

1 2. On May 5, 2023 at the arraignment hearing, I was assigned
2 for all purposes to this case. I have presided over
3 every substantive hearing in this case since that time,
4 including two jury trials.
5

6 3. The first trial was on the issue of the defendant's
7 competency. It commenced July 24, 2023. Here is the 8 statement of the case agreed upon by the parties and read
9 to the jury panel: "This is a competency trial, meaning
10 the jury we select today will decide whether Carlos
11 Dominquez is mentally competent to stand trial. A
12 criminal defendant is mentally incompetent, if as a 13 result of a mental health disorder, the defendant is 14 unable to understand the nature and purpose of the 15 criminal proceedings or to assist counsel in the conduct 16 of a defense in a rational manner or to understand his 17 own status and condition in the criminal proceedings.
18 Carlos Dominquez is presumed competent at this point.
19 The defense has the burden of proof -- by a preponderance
20 of evidence -- to prove in this trial that he is not 21 competent. The prosecution believes that the defendant
22 is competent to stand trial. The defendant is charged
23 with the murder of two individuals and the attempted 24 murder of a third; these charged incidents occurring in
26
27
28

VERIFIED ANSWER BY JUDGE SAMUEL T. McADAM PURSUANT TO CCP SEC. 170.3

1 April 2023 in Davis. The question of his guilt or 2 innocence is not before this Court. Rather, the sole
3 question is competency."
4

5 4. The competency trial ended mid-trial when the Prosecutor
6 changed its position and stipulated that the defendant
7 lacked competency. The jury was thanked and discharged.
8 The Court then issued a commitment Order directing the 9 defendant be transported to the State Hospital for 10 restoration under the care of mental health doctors.
11

12 5. More than one year after restoration, the second jury
13 trial commenced on April 28, 2025. It was to be 14 conducted in two phases, guilt and then sanity. Here is 15 the Statement of the Case agreed upon by the parties and 16 read to the jury: "This case involves three stabbings
17 that occurred in the City of Davis on or about April 27, 18 2023, April 29, 2023, and May 1, 2023, which resulted in 19 the deaths of two men named David Breau and Karim Abou
20 Najm, and an injured woman named Kimberlee Guillory. The 21 defendant is charged with two counts of murder, one count
22 of attempted murder and various enhancements. He has 23 pled Not Guilty and Not Guilty by reason of insanity."

26 6. The second trial ended in an acquittal of the defendant 27 as to the two first degree murder charges involving the 28

VERIFIED ANSWER BY JUDGE SAMUEL T. McADAM PURSUANT TO CCP SEC. 170.3

1 killings of Mr. Breaux and Mr. Abou Najm and a mistrial
2 on the lesser-included offense of second-degree murder
3 and the attempted murder of Ms. Guillory. Thus, the jury
4 did not address the lesser-included offense of 5 involuntary manslaughter. I polled the jury on the 6 second-degree murder charge as to Mr. Breaux and the 7 jury's impasse vote was 10-2 in favor of an acquittal.
8 Note, the defendant had conceded that he committed a 9 crime and asked the jury to return a verdict of 10 involuntary manslaughter in favor of the Prosecution.

13 7. As a result of the mistrial, the jury was discharged and 14 there was no sanity phase of the trial. The parties
15 stipulated to a retrial set on January 20, 2026. Good 16 cause has been found to continue that trial date, and the 17 matter is now pending trial setting on January 22, 2026
18 at 1:30 pm.
19

20 8. Under Code of Civil Procedure sec. 170, I have an ongoing 21 duty to continue to preside over this case. It is 22 fundamental under CCP sec. 170 that "[a] judge has a duty
23 to decide any proceeding in which he or she is not 24 disqualified." Judicial responsibility does not require
25 shrinking every time an advocate asserts the objective 26 and fair judge appears to be biased. (Wechsler at 391, 27
28

VERIFIED ANSWER BY JUDGE SAMUEL T. McADAM PURSUANT TO CCP SEC. 170.3

1 citing Haworth at 392.) The duty of a judge to sit when 2 not disqualified is equally as strong as the duty not to 3 sit when disqualified. (Id.)

4
5 9. I deny that I am biased against the Prosecution in this 6 case, and I further deny that I have made any decision or 7 engaged in any conduct that would present the reasonable
8 appearance of bias against the Prosecution. I am fair,
9 and I have an open mind and am ready, willing and capable 10 to continue presiding over this case.
11

12 General Legal Principles

13 10. The starting point for the reviewing court's 14 analysis here is the presumption of "the honesty and 15 integrity of those serving as judges" in regard to their 16 state of mind concerning impartiality. (See Rothman,
17 page 918 (Fourth Edition) citing People v. Chatman (2006)
18 38 Cal.4th 344, 361.)
19

20 11. The People's Statement of Disqualification is 21 based on CCP sec. 170.3 (a)(6)(A)(iii), alleging that the 22 assigned judicial officer should be disqualified because 23 "a person aware of the facts might reasonably entertain a 24 doubt that the judge would be able to impartial."

26 12. A determination on a challenge for cause under 27 this provision "touches upon the core of the judicial 28

VERIFIED ANSWER BY JUDGE SAMUEL T. McADAM PURSUANT TO CCP SEC. 170.3

1 process requiring the appearance of objectivity of the 2 decision maker." (United Farm Workers of American v.
3 Superior Court (1985) 170 Cal.App.3d 97, 100.) It is not 4 a matter of proving actual bias but is a question of the 5 appearance of bias. (Wechsler v. Superior Court (2014)
6 224 Cal.App.4th 384, 390-91.) "A party has the right to 7 an objective decision maker and to a decision maker who 8 appears to be fair and impartial." (Id.)

11 13. The Court in Wechsler explained the meaning of 12 impartiality and how it is assessed. "Impartiality"
13 entails the absence of bias or prejudice in favor of, or 14 against a party, as well as the maintenance of an open
15 mind. The test is an objective one: if a fully informed,
16 reasonable member of the public would fairly entertain
17 doubts that the judge is impartial, the judge should be 18 disqualified. (224 Cal.App.4th at 390-391.)

20 14. The reasonable person is not someone who is 21 "hypersensitive or unduly suspicious," but rather is a 22 "well-informed, thoughtful observer." (Weschler, citing
23 United Farm at 106, fn. 6, and Haworth v. Superior Court
24 (2010) 50 Cal.4th 372, 389.) The reasonable person must 25 be viewed from the perspective of a reasonable layperson,
26 someone outside the judicial system. (Id.)
28

VERIFIED ANSWER BY JUDGE SAMUEL T. McADAM PURSUANT TO CCP SEC. 170.3

1 15. As further summarized in Weschler, the California
2 Supreme Court has cautioned that a party raising a
3 challenge has a "heavy burden" and must "clearly"
4 establish the appearance of bias. (Wechsler at 391,
5 citing Haworth at 389.) The appearance of bias standard
6 must not be so broadly construed that it becomes, in 7 effect, presumptive, so that a recusal is mandated upon 8 the merest unsubstantiated suggestion of personal bias or 9 prejudice. (Id.)
11

12 Grounds to Strike the Statement of Disqualification

13 16. Under Code of Civil Procedure sec. 170.4, the 14 Statement of Disqualification may be stricken by the 15 trial judge if it is "untimely filed or if on its face it
16 discloses no legal grounds for disqualification." Here,
17 the Prosecutor's Statement is both untimely and without a 18 legal basis.

