Columbus: A Bright Future

Columbus as a community has persisted during these challenging times and continues to move forward, proving it truly is “The City of Power and Progress.” The Chamber’s work, in collaboration with community partners, government and the business community, is allowing us to shape the Columbus area’s bright future.

In 2020, the Chamber continued its community development efforts by supporting the funding of a new community building in downtown Columbus. Voters overwhelmingly approved using existing revenues to fund a bond issue that would allow the City of Columbus to move forward with the project. And early in 2021, Columbus Community Hospital’s board of directors voted to build a field house that will connect to the Wellness Center, another CCH project. The Chamber plans to support CCH in its efforts and sees the field house as another significant community development project that will impact the community for generations to come.

We’re glad you’ve chosen to look through the Columbus Area

Chamber of Commerce’s 2021-22 membership directory. The approximately 770 members listed in this directory ARE the Chamber of Commerce, and we hope you will check them first when you need a product or service. These businesses, organizations, and individuals invest in our community, and we are proud to encourage you to use their products and services.

This publication also highlights a whole lot of “Something Good” that nearly 23,000 hard-working, friendly people have found here. Whether it’s participating in fun events like Columbus Days, or walking a trail, or playing a round of golf, or taking advantage of the hundreds of jobs available right here, right now ... we’re confident you’ll find something good here for you, too, and help shape the future of Columbus!

WHO WE ARE

Our Past and Present

Pioneer families traveling west in the mid-1800s found Columbus, near the confluence of the Platte and Loup Rivers, an excellent place for rest.

Its location was determined by a group of 13 men, many from Columbus, Ohio, and Illinois. They first organized the “Columbus Town Company,” with intentions to establish a new settlement somewhere along the northern branch of the Oregon Trail where a ferry could travel across the Loup River and where they might sell supplies to Overland Trail travelers.

Founded in 1856, Columbus, Nebraska served as a major outfitting post for many between the 1850s and 1870s. Its first log cabin was built in 1856 and one year later, there were 18 houses, a sawmill, and a hotel. In early 1858, a petition to incorporate the community was requested. The petition was approved in 1865 through a special act of Nebraska’s Territorial Legislature.

In 1866, to the satisfaction of its 13 founders, the city became a stopping point for the transcontinental railroad, and by the 1870s, approximately 2,000 people lived here with the Union Pacific Railroad turning the area into a thriving community.

A notable man named Frank North helped organize the famous Pawnee Scouts in 1864, recruiting Pawnee Indian warriors from their reservation west of Columbus. He was appointed a captain of volunteers by the Nebraska Territorial Governor and served as Commander of the Pawnee Scouts until 1877, fighting bands of marauding Indians and protecting the UP Railroad.

In the course of this work, North became friends with

William F. “Buffalo Bill” Cody. Together with other Columbus men, he helped Cody organize and perfect his “Wild West Show.” In May of 1883, Cody’s show train stopped in Columbus on its way from North Platte to Omaha where it was scheduled to give its first performance. The show stayed a few days to rehearse the acts that would thrill the nation for years to come. As early as 1874, dreams of harnessing the Loup River for power and irrigation were conceived. In 1934, work began on a diversion dam and a 35-mile canal. Today, this canal feeds two hydroelectric plants that generate electricity for Loup Power District.

In the years that followed, businesses and public facilities were progressively added to the community’s amenities. The 33rd Viaduct was constructed in the 1930s, and the Platte County Agricultural Society and its “Ag Park” were established. The community became home to the county fair and live, thoroughbred horse racing.

The first municipal industrial site west of the Mississippi was conceived. Behlen Mfg. Co. became the first local company to operate here, and Becton Dickinson and Co. was the first outside firm recruited to the site. Today, there are reportedly nearly 4,000 businesses in the Columbus area.

These businesses are supported by public, parochial and rural schools systems with average teacher/pupil ratios of 1:13 and computer to student ratio of approximately 1:1. Columbus is also home to a community college which offers a variety of degree and certificate options in 14 career and technical programs. In addition, there are 20 other, higher education options located within a 148 mile radius.

