MOUNTAIN WEST ANNOUNCES UPDATED 2020-21 MEN'S BASKETBALL CONFERENCE SLATE

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. – The Mountain West announced the updated 2020-21 men's basketball Conference slate on Tuesday morning.

The new format emphasizes the health and safety of student-athletes, coaches and staff while significantly reducing travel. The Conference has moved to a 20-game schedule under a modified format that will play out over 11 weeks within the context of state, county and local guidelines.

League play will begin with one two-game series taking place before Christmas for all 11 teams. After a short break, Conference action will resume on Dec. 28 and conclude March 1.

In the new format, Mountain West teams will face each other in a two-game series in the same week with a one-day break between contests. Each institution will have five home and five road series, reducing the regular season travel schedule by four weeks to help mitigate potential virus exposures.

This is a one-year model adopted specifically to address the unique challenges of the current COVID-19 pandemic.

Conference play will determine the seeding for the 2021 MW Men's Basketball Championship, which will be held March 10-13 at the Thomas & Mack Center in Las Vegas.

Mountain West national television partners CBS Sports and FOX Sports will now initiate a selection procedure, which will include the shifting of games from their current dates. Additional announcements on television selections will be made soon.
