LONDONDERRY HIGH SCHOOL Class of 2020

Graduates, let's be the catalysts for change

To my fellow seniors,
I've always had someone I can look up to in my life. Whether that was my parents, my teachers or my coaches, I knew I could rely on someone who could guide me with the correct answers and advice.

For the past months, we have been living in a global health crisis brought on by COVID-19. Our lives have been completely changed and uncertainty still lies ahead. When will our lives return back to normal? Will we still have graduation? I've approached many of the people I trust with these questions. I've read articles from doctors, politicians, sports analysts and even the president about what we should do. I've consulted my friends, my friends' parents, my entire family — everyone.

Despite all of the questions facing the Class of 2020, one thing remains certain. No one knows the answers. No one. This is where our potential exists. In a time of unrest and struggle, the Class of 2020 can become the individuals who people rely on for guidance. Our energy and drive to do the things we loved to do in high school does not have to stop now just because of the pandemic. Let your accomplishments and goals continue to define who you are. Keep being an inspiration for others.

From my time at Londonderry High School, I've learned about the world's amazing ability to bounce back from adversity. In the past, we've come back from depressions, hurricanes, wars and even disease. In the classroom, I know so many of you have recovered from a bad test score or a difficult assignment.

As a class and as a world, we have shown that we can overcome anything. Let's be the catalysts for change. The world needs someone to follow. Why can't it be you?

I know the end of high school is something every student dreams about since the moment they start first grade. However, let's not worry about the finish line this year. If you can look back on the race and say you had fun, then you won. In my four years of high school, I've met so many remarkable individuals and created lasting memories and friendships. These are the things I will value for the rest of my life.

My advice is to keep these memories with you — let them serve as a ray of light in all of this darkness. Don't dwell on whether or not we will have graduation. Focus on helping us return this world to the great place we know it can be.

To quote one of my favorite leaders, Barack Obama, "We did not come to fear the future, we came here to shape it."

'Always stay true to who you are'

To the Class of 2020,
The road has been long. The obstacles have been relentless. But this class has failed to break.

Most of us started our lives ascending through the Londonderry School District, by the quaint apple orchards at Moose Hill Kindergarten. It was there where we first met, wearing T-shirts that had the graduation year "2020" scribbled onto them by each class's art, a year that seemed unfathomably distant.

We developed in elementary school, whether you were a bear, tiger or hawk, and survived the awkwardness of middle school. High school came and now, just as quick as it arrived, has gone. After 12 years of schooling, the next chapter of life is on the horizon, and I could not be more confident in a group of people to embrace it.

We are the class made up of champion athletes, innovative leaders, talented musicians and esteemed academicians. From breaking curses to raising banners to marching in prestigious parades, and continuing the progression of a more accepting culture at Londonderry, this class has undoubtedly aimed high. In return, we have reaped a memorable legacy that will be one for the books.

But this was all cut too short.

The COVID-19 pandemic abruptly ended our classroom time with each other on an ambiguous, uneventful March day. We have been thrust into a world in a frenzy, consumed by uncertainty. Attending college next fall is no longer taken for granted. Getting that first job in a floundering economy will unquestionably be difficult. The world we have been given is daunting and, frankly, scary at times. But these are the obstacles this class has been equipped for.

Such astounding success does not come to fruition without the character of the class serving as the backbone of it all. The same lofty ambitions that led us to being the first class to donate a solar class gift will help repair our world and infrastructure. The same progressive morals and awareness that our class embodied to heighten the respect for the LGBTQ+ culture in our school will continue to progress our society to be more welcoming. And the same resiliency that propelled us through the national crises of several school shootings — and now the coronavirus pandemic — will continue to prove to be unmaliceable. Class, continue to be proactive in the pursuit of passions. Be the producers that provide for the consumers. Have no shame in embarking on new life journeys and gambling on risks. Always stay true to who you are, the aspiring catalysts for change who are prepared to prevail over any obstacle thrown your way. The world needs us.

Congratulations Class of 2020, and thank you for being the model Lancers for generations to come.

Class of 2020

Class of 2020 is prepared for life's next journey

To the Class of 2020,
Most seniors spend their spring semester counting down the days to graduation and looking forward to beginning the next journey of their lives. The Class of 2020 has not had that same opportunity. Instead, this year's senior class has been forced to discover or utilize coping strategies in order to navigate a global health crisis that is completely out of their control.

The struggle to accept a new reality has provided the Class of 2020 with the opportunity to highlight their strengths that accompany their academic achievements, athletic achievements and civic achievements. This pandemic does not define this class. Instead, it was an opportunity for the Class of 2020 to show perseverance, determination and resilience during a time of adversity.

This class has channeled their disappointment for the semester they imagined they would have into remaining hopeful and staying as positive as possible. They have continued to focus on their academics, while putting countless time, energy and creativity into various ways to connect and into potential celebratory options for their class.

The Londonderry High School Class of 2020 has stepped up and showed a united front while organizing potential backup plans and dates for special events, including, but not limited to, graduation, baccalaureate, senior prom and awards banquets. They have postponed these events to the end of July and they continue to remain optimistic.

At Londonderry High School, our mission is "to partner with parents and the community in order to provide a safe and nurturing environment with varied opportunities promoting good character, academic excellence and responsible citizenship necessary for future success in the local and global community." When our graduates walk across the stage at the end of July, we can feel confident that the LHS Class of 2020 is prepared to navigate whatever life throws their way as they pursue goals, and they will do so with the support of their families, friends, peers and their community.
