Residents Making The Transition To New Recycling Bins

By NOLLYE ANNONEN

The 96-gallon bin for recycling carts has continued to raise questions in the community about their placement and proper use. The 96-gallon cart for recy- cling were delivered to Falmouth homes in March. Mrs. Ryther said that many residents have been calling her to inquire about any changes regarding the size of the cart. She said that she calls everyone to explain equal parts, thanking the recycling department for the cart, and equal complaints. Some residents are calling to say if they can have a second bin delivered, to accommodate the amount of their recyclable material. She is calling saying that the carts are too large.

The 96-gallon container can be a challenge for some residents to manage when full. Many are unable to use the bin due to the weight, or because of the bulk of the bin they said that need and smaller alternatives are available and can be arranged by the Waste Management Facility on Thomas L. Landers Road. Said Mrs. Ryther, “I think 50 of the present ones that we are collecting.” Mr. Ryther said, “I have a lot of people who have called and requested new ones.”

She said that there are bound to be some smaller alternatives available that the Department could consider and has expressed for the curbside collection.

Mr. Ryther said that some people went out and put their recycling in the bin from the shop and that teachers in and out of the facility have been hectic as a result. People are driving in with these 96-gallon bins.

Epidemiology and Outbreak: The Town of Falmouth is keeping its head above water, thanks to an all-out battle against the Water Superintendant Cathal Graves said that the doubling of the town’s water usage after the snowfall, forced the town to rely only on its pumping system to make up for the demand for water. With the supply for the town was never enough to meet the demand for a pump, resulting in a loss of pressure in the distribution system, the fire department access to open up.

The restriction went into effect on August 8.

Police To Close Roads During Race

By NOLLYE ANNONEN

Falmouth is preparing for the annual boom of runners and vis- itors attending the Falmouth Road Race on Sunday. The town grows pretty dra- maticly in size on Race Day. The town has more than 100,000 people on that day, you have to understand the race is going on. It’s going to be some inconvenience for people.

The race will begin at 8:30 AM on Sunday. It will run from the start line, between Harbor Hill Road and Water Street, on to West Main Street, all the way through the harbor and Quissett Avenue between Quissett Harbor Road and Woods Hole Road. The race will be open to both runners and cyclists.

The race will be returned to normal after the runners have crossed the finish line. Woods Hole Road will be closed to traffic at 4 AM with an estimated reopening later in the afternoon, around 2 PM. That will allow race officials time to clean up the area after the race, before the town begins to reopen.

The trolley will be closed at 4 AM with an estimated reopening later in the afternoon.
