The Big One-Oh! JR.

'is going to be a hit'

by MARQUITA GRIFFIN & ALISHA McMILLEN

Inspiration Stage is bringing Dean Pitchford's story of Charley Maplewood to life in a world premiere pilot production of "The Big One-Oh! JR.," and Addison "Addie" Doss, a Brazos Lakes resident, is one of the many actors excited for the theatre company's new musical, which happens to be the first show of the theatre's 2019-2020 season.

"I am so excited to be back on the stage doing what I love," said Doss, who is playing Lilith in the production. "Even though learning music and choreography is tough, the people who I am surrounded by make the intense process fun and easy."

"The Big One-Oh! JR." follows the story of Charley Maplewood as he turns 10 years old and decides to throw a party for himself, complete with a House of Horrors theme. Charley, however, has never been one for parties especially those that would require friends, which, unfortunately, he doesn't have. So in trying to make friends, little Charley ends up inviting the class bully Cougar to come — and that's before he ruins the cake and sets the garage on fire.

As the story progresses it becomes evident that his ideas aren't going according to plan and a pressing question begins to become apparent: Will Charley be able to pull everything together before he turns 10 years old?

This musical is Doss' 11th Inspiration Stage show and "the process of being in a pilot show [is] very intriguing and different than the regular, well-known shows," she said.

"We get a little look of how Broadway shows run," she added excitedly. "We could get new songs or scenes at any time. With the help of many amazing people, this show is really going to be a hit."

Playing the lead character is 11-year-old Jaxon Daniel, who lives in Sienna Plantation.

"I am excited to play Charley," said Daniel, who said this production is his eighth Inspiration Stage show. "It will be a fun experience to create the entire show. This brand new pilot production is an amazing opportunity for everyone at iStage."

The show, said the director and choreographer, was viewed and worked by the authors, composers and creators of the show from New York City.

"As the premiere pilot of a new junior show, the actors and artistic team have the opportunity to create original characters, create the scenic design and create the choreography," said the show's director and choreographer Mandy Seymore-Sensat, who is also Inspiration Stage's artistic director. "I'm beyond excited about the journey ahead of us. This pilot and world premiere is a huge honor and we are all jazzed to be a part of it."

"This is an amazing opportunity for our production staff and cast — we get to breathe life into this fabulous children's book, from page to stage."

Inspiration Stage is producing "The Big One-Oh! JR" in cooperation with and at the special invitation of iTheatrics and Music Theatre International (MTI). iTheatrics adapts main stage Broadway musicals so they can be performed by kids in school and after-school settings. These adaptations are created for a distinguished list of clients, including MTI, one of the world’s leading theatrical licensing agencies. Through the pilot process, Inspiration Stage’s creation of this brand-new musical will eventually be available for all theatres to license in the future.

Inspiration Stage is also working closely with the NYC-based composers and creators of the show, including: Tim McDonald, iTheatrics founder and librettist for the show; Dean Pitchford, the lyricist and writer of the source material book, The Big One-Oh!; and two-time Tony Award winner Doug Besterman, who provided orchestrations.

With four shows over the weekend of Sept. 6 - 8, “The Big One-Oh! JR” has a cast of 40 talented youth, ages 8 - 17. Joining Seymore-Sensat on the iStage production team are music directors Benjamin Luss and Relana Gerami-Luss and stage manager Courtney Sackett. Showtimes are: Sept. 6 at 7:30 p.m.; Sept. 7 at 3:30 p.m. and 7:30 p.m.; and Sept. 8 at 3:30 p.m.

THE 83RD FORT BEND COUNTY FAIR & RODEO

FAIR PRESIDENT MARJORIE POLLARD: THE FAIR IS 'ALL ABOUT THE KIDS'

By being elected president of the Fort Bend County Fair Association, Marjorie Pollard said she is carrying on a family tradition with her service to the fair. Pollard, a former livestock exhibitor, can recall the days the fair was held on the original fairgrounds in Rosenberg.

"I started showing cattle in the old fair barn on the original fairgrounds on Highway 90," Pollard said of her early fair memories. "We showed Charolais cattle in the open show — I must have been about 9 or 10 years old. My momma had us wash the cattle, feed them and get them ready for the show."

Pollard's grandfather was involved in the founding years of the fair, her uncle served on the board in the '70s and her mother, the late Helen Ann Booth, and her aunts were involved in the early arts and crafts exhibits in the Women's Department.

"As a kid, I remember going up the stairs to the Women's Department. At that time only women would have entries of homemade goods like kolaches, canned goods, vegetables, crocheted items and quilts. They would be displayed on the huge wooden cases."

"I grew up all over those fairgrounds."

The 2018 president James Duke welcomed Pollard officially to the position, and Pollard said she is honored to serve as president and anticipates a great year.

"For decades I have personally been coming to this fair, and now to be president — it is an honor for my family and me," she said.

