British crime drama "Endeavour" returns to PBS with a new episode on Sunday, July 22. Author Norman Colin Dexter's beloved characters clean up the streets of 1960s Oxford as Det. Sgt. Morse continues to investigate an assassination attempt after the probe is unexpectedly cut short and DCI Fred Thursday, his partner in solving crime, looks into a related case. Not the first adaptation of Dexter's novels, "Endeavour" is the prequel to long-running detective drama "Inspector Morse."

Scene of the crime: Inspector Morse continues his investigations in 'Endeavour'

By Sarah Passingham
TV Media

Literary detectives are right at home in PBS's "Masterpiece," especially the British ones. When "Sherlock," the hit series about the legendary Sherlock Holmes, made its way to this side of the Atlantic, it fit right in among the channel's other British imports, and Det. Const. Endeavour Morse has done the same.

British crime drama "Endeavour" returns to PBS with a new episode on Sunday, July 22. The series follows the most recent television incarnation of Endeavour Morse, a detective popularized by author Norman Colin Dexter's Inspector Morse novels. Sunday's episode sees Det. Sgt. Morse, portrayed by actor Shaun Evans ("The Last Weekend"), continue to investigate an assassination attempt in Oxford after his probe is unexpectedly cut short, while his partner Fred Thursday (Roger Allam, "V for Vendetta," 2005) looks into a related case.

"Endeavour" is not the first TV adaptation of Dexter's famous detective, though it is chronologically the first. Set in the 1960s, "Endeavour" is a prequel to the long-running detective drama, "Inspector Morse" which ran on British television from 1987 to 1993 and continued airing specials until 2000. A spinoff of "Inspector Morse," called "Lewis," was created in 2006 and centered on Robert Lewis (Kevin Whately, "The English Patient," 1996), Morse's sergeant from the original show. The current series has seen Morse begin as a young, disillusioned constable about to quit the force until he is taken under the wing of veteran Det. Thursday, who sees his potential. Under his tutelage, Morse thrives as he successfully investigates the crimes of Oxford and eventually becomes a sergeant after a long road toward passing his exams.

Evans certainly can relate to his character's rise through the ranks as he quickly found success as an actor once he put his mind to the task. He began appearing on stage and in film after making the decision to act at a young age, telling Express Sunday, "I just thought, 'I think I will do that.' That's why I feel quite lucky that it's always been quite clear to me what I should do." One of Evans' first roles was in the comedy series "Teachers," which was also one of the first roles for current "The Late Late Show" host James Corden. The two both later starred in the biopic "Telstar: The Joe Meek Story" in 2008.

Evans has spent more than 15 years stacking his filmography with varied roles in British television, like those in miniseries "The Take," legal drama "Silk" and TV movie "The Scandalous Lady W," making him a natural choice to take over such an iconic role as Morse in "Endeavour."

Evans is not the only "Endeavour" actor bringing a wealth of screen and stage experience to his performance in the show. Allam is one of those British actors that you've seemingly seen in everything. He has appeared in episodes of notable crime dramas "Midsomer Murders," "Waking the Dead" and "Foyle's War" as well as on film in movies such as "Pirates of the Caribbean: On Stranger Tides" (2011) and "The Lady in the Van" (2015). He notably portrayed Illyrio Mopatis in "Game of Thrones," and in a time-bending appearance, he played character Denis Cornford in an episode of "Inspector Morse."

The long list of memorable film credits attributed to him is something of a new development in his career as Allam began his screen work rather late. Not initially predisposed to building a career on screen, he told the Irish Times, "I had to make a conscious decision to do more on screen ... I never thought it was something I could actually do because it wasn't obvious to me how it was made." Allam began his acting career in a feminist theater troupe in the 1970s before spending a decade with the Royal Shakespeare Company. Though proud of his film and television work, Allam admitted to The Guardian that his greatest achievement was performing as Falstaff in the 2010 production of "Henry IV" at Shakespeare's Globe in London.

Credit for the success of "Endeavour" is not solely due to its performances, compelling though they are. Screenwriter Russell Lewis has written every single episode of the series since its debut. Though now a prolific television writer, Lewis began his career as a child actor performing in films and on stage in a 1972 production of "Young Winston" directed by Richard Attenborough. Lewis gave up acting to pursue music before joining fringe theater to begin his writing career. Lewis has written episodes of both "Inspector Morse" and "Lewis" and adapted Agatha Christie's 1961 novel "The Pale Horse" for an episode of "Agatha Christie's Marple."

