Northwest College
WYOMING

SERVING THE BIGHORN BASIN

Look around the Basin.

CHANCES ARE... NWC TRAINED SOMEONE YOU COUNT ON.

HEALTHCARE	THE TRADES	PUBLIC SAFETY
The nurse who checked your mother's vitals.	The welder who got the baler running in August.	The deputy who knows your road by name.

Northwest College trains the people who keep Park, Big Horn and Washakie counties running. Students learn healthcare, agriculture, the trades and public safety from faculty who know them by name, then go to work for Basin employers or transfer to a four-year university when they're ready.

$1.62M

Local property taxes help keep these programs open and tuition within reach.

$1.62 million in local revenue already cut since 2024.

If Proposition 1 passes, the college and the region will lose an additional estimated $474,037 in revenue.

THESE ARE THE FACTS. THE IMPACT IS REAL.

nwc.edu

Sources: Wyoming Department of Revenue, Property Tax Division (Aug. 7, 2026); WACCT impact estimates (Oct. 2026); Wyoming Secretary of State ballot text.