20 17. As to timeliness, the Statement must be presented 21 at the earliest practicable opportunity after the 22 discovery of the facts constituting grounds for 23 disqualification. (Code of Civ. Proc. Sec. 170.3 (c)(1); 24 Jolie v. Superior Court (2021) 66 Cal.App.5th 1025, 25 1042.)
26
27
28

1 18. For example, the Court in Magana v. Superior
2 Court (2018) 22 Cal.App.5th 840, 854-56 found that a
3 request for recusal was properly stricken by the trial
4 court when it related to events occurring one month
5 earlier. (See also Tri Counties Bank v. Superior Court, 6 (2008) 167 Cal.App.4th 1332, 1337 (delay in seeking to 7 disqualify judge "constitutes forfeiture or an implied
8 waiver of the disqualification.")
9

10 19. Here, all of the accusations made by the 11 Prosecutor, except one discussed below, relate to 12 decisions made by me during the competency trial in 2023
13 - over two years ago -- and the trial on guilt which 14 concluded early July 2025 - over four months before the 15 filing the December 16, 2025 Statement of 16 Disqualification. In fact, after the most recent jury
17 trial, the parties met with the Court and stipulated to 18 setting the retrial in January 2026. Nothing was said
19 about the trial not being fair.

22 20. Rather, the People only filed the Statement of 23 Disqualification after its motion for an order to conduct
24 a psychiatric evaluation of the defendant was denied at 25 hearing on November 20, 2026. As noted in the cases
26 cited above, waiting to file a Statement based on long
28

VERIFIED ANSWER BY JUDGE SAMUEL T. McADAM PURSUANT TO CCP SEC. 170.3

1 standing alleged misconduct of the judge until after 2 receiving an adverse ruling is per se untimely.

3 21. More fundamentally, however, the People's 4 complaint about the Court's ruling on the motion to 5 conduct a psychological examination is an insufficient
6 basis for disqualification. The Court decision here is 7 an authorized legal ruling made during the discharge of 8 the judge's duties in the case. (See In re Morelli
9 (1970) 11 Cal.App.3d 819, 843; In re Lemen (1980) 113
10 Cal.App.3d 769, 789-91; In re United States (1st Cir.
11 1981) 666 F.2d 690, 697-98.)

12 22. It is fundamental that a judge cannot be 13 disqualified for making authorized lawful rulings. The 14 People have not even argued that the Court's decision set 15 forth in the transcript filed as Exhibit R denying the 16 motion for a psychological evaluation was "legal error."
17 In other words, the People have made no showing that the 18 decision was wrong as a matter of law.

19 23. In the more serious matters where litigants are 20 faced with a judicial ruling that constitutes legal 21 error, "something more" is required to support a 22 Statement of Disqualification. (See e.g. Blakemore v.
23 Superior Court (2005) 129 Cal.App.4th 36, 59-60.)

25
26
27
28
VERIFIED ANSWER BY JUDGE SAMUEL T. McADAM PURSUANT TO CCP SEC. 170.3

1 Indeed, in Blakemore, the Court of Appeal found that the
2 trial judge did err multiple times, but nonetheless
3 refused to disqualify him, drawing a distinction between 4 legal error and bias. (Id.)
5

6 24. The Court in UFW of Am v. Superior Court (1985)
7 170 Cal.App.3d 97, 1040105, explained that the "average
8 person on the street" is less likely to perceive bias on 9 matters of legal concern, as compared to ruling on 10 factual matters. This is because legal rulings are 11 subject to appellate review whereby the factual findings
12 of the Court are accorded more deference.

14 25. Thus, when considering a party's attack on the 15 trial judge's legal rulings in a claim for bias, the 16 reviewing Court should first determine whether there was 17 a "legal error" and then assess whether there was 18 "something more" beyond the legal ruling that would 19 suggest bias.

21 26. Here, the Court does not get to the second
22 question of the "something more" because there is not 23 even a claim of "legal error." To put it simply, how can 24 a lawful Court ruling constitute a basis for 25 disqualification of a trial judge. If it did, the entire 26
27
28

1 justice system would be turned on its head. Obviously,
2 lawful rulings cannot be used to disqualify a judge.

3 27. The People's attack on the court's November 20, 4 2025 ruling is set forth in Section P of its Brief. In 5 reviewing the three-paragraph section, there is no cite 6 to any legal authority or to the transcript in support of 7 an argument of legal error.
8

9 28. Meanwhile, when making the ruling, I cited legal 10 authority and fully explained the application of the law
11 under CCP sec. 1054.3 to the circumstances of the case.
12 The Ruling is at page 14, line 10 through page 20 line 28
13 of the Transcript set forth as Exhibit R of the People's 14 Statement of Disqualification.
15

16 29. In its motion the People sought to explore a new 17 theory of the case that, as Prosecutor David Wilson
18 explained, the defendant committed the crimes under a
19 Cannabis Induced Psychosis, rather than as a result of a
20 psychotic episode related to the defendant's severe
21 mental health condition of schizophrenia. When asked why
22 the People ignored this issue at the first trial, 23 Attorney Wilson answered, "I don't have a good answer for 24 that Judge, I was not the trial attorney." (P's SOD, Ex.
25 R, page 7:1-9.)
26
27
28

VERIFIED ANSWER BY JUDGE SAMUEL T. McADAM PURSUANT TO CCP SEC. 170.3

1 30. The People have also complained that at the 2 October 16, 2025 hearing, I asked for an explanation as 3 to why the People needed a psychological evaluation at 4 this juncture, contending that I invaded the province of 5 their protected case strategy. I do not understand the 6 argument. At the time, the People made no objection.
7 The law requires a showing of need for the evaluation.
8 (Sharp v. Superior Court (2012) 54 Cal.4th 168, 176.)
9 Without a showing, the motion would have died on its 10 face. Instead, the People made a showing, and it was 11 considered by the Court under section 1054.3 and related 12 case law.

15 31. In sum, the People's motion was untimely because 16 the issue of the defendant's mental health had been 17 before the Court since May 2023, the expert doctors
18 appointed by the Court had addressed the issue of 19 cannabis use, the Prosecution had a full opportunity to 20 cross-examine those doctors on the issue and chose not 21 to, and an evaluation at this point, more than 2 plus 22 years after the crime and the defendant having been 23 treated for schizophrenia since June 2023, including by 24 psychotropic medication would offer little relevant
26
27
28

1 evidence to the issue of his state of mind in April and 2 May 2023.

