

In the "nearly completed" stage, according to Joe Scheel, county engineer, are two stretches east of Gilbertville. One, of 7 1/2 miles, on County Rd. S, extends south to the Brandon Rd.

The second project involving a three mile stretch extends east three miles from a point about three miles east of Gilbertville.

Two other projects, both of which should be finished by Oct. 1, are a 7 1/2-mile stretch on County Rd. L and another of 2 1/2 miles through Cedar City.

Members of the jury were: Opal Ott, 1505 Upton St.; Neala Norris, 633 Kingsley Ave.; Esther Corrigan, 835 Maxwell St.; Jack Gaden, 3006 Rownd St.; Cedar Falls; Edwin Reichenberg, 229 N. Division St., Cedar Falls; and Jean McKinstry, 1024 Vine St.

Also, Helen Walensky, 311 Irving St.; Gerald Dougan, 804 Wisconsin St.; Arnold Jungen, Raymond; Luella Gorman, 709 Stephen Ave.; Vincent Zeets, 124 E. Parker St., and Robert J. Wilson, 1242 Englewood Ave.

BERLIN (AP) — The United states and Britain opened their pavilions at the West German industrial exhibition yesterday. Spokesmen for both countries stressed the role being played in the exhibition by Latin America.

All handball and paddleball players are asked to schedule games within the next few weeks to prepare for the fall warm-up tournaments that will be conducted in the near future.

'64 Dairy Cattle Congress Outlook Is Termed 'Rosy'

All exhibitor space was reserved at a record early date at the National Dairy Cattle Congress grounds where strong stress is on "Go" in preparation for the 1964 exposition. It starts Oct. 3 and runs for eight days.

"The outlook is rosy in all departments," Maurice Telteen, secretary-manager, said yesterday at the Congress business office which has been shifted to the Auditorium.

While cattle entries were still in the processing stage, all signs pointed to an over-all total of 2,000 animals, including the nation's champions, being in their stalls. They'll come from all sections of this country as well as from Canada and others.

5 Dairy Shows

Five national dairy breed shows and the world's biggest farm machinery exhibit will be featured. So will the Waterloo meat animal show, the horse and pony show, national judging contests and hundreds of commercial and educational displays.

In pointing out that entries are up in the horse show, Telteen called attention to horse and pony pulling contests that will be presented Thursday and Friday mornings of show week.

They'll be seen in the new tent, known as the north judging area for the accommodation of Congress patrons that are expected to top the 200,000 mark. There'll be a new look on the midway, too, where a rearrangement plan has been worked out that will cut congestion.

Ticket Sales Advance sales of tickets for the twice-daily hippodrome shows are highly gratifying to officials.

While main accent is on the present and future, the title of an exhibit offered by the Waterloo Museum of History and Science will be "Reminders of the Past," to be seen in the new Adeline Hayes Hall.

Made up of 100 items, this exhibit is divided into a collection of farm tools and equipment, kitchen conveniences, household luxuries and sewing items dating from 1850 to 1900.

It will be arranged on wall panels and in the floor area of the hall. One of the unique implements that will be in the picture is an early type John Deere breaking plow.

To Name Articles

Visitors to this exhibit will be challenged to name as many of these articles as they can. A list will be posted near the door for scoring and will include names of donors.

Another feature from the past known as "Advertising in the 19th Century" will be on display in the Little Theater Art Gallery located in the northeast corner of the Auditorium.

Great Books Discussions to Begin Tomorrow

Meetings of The Great Books Discussion Group begin tomorrow at East Library and are to continue through May, according to Margaret Nordholm, librarian.

Mrs. Norman Cohea, of 1300 W. Parker St., begins her third year with the group as discussion leader.

The discussions are open to the public and there is no registration cost. "These books were written for ordinary people to read," Miss Nordholm notes. "There are not just for scholars."

The program is a prescribed reading course with discussions of the books between 8 and 10 p. m. on the first and third Mondays of each month.

The next discussion session concerns "Novum Organum," Book 1, by Sir Francis Bacon.

Other books to be discussed during the sessions this year include: "Of Civil Government," by Locke; "Candide," by Voltaire; "The Social Contract," by Rousseau; two chapters of "Decline and Fall," by Gibbon; selections from "The Brothers Karamazov," by Dostoevski; and "The Origin and Development of Psychoanalysis," by Freud.

Civil Rights Worker Will Speak Today

Mike Kenney, a civil rights worker from Holmes County, Mississippi, will be featured speaker at the Knights of Pythias Hall at 6 p. m. tonight.

After attending San Francisco State College, Kenney did graduate work at the State University of Iowa where he became affiliated with the SNCC group there. He spent the past summer as a volunteer worker for that organization.

Also speaking on the program will be Joseph Smith, head of the Masonic Lodge at Tohula, Miss., and the Rev. Jesse Russell of Milesion, Miss. Freedom schools, citizenship classes, and voter registration have been important areas of work for these men.

