Set in modern-day Michigan and using the 2016 election as a jumping-off point, the new season of "American Horror Story" counts series mainstays Sarah Paulson ("12 Years a Slave," 2013) and Evan Peters ("Kick-Ass," 2010) among its returning cast members. The horror anthology has given us chills for six seasons, and a seventh touches down with "American Horror Story: Cult," premiering Tuesday, Sept. 5, on FX.

Creepy clowns and familiar faces grace 'American Horror Story: Cult' P

By Jacqueline Spendlove TV Media

t's taken us inside a coven, a freak show, an insane asylum and, of course, a good oldfashioned murder house and more. "American Horror Story" has given viewers a major case of the willies for six seasons, and a seventh is just around the corner. As always, details of the upcoming installment of the horror anthology have been kept to a minimum in the lead-up to the premiere, and fans of the series are eager to see what "Cult," as the new season is subtitled, has to offer. Don't miss the debut of "American Horror Story: Cult," when it airs Tuesday, Sept. 5, on

As an anthology series, "American Horror Story" explores a different theme every season. It welcomes back many of the same cast members from year to year, but, for the most part, they play different characters in a different time and setting. There has been the odd overlap, subtly connecting one season to another: Pepper (Naomi Grossman, "Fear, Inc. 2016) and Sister Mary Eunice (Lily Rabe, "The Whispers"), for instance, appeared in both "Asylum" and "Freak Show," while series mainstay Sarah Paulson ("12 Years a Slave," 2013) has reprised the characters of both Billie Dean Howard and Lana Winters in multiple seasons ("Murder House" and "Hotel," and "Asylum" and "Roanoke," respectively), along with the stand-alone characters she's portrayed.

While "Cult" marks the first season in which series regular Rabe will not be appearing, Paulson once again has a leading role — as does Evan Peters ("Kick-Ass," 2010), who, like Paulson, has been with the show from the start. Fans were quick to voice their disappointment last season about how little they saw of Peters, an enduring favorite with viewers (he played two different characters, and between them, he still only appeared in four episodes). Peters fans can rest easy this season, though — creator and executive producer Ryan Murphy tweeted that in "Cult," "More Evan you will get. This is his heaviest season yet."

This alone is more information than we can typically expect to get from Murphy, who is known for keeping "American Horror Story" details close to the vest prior to air time. Last season's theme, title and cast were a mystery right up until the premiere, but showrunners have been more forthcoming — if characteristically cryptic — this time around.

Evan Peters as seen in "American Horror Story: Hotel"

We do know that it's set in modern-day Michigan, has some connection to "Freak Show" and, most importantly, uses the 2016 election as a jumping-off point. This is worth taking note of, since no previous installment has been particularly timely or topical and the setting is surely very deliberate, with Michigan, historically a blue state, having been quite divided during the election.

Murphy clarified this in an interview with the Hollywood Reporter, confirming that this season will be all about "highlighting people who don't have a voice in our culture — people who are ignored by the current administration and who are afraid and feel terrorized that their lives are going to be taken away."

The show has been unlocking weekly hints via an interactive website, AHSCult.com, which allows viewers to sign up and "join" the cult, complete with their own identification number. Promo videos are rife with some of the creepiest clowns you'll ever care to see (painted in red and blue makeup, making use of subtle election imagery), and

Murphy has hinted that "Freak Show's" Twisty (John Carroll Lynch, "The Drew Carey Show"), "AHS's" OG creepy clown, will be making an appearance this season.

A number of other familiar faces appear in "Cult" as well. Adina Porter ("True Blood"), Emma Roberts ("Scream Queens"), Frances Conroy ("Six Feet Under") and Cheyenne Jackson ("30 Rock") are among the cast members confirmed to return this season, while Oscar winner Kathy Bates ("Misery," 1990), who joined the cast in season 3's "Coven," and music superstar Lady Gaga, who appeared in the last two seasons, will officially not be returning this year due to scheduling conflicts. Several other "AHS" stalwarts are unconfirmed as of press time, including Denis O'Hare ("Dallas Buyers Club," 2013) and Angela Bassett ("Malcolm X," 1992), making it unlikely that they'll have major parts this season, if they appear at all.