3 32. On the issue of timeliness, the Court further
4 noted that the Prosecution had ample time and opportunity
5 to engage an expert and to ask the Court for an
6 evaluation during the course of competency proceedings
7 under Penal Code sec. 1368 and during the insanity
8 discovery phase of the proceedings under Penal Code sec.
9 1027. Meanwhile, during this time period, as many as 10 eight doctors had evaluated the defendant and all had 11 concluded that the defendant suffered from schizophrenia
12 and none had opined otherwise.

13 33. The decision on the People's discovery motion was 14 a reasoned legal ruling authorized by law.

15 34. To summarize: The People's discovery motion for 16 authorization to conduct a psychological examination of 17 the defendant decided on November 20, 2025 is the only 18 timely matter before the Court and because it was 19 resolved by a lawful ruling, the Statement of 20 Disqualification is insufficient on its face, is subject
21 to being stricken and I should not be disqualified.

22 35. At this point, however, I am exercising my 23 discretion in the interest of justice to not strike the 24

1 Statement and will proceed with a thorough analysis of
2 the remaining charges of the People.

3 The People's Complaint About Other Legal Rulings is Also 4 Insufficient Basis for Disqualification
5

6 36. I think in the spirit of full transparency and to 7 promote public confidence in this proceeding it is 8 important for me to explain why the other matters raised
9 by the Prosecution are also insufficient to disqualify
10 the trial judge.
11

12 37. The same standard applies to these other legal 13 rulings: to establish grounds for disqualification the 14 charging party must show "legal error" and "something 15 more."

17 38. A good summary of this rule was set forth by the 18 California Supreme Court in the ethics opinion,
19 Oberholzer v. Commission on Judicial Performance (1999)
20 20 Cal.4th 371, 398: "In summary, a judge who commits
21 legal error which, in addition, clearly and convincingly
22 reflects bad faith, bias, abuse of authority, disregard
23 for fundamental rights, intentional disregard for law, or 24 any purpose other than the faithful discharge of judicial 25 duty is subject to investigation. Mere legal error,
26 without more, however, is insufficient to support a
28

VERIFIED ANSWER BY JUDGE SAMUEL T. McADAM PURSUANT TO CCP SEC. 170.3

1 finding that a judge has violated the Code of Judicial
2 Ethics and should be disciplined."

3 39. The gravamen of the People's Statement of 4 Disqualification is an objection to a number of legal 5 rulings made by the trial judge in addition to the one
6 discussed above, namely: (1) June 20, 2023 Order Re:
7 defendant's spontaneous in-court statement; (2) July 24,
8 2023 Order Re: defendant's spontaneous in-court statement
9 admissibility at the competency hearing (People's Motion
10 in Limine #2); (3) April 15, 2025 Order Re: People's 11 Motion to Continue; (4) May 28, 2025 Trial Admonishment
12 Re: Scope of Examination of Dr. Weiner; (5) May 30, 2025
13 Failure to Admonish Defense Counsel Re: Comments to 14 Counsel; (6) June 5, 2025 Trial Ruling on Scope of 15 People's Rebuttal Case; and (7) June 18, 2025 Trial
16 Ruling Re: Admissibility of Use of Cannabis in the Sanity
17 Phase of Trial.
18

19 40. As a starting point, the People have not offered
20 any legal authority as to why any of these decisions were 21 wrongly decided. Rather, the People contend simply that 22 the decisions were unfair because they were adverse.
23

24 41. On the question of unfairness, I have made
25 hundreds of decisions in this case and have ruled in 26
27
28

1 favor of the Prosecution and against the defense on many
2 matters. The Prosecution has cherry-picked a small
3 handful of decisions. One of the most significant 4 evidentiary rulings, for example, was made in favor of 5 the People. The Court denied the defense Miranda motion
6 to exclude the video of the on-the-street encounter
7 between the police and the defendant before the defendant
8 was transported to the station for a custodial 9 interrogation and arrested for the crimes. The video was 10 highlighted by the People throughout the case, including 11 in closing argument.

14 -- In-Court Statement of Defendant

15 42. As for the Court's ruling regarding defendant's 16 spontaneous admission in Court on June 20, 2023, the 17 Court basically ruled that the admission could not be 18 used without further Court order. (See People's SOD, Ex.
19 B, page 3:4-24.) The hearing was for a review of the 20 Court appointed doctor's report opining that the 21 defendant was not competent. Criminal proceedings were 22 suspended at the time. The defendant had, of course,
23 exercised his right to counsel. The spontaneous
24 statement was made without the advice of counsel. It is 25 black letter law that statements made during competency
26
27
28

VERIFIED ANSWER BY JUDGE SAMUEL T. McADAM PURSUANT TO CCP SEC. 170.3

1 proceedings may not be used during the guilt phase of the
2 trial without Court order. (People v. Jablonski (2006)
3 37 Cal.4th 774, 802-804 (Fifth Amendment and judicial 4 immunity apply in competency proceeding.) But there was 5 no prohibition against either of the parties seeking to 6 introduce a video of the admission in any further
7 proceedings. (See People's SOD Ex. C, page 13:3-11.)

9 43. In fact, the People brought such a motion to 10 admit during the competency proceeding, and the Court
11 held a hearing on July 24, 2023 on the admissibility of 12 the video of the admission. The parties briefed the 13 matter and made good faith arguments. The Court denied
14 the People's motion on the grounds that the only expert
15 called to testify at the competency trial had not 16 reviewed the video when preparing her report and when 17 showed the video in Court at an Evidence Code sec. 802
18 hearing, said it did not change her opinion that the 19 defendant was not competent and that, as effectively
20 argued by the defense, the in-court admission was highly 21 prejudicial at that stage of the proceedings. Thus,
22 Evidence Code sec. 352 precluded its admission. (See
23 People's SOD Ex. C, pages 8:16-18:21; see Ex. C, pages
24 628:10-641:23.)
26
27
28

VERIFIED ANSWER BY JUDGE SAMUEL T. McADAM PURSUANT TO CCP SEC. 170.3

1 44. At the trial on guilt in 2025, the People chose
2 not to move the Court for an order admitting the video in 3 its case in chief. Only on rebuttal did the issue arise.
4 The Court explained the limited scope of rebuttal at 5 pages 2937:10-2940:7 of the Trial Transcript, Ex. I of 6 the People's Statement of Disqualification. The People's 7 motion was denied given that there was no explanation for 8 not offering it in the case in chief. (Ex. I of People's 9 Statement of Disqualification, Trial Transcript 3866:20-10 3868:9.)