"The fair gave me a learning and growing environment," Pollard said in an open letter to the public. "I have fond memories of attending the fair — from the laughs and thrills my sisters and I found in the carnival, to watching my grandmother purchase the Grand Champion Turkey year after year, to learning from my mother and aunts the true meaning of volunteering and giving back as they worked in the Women's Department."

"As I continue to enjoy all these values and traditions while making new memories with my own family and grandchildren, I find it only fitting to choose as this year's Fort Bend County Fair theme: A Home Grown Fair."

Pollard has been involved with several committees including Cowboy Camp, fair queens, entertainment, adult creative arts and reception committees.

"Before I became a director I helped start Cowboy Camp. We would feed the cowboys and the rodeo personnel of both the youth rodeo and the PRCA rodeo," said Pollard, who became a board member in 2004. "We served up chicken and dumplings, brisket and stew. So now as a director, I am still helping to serve hot meals for the entertainers and their bands and working with wonderful caterers for many of our fair receptions."

Pollard has also participated in the parade, livestock shows and has been a buyer or bidder at several auctions. From checking in exhibits to set up, Pollard has been involved or behind the scenes.

"Being involved with the fair means being there for our kids, the youth of this county. It is all about the kids," stressed Pollard, a mother of three adult children and grandmother to nine grandchildren. Notably, her children and grandchildren have been livestock show exhibitors.

Pollard and her husband Charles live in Richmond and she is an alumnus of Lamar Consolidated High School.

Her love for country music, western lifestyle and her deep family-fair roots have given her a lifetime of grooming for the role of fair president. She has served on several boards and as a volunteer with Lamar Educational Awards Foundation, the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo and supports numerous charities and organizations throughout our community.

"I am thrilled to be able to support our kids [and] give our community a fair to enjoy, as I did and as my family did, growing up. It is a tradition for me to come to the fair and I can only hope to help inspire other families to do the same," Pollard said. "Whether it is the livestock shows, the fair food, the rodeo action or the carnival rides, I want our fair to be a place where all families can enjoy."

The day started with a group workshop on interview techniques and safe social media practices. Breakout sessions soon followed with public speaking exercises, make-up tutorials, fashion tips, etiquette enhancement, nutrition/well-being discussion, and hair 101.

Later, candidates attended an afternoon at a Kentucky Derby themed dinner held at the Ol’ Railroad Café. Hats, heels, and a delicious meal allowed the candidates to practice what they learned in the morning workshops.

Fort Bend County Fair President Marjorie Pollard, Queen Scholarship Committee members, several past fair queens, fair manager Cindy Schmidt and fair board member Vickie Todd Autrey all attended the social event with the candidates. The queen contestants receive scholarships and prizes as part of the competition. The 2019 Fort Bend County Fair Queen will be crowned on Sept. 27.

LIFE MEMBER CARDS DEBUT

New for the 2019 Fort Bend County Fair will be Life Member Cards. As way to streamline and better serve the lifetime members, the credit-card size passes will be issued this year. The cards will be good until July 2025.

The paper season-passes will be a thing of the past; however, the new plastic cards will fulfill the same purpose. Each Life Member will receive two cards, one for themselves and one for a guest. The cards will be good for admission, fair club and anywhere the season pass was used.

For the Life Members who serve on committees, their badge and parking pass will still need to be picked up in person. Life Members who are committee members will only be issued two passes. No person, member or committee-member will get more than two cards.

The new Life Member cards will be more convenient, said fair officials.

Life Members only need to renew their cards upon expiration. In 2025 with all cards expiring, renewal will be membership wide, including for new Life Members who may have joined the previous year.

There will be an announcement soon regarding the times and dates for pick up.

THE SCHULZE FAMILY NAMED 2019 FAIR HONOREES

The Schulze family has been recognized as the 2019 Fort Bend County Fair and Rodeo honorees.

Actively supporting the fair for decades as sponsors, buyers, exhibitors and fair-goers, the Schulze family has passed its commitment to the Fort Bend County Fair from generation to generation. The Schulze family owns and operates Schulze’s Bar-B-Que and Catering and Schulze Family Restaurant.

Siblings Teresa Schulze Mielsch, Kathie Schulze Sablatura and Clifford Schulze have carried on the traditions that their father, Alvin Schulze, started in 1980. The siblings have passed their passion of participating in the fair’s undertakings down to their children and grandchildren.

“The Schultze family has always been part of our fair for as long as I can remember. You see their family at the auction, in the livestock arena, in the rodeo arena, and all over the fair,” said Fair President Marjorie Pollard. “Helping the kids and being there for the kids — that is what their family has always done. The Schulze family is very well-deserving of being honored.”

The Schulze Family is best known for serving up a hot meal.

“My first memory of being involved with the fair is catering. We would be catering a reception or event. That is really where it all began," recalled Teresa Schulze Mielsch.

For 44 years the Alvin Schulze family has been in the restaurant business.

"We have been proud to be able to cater the buyers' receptions, cowboy camp and countless other fair events," added Mielsch. "It is what we do."

The Schulze and Sablatura families' participation have continued to grow over the years.