Fortunately, "Cult" welcomes a number of fresh faces to fill the void left by the dearly departed. Alison Pill ("Scott Pilgrim vs. the World," 2010) joins the cast as Ivy Mayfair-Richards, the wife of Paulson's character, and comedian Billy Eichner ("Billy on the Street") plays a character named Harrison Wilton. Past Murphy collaborators Billie Lourd ("Scream Queens") and Leslie Grossman ("Popular") join the show this season, and "Girls" star Lena Dunham is set to appear in at least one episode.

It's certainly more information that fans are used to getting before a new season of "AHS" touches down. Executive producer Alexis Martin Woodall even complied when pushed for more details at a Television Critics Association panel, divulging: "bloody tension, a well-cooked meal, an exciting trip to a grocery story. It is true to our brand, which is you are going to be in a whole new world all over again, and fall in love with these really special characters and hate yourself for watching it before you go to bed."

All will be made clear — to a point — when "American Horror Story: Cult" premieres Tuesday, Sept. 5, on FX.

Supermarket superstars

Top culinary talent competes in Flavortown Market

Guy Fieri instructs contestants in "Guy's Grocery Games"

By Andrew Warren

TV Media

ven pro chefs need to shop for groceries. They're no strangers to ■ the produce section or the express lane of the local supermarket, but do they have what it takes to make it through Flavortown Market?

That's the question that "Guy's Grocery Games: Superstars" tries to answer. The very special tournament has assembled some top-tier culinary talent — most of whom should look familiar — to face off in a very special competition overseen by the always-energetic Guy Fieri.

The tournament is already well under way, with two chefs eliminated — but that leaves six still standing in the new episode airing Sunday, Sept. 3, on Food Network. For their first challenge in Guy's very special supermarket, the chefs are all given identical shopping lists to cook with. Once their shopping is done, they pair up in head-tohead culinary battles, with the losers of each of the duels heading into Guy's Redemption Round.

After the bottom three attempt to turn a tiramisu's ingredients into a tasty entrée, one of them is sent home, leaving only five chefs standing for next week's semifinals.

But just who are the chefs who are competing, anyways? They're pretty much a who's who of Food Network's top talent. Iron Chef and regular "Chopped" judge Alex Guarnaschelli, frequent "Cutthroat Kitchen" judge Jet Tila, "Food Network Star" winners Damaris Phillips and Justin Warner, "Chopped" judges Maneet Chauhan and Marc Murphy, and Bravo's "Top Chef: All Stars" winner Richard Blais all compete, along with frequent Food Network judge and guest star Eric Greenspan.

By the time the finale rolls around, airing Sunday, Sept. 17, their numbers will have been whittled down to just four. Naturally, Guy Fieri won't be taking it easy on them; he has some of his most diabolical supermarket-based challenges ever in store. For these chefs, though, the challenge is worth it: the ultimate winner earns $40,000 for a charity of his or her choice, not to mention the bragging rights that come with beating out some of the most competitive chefs on television.

New episodes of "Guy's Grocery Games: Superstars" air Sunday evenings on Food Network.

Rough Night

A decade after they became besties in college, four women reunite for a weekend of fun before Jess's (Johansson) wedding. The four head to Miami where, after a night of partying, they hire a stripper to visit them in the Miami house they've rented for the weekend. When Jess's friend Alice (Bell) causes an accident that kills the man, the friends panic and set off a chain of events that not only causes it to be the most insane night any of them has ever had, but also might land them all in prison.

Band Aid

The lives of 30-somethings Anna (Lister-Jones) and Ben (Pally) seem to have reached a dead end and their marriage is suffering. During one of their profanity-laden arguments, they strike upon an idea: why not start a band and turn their arguments into songs? With their weird neighbor, Dave (Armisen), joining in as their drummer, the couple puts the idea in motion, using music as a vessel for their frustrations with each other as they dig down to discover how they can fix their marriage. Director: Zoe Lister-Jones. Stars: Zoe Lister-Jones, Adam Pally, Fred Armisen, Susie Essman, Retta, Hannah Simone, Ravi Patel, Brooklyn Decker. 2017. 91 min. Comedy.

MasterChef

23 8:00 p.m.

Chopsticks are the focus of this week's mystery box challenge in a new episode of this competition series. The top seven must come up with an Asian-inspired dish that centers on chopsticks, one of the most prominent utensils in culinary history.

Wahlburgers

A&E 9:00 p.m.

In this new episode, loyal Wahlburgers customers ask Paul if they can have their wedding at the Boston location. In Philadelphia, while on tour with New Kids on the Block, Donnie and his son Elijah drive the Wahlburgers food truck to the concert venue.