11 -- Motion to Continue Trial

12
13
14 45. Turning to the next Order now attacked by the 15 Prosecution, the April 15, 2025 Order denying the 16 People's motion to continue the trial. First, the matter
17 was fully briefed and argued by the parties. The parties
18 did not stipulate to the continuance. In his opposition
19 brief, the defense argued that the People had not stated
20 good cause but did agree at oral argument to a two-month
21 continuance under certain conditions. Even if the 22 parties had stipulated to a continuance, the Court is 23 authorized to deny a motion to continue if there is no
24 showing of good cause. There was no showing of good
25 cause. (Hearing Transcript, pages 3:16-19:26, Ex. 1
26
27
28

VERIFIED ANSWER BY JUDGE SAMUEL T. McADAM PURSUANT TO CCP SEC. 170.3

1 McAdam Appendix.) Second, all the matters of concern
2 stated in the moving papers by the Prosecution had
3 resolved before and during the trial without prejudice.
4 Third, the Prosecution has failed to explain how there
5 was prejudice from holding the nine-week jury trial.
6 Finally, the Order was well reasoned and supported by the 7 law under Penal Code sec. 1050. There was no legal 8 error. This was another authorized lawful order and 9 cannot serve as the basis of disqualification.
10

11 -- Courtroom Control Issues
12

13 46. Next, we turn to consideration of the May 28,
14 2025 Trial Court Admonishment of Prosecution regarding 15 the cross-examination of Dr. Weiner, a court appointed 16 expert testifying on the mental condition of the 17 defendant at the time of the stabbings.
18

19 47. The People now contend that the trial court
20 improperly admonished Prosecutor van der Hoeck at a side-
21 bar that could be heard by the jury. (See People's SOD, 22 Section H and I.) Not true.
23

24 48. Additional rules of law apply to this 25 interaction. The starting point for the analysis is Penal 26 Code sec. 1044, which provides: "It shall be the duty of 27 the judge to control all proceedings during the trial,
28

VERIFIED ANSWER BY JUDGE SAMUEL T. McADAM PURSUANT TO CCP SEC. 170.3

1 and to limit the introduction of evidence and the 2 argument of counsel to relevant and material matters,
3 with a view to the expeditious and effective
4 ascertainment of the truth regarding the matters 5 involved."
6

7 49. A good discussion of the law regarding the 8 difference between reasonable courtroom control and 9 prejudicial conduct towards counsel is set forth in the 10 California Supreme Court decision of People v. Snow
11 (2003) 30 Cal.4th 43, 77-83.) The Court explains, it is 12 well within the trial court's discretion to rebuke an 13 attorney, sometimes harshly, when that attorney asks
14 inappropriate questions, ignores the court's 15 instructions, or otherwise engages in improper or 16 delaying behavior. The real question is whether the 17 judicial conduct was severe and, or, pervasive to 18 compromise impartiality. In Snow, the trial judge
19 directly criticized counsel brusquely in front of the 20 jury on numerous occasions. And even that did not rise
21 to the level of bias.
22
24

25 50. It is fundamental that a trial court may confine 26 an examination with reasonable limits, and may curtail
27 cross-examination which is unduly protracted, frivolous,
28

1 or which relate to matters which are irrelevant,
2 admitted, or have already been fully covered. (People v.
3 Ross (1969) 276 Cal.app.2d 729, 734.) It is also true
4 that a judge may properly exclude inadmissible testimony
5 even though no objection is made. (People v. Deacon
6 (1953) 117 Cal.App.2d 206, 209.)
7

8 51. At this point, I should add more context for the 9 Court's effort to control the courtroom. On June 6, 2025
10 during the trial on guilt, the Court issued an order
11 finding prosecutorial error by Prosecutor van der Hoeck.
12 The People have chosen not to include this Court Order in 13 its Statement of Disqualification, thereby conceding that 14 it was a proper ruling and did not reflect bias and 15 cannot serve as a basis for an appearance of bias ruling.
16 This is so because the People conceded the error by 17 Attorney van der Hoeck at the trial. His supervisor
18 Attorney David Wilson explained to the Court, that his 19 colleague "was suffering from lack of sleep and from the 20 stress of the trial which [at that time] had been in 21 session for nearly six weeks."
22
23
24

25 52. The prosecutorial error was significant. I have 26 attached the transcript of the June 6, 2026 hearing (Ex.
27 2, McAdam Appendix), which explains in detail the Court
28

VERIFIED ANSWER BY JUDGE SAMUEL T. McADAM PURSUANT TO CCP SEC. 170.3

1 ruling: "Next, the Court has before it the defense
2 objection and motion for a finding of prosecutorial
3 error. The central argument of the motion is that the 4 prosecutor, Mr. van der Hoeck confused and/or misled the 5 jury in questioning the defendant about limited blood in 6 the defendant's room, and more particularly that there
7 was no blood on the computer. The questioning was 8 aggressive in tone and was repeated. It was a 9 misstatement of the facts established by the 10 prosecution's own evidence and the prosecution's own
11 witnesses. The origin of this error goes back to opening
12 statements when Mr. van der Hoeck represented that the 13 facts would show that there was no blood in defendant's 14 room, and this fact of no blood supported a finding of 15 premediated murder. The prosecutor should have known
16 that this was a clear misstatement of the evidence."

17 (Hearing Transcript, pages 5:17-6:5.) In fact, at trial, 18 a prosecution witnesses testified to blood on the 19 computer and a police detective testified that he 20 discovered bloody shorts and other bloody items in his 21 search of the room.
22

23
24
25
26 53. A full reading of the Court order reflects a
27 measured and reasoned response that resulted in a
28

VERIFIED ANSWER BY JUDGE SAMUEL T. McADAM PURSUANT TO CCP SEC. 170.3

1 modification of Jury Instruction CALCRIM 222 to explain
2 to the jury when to disregard questions and answers when
3 the Court sustains an objection, noting by example Mr.
4 van der Hoeck's questioning of the defendant on the 5 subject. The Court further admonished Attorney
6 Hutchinson for the defense to refrain from naming the 7 prosecutor in his closing argument. Finally, the Court
8 admonished both sides not to make this case about the 9 attorneys and to stick to the facts.

12 54. To his credit, Attorney van der Hoeck said,
13 "thank you" and made an effort going forward to comport
14 with the admonishment, reflecting self-awareness and 15 remorse.

17 55. A similar but less serious interaction took place
18 earlier in the case. Stepping back to the Evidence Code
19 sec. 802 hearing during the competency trial referenced 20 above and identified in Section B of the People's 21 Statement of Disqualification. The People now complain
22 about the Court's admonishment to "pay respect" to the 23 court appointed expert. That admonishment was properly
24 made. The attorney was unnecessarily overly aggressive
25 and badgering the witness. Such questioning is 26 particularly ineffective with an expert because it
27
28

VERIFIED ANSWER BY JUDGE SAMUEL T. McADAM PURSUANT TO CCP SEC. 170.3

1 distracts the fact finder and instead loads the 2 examination with the lawyer's emotion, which is
3 irrelevant. This exchange can be found at pages 628:10-4 641:23 of Exhibit C of the People's Statement of 5 Disqualification.
6

7 56. After being admonished, Attorney van der Hoeck
8 made the proper course correction and engaged in 9 meaningful and professional examination. I made note of 10 this at the conclusion of the hearing: "I want to thank 11 Mr. van der Hoeck. I thought you were overly aggressive
12 unnecessarily. I want to thank you for changing your 13 tone, first, and second for playing the video for that 14 witness because I think it really assisted. And I
15 appreciate that." In turn, Attorney van der Hoeck
16 apologized to the witness and the Court. My final
17 words were "You said sorry, and you handled it fine."
18 (Page 641:8-17.) This is a good example of how a trial 19 court controls the courtroom under section 1044. It is 20 not the stuff of bias.
23

24 57. With this context, we return to the May 28, 2025
25 side bar regarding the cross-examination of Dr. Weiner.
26 If you read it over again, it is easy to see that 27 Attorney van der Hoeck was jumping around and confusing
28

VERIFIED ANSWER BY JUDGE SAMUEL T. McADAM PURSUANT TO CCP SEC. 170.3

1 the witness and not soliciting helpful testimony for the 2 jury's consideration.

