The Emmys celebrate television's best

By Francis Babin
TV Media

Fall is nearly here, and that means it's time for cozy sweaters, pumpkin spice everything and the new prime-time television season. After a summer of repeats, it's finally time for our returning favorites and a new crop of aspiring series.

With both new and old shows vying for our attention, we set aside an evening to look back at the past year and celebrate television's outstanding achievements. See the stars, relive the best moments and have a good time with the 70th Annual Primetime Emmy Awards, airing Monday, Sept. 17, on NBC.

This marks the first time in four years that the peacock network will broadcast the event, and it looks to showcase its bright, young talent with "Saturday Night Live" Weekend Update anchors Michael Che and Colin Hanks as MCs for the ceremony. Following Stephen Colbert's ("The Late Show with Stephen Colbert") tremendous performance from last year will be no easy feat, but despite the pressure, the pair is ready to tear down the Microsoft Theater in downtown Los Angeles.

In an interview with Vanity Fair, Che and Hanks discussed how the Emmys will be a nice change of pace from the constant political topics they cover on Weekend Update. "The exciting part is to do things about television and that particular awards ceremony and make it, in general, less political than normal," Hanks said. "There's a lot to celebrate in television right now. It's a very strong time."

Hanks is spot on — we're currently in a new golden age of television. When the nominations were announced by Ryan Eggold ("The Blacklist") and Samira Wiley ("Orange Is the New Black") back in July, this was made very clear. The usual complaints followed the announcements, but they quickly dissipated. Instead of focusing on the snubs, people turned their attention to the many surprises and first-time nominations. For instance, this year marks the first time in its nine-year run that the ABC hit "Modern Family" wasn't nominated for Outstanding Comedy Series — a nod the single-camera comedy has consistently secured since 2009.

History was made when Sandra Oh became the first Asian actress nominated for Best Actress in a Drama for her excellent performance in "Killing Eve," while Jessica Biel ("The Sinner"), Matt Smith ("The Crown") and Nikolaj Coster-Waldau ("Game of Thrones") all received nominations for the first time.

"Game of Thrones" leads the pack with an impressive 22 nominations, followed closely by its HBO counterpart "Westworld" with 21. The legendary "Saturday Night Live" also raked in 21 nods. Not far behind is Hulu heavy-weight "The Handmaid's Tale" and FX's "The Assassination of Gianni Versace: American Crime Story" with 20 and 18 nominations, respectively, with the latter looking to take home the Outstanding Limited Series award.

Without the perennial "Modern Family" and last year's winner, "Veep," in the running, the Outstanding Comedy Series award is up for grabs. With the exception of FX's "Atlanta" and ABC's "Black-ish," broadcast networks and basic cable were virtually shut out in favor of premium and streaming series. Newcomer "Barry" is up against HBO staples "Silicon Valley" and "Curb Your Enthusiasm," while Amazon's "The Marvelous Mrs. Maisel" and Netflix's "GLOW" and "Unbreakable Kimmy Schmidt" round out the nominees.

It's not all bad news for broadcast, however, with NBC garnering a respectable 78 nominations. Streaming services are well represented at this year's ceremony, with Netflix reaping the most nominations of any streamer with a whopping 112. Hulu, with 27, and Amazon, with 22, though far behind, nevertheless saw an increase from last year and have nominations in the most important categories.

On the drama side, FX's "The Americans" finally received some love from the academy for its sixth and final season. The '80s-set Cold War series faces off against a couple of Netflix period pieces in "The Crown" and "Stranger Things." The trio, along with fellow nominees "Game of Thrones," "This Is Us" and "Westworld," will try to prevent "The Handmaid's Tale" from repeating as Outstanding Drama Series.

The Outstanding Lead Actor in a Comedy Series is dominated with returning nominees in Anthony Anderson ("Black-ish"), TV veteran Ted Danson ("The Good Place"), Larry David ("Curb Your Enthusiasm"), Donald Glover ("Atlanta") and William H. Macy ("Shameless"). Bill Hader ("Barry") is the lone rookie in the field of comedic giants.