Donnie, Paul, Alma and Mark Wahlberg from "Wahlburgers"

Suits

usa 9:00 p.m.

In an effort to boost business, Mike (Patrick J. Adams) suggests a power move in this new episode. Unfortunately, Harvey's (Gabriel Macht) past complicates matters. Meanwhile, Rachel (Meghan Markle) is surprised when her dad wants to join forces.

Marlon

3 9:00 p.m.

When it looks like Zack (Amir O'Neil) needs surgery, Marlon (Marlon Wayans) and Ashley (Essence Atkins) have very different ways of coping in this new episode. Later, Ashley decides to ask for her house key back because of Marlon's lack of boundaries.

Hollywood Q&A

By Adam Thomlison TV Media

Q: Did any of the children from "The Sound of Music" do anything else I'd recognize?

A: They certainly did. Whether you'd recognize them in those things is a different question.

Of the seven actors who played the von Trapp children in the 1965 classic "The Sound of Music," three didn't go on to do anything else. Charmian Carr (who played Liesl von Trapp), Duane Chase (Kurt) and Debbie Turner (Marta) more or less gave up on acting shortly after "The Sound of Music" — going out on top, so to speak (that's a mountain pun, by the way).

The other four have a huge list of guest spots among them, some on very popular shows, but they were mostly of the blinkand-you'll-miss-them variety. There are a few exceptions, though.

Heather Menzies, who played Louisa, may also be remembered for screaming her way through a couple of cult-classic B-movies: the "Jaws" rip-off "Piranha" (1978) and the hilariously named "Sssssss" (1973), about a mad scientist turning people into snakes. It's a step down in prestige from doing Oscar-winning musicals, but fame is fame.

Nicholas Hammond has never stopped hustling for roles, and just recently wrapped production on an indie comedy called "The BBQ." However, aside from playing Friedrich in "The Sound of Music," he's probably best remembered for playing the title role in the short-lived live-action "Amazing Spider-Man" series in the late '70s (well, he's remembered by those who actually remember that show — Marvel Comics would probably prefer that you forget it).

Angela Cartwright, who played Brigitta von Trapp, was actually somewhat famous before doing "The Sound of Music." She played Linda, one of the three Williams children, in the last seven years of the classic sitcom "Make Room for Daddy," which ended in 1964. She did "The Sound of Music" in '65, and then went right back to family TV, as one of the Robinson clan in the sci-fi sitcom "Lost in Space."

Say Yes to the Dress: Atlanta

тьс 7:00 а.т..

TLC kicks off Saturday with back-to-back episodes of this bridal fashion series. In this rebroadcast, country singer Stephanie has only 13 days until her wedding, and must find the perfect dress. Also, Krischell's online vision board features 500 dresses.

The Voyager With Josh Garcia 10:00 a.m.

Josh cruises all the way to the premier destination of Phuket, Thailand, where he learns all about batik: the ancient art of dyeing fabric. He also has his taste buds satisfied by a delicious lineup of authentic Thai cuisine.

Josh Garcia hosts "The Voyager With Josh Garcia"

48 Hours

49:00 p.m.

CBS offers viewers back-to-back episodes of this award-winning news magazine, which investigates true crime stories. Correspondents delve into cases and examine them from all angles in an effort to bring viewers an accurate picture of a crime.

Halt and Catch Fire

амс 9:00 р.т.

While Cameron (Mackenzie Davis) purchases a plot of land to re-center, Joe (Lee Pace) and Gordon (Scoot Mc-Nairy) enlist the help of a team of websurfers to map the web in this new episode. Also, Donna (Kerry Bishé) tries to keep her team focused.

golf course in Bedminster. N.J. ... Meanwhile, Russian President Vladimir Putin is also on vacation. Kind of suspicious that they're both gone at the same time. It's like when your husband and his secretary go on a work trip together.

According to the New York Times ... Mike Pence is planning to run for president if Donald Trump doesn't run for a second term. Pence issued a statement strongly denying all of it. He said the article was "disgraceful and offensive to me, my family, and our entire team." He said the suggestion he's running for president in 2020 is "laughable and absurd."

Right. Why would Mike Pence want to be president in 2020? He's going to be president much, much sooner than that!

Trump reposted a video of himself warning that North Korea would be met with fire and fury. He reposted the video of himself — which is the presidential equivalent of "liking" your own Facebook post. It's unacceptable.