3 58. Apparently, the Prosecutor was trying to get the 4 witness to admit that forensic psychiatry is 5 controversial. The Prosecutor had no expert witness of 6 his own to prove this at trial. It was a broadside and 7 abstract attack on an entire field. At the side bar, I
8 explained that the Legislature had endorsed the field by 9 mandating the use of forensic experts under Section 1368
10 and Section 1027 of the Penal Code. I added that the 11 Court then complied with the law by ordering the 12 appointment of the experts. The Prosecutor's questions
13 seemed confusing - and still do without an expert to sort
14 it out. At one point, Attorney van der Hoeck even cited
15 a Kelly/Frye issue without any legal authority to claim 16 that a section 1027 expert could be excluded on such 17 grounds.
18
19
20

21 59. I also recall advising the Prosecutor that "I am 22 trying to help you." The thinking was that he was losing 23 the jury and he should move on to more important
24 questions. I do not deny that part of this exchange may 25 have been heard by others in the courtroom. My voice was 26 not raised, but it was also not muted. My back was to 27
28

VERIFIED ANSWER BY JUDGE SAMUEL T. McADAM PURSUANT TO CCP SEC. 170.3

1 the Courtroom and jury. The on-the-record summary of the 2 side bar exchange can be found at pages 3085:7-3089:2 of 3 the Jury Trial Transcript, Ex. I of the People's 4 Statement of Disqualification.
5

6 60. The People now seem concerned that this side bar
7 exchange somehow prejudiced them in front of the jury.
8 That is difficult to conclude given the much more
9 significant moment in time of Attorney van der Hoeck's
10 prosecutorial error, discussed above. In any event, the 11 Court properly admonished the jury by reading CALCRIM
12 3550: "It is not my role to tell you what your verdict
13 should be. Do not take anything I said or did during the 14 trial as an indication of what I think about the facts, 15 the witnesses or what your verdict should be." I also 16 read CALCRIM 222, instructing the jury to "disregard 17 anything you saw or heard when the court was not in 18 session." Finally, one should note that Prosecutor van 19 der Hoeck returned to questioning Dr. Weiner on the 20 subject, even after the side-bar admonishment.
23

24 61. The Prosecutor also now claims that the Court
25 exhibited prejudice against the People by not employing 26 "white noise" sound during sidebars. This is, again, 27 within the Court's power to control the courtroom under 28

1 Section 1044. I have some colleagues that employ the
2 white noise feature of the courtroom sound system. I do
3 not. Jurors have complained and have appeared startled
4 when it has been employed. It makes it very difficult to 5 hear anyone and to think clearly. I recommend against 6 its use and do not use it for these reasons. Note, the 7 People have not identified any other side bar conferences
8 that were overheard by the jury.
9

11 62. One such side bar that was not overheard, in any 12 respect, involved the scope of questioning another court
13 appointed expert, Dr. Rhee, on May 30, 2025 at trial.
14 This matter is discussed by the People in Section L of 15 the Statement of Disqualification. The complaint is that 16 defense Attorney Hutchinson mocked Prosecutor van der 17 Hoeck at a side bar and the Court showed favoritism by 18 not admonishing Attorney Hutchinson. (See Ex. I, Trial 19 Testimony 3357:4-3358:2.).

21 63. The Court did address the matter at page 3373:15-
22 3374:7: "We don't have an extended time for discussion
23 right now, but in a meeting at side bar, I became 24 concerned about conflict between the lawyers, and I'm 25 going to allow you to air that with me at some point so I
26 understand. I'm not going to do that right now, but I
27
28

1 want to admonish counsel that we need your highest level
2 of professionalism at all times. If there's a sense of 3 frustration in a long trial, in week - I think we are in 4 five or six at this point, I understand that sometimes
5 you know, things break down momentarily. So pull it back
6 together. Whatever happened, let's move past that.
7
8 Let's not engage in anything that would be perceived as 9 unprofessional. And so all I'm doing now is counseling.
10 And to the extent there is substance behind this, then 11 I'm going to address it - we'll have some time at the end
12 of the day."

14 64. The parties understood throughout the trial that 15 if a matter rose to a higher importance, they could make 16 a motion. A good example is the defense motion for 17 prosecutorial error. If the People wanted a sanction
18 against Attorney Hutchinson, they were free to so move.
19
20 No motion was ever made.

21 65. Note, the actual substance of the dispute was an 22 objection by the Prosecution to a question by Attorney
23 Hutchinson of Dr. Rhee as to whether she reviewed a 24 report from Dr. Watson. The Court sustained the 25 objection and ordered the question and answer stricken.
26
27 Again, it was a routine Sanchez ruling since the defense
28

1 had not offered Dr. Watson as a witness. It was also
2 another example of ruling in favor of the Prosecution and
3 against the defense. I take it, this is why I never heard
4 about the issue again.
5

6 66. The Prosecution make a reference to another
7 discussion on the record that has no bearing on this. At 8 page 3916 of the Trial Transcript, the Court was 9 discussing the subject of prosecutorial error, not this 10 minor dust-up between the attorneys on May 30, 2025.
11

12 67. In sum, nothing about this incident has anything
13 to do with judicial bias.

14 - Court Rulings on Cannabis Use

15 68. Next, the People contend that the trial court
16 showed bias by "shielding" the experts from examination
17 regarding a failure to consider the defendant's THC
18 levels. This issue arises from the blood test of the 19 defendant conducted several days after his arrest. In 20 discovery, the People produced a report from Matthew 21 Najkayama about the results of that test, including the 22 Delta-9-THC concentration level. The People identified
23 criminalist Najkayama as a potential witness in the case
24 but chose not to call him in either the case-in-chief or 25 rebuttal case. At trial the forensic mental health
26
27
28

1 experts were asked some questions on the subject. At 2 some point, I issued an order excluding evidence directed
3 at the Najkayama report, again based on Sanchez grounds.
4 It was a routine and correct ruling.
5

6 69. Importantly, during the guilt phase on the trial,
7 the Court did not make an order precluding admissibility
8 of evidence related to cannabis use. While sporadic,
9 there was stray testimony on the matter. Cannabis use
10 was covered by the experts in their reports, produced
11 during the discovery. And the defendant himself admitted
12 extensive cannabis use. As noted above, the Prosecution
13 through Attorney David Wilson admitted that there was no
14 good explanation for the People not pursuing this line of 15 inquiry more thoroughly during Phase 1.
16
17