The Columbus Community Hospital is a community-owned facility complemented by numerous clinics, medical service facilities, and health-care service businesses.

Suffice it to say, the community continues to serve as a great place between Texas and Canada and Colorado and Chicago to stop and rest. Columbus has grown to a population of 23,000 and home to a diverse mix of large and small agriculture, manufacturing, mercantile and entertaining enterprises, with more construction in business and neighborhoods happening every year.

Strength in Numbers and Members

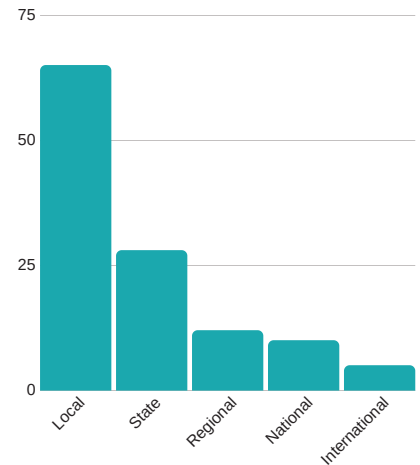

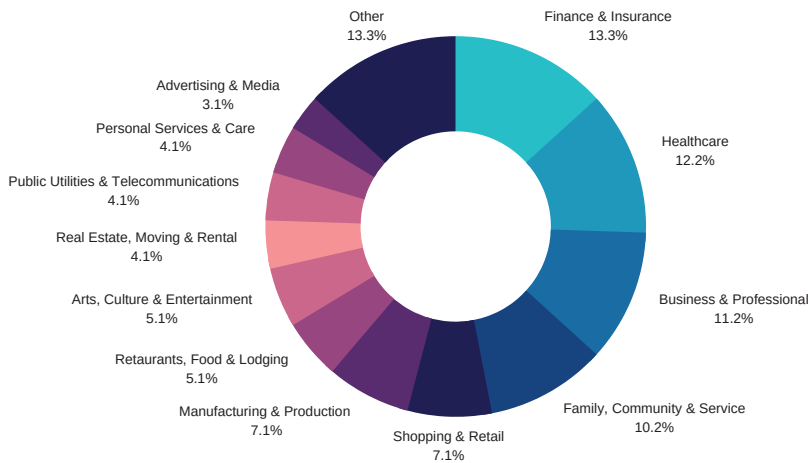

In 2019, the Chamber surveyed its members and learned the diversity of our business members remains strong. As the graph below shows, our members represent more than a dozen categories of industries or types of businesses, from manufacturing to media and real estate to retail.

In addition, our members sell their products and services to several target markets, with most selling locally (see graph). Several of our industrial customers, however, sell both nationally and internationally.

It's a nice combination.

While our manufacturing base represents a nearly $3 billion annual impact to our community, more than 95 percent of the Chamber's members are considered "small business," with less than 500 employees. Collectively, they represent a labor force population of more than 19,000 salary workers from Platte County and the counties around us.

A BRIGHT FUTURE

2020 Drive for Five Annual Report

The labor and workforce situation in Columbus has not changed much from 2019 to 2020, a situation that carries with it both positives and negatives. Platte County continues to have one of the lowest unemployment rates in the state and a vast list of great career opportunities available for candidates. With so many people exiting the workforce to retire, it is remarkable that the size of our labor force continues to grow and become more skilled. A global pandemic didn't slow the pace of work in Platte County, Nebraska. Very few employees felt the uncertainty of a layoff, and those who did were quickly invited to resume their efforts.

Local employers continue to seek out new avenues to bring talent to their businesses. Drive for Five has been and will continue to be a key tool in recruiting, developing, and retaining talent in our community.

Drive for Five led or participated in several recruiting activities, although they looked a little different this year. Personal connections were made with at least 1,096 job seekers by way of providing community information; gathering resumes and contact information, and sharing current job opportunities. 197 resumes were received from job seekers and then shared with our Drive for Five sponsors and a community tour was coordinated to introduce potential employees to all that our community has to offer. Our online reach continues to grow through Drive for Five's website workin-columbus.com, our Facebook and Twitter pages, and targeted marketing through Google ads.

