They declare that the right to appeal for a rehearing in criminal cases is reserved to defendants.

MRS. BOND TOLD STORY

Jacobs, Fitzpatrick and Robertson were in an adjoining room? "No." "What did Senator Gore do when you saw him?" "He took hold of my hands." "You knew he was blind?" "Yes." "You could have got away from a blind man, couldn't you?" "If I climbed over the bed, yes." "He had already insulted you in his office; why did not you leave the room as soon as he began his advances?" "I did not have time; it was all so sudden."

"Isn't it the truth that when you returned from the telephone and sat down Senator Gore arose and said he had to go, you pulled him over to you and then Robertson burst into the room?"

His Health Impaired?

Concluding her direct examination, Mrs. Bond testified she never had encouraged the senator in any attentions to her. She claimed her health had been impaired by the alleged attack.

On cross examination the witness admitted she had been married to her former husband, a man named Farrar, two times; the second time because he had not been divorced when they first married in June, 1903. She said they had a child born in Dec. 1912, but she did not know what had become of it.

The defense offered to introduce a copy of her petition for divorce from Farrar, but Judge Clark ruled it out.

AUTHORITIES PUZZLED

Cannot Account for Strange Conflict in the Stone Case.

UP TO THE CHEMIST NOW

Arrest Will Follow If Arsenic is Found in Plevna Man's Stomach.

As soon as County Coroner W. H. Williamson hears from the state chemist at Kansas university, and has arrangements made for the analyzing of the stomach of the late Tom Stone, of Plevna, the remains will be exhumed. The body is now in a cemetery south of Sterling.

Whether the young wife of Stone is held by the coroner's jury on a murder charge will depend largely upon what the analysis of the stomach shows. If there are traces of arsenical poisoning, as suspected, it will mean that she will be arrested for murder.

Dr. Williamson will take the stomach to Lawrence and the analysis will be made under his personal oversight there, not being allowed to pass through the hands of a third party.

If the young wife is guilty of the crime of which she is suspected it would mean that she would be sent to prison for life. Therefore every care is being taken that there be no mistake made.

In the meantime Mrs. Stone has been allowed to return to her home at Plevna. She is not under arrest, but is under surveillance there.

WESTERN LEAGUE MAGNATES HAD MEETING IN CHICAGO

Declare They Don't Fear What the New Federal League is to Try to Do.

Chicago, Feb. 12.—Western league baseball magnates, who gathered here today for their annual schedule meeting, reported that most of their players were signed for the ensuing season and that they were not in dread of an extensive Federal league raid. Vice President Edward J. Hanlon, who probably will preside in the absence of President Norris O'Neill, said he thought it unlikely that any action regarding the Federal league would be taken.

Except for the consideration of schedules, no business of importance was on the program, it was said. President O'Neill is a holdover in his office and the league had decided to retain its offices in Chicago, though last year there was an effort to remove them to some western city.

Those who reported before the meeting was called to order were: Mr. Hanlon, representing Sioux City; Frank Isbell, Des Moines; Jack Holland, St. Joseph; W. A. O'Rourke, Omaha; W. L. Jones, Lincoln; and D. E. Breaux, Wichita. Arch M. Catlin, Topeka, and James C. McGinn, were expected later.

Drop Topeka and Wichita?

Before the meeting began it was rumored that a possible change in the membership of the league might be discussed.

The rumors took the form of comments on the possible transfer of the Topeka and Wichita clubs to other cities. Kansas City and Minneapolis were named as possible locations for western league clubs. It was said that in the event of such transfers care would be taken in drafting the playing schedules not to conflict with American association playing dates in either Kansas City or the Minnesota point. The desirability of coming into direct conflict with Federal league scheduled games, it was reported was given full consideration in the talk of switching clubs.

A VESSEL ASHORE.

It Is in Place Where One Hundred Vessels Have Been Wrecked. Provincetown, Mass., Feb. 12.—The Peaked Hill life saving station reported this afternoon that a steamer was ashore on the Peaked Hill bar, half a mile off the beach. A violent gale is blowing and the temperature is zero.

The point where the steamer struck is the most dangerous on the Cape. Distress signals from the vessel, while she was hidden by the vapor that covered the ocean, were heard off the end of Cape Cod at frequent intervals before the life savers located her.

The government wireless operator at Highland light was unable to obtain any response to numerous radio calls and it was believed that if the vessel had a wireless equipment it had become disabled. The sea was so heavy the life savers could not launch their boat.

Peaked Hill bar has been the scene of over 100 wrecks. There never was a man forced into the sea.—Atchison Globe.

INVESTIGATE BARN FIRE

Rice County Farmer's Barn Mysteriously Burned at Midnight.

PUT BLOODHOUNDS ON TRAIL.

Went to a Nearby Farmhouse—
Now State Fire Marshal
Must Investigate.

An investigation by State Fire Marshal Harrison Parkman has been called for to clear up the mystery surrounding the burning of a barn on Frank Tate's farm, four miles north of Nickerson in Rice county.

The barn, which belongs to the estate of Mrs. Katie Tate burned between 12 and 1 o'clock a week ago tonight. The cause of the fire was unknown, but it was believed to have been caused by an incendiary.

Tracks near the barn suggested this theory and bloodhounds were taken from Nickerson and placed on the trail. They were put on the foot tracks, evidently those of a man, which were found near the barn.

The dogs went directly to a nearby farm where John Sallee, who formerly lived in Hutchinson, was staying. When Sallee came out on the porch, the dogs jumped upon him, it is said.

Sallee insisted that he knew nothing about the fire, and claimed that he had not been near the barn, although he stated that he had been at a rural mail box some distance from the stable which was burned.

The dogs were placed on this trail, and it is said, that they went in the same direction as before.

No complaint was made against Sallee and everyone is now waiting to see what the investigation of the state fire marshal will bring forth.