18 70. The subject of the Najkayama Report came up again
19 when the Court met with the attorneys about the sanity
20 phase on the trial. The issue of the defendant's
21 cannabis use was now for the first time hotly contested
22 by the parties. The parties filed briefs and argued the 23 matter. (See Ex. L of People's Statement of 24 Disqualification, Trial Transcript, pages 11:18-33:23 and 25 37:6-45:10.) Ultimately, the Court denied the 26 introduction of evidence related to cannabis use in Phase
27
28

1 2 under Evidence Code sec. 352. Again, the Court made a
2 correct legal ruling, excluding such evidence. The 3 ruling was lengthy and detailed with a proper balancing
4 of relevance against prejudice. In short, the evidence
5 would only be relevant on the issue of sanity if cannabis
6 was the sole cause of the psychotic episode, and there
7 was no evidence to support that conclusion, given that 8 all the experts had testified that his conduct was the 9 result of schizophrenia. (CALCRIM 3450.) Meanwhile,
10 cannabis use is stigmatizing and given the lack of 11 relevance, the prejudice was a greater concern. Note,
12 the Prosecutor has not made an argument that the Court's 13 decision constituted "legal error" or offered any legal 14 authority to that end.

17
18 Trial Court Reflections on the State of Evidence is Not
19 Grounds for Disqualification

20 71. It has long been held that "judicial opinions
21 expressed in discharge of litigation and judicial duties" 22 is insufficient to state a claim of bias. (In re Morelli
23 (1970) 11 Cal.App.3d 819, 843; see also In re Lemen
24 (1980) 113 Cal.App.3d 769, 789-91.) "Mere expression of 25 opinion, based on observations of the witnesses and 26 evidence, do not demonstrate judicial bias." (Schmidt v.
28

1 Superior Court (2020) 44 Cal.App.5th 570, 589; Neveraz v.
2 Tonna (2014) 227 Cal.App.4th 774, 786.)

3 72. At the core of the People's complaint is their 4 view that the Court "vouched" for the expert witnesses.
5 This argument is set forth in the People's Brief Section
6 II and Section III-H, III-J, III-K, III-N and III-Q. The 7 argument is misplaced given that at no point did the 8 Court make any statement before the jury, endorsing the 9 testimony of the experts. And the Prosecution has not 10 cited to any such moment.

11 73. By way of background, the current state of the 12 evidence produced in discovery in this case is as 13 follows: Eight psychologists have concluded that the 14 defendant suffers from schizophrenia, and no doctors who 15 have examined the defendant or examined the record in 16 this case have reached any other conclusion. Two Court
17 appointed experts have concluded that the defendant was 18 insane at the time of the crimes and no doctors have 19 opined otherwise. The Prosecution failed to produce an 20 expert witness at the competency hearing, and again, 21 failed to produce an expert at the trial on guilt and 22 sanity. The Court did not create these circumstances.
23 It is the reality of the record.

26
27
28
VERIFIED ANSWER BY JUDGE SAMUEL T. McADAM PURSUANT TO CCP SEC. 170.3

1 74. Under these circumstances, the Court exercised
2 patience with the Prosecution as they tried to make a
3 case without an expert. A good summary discussion is set
4 forth in Exhibit C, pages 40:13-41:12, where I explained
5 how a party can attack the credibility of expert
6 witnesses when they do not have their own, namely (1)
7 attack qualifications, (2) attack factual basis for 8 opinion, (3) attack logical connection between the facts
9 and the opinion offered. I had walked the Prosecution
10 through this more than once during the trial. I also 11 reaffirmed that the Prosecution could make argument to 12 the jury under standard legal instructions pertaining to 13 witnesses and expert witnesses, e.g. CALCRIM 226 and 332,
14 both of which were read to the jury. (People's Statement
15 of Disqualification, Ex. I 3088:11-26.)

18
19 75. None of this amounts to being partial against the 20 Prosecution or even leaving that impression. The comment
21 on the state of the evidence and the decisions resulting 22 therefrom were run-of-the-mill judicial acts. As stated
23 time-and-time again by the Courts of Appeal, "numerous
24 and continuous rulings against a party are not grounds
25 for a finding of bias." (Schmidt v. Superior Court
26 (2020) 44 Cal.App.5th 570, 589.)
27
28

VERIFIED ANSWER BY JUDGE SAMUEL T. McADAM PURSUANT TO CCP SEC. 170.3

1 76. The People make two other complaints about
2 guidance the Court provided the parties in working up the
3 case. First, the People allege the appearance of bias
4 when the Court asked after the first trial whether the 5 People intended to voluntarily dismiss the first degree
6 attempted murder enhancement as to the stabbing of Ms.
7 Guillory, in light of the fact that the jury had rejected
8 first degree murder as to the far more serious killings
9 of Mr. Breaux and Mr. Abou Najm; the jury did not get to 10 the question of premeditation for Ms. Guillory because it
11 was charged as an enhancement and not a principle count.

14 77. It remains a logical question. The Prosecution
15 argued that the defendant premeditated the murders
16 because his girlfriend broke up with him, and he was 17 struggling in school. That argument was made as to all
18 three stabbings without any distinction. The Court
19 spotted the issue arising from the different pleading
20 structure for attempted murder compared to murder. At 21 this point in the case, there is no motion pending. The 22 issue is not ripe. I have an open mind and no fixed
23 opinion on it.

26 78. The comment easily falls within the discharge of 27 judicial duties and reasonable reflections on the status
28

VERIFIED ANSWER BY JUDGE SAMUEL T. McADAM PURSUANT TO CCP SEC. 170.3

1 of the case "based on actual observations in legal 2 proceedings" which is not bias under In re Morelli and 3 related cases.

4
5 79. The second judicial comment challenged by the 6 People is the Court's recognition that the parties are 7 likely to present new motions in limine and related
8 motions in light of the Prosecution's declaration of a 9 new theory of the case, namely the defendant acted under 10 a Cannabis Induced Psychosis. I noted that the turn by 11 the Prosecution will be a challenge given the state of 12 evidence, all pointing to the defendant suffering from 13 schizophrenia. Again, the spotting of an issue by the 14 Court is not bias. The Court set a briefing schedule for 15 pre-trial motions (which has since been vacated). There
16 is not much more to be said on this point; of course, a
17 judge must identify issues and set a schedule for pre-
18 trial motions. The parties filed more than one dozen
19 pre-trial motions before the guilt/sanity trial. Now, 20 the case is starting from scratch. The rulings from the 21 prior trial do not carry over. The Court has an open
22 mind and no fixed opinion on any issue.

25
26 80. The Court's reflections on the state of the 27 evidence is per se not a basis for a finding of bias or 28

1 the appearance of bias. The People's complaints are 2 without merit.

3 The People's Allegations of Matters Outside the Courtroom
4 are Irrelevant and Unfounded
5

6 81. The People have submitted a posted card from an 7 anonymous person offering a lay opinion about this case.
8 (People's SOD, Exh. N.) I object on the grounds that it
9 lacks foundation. The postcard is unauthenticated, and 10 there is no statement under oath of personal knowledge.
11 It is inadmissible.