"Our involvement quickly evolved into buying at the Jr. Livestock Auction. Dad and Clifford started supporting the auction and as a family we wanted to help the kids and give back. It is all about helping the kids. It is my favorite part of the fair," said Mielsch.

Year after year the Schulze family and their extended families' names have been a staple on the buyer's list.

"I am thankful for the Schulze family. Years ago they purchased my steer. Today I am a college student and can easily thank them for helping me further my education," said WCJC student Taylor Lutringer. "Raising a steer and making the auction is one part, it is the buyers like the Schulze family who help make dreams come true."

Today, the family looks forward to the fair with a certain excitement. Showing animals, participating in the rodeo, volunteering at the Exceptional Rodeo and even helping with media interviews, makes their involvement a family affair. In 2018, Kathie Schulze Sablatura's grandson, Needville Junior High School's Brance Farrell, won AOB Grand Champion Steer. The family celebrated the first-place finish and were thrilled to bring home the top honors.

In 2016, Coby Sablatura earned volunteer of the year honors for his hard work with the Rodeo Committee. When Coby passed away in 2017, a tribute was held in his memory and a memorial bench placed in his honor.

"The family is always there for our fair. I can call them, and they always want to know what we need to be done," said Pollard. "Time and time again, they have always put their best forward for our fair."

The Schulze family can be found just about anywhere at the fairgrounds during fair time.

"I have helped with serving stew at Senior Citizens Day to working the admission gates," said Mielsch. "The fair is who we are, the Fort Bend County Fair is important to my family and our community. It is part of us."

The Schulze family will be part of many fair events including the kick-off parade on Friday, Sept. 27.

FORT BEND COUNTY FAIR FUN WITH THE SKEETERS

2018 Fort Bend County Fair Queen Hannah Hunt threw the ceremonial first pitch of the game between the Skeeters and the Long Island Ducks on July 12 at Constellation Field. Hunt was accompanied by the 2019 Fort Bend County Fair Queen candidates at this game that doubled as a night of family fun. This was the fourth year that the Sugar Land Skeeters and the Fort Bend County Fair Association join forces for such an event. A video featuring the fair, including who is playing was shown prior to the game on the big screen and the night was capped with a full fireworks display.

"It is always a fun time at the ball park, but when you mix in our fair members and supporters, it is a great evening," said Fair President Marjorie Pollard. "There is a large group of us and our families, and the Skeeters are coming off a championship season, so we will had plenty to cheer for."

THE FAIR ASSOCIATION'S ROAD TO HIGHER EDUCATION

More than $200,000 in scholarships were awarded to deserving Fort Bend County students at the Fort Bend County Fair Association scholarship reception. A total of 50 scholarships and three Queen scholarships were presented to deserving recipients.

This year, more than 100 scholarship applications were submitted.

"This night is all about the kids. Some of these kids have been showing animals, marching in the band at the parade or coming to our fair for years. And for some, this is their first chance to get to know our fair," said Fair President Marjorie Pollard. "We help kids continue their education through our Livestock and Art auctions, and now through these scholarships."

The 2019 scholarship recipients represent high schools and school districts from all over Fort Bend County.

The scholarship winners are pursuing a wide range of fields of study including, agriculture, medical, law and education.

MCCOY, HOOKER & SALGADO HEADLINE 2019 FAIR ENTERTAINMENT

Bringing out the boots and dust off the Stetson, the 2019 Fort Bend County Fair has an entertainment lineup that is full of talented artists.

"We are thrilled with this year's entertainers," said 2019 Fort Bend County Fair President Marjorie Pollard. "We work to give our fairgoers what they want to hear, but we do also try our best to bring acts that are unique to our area."

The 83rd annual fair will kick off with Wade Bowen on Sept. 27.

Bowen returns to the fair after a year that literally saw the Texas country music veteran go through life-changing challenges. Bowen allows a raw look at his life in the short film Inconsistent Chaos, where he shares his story of having to undergo vocal cord surgery and enduring a singing sabbatical to recover fully. The now healthy singer/songwriter is on a summer tour that has him playing all over the United States and Europe.

Opening for Wade is Katy's rising star, Hayden Baker. Baker, has opened for Willie Nelson and is nominated for the 2019 Texas County Music Association Emerging New Artist award.

On Saturday, Sept. 28 if you are a fan of traditional country, specifically George Strait and Alan Jackson, this is a night you don't want to miss. Southern County Line will be entertaining the crowd, and they are also a part of a special tribute concert that pays homage to George Strait. Derek Spence gives a genuine rendition of King George's look, sound and mannerisms. Also, in the lineup will be Doug Brewin, who will be playing all of Alan Jackson's hits. In 2018, Southern County Line was named band of the year for the Texas Country Music Association.

On Sunday, Sept. 29, there will be a full day of live Tejano music. Master of the accordion, Michael Salgado, will be headlining. The multi Latin Grammy winner will be bringing his Tejano sounds including his hits "Cruz De Madera" and "Palomita Blanca." Returning to the fair will be the all-sister sensation band, Las Fenix. The Houston-based group is talented to no end, from their vocal skills to their musical capabilities, they know how to entertain. Las Fenix has been a fan favorite and will be returning to the fair. Lucky Joe, Beatriz Gonzalez, and Mariachi Autlan will also be performing.

