

Tony Rocker, an Elvis tribute performer, had great rapport with the audience, placing strings of beads and scarfs around people's necks and shaking their hands while singing. He is pictured in the Elvis Las Vegas jumpsuit.

Moldy Fig performs in the "Blacksmith Shop" at Bob and Sandy Wulf's entertainment venue on their acreage. Other structures include the Watering Hole, the Chuckwagon and the Rye Bin. Performing are Dave Hill on drums, Bruce Daleen (nearest to the camera), Dave McKee, Joe Pieper and Paul Bilsten.

An enthusiastic Moldy Fig fan waves her arms in time with the group's music. Photos by Gordon Wolf

Tony Rocker plays a guitar and sings during his opening set on Saturday evening. He is wearing an outfit based on the one Elvis wore in the movie "Spinout."

Pounding out the tunes

Joe Pieper with Moldy Fig encourages the audience to sing along.

As a fundraiser for the Denison City Pound, Bob and Sandy Wulf organized Wulfys' Bash on Saturday on their acreage just north of Deloit.

Two musical performances entertained the crowd. Tony Rocker, an Elvis tribute performer, went on stage around 7 p.m. after local favorites, Moldy Fig, performed in the "Blacksmith Shop" at the Wulfs' entertainment venue.

Paul Bilsten with the band thanked Sandy for inviting Moldy Fig, providing an opportunity to regroup. Moldy Fig played at The Lounge in Denison when Sandy was a bartender there, and the group performed at Bob and Sandy's wedding.

For Rocker, it was a return to Deloit. He performed there in April at a fundraiser for the community's new water tower. Sandy is a big Elvis Presley fan.