13 82. But, the review of the anonymous postcard offers
14 an opportunity to explain the legal standard in this 15 case. The "reasonable person" standard is a legal 16 construct. It assumes that an objective person would be 17 fully informed of all proceedings and have a good faith
18 and fair perspective on the case. As a practical
19 matter, there is no actual "reasonable person" because no
20 one person outside the legal system has all the 21 information to offer a meaningful opinion. Rather, the 22 construction of the "reasonable person" is done by a
23 judicial officer reviewing the case. Here, the postcard
24 writer admits that he or she has only watched the
26
27
28

1 proceedings for "a few days in small clips." For this
2 reason, it should be ignored.

3 83. The People also complain about a statement I made
4 about this case to my class at King Hall in the Spring of 5 2024. The People have failed to produce any admissible
6 evidence on this point and, thus, it has no merit on that 7 basis alone. Nonetheless, I will address it.

8
9 84. By way of background, under the Canons, a judge
10 is encouraged to be a leader in the community promoting 11 the justice system. One way to do that is to teach at a 12 law school, which is authorized by the Canons of Judicial 13 Ethics. (Canons 4B and 4H.) In fact, this is provided 14 for in the California Constitution. (Cal. Const., art.
15 VI, sec. 17.)

17 85. By way of further background, I am heading into 18 my eleventh year teaching law. I taught Labor and 19 Employment law at Pacific McGeorge for five years. I
20 taught Child Welfare Law at UC Davis School of Law (King 21 Hall) for three years. Most recently, at the request of 22 the Dean, I have taught Mental Health Law, this being my 23 third year.

24
25 86. The act of teaching is not about self-promotion, 26 as suggested by the People. I have no reason to puff
27
28

VERIFIED ANSWER BY JUDGE SAMUEL T. McADAM PURSUANT TO CCP SEC. 170.3

1 myself to law students. Rather, I have a genuine desire
2 to promote an understanding of the law and the judicial
3 system and to help develop the careers of law students
4 and new lawyers. It is about public service.
5

6 87. With this background, I did make a single
7 reference to this case in my class. I explicitly stated
8 that because of the rules of judicial ethics, I will not 9 comment on the case, and it will not be part of the 10 course. I encouraged the students to follow the case on 11 the Livestream feed because the case involves issues of 12 mental health law which are being taught in my class.

14 88. By way of orientation, rather than offering my 15 own personal summary of the case, I read a short
16 newspaper article summarizing the nature of the case. I
17 refrained from reading any extra-judicial comments, if 18 any, in the article.
19

20 89. There is no reason to believe that this brief, 21 isolated reference to the case in my law school class has 22 any bearing on the adjudication of this case. And the 23 People have made no showing of any prejudice. My hope is 24 that the students followed the case and have learned
25 something from it.
26
27
28

1 90. Next, the People contend that the District
2 Attorney's "papering" of me in 2023 and 2024 has some 3 bearing on adjudication of this case. In May 2024, after 4 several months of continuous CCP sec. 170.6 peremptory
5 challenges while I was assigned to the Criminal Division,
6 I asked the Presiding Judge to reassign me to the Civil 7 Division. At the time, my criminal caseload was about
8 one-half of my colleagues and getting smaller. I asked
9 for reassignment even though I was only half-way through 10 a three year assignment because I did not think it was 11 fair that my colleagues were having to take on more
12 cases. I had honored all peremptory challenges that were 13 timely.

15
16 91. I am informed and believe, based on my 17 conversation with the Presiding Judge, Daniel P. Maguire, 18 and the Assistant Presiding Judge Tom M. Dyer (who became 19 the PJ in 2025) that the Presiding Judge would continue
20 to assign me criminal cases, when possible, to rebalance
21 the judicial caseload of the Bench and because I was an 22 experienced, qualified judge and because I am not biased
23 against the People. It was also noted that it was likely 24 that the only cases to be reassigned are those where the 25 People had challenged another judge because to reassign a 26
27
28

VERIFIED ANSWER BY JUDGE SAMUEL T. McADAM PURSUANT TO CCP SEC. 170.3

1 case to me otherwise would be a futile act, given the
2 People's "papering" of me. Meanwhile, the smaller
3 calendar I left behind in the Criminal Division was 4 picked up by a visiting judge and then later by a junior
5 judge with less than two years of judicial experience.
6 Thus, the reassignment of criminal cases to me served the 7 best interest of the Court was not a form of retaliation.
8 Moreover, I was not the decision maker on the 9 reassignment of cases. Rather, the Presiding Judge
10 controls the assignment of cases under Rule 10.603 of 11 Judicial Administration Rules.
12

14 92. Here is another thought on my experience with 15 "papering." I have taught judicial ethics to my 16 colleagues. Specifically, I teach that when a judge is 17 challenged pursuant to section 170.6, the judge should do
18 the following: (1) reflect on whether there is any merit
19 in the challenge and adjust courtroom conduct 20 accordingly, (2) rule on the challenge timely and 21 according to law, and (3) move on, and give no further 22 thought about the challenge, other than to ensure that 23 your courtroom is a fair and impartial forum for all.
24 These principles are written in Rothman, and I live by 25 them. The Prosecutor's peremptory challenges against me
26
27
28

VERIFIED ANSWER BY JUDGE SAMUEL T. McADAM PURSUANT TO CCP SEC. 170.3

1 in any given case have no bearing on how I preside over a
2 case, including this one.

3 93. The People also complain about a 16-page ruling I
4 made in a separate case, People v. Diallo, where the
5 defense challenged the People's "papering" of Judge Sonia
6 Cortes on the grounds of race-based discrimination, given 7 that Judge Cortes is the only Hispanic Judge presiding in 8 Yolo County. (See Exh. G of the People's Statement of 9 Disqualification.) This was a sequential "papering" of a 10 Yolo judge in 2025, after the People had "papered" me in 11 2023 and 2024. I wrote that the "papering" of a trial
12 judge is a lawful - even if disfavored practice -- so
13 long as it was not done for discriminatory purpose. I
14 further ruled in favor of the People and denied the 15 defense motion to strike the CCP sec. 170.6 challenge on 16 the grounds that the defense had failed to make out a
17 prima facie showing of race-based discrimination.
18 Finally, under 10.20 of the Standards of Judicial 19 Administration I asked the People to reconsider the 20 papering of Judge Cortes given the perception of race-
21 based discrimination under the totality of circumstances.
22 I am informed and believe that the "papering" ceased
23 shortly thereafter, although I have no understanding as

1 to why. In sum, the People have made no showing that my
2 lawful order in People v. Diallo has any bearing on this
3 case. The 16-page ruling is a sound comparative analysis
4 of the interplay between section 170.6 and 170.3. The 5 People have failed to provide any legal basis to 6 challenge this order.
7