Debuting at this year's fair will be Bag of Donuts on Wednesday, Oct. 2. The New Orleans based band is a powerhouse in entertainment. The 80s cover band brings extravagant costumes, a flamboyant performance and a song list that is filled with hits.

Texas native and Country Music veteran, Neal McCoy, will be bringing his talents to the fair on Friday, Oct. 4. For more than three decades, McCoy has continued to tour and sell out venues. His ability to combine traditional country music and his unwavering patriotism keeps him a music industry icon.

Millions of fans are reached daily on his Facebook Live Pledge of Allegiance ritual. Neal has a string of hits, including "Wink" and "The Shake." South Texas Country newcomer, Robert Ray, will be opening for McCoy. Ray just released "Good Country Song" this June and the song is already moving up the charts.

East Texas' favorite son, Jody Booth, will be playing on Saturday, Oct. 5. Booth grew up in Livingston, Texas and came from a long line of musicians.

"I like to tell folks that my two greatest musical influences are my momma and Merle Haggard. I love real country music and sharing that music with others. That's why I'm thrilled to be playing the Fort Bend County Fair," said Booth. "It's the perfect event for me and the band. Life is good."

His song "Life of My Love" is gaining airplay and his tour has him playing all over the Lone Star state. Bellville's own, David Lewis, will be opening.

To close out the fair on Sunday, Oct. 6, will be Jake Hooker and the Outsiders. This king of swing is a phenomenal entertainer. His iconic stand-up bass and western-attire suit add to his unique vocal arrangements. His music includes timeless classics, gospel and western swing.

The Fort Bend County Fair's schedule will have nightly rodeo action, carnival rides and livestock shows. Shopping and food vendors will provide plenty of options. All admission tickets include artists' concerts.

A LITTLE FAIR HISTORY

The first Fort Bend County Fair was held in October 1933. The original fairgrounds were located between Rosenberg and Richmond on Avenue H and the only interruption in the county fair was during the years of World War II. In 1974, however, the fairgrounds were moved to the existing location at 4310 Highway 36 South in Rosenberg. Through the years, the Fort Bend County Fair and Rodeo has grown into one of the largest and most successful fairs in the State.

The beloved traditions of the Fort Bend County Fair & Rodeo continues this year Sept. 27 through Oct. 6.

The 2019 Fort Bend County Fair theme is "A Home Grown Fair" and will kick off with the annual Fair Parade on Sept. 27 at 9 a.m. . Featuring nearly 200 entries, spectators will be able to enjoy the sights and sounds that travel from the Historic Court House in Richmond west down Highway 90A to Jannetta Street in Rosenberg.

"Sue Lang's role with Fort Bend Seniors Meals on Wheels is to deliver meals to seniors in Sugar Land and Stafford twice a week, but she does so much more," said Fort Bend Seniors officials. "If she sees an additional need, whether picking up an extra item from the grocery store, offering a ride to a doctor's appointment or helping around the house, she immediately steps in to lend a hand. Sue has also been personally responsible for bringing more volunteers to help the increasing number of seniors the organization serves."

NEEDVILLE ARTIST WORKS ON A MUCH LARGER CANVAS

by AVERIL GLEASON | agleason@fbherald.com

Paul Sanchez said he's been an artist for as long as he can remember. And all his years practicing and painting were worth it.

The Needville resident paints murals in hospitals, airports, schools, and most recently, on Second Street in Rosenberg.

"I was asked to paint something that complemented Ol' Railroad Cafe," Sanchez said. "But there was a catch. Before I started the mural, I was asked to keep the man already painted on the building. So I had to plan around him."

"Come to find out, the man painted on the building owned this very building years and years ago."

"They wanted me to leave his legacy."

Sanchez said it's taken him about three weeks to complete this project.

"I was painting a No. 819 Train," Sanchez said.

Sitting on the steps of the train is the owner of the building.

"The hardest part about my job is the prework," Sanchez revealed. "Before I get started, I have to do a whole set of stencils and that takes as long, if not longer, to do than the mural itself."

"But the end result, seeing it all come together, makes it all worth it."

Sanchez, who has lived in Fort Bend County for five years, said he's happy to leave his mark on the community through this mural.

Needville resident Paul Sanchez works on a mural in downtown Rosenberg.

THE FRINGE FESTIVAL 2019

GRHS THEATRE LONGHORN PLAYERS PERFORM DIRECTOR'S RECOUNT OF 9/11

by JENNIFER PHILLIPS

Nineteen members of the George Ranch High School Longhorn Players traveled to England and Scotland this summer as selected performers at the 2019 Edinburgh Fringe Festival, which is the largest gathering of performing artists in the world. For three weeks in August, more than 3,000 performers showcased their talents in hundreds of venues.