Who will emerge victorious as Outstanding Lead Actress in a Drama Series is anyone's guess. The heated race is once again up in the air between Claire Foy ("The Crown"), Tatiana Maslany ("Orphan Black"), Sandra Oh ("Killing Eve"), Keri Russell ("The Americans"), Evan Rachel Wood ("Westworld") and last year's winner, Elisabeth Moss ("The Handmaid's Tale").

Will Sterling K. Brown win back-to-back gold statues for NBC powerhouse "This Is Us"? Will Allison Janney ("Mom") make 2018 a year to remember by adding an Emmy Award for Outstanding Lead Actress in a Comedy Series next to her Academy Award for her memorable performance in "I, Tonya" (2017)? Have a laugh with Che and Hanks and see how it all plays out with the 70th Annual Primetime Emmy Awards, airing Monday, Sept. 17, on NBC.

Jurassic World: Fallen Kingdom

When Isla Nublar, the remote island site of two former theme parks that featured live dinosaurs, is threatened by an impending volcanic eruption, former park operations manager Claire Dearing (Howard) teams up with her former lover, animal trainer Owen Grady (Pratt), to save some of the remaining dinosaurs, including the last surviving velociraptor that was trained by Grady. Once on the doomed island, though, the pair discover a far-reaching plot to save the dinosaurs for reasons far more nefarious than conservation by people who are willing to kill to keep their actions a secret from the outside world. As always, life finds a way.

Director: J.A. Bayona. Stars: Chris Pratt, Bryce Dallas Howard, Rafe Spall, Justice Smith, Daniella Pineda. 2018. 128 min. Action.

Damsel

After Penelope (Wasikowska), the love of his life, is kidnapped and held captive, pioneer Samuel Alabaster (Pattinson) heads west with dreams of rescuing and marrying her. Accompanying him on his quest across the wild frontier are a miniature horse named Butterscotch, which he intends to present to Penelope as a gift, and an old preacher (Forster), whom Samuel has brought along so that he and the damsel in distress can be married without any delay. It doesn't take long before the simple journey devolves into anything but.

Directors: David Zellner, Nathan Zellner. Stars: Robert Pattinson, Mia Wasikowska. 2018. 113 min. Comedy.

Payday bonus: Andrew Zimmern rewards mobile eateries in new series

By Andrew Warren
TV Media

Love it or hate it, we live in a culture of tipping. In restaurants especially, leaving some extra moolah at the end of a meal is the norm, and even less-traditional eateries usually have a tip jar or the like.

"Bizarre Foods" host Andrew Zimmern's new show takes tipping to the next level for restaurants, where every penny earned can help make ends meet: food trucks. "Big Food Truck Tip" premieres with back-to-back episodes on Wednesday, Sept. 19, on Food Network, with Zimmern swinging by two far-flung cities where he checks out some of their hottest mobile eateries — and leaves some whopping tips for his favorites.

Each episode takes the host to a new food truck hot spot, where the host meets with three food truck operators. He doesn't just try their food — he also gets to know them, learning the stories behind their dishes and getting a feel for what makes them tick.

Running a food truck is no walk in the park, and in each city, Zimmern chooses one of the three businesses he visits to receive a supersized tip — one worth a whopping $10,000. That's enough to transform any small business, and the host is clearly overjoyed that he gets to be the bearer of such an incredible windfall.

"Our modern-day food world is blessed to have the extreme ambition, fun attitude, and glorious culinary output of today's truckers," he said in a statement. "Micro businesses on wheels, serving up love by the sandwichful, makes looking at this community and telling these stories a real privilege."

The premiere sees the host visiting Birmingham, Alabama, where he encounters a food truck serving up classic Southern comfort foods to everyone — even the needy who don't have the means to pay. In the night's second episode, Zimmern heads to Memphis, Tennessee, where the foodie scene has blown up in recent years. There, he hits up a food truck rally for a fill-up before finding a place serving tacos with a Tennessee twist.