Workforce readiness programs proved challenging to facilitate this year, but were just as effective as we utilized our flexible and resilient business partners to help prepare local students for the careers awaiting them after graduation.

Collaboration continued to play an integral part in Drive for Five's efforts. Partnerships were established or continued with the Nebraska Dept. of Labor, the Nebraska Extension Office, ESU7, Loup Public Power, Nebraska Public Power District, Columbus Economic Council, Columbus Area Community Foundation, Nebraska Community Foundation, the Nebraska Talent Team, Platte County Board of Supervisors, City of Columbus, Dream It! Do It!, the Columbus Area United Way, Columbus Area Human Resources Association, Central Community College—Columbus, Columbus Public Schools, Lakeview Community Schools, Scotus Central Catholic High School, The University of Nebraska College of Engineering, Rural Prosperity Nebraska, Columbus Safety Council, and the Columbus Area Chamber's Drive for Five committee members, as well as all of the partner agencies and service providers who attend the monthly Employ Columbus meetings.

The Chamber could not do the work it does without the support of its Drive for Five recruitment sponsors: ADM; Associated Staffing, Inc.; BD Medical Systems; BD Pharmaceutical Systems; Behlen Mfg. Co.; Big Iron

Auctions; Black Hills Energy; Brookestone Acres; CAMACO; Cargill Meat Solutions; Cargill Protein; Central Confinement Service LLC; City of Columbus; Columbus Community Hospital; Columbus Hydraulics; Columbus Public Schools; Cornhusker Public Power District; Cruise & Associates Inc.; Duo-Lift Manufacturing Company; FLEXcon Company; kwELITE Real Estate; Lakeview Community Schools; Loup Power District; MIBA Industrial Bearings; Northwestern Mutual; Pillen Family Farms; Pinnacle Bank; Platte County Board of Supervisors; Preferred Sands of Genoa; Samson, LLC; Steven-Jenny RE/MAX; Timpte; Valmont Utility and Vishay.

Columbus Days

There is something to be said about “strength in numbers,” and bringing members of a community together is one of best activities a chamber can do. Each year, the Chamber — supported by hundreds of volunteers — hosts a variety of events for friends and neighbors. One of the biggest is Columbus Days in August.

While 2020's celebration was called off due to the pandemic, when Aug. 13-15 rolls around this year, the Columbus Days Board will get back to hosting the area's “biggest block party.” The 2021 Columbus Days theme is “Oh the places we'll go.” So watch out for all things Dr. Seuss, including the Grinch, the Cat in the Hat, and more!

Put our expertise to work for you.

Taste of Columbus

The Taste of Columbus is a unique community event which highlights area food vendors and wine and beer distributors. Participants come to enjoy delicious culinary delights while supporting an important cause.

Silent and live grand auctions are included and the proceeds are awarded to both the Chamber to support its annual program of work and a local, non-profit organization.

After a unique all-virtual event last year, Taste of Columbus will be back in person at Ramada by Wyndham – River's Edge Convention Center. This year's recipient is Habitat for Humanity of Columbus, NE.

Scheduled for Oct. 10, 2021, the dollars raised will support future Habitat for Humanity builds in Columbus.

2021 Co-chairs are Rick and Lynda Lemp and Neal and Megan Valorz. Working with a team of outstanding volunteers, the chairs look forward to hosting an in-person event and raising money to fund Habitat for Humanity's work in Columbus. Leadership ... At All Ages

Cardinal J. Gibbons once said, “There are no office hours for leaders,” and how true that is in Columbus! Whether a voluntary chair for one of the Chamber’s committees, a participant in the Leadership Columbus program, or a student exploring his or her own community, our leaders are available around the clock and involved in a variety of initiatives.

The Leadership Columbus program encourages employers to sponsor an employee from their organization to participate in the one day a month for nine months program. These professionals, regardless of career field, learn about the opportunities, problems, and resources prevalent in the Columbus community. Each class learns about the area, from its agricultural businesses to its underserved residents and the organizations that work to support the populations needs in healthcare, employment, social, and safety.

