Employee survey determines winners for workplace culture

The best judges of a workplace are the people who get things done: the employees. Buffalo Top Workplaces are determined solely through employee survey feedback.

For the fifth consecutive year, employee survey firm Energage, based in Exton, Pennsylvania, sought to identify outstanding workplaces in the Buffalo-Niagara region. The survey feedback regarding company culture gives companies insights about what makes them unique.

An employee engagement survey of 26 questions gathers responses regarding issues relating to workplace culture. Employers that score high enough are recognized as Top Workplaces. Winners are ranked within size groups based on the strength of employee survey feedback.
