About the program

Join us for an engaging and informative educational program designed for patients, survivors, and caregivers impacted by blood cancer. This interactive Q&A panel brings together three essential voices in the cancer journey: a blood cancer survivor, an oncology social worker, and a clinical trial nurse navigator.

Through shared experiences and expert insights, our panelists will discuss what it's really like to live with and beyond blood cancer, how to cope with emotional and practical challenges, and how to effectively navigate the healthcare system.

This session offers attendees the opportunity to ask questions, gain practical guidance, and connect with a supportive community. Whether you are newly diagnosed, in treatment, in survivorship, or caring for a loved one, this program aims to provide clarity, confidence, and connection.