The Youth Leadership Columbus initiative was created by an alumni class of the Leadership Columbus program. Like the program for adult workers, the Youth Leadership Program introduces students to their community and helps them experience life in Columbus, from group discussions to city government.

Commodores Cultivate Camaraderie

Approximately 30 business leaders serve as a welcoming committee for the Chamber. Called the Commodores, these are representatives who serve as a peer network for business owners and entrepreneurs. Throughout the course of the year, they attend coffees, ribbon cuttings, networking and membership activities, as well as business retention activities. They participate in “Commodore Calls” where they – as a group – meet at member businesses to help them celebrate new ownership, anniversaries, or significant achievements.

They can also be seen assisting with Columbus Days, Coronation, the Red, White, Kaboom, Business Hall of Fame banquet and Taste of Columbus. They truly are good company and play an essential role in the Chamber’s success.

A BRIGHT FUTURE

Join a Committee

Behind the scenes of every chamber are tireless hours and the delightful passions of hundreds of volunteers who leave their fingerprints on a myriad of details managed by a committee. Collectively, the Chamber sponsors more than 20 different committees or project teams, each in pursuit of outcomes that better our community.

Belonging to a Chamber committee means helping to fulfill the organization's mission to enhance Columbus' economic well-being and quality of life. With approximately 400 individuals participating in more than two dozen ad hoc or standing committees and initiatives throughout the year, the Chamber is proud to say we are making a difference.

Some committees plan celebratory events; others host conferences; still others meet regularly to advance initiatives that benefit our infrastructure, entrepreneurs and businesses. Together, we brand Columbus as "Something Good" for everyone.

Pick a committee, any committee and get involved!

The Chamber could not achieve all it does without the help of hundreds of volunteers who participate as members of a committee. Together they work to make Columbus "Something Good," and their efforts are as diverse as the committee members themselves. Review the list below and call the Chamber to learn more about the committee, event or initiative where you can provide some muscle, money, or mindfulness. All are welcome!

Engaging Diversity

Malcolm Forbes described diversity as “the art of thinking independently together,” and the various initiatives of the Chamber’s Engaging Diversity Committee demonstrates the independent spirit of Columbus’ population.

The Committee sponsors a Diversity & Inclusion Summit at Central Community College each year, bringing in speakers who offer unique perspectives about culture, humanity, and workplace experiences.

The Chamber will also help coordinate the Hispanic Latino Youth Summit in October, which brings in hundreds of students from across the state to develop leadership skills and discuss their futures. The Committee also provides ongoing support for bi-monthly networking breakfasts sponsored by Centro Hispano’s Micro Business Development Program. Graduating participants in the program who start up a business receive a discount on their Chamber membership.

Housing

Home is where your heart is and, while Columbus has a lot of heart, it is also adding more housing options for residents. After several years of discussion, committee members of the Chamber's Housing committee are excited to be a catalyst for at least three of them.

Due to Nebraska's Rural Workforce Housing Fund (RWHF) created in 2017, NeighborWorks Northeast Nebraska prepared Columbus' application to access those funds, handled the application for developers and builders and has administered the funds.

Columbus Received $850,000 from RWHF, and several local entities helped meet the matching requirement to bring the pool of funds to $1,950,000. The entities included the City, Nebraska Investment Finance Authority, Columbus Community Foundation, Columbus Development Corporation and the Columbus Area United Way.

The following three developments are results of the RWH grant: Granville's Customer Home's Farmview Development, constructed northwest of the Columbus Municipal Airport. It will contain 31 single-family and 24, multi family units.

4J Capital's Village Meadow Apartments, which are being constructed just east of Me-nards, will contain 180 total living units: 84, one- bedroom apartments, 79, two-bed-room apartments,78, two-bedroom apart-ments, and 18 studio units.