This was the second time the Longhorn Players have qualified to present at the Fringe Festival.

With performers representing every continent, the festival encourages topics that reflect the unique experiences of the troupe's country of origin. George Ranch HS Director L. Jay Edenmeyer decided to write a deeply personal American story for his performers to share with the world. Told through the Alice in Wonderland framework, "Sometimes, Just A Second" is based upon Edenmeyer's actual experience on September 11, 2001 in New York.

"My exploration of 9/11 goes back to the date itself. I had only been in New York City for three weeks after completing my graduate work. It was my ninth day at a temp job as a registrar for The New York Institute of Finance in Tower Two of the World Trade Center," he said. "I, and every one of the employees in my company, made it out of the building physically sound. Many were not as fortunate. So, those of us who did are obligated to tell their stories. Keeping the story alive for a generation, many of whom were not even born at the time, is an immeasurable honor, privilege and gracious obligation."

The play was originally conceptualized by Edenmeyer for the Players as a one-act play for UIL competition. For Scotland, the original play was expanded and music was added.

"Through a fantastical world, in a horrific time, storytelling through art, color, performance, song and soul, we hope to embody the hope of a life lived, and a life continuing," Edenmeyer said.

The Longhorn Players presented three performances of "Sometimes, Just A Second" on the Space Triplex stage at the Festival on Aug. 6, 7 and 8. Members of the troupe also shared their talents on the outdoor Royal Mile stage.

While in Edinburgh, the students were able to attend performances by other troupes, hiked through the countryside to Arthur's Seat, enjoyed the Edinburgh Tattoo and visited Stirling and Edinburgh Castles.

Prior to arriving at the festival, the group spent five days in London sightseeing, touring the Shakespearean Globe Theater, and participating in an actors' workshop. The highlight of the time in London culminated in attending West End productions of the musicals Six and Come From Away.

While each of these talented students grew as performers and people through this unique and moving experience, the Players are already looking ahead to their next endeavor. Just a few days after returning from the Fringe Festival in Scotland, the group was already back to work with rehearsals for their October musical - Mamma Mia!

MERCY GOODS

SOCIAL ENTERPRISE ENDEAVOR OFFERS AT-RISK YOUTH JOB SKILLS AND OPPORTUNITIES

by ALEX WUKMAN | awukman@fbherald.com

Since Zach Lambert founded Mercy Goods in 2018, his non-profit furniture-making business has generated headlines almost as fast as it has cranked out reclaimed wood tables. The organization's attention-getting business model of hiring at-risk high school students to create $60 cutting boards and $5,000 custom tables has resonated with the Richmond/Rosenberg area.

"We've been accepted by this community, this is home and my kids will be able to say they grew up in Fort Bend County," Lambert said, sinking into a faded yellow colonial style sofa.

Located at 501 Morton St. in Richmond, Mercy Goods is a partner organization with Attack Poverty and has been fondly embraced by local civic organizations, particularly the Central Fort Bend Chamber of Commerce.

"The chamber has been great for us," Lambert said. "We've gotten a lot of work from their recommendations."

The positive response Lambert and his wife April have received since they relocated to Fort Bend County in 2017 has allowed them to build Mercy Goods on a foundation of support.

"My wife and I created Mercy Goods as an opportunity to teach carpentry and furniture design to individuals that had a hard time finding employment due to previous life choices or circumstances," said Lambert, taking a swig from a Topo Chico bottle he'd stuffed in the couch's cushions.

Magno Guiloen sands a piece of pecan wood in Mercy Goods workshop. The wood came from a tree that was felled by Hurricane Harvey. Guiloen started work at Mercy Goods in June; he was attracted to the business for its commitment to the community.

Lambert's end goal is to partner with Lamar Consolidated ISD as part of the district's work-study program.

"Students will go to school and, with an off period in the afternoon, they will be able to come work at Mercy Goods," he said. "The students will learn the basics of furniture design and construction—including power tools, welding and finishing techniques."

Although work-study recognition has been part of the plan for more than a year, Lambert admits hasn't been able to put much effort into pursuing the partnership with LCISD.

"We've been working to get the shop open and keep up with the demand," he said. "We haven't approached the district yet, but we plan to."

Without an official school-to-business pipeline, Lambert has been relying on personal relationships to find a labor pool.

"The students working here now are ones that my wife recommended or ones that we meet in the community," Lambert said.

For the students currently employed by Mercy Goods, one of the things that separate working for Lambert from a regular after school job is the commitment to service.

"When I first met Zach he talked about serving the community," Magno Guiloen said. Another thing that attracted Guiloen to Mercy Goods was the chance to learn something practical.

"I've always been a little bit interested in woodworking," Guiloen said.

One of Mercy Good's major selling points for students is flexible scheduling, said Amanda Peccora, HR director for Attack Poverty.

"Students don't need to be working all night if they have the SATS or the STAAR test in the morning,” Peccora said.

Flexibility and understanding don’t end with standardized testing, Lambert said. Adapting to the needs of the students is central to the Mercy Goods ethos.

