Guts and grit: Harlee reveals all in crime drama’s final season

By K.A. Taylor
TV Media

For an informant, withholding and manipulating the truth can be a matter of life and death. Keeping secrets and telling white lies can be hard enough for the average citizen and harder still for a mobster, but for a cop? Well, no greater challenge can exist than to try to delude those trained to detect such deception.

Amidst a sea of badges and blue on prime-time television, one series has managed to make huge waves, combining the drama of a mafioso series with the action of a gritty cop show. Despite an exciting run, this year marks the final season of the star-heavy series, as season 3 of “Shades of Blue” premieres Sunday, June 17, on NBC.

“Shades of Blue” explores the lives of the Street Crimes detective squad of the 64th precinct in New York City, focusing on Det. Harlee Santos (Jennifer Lopez, “Lila & Eve,” 2015) and her supervisor, Lt. Matt Wozniak (Ray Liotta, “Goodfellas,” 1990), with whom Harlee has a 15-year history and a deep, familial relationship. The crew is a tight-knit group of dirty cops who do what is necessary in order to make a crime scene or criminal work in their favor. Other members of the crew include Tess Nazario (Drea de Matteo, “The Sopranos”), Marcus Tufo (Hampton Fluker, “Major Crimes”) and Carlos Espada (Vincent Laresca, “Graceland”).

After being set up in the series premiere, Harlee had a difficult decision to make, and it’s one with which she continues to grapple. She’s brought in by the FBI and confronted by Agent Robert Stahl (Warren Kole, “Stalker”), who needs her to act as an informant so that his anti-corruption task force can finally reveal the unsavory underbelly of the 64th. Given that Harlee is a single mother, down on her luck and desperate to give her daughter, Cristina (Sarah Jeffery, “Rogue”), a better future, she has little choice but to agree, realizing that compliance with the FBI could give her a second chance instead of jail time, while simultaneously knowing that even the smallest misstep could spell tragedy for her and her child.

Season 2 of “Shades of Blue” saw Harlee’s loyalties increasingly torn. She had suspected that Wozniak would be through with her, having learned of her informant ways, but he revealed some truths of his own and decided to take advantage of his new-found knowledge. He enlisted Harlee as a double agent of sorts, feeding misinformation to Stahl as a means to continue helping the crew. As the season intensified, fans were constantly immersed in the tension, with a finale that left the fates of both Harlee and Wozniak in perilous uncertainty. Thankfully, early trailers for the new season indicate that Harlee will be able to testify in court, hinting that all of the betrayal and lies of seasons past will come to light, putting corruption from all sides on public display.

Beyond a compelling plot and intense screenwriting, the show’s popularity owes a great deal to its phenomenal casting. Since the early 2000s, there has been an increasing shift from the big screen to television for many of Hollywood’s A and B list actors. Claire Danes has shone on the small screen in “Homeland.” Colin Farrell and Matthew McConaughey made waves with “True Detective,” a show that’s boasted more than its fair share of big-screen talent in regular and recurring roles. It’s no wonder, then, that when NBC decided to option “Shades of Blue,” it wasn’t such a difficult sell, with stars Lopez and Liotta eager to get involved in the burgeoning quality TV market.

In an interview for BUILD Series, Lopez and Liotta expressed their excitement and passion for the series. Lopez didn’t shy away from addressing the shift for many actors from the big screen to the small screen, noting that “six, seven years ago ... it just seemed like the movie business was not doing as well if you didn’t have a big blockbuster.” As more niche or unique stories became difficult to pitch to cinematic studios, Lopez believes that “great writers” made the move to television because they’d be able “to do the stories they wanted to do,” with the financial freedom and stability to do so. For Lopez — and Liotta, who nodded in approval — “the best movies right now are on TV.”

Creative freedom aside, the challenge of television’s demanding schedules brings more depth to “Shades of Blue,” or so Lopez and Liotta believe. “[The show] is emotionally taxing. It seems, to me, like in every scene, it’s life or death ... to keep at that level, for five and a half, six months straight, every day for 12 hours a day ... it’s a tough, grueling process,” Lopez states. Neither believes they’re holding back for network programming, with both admitting to the difficulties of shaking Harlee and Wozniak after a long day of shooting.