SERC's Centennial Rental Project, which is being constructed west of Centennial Elementary School. It will contain 34 total housing units,16 of which are townhomes. Other projects being developed independent to these include workforce housing units near Frontier Park (East 14th Avenue). Also, a 74- unit interior apartment complex is being build directly by the new Bomgaars.

Streets: Columbus' Open Doorway

Streets are doorways to a community and two committees within the Chamber are working to make sure the roadways in and around Columbus are welcoming to visitors and safe to pedestrians and residents alike.

The Transportation Committee meets monthly to share information about city and county road projects, as well as state highways which lace Columbus to other communities such as Fremont to the east, Norfolk to the north, and access to Lincoln, York and Kearney when traveling south out of town.

The committee continues its discussion on the advantages of developing a route that would connect Highway 30 east of Columbus to Highway 64 near Bellwood.

The proposal, which has been discussed in previous years, would support economic development in the area, and provide easier access for employees working at Columbus' manufacturing facilities, especially if flooding or weather conditions closed off usual travel. A proposal to study the route has the financial support of the Platte County Board of Supervisors, as well as several other counties bordering Platte County.

A second committee is focused on the reconstruction of 23rd Street. The major thoroughfare in and out of Columbus is scheduled for a reconstruction between 2021-2022. To support the City of Columbus' commitment of $500,000 toward beautifying the road with streetscaping elements, such as trees and better signage, the Chamber's Streetscaping Committee is raising $100,000 to support the project.

Shop Small for Big Benefit

Did you know: a small business that is a member of its local chamber of commerce enjoys a 49% increase in consumer favorability rating, 68% increase in its local reputation, and an 80% increase in the likelihood that consumers will patronize the business in the future?

If a company shows high involvement in its local chamber (e.g. is a chamber board member, involved in a committee or event, etc.), consumers are 10% more likely to think its products stack up better against its competition.

Helping small and large businesses succeed is central to a chamber's mission. In addition to workforce development programs that recruit employees and offer training opportunities, the Columbus Chamber has an Entrepreneurship Task Force made up of selected individuals pursuing retail and commercial developments in the Columbus area. It also helps new entrepreneurs start their business, find location and select ways to market themselves.

Entrepreneurs are known for trying new ideas and bringing innovative products and services to the market. This year, the Entrepreneurship Task Force will do that for Chamber members by using a grant from the United States Department of Agriculture. It's a Rural Business Development project which helps the Columbus community.

Ten businesses and two coordinators are scheduled to attend Jon Schallert's "Destination Business Bootcamp" in September. The training will not only give area businesses the tools to make their business a destination location for shoppers, it will be a train-the-trainer experience our local business participants will receive to help their fellow retailers market themselves.

Agriculture

Agricultural production has been a staple of the Columbus area and the economy from its earliest beginnings. Our local ag producers and the ag-related businesses which support them provide necessities for the world's ever-expanding population — from food to farming equipment to fabricated buildings.

Because of agriculture's role in the economy, the Chamber has a committee dedicated to recognizing and promoting the leaders which make agriculture an essential industry for the area.

The Agribusiness Committee, with more than 50 members, coordinates several events to celebrate ag and its impact: the Rural Recognition Banquet in March, the Businessperson's Breakfast in conjunction with the Platte County Fair, an Ag Luncheon during Columbus Days and an Ag Tour in the fall.

The committee believes, as Thomas Jefferson once did, that "Agriculture is our wisest pursuit, because it will, in the end, contribute most to real wealth, good morals, and happiness," for our community.

Drive for Five Annual Report on our School-Business Partnership

Enhancing Columbus Career Opportunity Awareness for the youth in our community continues to be a critical component of the Drive for Five Initiative. Our goal is to get students workforce ready, to inform students of the advantages and opportunities they have by making their permanent home in our area, invite students into a local career path, and to create a skilled talent pipeline that will meet the needs of our employers in years to come.