“One of our students had to go to Milwaukee for family stuff,” he said. “We don’t know when he’s coming back, but he’s got a job waiting for him.”

By the time Lambert’s wayward employee returns, he hopes to have more than just a job waiting for the wandering Wisconsinite. Lambert plans for Mercy Goods include a more formalized training regime.

“We plan on offering classes and mentoring,” Lambert said. What form the mentoring and classes might take has yet to be decided, he added. “We’re interested in doing peer to peer and adult to student to mentoring,” Lambert said.

Of the current crop of students working at Mercy Goods, one is being mentored on starting a clothing line.

“We’ve taught him silk screening and we’re helping him navigate the application process to go to TSTC,” Lambert said.

Even though Mercy Goods has yet to fully open its doors, and may not be fully open until Labor Day, Lambert is already looking at the organization’s next evolutionary stage.

“I’d like to get the students paid directly for their work,” he said, gesturing to a display cabinet filled with cutting boards. “We’d sell the students’ items on consignment.”

Lambert believes that selling items on consignment will help the students he’s working with developing a sense of ownership and, possibly, move beyond the label some of them have been stuck with.

“I don’t like the phrase ‘at risk,’” he said. “It’s reductive. Everyone is ‘at risk.’ I’m at risk. You’re at risk. We’re all at risk. We’re all one bad day or one poor decision away from poverty or prison.”

Empowering Children To Reach Their Highest Potential

THE TUTORING CENTER SPECIAL “BACK TO SCHOOL” OFFER!

It’s hard to believe. The school year is starting again! Thankfully, by starting early before report cards come out in a few months, you have time for THE TUTORING CENTER to help your child start the year on a “high-note!” Our FUN, proven, unique one-to-one instruction known as “The Rotational Approach to Learning™” will help your child improve confidence, concentration & self-esteem while strengthening the academic skills that he or she needs to succeed in school!

THE TUTORING CENTER

One-to-One Instruction

This type of instruction yields far greater results than small-group instruction offered by any of our competitors.

VS.

Group Instruction

Most other facilities use small-group instruction where each Instructor will see 3, 4, or even 5 children at one time!

The Rotational Approach to Learning™ enables students to work in a highly interactive, positive environment working one-to-one with an instructor.

Small-group instruction is often very distracting for students where competition and intimidation are unavoidable factors.

AN INSIDE LOOK

Lamar CISD communications coordinator excited for future

Sydney Whigam is passionate about two things: the Fighting Texas Aggies and her career. Of course, when she graduated from Texas A&M University in 2017, she had no idea her career would take her to the same place she grew up- Lamar Consolidated ISD.

Whigam's confidence in both herself and her job as communications coordinator for LCISD is overflowing as she sits at her desk writing captions for social media posts and listening to the "A Star is Born" soundtrack.

She brings an air of youth to the office.

Whigam was in the first graduating class of George Ranch High School in 2013, after all.

Herald reporter Averil Gleason sits down with Whigam to get an inside look at what life is like in and out of the district's administration building.

FBH: When did you start this job?

SW: I started as the communications coordinator with Lamar CISD in November of 2018- almost one year ago.

FBH: What's a day in the life like for you?

SW: The community relations department keeps me on my toes as no two days are ever the same. From campus visits and posting on social media about the exciting things happening at our schools, to preparing documents for distribution with the team, to learning about the new initiatives occurring within the district, I love how each day is different from the last.

FBH: What's it like being the youngest admin at LCISD?

SW: It's been an incredible experience. Everyone brings their own experiences and insight to the table, and I strive to take full advantage of the opportunity to learn from each person I have the privilege of working with.

As a part of the community relations team, I'm able to interact with central office staff as well as campus staff. I've really enjoyed running into former teachers and having the chance to catch up and see how the district has continued to grow since I graduated in 2013.

FBH: You were the first graduating class at George Ranch. How do you use that to your advantage?

SW: Being a product of Lamar CISD has given me a unique perspective that I'm able to share with my colleagues. It has been interesting getting to see things from the other side and it makes me even more thankful that I grew up where I did. It's rewarding to work alongside the very people that ensured the education I received through Lamar CISD would lay a solid foundation for my future. This job has given me a new appreciation for the decision makers in our district and an immense gratitude to have the opportunity to learn from them. Everyone in our district is incredibly passionate about serving our students. I feel like I'm giving back in a unique way by serving those in the shoes I used to be in.

FBH: Is this the career you expected to get into? What did you major in college?

SW: I received a double degree in communications and theatre arts from Texas A&M University. I've always had a deep passion for people and aimed to find a career where I had an outlet for my creativity while serving others.

FBH: You worked at Disney before coming to LCISD, right? What's the biggest difference between working there and working here? What's similar?

SW: Yes! Working for Disney was an experience unlike any other and I am so grateful for my time working for the mouse. While there might not be fireworks at the end of every work day anymore, working for Lamar CISD has been truly magical in itself. Each day I get to walk into a space with people passionate about the one thing that inspired Disney itself- children. Disney taught me that we all have a little bit of magic inside us and you don't need a castle to unleash it.