As proof of the series' popularity, the current fifth season has expanded to six episodes from the four that previous seasons had, an expansion that's meant many sleepless nights for the man helming the script. The pace apparently not only works for Lewis but for viewers as well, as the popularity of "Endeavour" has already secured a sixth season, to begin sometime next year.

Don't miss Morse's latest investigative adventure in a new episode of "Endeavour," airing Sunday, July 22, on PBS.

Cooking, country style

Cheese is king in 'Trisha's Southern Kitchen'

By Andrew Warren
TV Media

Who doesn't love cheese? It's just such a rich, flavorful food with so many varieties to enjoy, whether it's made from the milk of a cow, goat or sheep — or maybe even something more exotic. Even the vegan alternatives are tasty; trust me — give them a try!

Trisha Yearwood, I think, would agree that cheese is one of the greatest foods out there. The country music superstar is as skillful in the kitchen as she is in a recording studio, and her Emmy-winning Food Network series "Trisha's Southern Kitchen" kicked off its latest season last week and currently airs Saturday mornings.

This week's episode is all about cheesy goodness. Trisha spends a day with her friend, and together they visit their local cheese shop, where the duo picks out a stunning variety of the good stuff. Once they're back in Trisha's kitchen, the magic begins as they transform the cheeses into some absolutely stunning dishes.

So what's on the menu? Well, there's a classic French onion soup with an eye-opening amount of cheese melted on top that's served with a mouth-watering goat cheese fondue and roast beef with Camembert paninis with arugula aioli. Cheese isn't just for appetizers and entrees, either, and the two friends make sure that cheese stars in the dessert course, too, with a stunning cheesy apple skillet pie.

"Trisha's Southern Kitchen," which won a Daytime Emmy in 2013 for Outstanding Culinary Program, features the country music legend inviting viewers into her own kitchen so that she can share her love of southern-inspired cooking. In last week's season premiere, she had her band over before a concert for homemade snacks that included orange barbecue steak kabobs, cornbread and chili bites and a charred lemon ricotta dip.

It's that genuine, down-to-earth feel that makes the show what it is; Trisha Yearwood may be a best-selling country artist who's sold more than 15 million albums, but she still loves nothing more than cooking up her favorite dishes for family and friends. "Trisha's Southern Kitchen" airs Saturdays on Food Network.

Hollywood Q&A

By Adam Thomlison
TV Media

Q: I hear "Code Black" has been canceled. Please tell me it's not true, or at least tell me that the powers that saw fit to cancel this great show were considerate enough to have given it an ending, and not just leave us hanging.

A: The way you've phrased your question means I can phrase my answer like it's good news: yes, you will get a satisfying ending to your show, which is in fact canceled.

CBS made the decision to cancel "Code Black" in late May, shortly after the show's third season began.

However, much like you, the show's writers met the cancellation with a sort of grim fatalism. Series creator Michael Seitzman said on Twitter that they sensed the end was coming and they acted accordingly.

"We always suspected this would be the last season. We wrote it to end that way."

That is to say, the current season will end in a satisfying, loose ending sort of way.

TVSeriesFinale.com, which makes a business of tracking the fate of TV shows, got pretty cute about its explanation for the cancellation: "The patient eventually succumbed to acute ratings anemia."

That's cute because it was a medical show, and because the show's ratings have been dropping since it started.

By the point at which CBS canceled it, it was averaging about 5.5 million viewers, which was a big drop from the seven million it averaged in its first season. And its numbers in the 18-49 demographic, which are arguably even more important in these decisions, were even worse, dropping about 25 percent from season to season since it began.

Q: Apparently, Betty White was the first woman to win an Emmy for hosting a game show. What game show was it?

A: If it weren't for the groundbreaking nature of Betty White's hosting role, "Just Men" would be completely forgotten today.

But it did, as you say, give her the opportunity to become the first woman to win an Emmy for hosting a game show, and so the short-lived show entered the history books.

By most accounts it didn't deserve to.

It lasted only three months before being canceled in early 1983, and it was pretty poorly reviewed while it was on. The Washington Post was particularly vicious, calling it "the litmus test for people who think the TV show that can make them physically ill hasn't been invented."

Yes, the show deserves some praise for breaking one particular gender barrier, but it didn't do feminism any other favors.

It was (as you can guess by the title) a battle-of-the-sexes sort of show — two female contestants competed to guess at questions about the lives of a panel of seven male celebrities. (One very dated question, posed to "WKRP in Cincinnati" star Tim Reid: "Tim, is your mother a swinger?")
