

Your support builds a strong foundation in

North Dakota

Since 2009, the North Dakota Newspaper Association Education Foundations has invested over $1 million to place students for internships at newspapers, strengthen reading skills in elementary schools, and provide high quality content to newspapers through support of the ND News Cooperative.

Together, these activities and others we champion will help ensure we have literate and trained reporters to hold local and state government accountable.

You can help us leverage these efforts by considering a gift to the NDNA Education Foundation as part of your year-end giving.