FBH: Did you ever expect you'd come back to Lamar?

SW: I actually remember the first time I ever thought of working for the district as a possibility. The funny thing is, it was back in 2005 when I met Dr. Randle for the first time as a fifth grader at Campbell

OAKBEND MEDICAL CENTER

—OakBend physician retires after 37 years—

Health News

OakBend Medical Group's Dr. James R. McClamroch has retired after 37 years of practice as a cardiologist with OakBend.

McClamroch was inspired to become a physician by his interest in science, biology, and the desire to have relationships with people while having a positive impact on their lives and health.

Despite not having any other physicians in his family, they were all very encouraging and supportive of him in his endeavors.

At his retirement party, thrown by the OakBend Medical Group and attended by board members, colleagues and staff, Dr. McClamroch stated, "I'm speechless. To have folks that have meant so much to me over the years and I've depended on in this hospital and doing what we all do which is to care for patients, it means so much to me to have you hear to wish me well.

"I am a quiet and introverted person and not used to being in the spotlight but it does mean a lot and I appreciate it.

"It's a two-way street and what we do in health care and caring for patients is never a single person, it takes teamwork with all of my colleagues, medical staff and the clinical departments, case managers and administration.

"It takes all of us to achieve what we need to achieve and the thanks is mine being able to take care of my patients with your help.

"You are thanking me but that works both ways and the gratitude is mine. It's been a great ride and we've had some ups and downs like in any career, but for the most part, I feel very good about what we have accomplished and I am going to miss all of you.

"Great days are ahead for all of us."

After his retirement, Dr. McClamroch plans to spend time with his family, his three grandchildren and to read, travel and possibly take up a new hobby. He is also open to doing some volunteer work part-time, either in or out of health care.

Dr. McClamroch received the Physician of the Year Award in 2014.

The award is an honor given annually to one outstanding physician who possesses significant practice experience, compassion, kindness and sincerity that translate not only to their patients, but to their nurses and other staff members that work closely with them.

OakBend Medical Center is the last remaining independent, nonprofit hospital in the Greater Houston area, providing exceptional service with its three hospitals and many specialty centers.

OakBend follows an innovative model of care that makes the patient the captain of the care team, up-ending the traditional approach to nursing where the doctors and nurses act as leaders of the team.

This patient-centered care drives OakBend's services and programs, including its signature No Wait ER, an advanced trauma center and the Jack and Billie Wendt Acute Care for the Elderly (ACE) unit.

OakBend Medical Center's Employee Giving Campaign raises more than $102,000

For the past three years, OakBend Medical Center employees have donated to the Employee Giving Campaign, raising more than $295,000. 2019's efforts were the most successful to date, with employee giving exceeding $102,000.

This year, 400-plus employees donated to the campaign, which equates to greater than 40 percent employee participation.

Several awards were given during the celebration including:

- Highest Average Gift which went to the Williams Way ER;
- Highest Total Giving which went to the Wharton Hospital Campus; and,
- Departments which had 100 percent participation (Accounting, Education, Executive Team, Fort Bend Surgery Center, Grand Parkway ER, Human Resources, Infection Control, Marketing, Patient Accounts and Skilled Nursing).

OakBend Employees celebrate the most successful campaign to date.

Additionally, awards were given to more than 100 employees who have participated in the Employee Giving Campaign for all three years.

OakBend upgrades Intensive Care Unit

OakBend Medical Center is in the process of remodeling its Intensive Care Unit (ICU). The renovations will help create a warm environment that inspires healing and helps patients achieve their best possible outcomes.

During last year's Patchwork of Life, the hospital, with the help of the community, raised approximately $390,000 to go toward the renovations. During this time, the patients have been moved from ICU to the Ambulatory Care Unit (ACU) also on the second floor. Renovations are expected to be completed by the end of summer.

"Although nurses are working outside their regular environment, everyone is trying to make this transition a good experience," said Joe Freudenberger, CEO of OakBend Medical Center. "Patients will receive the same level of care, and the ACU is easily accessible to physicians and family. We will be excited to see the final results and to get back into the new ICU."

HOUSTON METHODIST SUGAR LAND HOSPITAL

—welcomes Dr. Rosalyn Miller—

Houston Methodist Sugar Land Hospital is pleased to welcome obstetrician-gynecologist Rosalyn Miller, DO.

Miller is the hospital's first OB-GYN employed by the Houston Methodist Physician's Organization, and began seeing patients Aug. 1 at her new practice, Houston Methodist Obstetrics and Gynecology Associates at Sugar Land.

Miller is board-certified in obstetrics-gynecology and has extensive experience dealing with high-risk pregnancies, including patients with hypertension and diabetes. She also provides the full range of gynecological care, including minimally invasive surgeries.