Our career awareness programs are made possible by the School-Business partnership supported by Columbus Public Schools and Lakeview Community Schools, as well as our Drive for Five supporters and volunteers. These programs include:

PATH (Providing Avenues Toward Hometown Experiences): This job shadow program continues to grow in effectiveness and popularity providing job shadowing experiences for high school students at Columbus businesses. Students can select various career tracks and follow multiple professionals at their job to discover whether their chosen career is going to be a good fit for them or not. It is just as beneficial for the students to learn if they have chosen the wrong career interest, so the program can redirect them into something else they can picture themselves doing in their future.

College Day: Elementary schools participate in this event. It is an opportunity for 4th and 5th grade students to learn that it is never too early to start thinking about the ways a post-secondary education will improve their future success. Different careers have different educational requirements and those educational paths are highlighted on College Day.

Vehicle Day: First-grade students get the chance to learn about the vehicles that make businesses work. Around 400 students joined 20 businesses, spending an afternoon viewing vehicles. Fire trucks, police cruisers, street sweepers, semi-trucks, tractors and many more, show kids the kinds of cars and trucks that they might one day get to work with and gives them an early introduction into STEM careers.

Reality 101: Students at Columbus Middle School and Lakeview High School get a dose of reality during this annual event.

A BRIGHT FUTURE

The students pose as adults aged 28-30. They are assigned jobs, salaries, families and real life challenges and successes. They enter the Reality 101 area where booths are set up, ready to sell them goods and services that will affect their monthly budget. By the end of the exercise the 8th and 9th graders' eyes are opened to what they will one day have to consider in the "real world".

Industry In Education

Day: Thanks to the collaboration of local industries, the Business, Industry and Education Committee, and our three local school systems, high school students take part in activities which focus on the importance of soft skills, teamwork, resume preparation and interviewing. Each student is able to take part in mock-interviews with local industry professionals.

Career Dream Team: The team of industrial ambassadors is made up of young professionals with successful careers in manufacturing & STEM fields. They connect with local students to promote the Dream It! Do It! initiative of destigmatizing manufacturing as dirty, dark, and dangerous. Instead, manufacturing careers are high paying, cutting edge, global influence opportunities. The goal of the Career Dream Team is to help students realize the importance of obtaining 21st Century skills so that when they enter the workforce, they will be positioned for high wage careers in manufacturing & related industries. Dream Team members take part in radio interviews and present their personal career journey to local classes. They also participate in most of the Drive for Five school partnership programs, all in a collective effort to promote educational and career pathways that will enable students to earn top salaries in exciting careers.

Manufacturing Day: High school students from Nebraska schools tour local manufacturing operations. They get to see the diversity of careers available inside the walls of these giants and they meet successful people in the manufacturing sector. Through the work of Dream It, Do It and Drive for Five, we create awareness of the outstanding careers available in advanced manufacturing and related fields right here and we help students recognize the impact manufacturing provides for our region's economy, standard of living, and quality of life.

Industrial Strength

Hypodermic needles. Electronic components. Steel buildings. Automotive seats. Wet corn milling. Cooked meats. Package labeling. Hydraulic cylinders. Steel utility structures. Products from a variety of industries are made right here in Columbus.

The community is home to several international manufacturers: BD Medical, Vishay Dale Electronics, Behlen Mfg. Co., LLC, ADM Corn Processing, Cargill Protein, FLEXcon, Columbus Hydraulics Co., Inc., and Valmont Newmark. All of these employers are members of the Chamber, and collectively, they employ 5,741 people directly and 10,269 indirectly, with 2,743 working in supply chain jobs supporting manufacturing and 1,785 other related positions.

These manufacturing positions pay an average compensation per employee of $66,878, which is 51 percent higher than the area's average salary of $44,270, and a key reason why Columbus is economically strong.

To support our manufacturers, the Chamber sponsors or is a participant with several entities that are invested in making sure our manufacturers are successful.

The Columbus Economic Council is led by Loup Power District with support from the Chamber in holding periodic meetings and in-person retention visits. The Industrial Leaders breakfasts bring plant managers together for discussions about employment, expansion opportunities and community needs. And foundational to both is the work of the Drive for Five Committee, which marries the needs of employers with the educational opportunities offered to students in local schools.
