

MEDIA STATEMENT | JUNE 28, 2024

On June 27, 2024, a lawsuit was filed in follow up to the conviction of terminated employee Michael Woosley for sexual harassment of several former employees. Woosley was sentenced to 30 days in jail for his behavior. The lawsuit alleges sexual harassment and other misconduct.

“Though we are still learning, we take this suit extremely seriously and reiterate our strong support and compassion for the employees who experienced harassment,” said Kyle Cummings, CEO of Black Butte Ranch. “Our top priority has always been, and will continue to be, creating a safe and welcoming environment for our employees, homeowners, and guests.”

Our leadership team will continue to work with our community to provide as much transparency as possible regarding our efforts to keep the Ranch a place that is welcoming and safe for all. In that spirit, tonight we shared the attached open letter to employees and members of the Black Butte Ranch community.
