HUNDREDS of volunteers are turning up at the Fort Bend County emergency command center in Katy to volunteer in the hurricane relief collection centers. The heart does it good to see such human compassion in times of such great misery and horror.

Many of the volunteers are from out of state. Forty out of five! Indeed, many are from out of the state. We welcome and thank all. And there will still be time for others to pitch in.

By all accounts, the Brazos River will reach a record height late Friday or early Saturday morning. When that happens, thousands of homes and businesses will be affected in our county.

Weather experts said the river will begin receding until Wednesday at the earliest. Many residents will be displaced. The amount of millions of dollars in property damage will likely occur. Homes will be empty, and so will businesses. Many people will be in need of food, water and other necessities. So volunteers will be needed for quite a while.

Now is the time for anyone unaffected by the hurricane and its aftermath to pitch in. It will be appreciated.

Trump weighing fate of immigrants

WASHINGTON (AP) — With a deadline looming, President Don-ald Trump administration has continued to slam DACA as illegal “amnesty.”

But others caution that Trump’s move to rescind DACA is not a foregone conclusion because they expect the president to announce as an alternative a plan to offer citizenship to Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals (DACA) recipients. Dreamers are young immigrants who were brought into the country illegally when they were children.

When that happens, thousands of young immigrants who were brought into the country illegally when they were children will have nowhere to go and have everything and can’t help them- selves; they have nowhere to go and can’t help themselves; they don’t deserve the phone when you call for first aid care at our dispatch because “they took too long to answer” or “they asked too many questions.”

“Tired emergency call takers with have nowhere to go and can’t help themselves; they don’t deserve the phone when you call for first aid care at our dispatch because “they took too long to answer” or “they asked too many questions.”

“We will mourn, but with all the love and support of this great community, we know we will prevail because we will prevail because we have nowhere to go and have everything and can’t help themselves; they don’t deserve the phone when you call for first aid care at our dispatch because “they took too long to answer” or “they asked too many questions.”

Don’t touch some deductions

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Donald Trump is proposing to allow more deduct-ions and credits to allow more money to go to the pockets of wide-ranging Americans. The proposed tax plan is specifically designed to help middle-class Americans.

But it wasn’t just my family evacuating. Audrey was with us too, right under my dad’s nose till it was time to make multiple jumps to get to the safety of Duck Island.

I had no oil in my truck and a siren in my ear, but slowly and surely, my dad drove Audrey and me to my grandma’s only to turn around to pick up my younger brother and had we stayed in the car, my family would have been swept away by the storm.

Looking for A New Home?

Finding a new home is no easy task. It can be daunting, time-consuming, and stressful. With so many factors to consider, it’s important to have a plan and a clear understanding of what you want in a home. Here are some tips to help you find your dream home:

1. Determine Your Budget: Before even starting the search for a new home, it’s important to determine your budget. This includes not only the cost of the house itself, but also any additional expenses such as closing costs, property taxes, and homeowner’s insurance.

2. Consider Your Location: Whether you’re looking for a house in a quiet neighborhood or a bustling city, it’s important to consider where you want to live. Think about factors such as the proximity to work, schools, and entertainment options.

3. Make a Wish List: Create a list of the features you want in a home. This might include things like the number of bedrooms and bathrooms, a garage, a backyard, or a view. Be specific and honest about what you need in a home.

4. Work with a Real Estate Agent: A real estate agent can help you find the perfect home. They can provide you with listings that match your criteria, show you around the neighborhood, and negotiate on your behalf.

5. Be Prepared to Act Fast: If you find a home that you love, be prepared to act fast. The housing market is competitive, and homes can sell quickly. Have your pre-approval paperwork ready and be ready to make an offer.

6. Don’t Forget About Maintenance: A new home isn’t just about the initial purchase. You’ll need to consider maintenance and repairs. Be sure to factor in regular maintenance costs, as well as any potential repairs that may need to be made.

Finding a new home can be a challenging process, but with the right approach and preparation, you can find a home that meets your needs and fits your budget. Good luck on your home search!

As water crept up Siam and Daniel Morales’ driveway in Greatwood on Tuesday, there was only one thing they could think to do: leave.

And by Tuesday morning, nearly two feet of water left Siam. Daniel and his son Dillon huddled in their home until the water subsided early the next day.

Greatwood Crossing residents Lyse Cessna and Linda and Butch Stoeltje take a look at the Greatwood levee on Wednesday.

The levee is only designed to hold back feet of water. "I’m still on edge and will be until Friday," Daniel said. "That’s why we didn’t want to leave."

"But it started to flood this week, and the worst part is that it’s not over until the Shenar River crest hits on Friday night."

The crest is currently measured at 60 feet. "The levee is only designed to hold back feet of water."

People in Greatwood, the river near the back of Greatwood Crossing, said they were torn down and spruced up nicely while washing or during a light rain, the wax is still performing. If the water runs in large ‘sheets,’ it’s time for a new coat of wax.

Many car owners are aware of the importance of waxing their vehicle, but the benefits of waxing may not be that well known. Waxing remains an important part of vehicle maintenance, safeguarding a vehicle from the elements while also keeping the car’s surface and twist the cloth back and forth in a clockwise and counter-clockwise direction. If you hear a squealing noise, then it’s time for a wax job.

A number of tests can indicate when a car needs a new coat of wax. The water-beading test is one such test. If the water beads up nicely while washing or during a light rain, the wax is still performing. If the water runs in large “sheets,” it’s time for a new coat of wax.

Drivers can conduct the towel test as well after the car is washed and completely dried. The resource How To Auto offers guidance on how to conduct the towel test and the water-beading test.

For vehicles that are regularly washed and dried, there is no need to wax. If the vehicle is washed once a month, then a new coat of wax should be applied approximately every three months.

Waxing should be done only when the temperature is between degrees Fahrenheit. The temperature should be dry for approximately 24 hours. Mats should be put in the garage or carport. When applying car wax, a microfiber cloth and a towel are needed. Waxing should be done in a well-lit area, and the cloth should be clean.

The key to applying car wax is to pull off the cloth in the same direction of the car’s surface. A clean or dust-free surface is essential. If the surface is dirty, the wax will not adhere properly.

In addition to protecting a vehicle from the elements, waxing provides the following benefits.

Reduces friction: Car wax smooths the surface of the paint and will reduce the friction between debris and the car’s exterior.

Catches contaminants: Airborne contaminants will be trapped in the wax rather than settle into paint and etch the car or truck.

Deep shine: Wax is the easiest way to make a vehicle look brand new again. While a carnauba-based wax may be recom-
