Sisters Senior Living Transitions to Independent Living Model

Sisters, OR – February 24, 2025 – Sisters Senior Living has made the difficult decision to discontinue its assisted living services due to economic challenges. While this change marks a significant transition for our community, we remain committed to serving seniors in the Sisters area by continuing to offer independent living housing.

We understand that this decision impacts our residents and their families, and we have taken thoughtful steps to support them. Eligible residents have been given the option to remain in our community as independent living residents. Additionally, we are working closely with local in-home care agencies to ensure that those who require assistance can continue to receive the care they need while maintaining the freedom and comfort of living in their home at Sisters Senior Living.

“Our priority has always been the well-being of our residents,” said Warren Page, CEO of Artegan, (management company for Sisters Senior Living). “While we can no longer sustain an assisted living model, we are dedicated to providing a vibrant and supportive independent living environment. We remain deeply committed to serving seniors in Sisters and look forward to continuing to be a valuable part of this community.”

Sisters Senior Living appreciates the ongoing support from residents, families, and the broader community as we move forward with this transition. For more information, please contact Jeni Sturdivant, Executive Director at ED@SistersSL.com.
