

The backbone of AI Data centers

Artificial intelligence (AI) machine learning, model training and deployments occur mainly in data centers. Data centers house servers, storage systems, networking equipment and components installed in racks and organized into rows. Data centers require uninterrupted and backup power as well as cooling systems.

SOURCE: INTERNATIONAL ENERGY AGENCY