That's three food trucks visited in each city, but only one gets an incredible $10,000 tip. They're all deserving, though, and they're all featured in "Big Food Truck Tip," premiering Wednesday, Sept. 19, on Food Network.

Hollywood Q&A

By Adam Thomlison
TV Media

Q: I am an every-week watcher of "Lucky Dog" and am wondering who compensates Brandon for the dog training and TurfMutt for the backyard makeovers?

A: You could say that being in the show is compensation in itself. Or, put another way, they compensate each other.

"Lucky Dog," a weekend morning show built around dog trainer Brandon McMillan, is sponsored by TurfMutt, which means not only does that company provide its backyard makeovers free of charge, it actually pays the show's producers for the privilege. The idea is that the exposure TurfMutt gets on the show will lead other people to hire them to work on their own yards.

Some of the money TurfMutt pays for this exposure is funneled to McMillan as his salary for doing the show.

However, he benefits from the exposure, too. When he's not rescuing and training troubled pups for the show, McMillan also writes books about dog training and works as a trainer-for-hire on the side — he boasts "a long list of Hollywood celebrities" among his clientele.

All this means the families who appear on the show don't pay a cent (nor do the dogs, for that matter — even the ones who end up with jobs out of the deal).

But the show's expenses aren't covered just by what TurfMutt pays in. That's why "Lucky Dog" employs Ilana Gordon as its branded-content producer. Her job is to get other companies to pay to place their products on the show. Her goal is to make those placements as unobtrusive as possible.

Q: Here's a random question: it looks like Gordon Ramsay has really big feet — is it true or is it just the angle of the cameras?

A: Amazingly enough, I know the answer to this. He does, in fact, have enormous feet.

This is public information because the L.A. Times asked him in an interview what his most useless talent is and he answered almost without hesitation: "My size 15 feet."

Ramsay is famous for his overstatements, and he didn't disappoint when describing his paws, which he referred to variously as "works of art," "machines" and "torpedoes."

He said they come in handy particularly when he's doing Ironman Triathlons, which include a 3.8-kilometre swimming portion. He said that they "save my life in a triathlon" and that they allow him to "swim past dolphins."

He also said that, along with being extra long, his feet are particularly wide, and that he has to get special sneakers to fit them (he mentions Asics as his brand of choice).

We should take the bit about swimming faster than dolphins with a generous pinch of salt — after all, a few years ago he had to walk back some of his boasts about the success of his professional soccer career. But as for the rest, the camera doesn't lie.

Forged in Fire
 It's back to basics for four bladesmiths who are tasked with forging a Damascus blade out of three different steels in a new episode of "Forged in Fire," airing Wednesday, Sept. 19, on History. Welding issues crop up in the first round, and one smith is sent packing thanks to a parameter issue. Wil Willis hosts this series.

NBC
Law & Order: Special Victims Unit

A man is taken hostage at gunpoint, forcing Benson (Mariska Hargitay) to make a dangerous move in the first of two back-to-back rebroadcasts of "Law & Order: Special Victims Unit," airing Thursday, Sept. 20, on NBC. Later, Benson's suspicions lead her to a dangerous underground criminal network that's prepared to silence anyone in its way.

Late laughs

The Tonight Show With Jimmy Fallon (repeat)
Banks are starting to offer services through virtual assistants like Amazon Echo, which backfires when you ask Alexa for your account balance and she just starts laughing.

The Late Show With Stephen Colbert (repeat)
The story of the week has been Trump's pro-babysnatching agenda, and today it took another weird turn — because to try to humanize these child detention centers, the administration sent their most high-profile detainee, Melania Trump.

The Late Late Show With James Corden (repeat)
Here in the United Kingdom, officials are looking at the possibility of legalizing medical marijuana. When asked about it this week, Prime Minister Theresa May said that she had never smoked cannabis in her life. I believe her! You know why? Because she calls it cannabis.