8 The People's Evidence Lacks Foundation

9
10 94. The People's verification was made by Attorney
11 Melinda Aiello, the Chief Deputy District Attorney of 12 Yolo County. This is her first appearance in the case.
13 She avers that her personal knowledge is based on 14 watching the Livestream of this case in her office. She 15 offers a short three-page declaration with vague,
16 conclusory and argumentative allegations and personal
17 opinions that lack foundation.
18

19 95. Meanwhile, the two prosecutors assigned to this 20 case are Matthew De Moura and Fritz van der Hoeck.
21 Prosecutor van der Hoeck is discussed at length above.
22 He provided two short declarations in support of the 23 People's Statement of Disqualification about two minor
24 courtroom interactions discussed above. His declarations
25 are accurate. I have added context concerning the two 26 incidents.
27
28

1 96. I was told at the beginning of the case that
2 Prosecutor De Moura was the lead prosecutor. I directed 3 matters to him, and he, then when necessary and 4 appropriate, asked Mr. van der Hoeck or covering attorney
5 Mr. David Wilson to address an issue. If the Court
6 engaged in any conduct of bias towards the parties, it is 7 reasonable to expect to hear from Prosecutor De Moura and 8 defense counsel Daniel Hutchinson.
9

11 97. The People have a heavy burden here, and their 12 failure to produce evidence from the actual courtroom
13 proceedings by the attorneys of record is fatal. As to 14 those matters reflected in the transcript, I have pointed 15 out at length above that the record is clear: the Court
16 made lawful rulings and exercised discretion within its 17 power to control court proceedings.
18

19 Judicial Profile

20 98. As explained in The California Judicial Conduct 21 Handbook (Rothman), "Surely a judge's character and 22 reputation for impartiality are among facts the average
23 person on the street would take into account." (Citing
24 Leland Stanford Junior University v. Superior Court
25 (1985) 173 Cal.App.3d 403, 408.) To this end, I offer my 26
27
28

1 official judicial profile as an attachment. (Ex. 3, 2 McAdam Appendix).

3 99. In addition to teaching law as discussed above, I
4 am a long-time member of the Schwartz-Levi Inn of Court,
5 a local non-profit organization whose membership of 6 justices, judges, lawyers, and other academic and legal 7 professionals is dedicated to promoting ethics in the 8 practice of law and adjudication of legal disputes. I
9 have served on the Executive Committee for ten years. I
10 am the current President. The Inns of Court is a well-
11 known and highly regarded organization nationally.

12 100. Last year, the Unity Bar of Yolo County honored
13 me with 2024 Judicial Award. The Award was recognition
14 of my commitment to maintaining a fair and accessible 15 courtroom to all in our community, especially the 16 disadvantaged and those historically discriminated
17 against. The Yolo Unity Bar is the largest affiliation
18 of lawyers in Yolo County. It was a great honor to 19 receive the Award.

20 101. In speaking to the audience at the awards
21 ceremony which included several hundred members of the 22 Yolo legal community and justices from the Third District
23 Court of Appeal and the Chief Justice of the California

25 VERIFIED ANSWER BY JUDGE SAMUEL T. McADAM PURSUANT TO CCP SEC. 170.3

1 Supreme Court, I outlined the core principles of judicial
2 independence: (1) competence, strong command of the rules
3 of procedure, evidence and new legal developments; (2)
4 range and realism, a broad perspective on society
5 including the reality of how court rulings affect all;
6 (3) kindness and respect, steady judicial temperament
7 with a rhythm of good listening and expression of 8 appreciation to all before the court; (4) toughness, a
9 willingness to make the hard decisions subject to public
10 criticism; (5) communication, explaining legal rulings
11 clearly and fully; and (6) community involvement, staying
12 involved, giving back and avoiding isolation. A
13 commitment to these principles will lead to public
14 confidence in the decisions being made, even if adverse 15 or disliked. This Answer is submitted under these 16 principles.
17
18
19

20 102. In my 17 years on the Bench, I have served in 21 every leadership position on the Court, including as the 22 Presiding Judge during the Pandemic. Yolo Superior Court
23 received statewide recognition for being a leader during 24 the Pandemic in building the Virtual Courthouse and 25 maintaining safe, fair, and timely access to justice. I

1 wrote a summary of our experience published in the 2 California Litigation, Volume 34, Number 2 (2021).

3 103. In 2023, I also served as an Associate Justice
4 Pro Temp for the Third District Court of Appeal. During 5 my four-month stay, I participated in 105 decisions,
6 including authoring 36 opinions. The most significant
7 decision I wrote was People v. Bocanegra (2023) 90
8 Cal.App.5th 1236, ruling in favor of the prosecution and 9 upholding the constitutionality of California's assault
10 weapons ban. I learned a lot from my colleagues during 11 my stay, including how to best protect the record during 12 criminal proceedings from reversible error.

13 Prayer for Relief

14 104. I have denied each substantive allegation set
15 forth in the People's Statement of Disqualification.

16 105. I have provided additional evidence to support my 17 defense in this action.

18 106. I am not biased and I have not engaged in conduct
19 a reasonable person would perceive as an appearance of 20 bias.

21 107. I have made lawful court decisions and have 22 exercised reasonable control of the proceedings.

23 108. The parties have received fair hearings.

25 VERIFIED ANSWER BY JUDGE SAMUEL T. McADAM PURSUANT TO CCP SEC. 170.3

1 109. I have an open mind as to all matters in this
2 case, especially because this matter is to be set for 3 retrial.
4

5 110. I ask the reviewing court to find that the People
6 have not met its burden and that I am not disqualified
7 from this case.

8 111. The next hearing in this matter is January 22, 9 2026 at 1:30 pm for trial setting, and I am prepared to 10 set the case for trial and proceed from there.
11

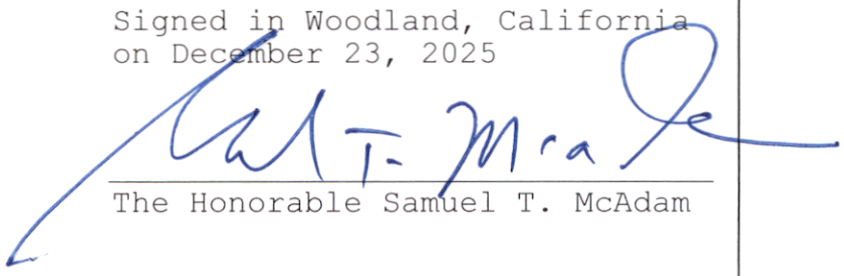

12 112. Finally, it is important to remember that as is 13 true for athletes in the spotlight, the same is true for 14 trial court judges: We must have the skin of an 15 Armadillo. No amount of public criticism will alter my 16 commitment to justice and the principles of judicial 17 independence.

VERIFICATION

I, Samuel T. McAdam, declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California that I drafted this VERIFIED ANSWER and that the facts set forth are true and correct based on my own personal knowledge. If called to testify, I would testify to the truth of these matters. To the extent any fact asserted is based on information and belief, I hereby attest that I believe that fact to be true also.

Signed in Woodland, California