"I am pleased to be joining Houston Methodist Sugar Land at such an exciting time," Miller said. "Houston Methodist continues to make significant investments in women's health services, and the recent opening of the new $60 million expansion and renovation strengthens our Childbirth Center's standing as the facility of choice for moms-to-be in Fort Bend and surrounding areas."

Miller earned her medical degree from Ohio University College of Osteopathic Medicine. She completed her residency at OhioHealth Doctors Hospital in Columbus, Ohio. Most recently, she was an OB-GYN on staff at the University of Pittsburgh Medical Center.

The newly renovated and expanded Houston Methodist Childbirth Center at Sugar Land offers a patient and family centered experience that now includes more spacious birthing rooms, additional operating rooms for cesarean sections, mother-baby rooms, expanded Level II continuum care and well-baby nurseries. This expansion will bring the hospital closer to opening a level III neonatal intensive care unit, which will be the first in Fort Bend County.

Miller's practice is located in Medical Office Building 3 on the Houston Methodist Sugar Land campus, 16605 Southwest Freeway, Suite 335. To make an appointment with Dr. Miller, call 281.882.3130.

Houston Methodist Sugar Land Hospital awarded for Childbirth Center campaign

Houston Methodist Sugar Land Hospital recently won a top honor in the 2019 Crystal Awards, presented by the Houston chapter of the American Marketing Association.

The marketing and business development department won first place in the annual competition's "Social Media Campaign: In-House" category for a multi-faceted program in support of the hospital's Childbirth Center.

The campaign included e-mail marketing, a unique e-guide for expectant mothers, a landing page for the hospital's website, digital media advertising, the creation of a photo wall designed specifically for social media photographs, and more.

The program's theme – "Where the experience is as perfect as the moment" – was designed to showcase the Childbirth Center's many unique amenities, all of which contribute to a memorable experience.

"Our message was tailored specifically for millennial moms, who view pregnancy as more than just childbirth – it's a journey that includes everything from tours and classes to social media opportunities," said Leena Taneja, director of marketing and business development. "Thanks to the work of our team, we were able to deliver that message in a fun, creative and informative way through a variety of platforms to achieve the project's objectives."

The campaign was unveiled during an ambitious physical expansion of the Childbirth Center and related women's health facilities. The hospital was able to limit the impact of construction and keep the Houston Methodist Childbirth Center at Sugar Land a top choice for new moms.

"All of us at Houston Methodist Sugar Land know first-hand the value that our marketing and business development team delivers, so it's especially gratifying to see their efforts recognized and honored by their peers," said Chris Siebenaler, regional vice president and CEO of Houston Methodist Sugar Land. "The Childbirth Center campaign was an important component of our overall marketing in 2018 and I'm proud of the team for their ideas and execution."

The Crystal Award is one of Houston's most prestigious marketing honors. More than 600 local marketers attended the awards banquet, held May 23 at the Bayou City Event Center.

SCHOLASTIC SPOTLIGHT Continued from page 29

Elementary School. I wandered up to his office before a performance at Brazos Crossing and was so intrigued by his role as superintendent. That day, he encouraged a curious little fifth-grader by saying that one day maybe she would sit in his chair as superintendent of schools. While my life might not have lead me into that aspect of education, I think it's great that it did lead me back to Brazos Crossing!

FBH: What's your fondest memory during your time as a student at LCISD?

SW: While there were talent shows, musicals, debate competitions, cheerleading showcases and so many little moments in-between, my biggest take away from my days at Lamar CISD would be my heart-to-hearts with my high school counselor, Christy Tucker. She constantly encouraged me, inspired me and pushed me to be the best version of myself. She reminded me with every chat that the direction my life took after high school was entirely up to me. From our initial interaction, she helped an insecure little eighth-grader realize with hard work, dedication and kindness — she could achieve anything.

FBH: What's the hardest part of your job? And the best part?

SW: The best part of my job is 100% the people I work with. We all come from diverse backgrounds and each person brings something different and exciting to the table. They're some of the most driven, dedicated individuals I've ever met and I'm thankful for the opportunity to collaborate with them on a daily basis. School communications has so many moving pieces that I've had to familiarize myself with and I'm thankful I had such a great team beside me as I transitioned into this role.

FBH: What's your big-picture plan for your life? Do you plan on staying here for a long time or for a good time?

SW: My big-picture plan for my life is to create happiness for those around me and myself. With each day I'm hard at work designing a life I love and doing everything in my power to grow as a person. Wherever I am, whatever I may be doing- I just want to live every day to the fullest and continue serving others in whatever capacity that may be. I might not always know what tomorrow holds, but I know who holds tomorrow and that's all I really need.

FBH: If you do leave, what mark do you hope to leave on LCISD?

SW: I've always loved the saying "be who you needed when you were younger" and I truly hope that when my time at Lamar CISD is said and done I'm able to say I gave my all serving others, but most importantly our students. Whether it was Campbell, Wessendorff, Lamar Junior High or George Ranch High School, I learned some pretty big life lessons in the halls throughout this district. This role has given me a platform to share my experiences with others and I can only hope to be a cheerleader for those in our district, like many were for me growing up.