Holmes County has a 73% Negro population with 8,000 eligible Negro voters. At the present time only 20 are registered to vote. This summer, of 150 Negroes who attempted to register, only one was allowed to do so.

A future project being planned by rights group in the area is the "adoption" of Holmes County by the citizens of Black Hawk county. In this way moral support and material aid will be given to the inhabitants of Holmes County.

Sponsored jointly by the Black Hawk County Conference on Religion and Race, the NAACP, and the Citizens' Committee of Waterloo, Kenney's talk is free. The public is welcome to attend.

$24,500 Is Asked For Crash Injuries

Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Acuff, of 1315 W. 4th St., have filed a $24,500 damage suit for injuries she claims to have suffered in a two-car collision last Jan. 20. Named defendant is Ronald C. Dawson, 38, of 302 1/2 Courtland St., driver of a car which collided with Mrs. Acuff's car at W. 7th and South Sts.

Mrs. Acuff claims she sustained neck and back injuries.

Some 'Y' Gym Classes Still Open

There are still openings in some of the YMCA fall physical program and anyone interested can still enroll in these classes during the coming week.

They include men's beginning swimming classes that meet on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 7 p. m. to 8 p. m., women's fitness classes that meet Monday, Wednesday and Fridays from 10 a. m. to 11 a. m. and men's fitness classes that meet from 5 p. m. to 6 p. m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays. The co-ed judo class is closed.

Youth members interested in taking gym and swim classes may still register for classes that still remain open. Over half of the classes scheduled for this fall are closed.

Plan Swim Meets

Invitations to over 80 swimmers were sent out this week. The schedule for practice was sent to all prospects and past members of the team. Dual meets for boys have already been scheduled with Clinton, Des Moines, Marshalltown, and Newton. The girls' team has scheduled a meet with Clinton.

Men who would like to try out for the varsity volleyball team are asked to report to the first practice Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. The team will be competing for the first time in over ten years with varsity teams from other YMCA's in the state.

Education Group Sets Workshop

The Waterloo Education Association plans a workshop for building representatives tomorrow at Electric Park, according to Bob Crowley, president.

Some 100 teachers are expected to attend the dinner and workshop sessions from 4 to 9 p. m.

Crowley says the number of representatives has been increased this year from one a building to one for each 15 teachers.

Orientation

Object of the workshop is to orient these new representatives as to their responsibilities and how to get started in their work. Building representatives are the liaison between WEA members and officers.

Representatives of the National Education Association and the Iowa State Education Association will attend the workshop to explain the services of their organizations, Crowley says.

Talk on Ethics

Duane Lodge, director of lay relations for ISEA, will address the teachers concerning professional ethics and practices.

Cochairmen for the workshop are Robert Stansbury, WEA 1st vice president, and Mrs. Dorothy Forsberg, WEA 2nd vice president.

are registered for the group. The tourney games will be played once a week.

All handball and paddleball players are asked to schedule games within the next few weeks to prepare for the fall warm-up tournaments that will be conducted in the near future.

Driveway Is Basis of $6,600 Damage Suit

A total of $6,600 in damages is asked by the owner of a truck stop in a dispute over the use of driveway between his firm and a neighboring residence.

Frank B. Erhardt, of 634 Ansbrough Ave., owner of Frank's Truck & Trailer Repair, same address, claims that Elmer E. Johnson, of 632 Ansbrough Ave., who opposes his use of an adjacent driveway, have engaged in conduct detrimental to his business.

Erhardt contends his business has been damaged because the Johnsons asked for an injunction restraining his use of the driveway.

He also claims in his suit filed Friday in district court that they have "cursed him, his family and customers" and "have spread false and malicious stories."

Erhardt asks $5,000 for this alleged damage and $1,600 more for damages arising over legal actions taken to restrict use of the driveway.

In addition to the Johnsons, Erhardt names Carl A. and Evelyn Neubauer as defendants. Neubauer, a bondsman, furnished a bond for Johnson during his injunction proceeding.

Air Force Anniversary

The local recruiting office of the Air Force Friday observed the Air Force's 17th anniversary as a separate branch of service with a coffee and cake party for city and county officials. Cutting the first piece of one of two appropriately decorated cakes are Miss Waterloo, Linda Brown, and Mayor Ed Jochumsen. Looking on are, in foreground, Sgt. Gene Hilger and T-Sgt. Joe McDougal, in background, Air Force Recruiters. The recruiting office is at 627 Lafayette St.

SOME WISDOM ABOUT WISDOM TEETH

Early removal of unerupted or impacted third molars, the "wisdom" teeth, reduces the chances of gum infections and loss of other molars. The inflammation of the gum from such a tooth may spread into a serious infection and the incidence of this type of infection increases with age.