Sadly, this is the final season of the series, but perhaps it’s fitting, given that “Shades of Blue” will conclude on its own terms and be able to maintain the tension that has made it so successful throughout its run. Catch up if you can, get to know the crew and what’s at stake, and prepare for the final 10 episodes of NBC’s gritty crime drama. The season premiere of “Shades of Blue” airs Sunday, June 17, on NBC.

Pacific Rim: Uprising

Ten years after the breach between worlds at the bottom of the Pacific Ocean was closed and the invasion by titanic monsters stopped, the world finds itself once again threatened by the creatures, known as Kaiju. When Jake (Boyega), the son of a hero from the war against the Kaiju, finds himself in trouble with the law, he's given a choice by his adoptive sister Mako Mori (Kikuchi): either join the Pan-Pacific Defense Corps or face time in prison. Not long after he makes his choice, however, new breaches in reality open up around the world and new monsters emerge, leaving Jake as one of humanity's last defenders, and one of the few able to face the new threat to all life on Earth.

Director: Steven S. DeKnight. Stars: John Boyega, Scott Eastwood, Rinko Kikuchi, Caillee Spaeny, Burn Gorman, Charlie Day, Tian Jing. 2018. 111 min. Action.

Unsane

Sawyer (Foy) has been terrorized by a stalker (Leonard) for two years, and visits a hospital hoping to join a support group for harassment victims. After her initial consultation, though, she signs documents without realizing that she's committing herself to spend time in the psychiatric ward, and when she discovers that one of the orderlies is her stalker, she begins to question her own sanity even as she tries to convince the staff that she doesn't belong there.

Director: Steven Soderbergh. Stars: Claire Foy, Joshua Leonard, Sarah Stiles, Amy Irving, Marc Kudisch, Colin Woodell. 2018. 98 min. Horror.

NBC
Jurassic Park
Eccentric millionaire John Hammond (Richard Attenborough) uses preserved DNA to recreate dinosaurs for his new theme park in the acclaimed sci-fi film “Jurassic Park,” airing Saturday, June 16, on NBC. But while Hammond’s grandchildren are touring the park, some of the dinosaurs escape, and it’s up to Dr. Alan Grant (Sam Neill) to save them.

Chefs show off their chops in 'Guy's Ranch Feast'

By Andrew Warren
TV Media

There are basically two types of shows on Food Network. There's the more informative and laid-back type that features chefs doing what they do best, such as "Giada on the Beach," or the type that shines a spotlight on businesses dishing out amazing food, such as "Vegas Cakes." Then, there are the cooking competitions that put professionals (or even non-professionals, in the case of "Worst Cooks in America") in high-stakes situations, such as "Iron Chef America" or "Chopped."

Host Guy Fieri definitely has a foot in both worlds, with "Diners, Drive-Ins and Dives" sitting firmly in the first group and "Guy's Grocery Games" in the second. Heck, he got his start on Food Network when he won the second season of "Food Network Star," a series that itself blurs the line between the two genres of cooking shows.

Guy's latest offering, "Guy's Ranch Feast," falls firmly into the first category. The TV special, which premieres with back-to-back episodes on Sunday, June 17, is a spinoff of "Guy's Ranch Kitchen" and features Guy's most talented chef friends spending a day at his beautiful California ranch home.

Of course, when you get a bunch of chefs together, you just know that some amazing food is going to be made. An Italian feast is what's on order on the first menu, and Guy's guests are happy to oblige. While chef Rocco DiSpirito ("Now Eat This! With Rocco DiSpirito") is busy making frito misto di mare with saffron aioli, Iron Chef Alex Guarnaschelli prepares some charred peppers with balsamic and garlic bread, along with a crowd-pleasing baked herb ziti pasta.

Meanwhile, regular "Chopped" judge chef Marc Murphy prepares a vibrant tomato salad with anchovy vinaigrette and some incredible braised artichokes with radicchio, while his frequent "Chopped" sidekick, chef Scott Conant, brings some Tuscan to the ranch with his roasted potatoes with herbs and garlic, and a fig cake with sweet ricotta cheese.

That's a sizable feast, but that's exactly what Fieri gets when he invites his chef friends to his ranch. These chefs just can't resist cooking when they're together. "Guy's Ranch Feast" airs Sunday, June 17, on Food Network.

"Guy's Ranch Feast" host Guy Fieri as seen in "Diners, Drive-Ins and Dives"

Hollywood Q&A

By Adam Thomlison
TV Media

Q: What has happened to “Scorpion”? It’s been pre-empted and now “Elementary” is in its time-slot?

A: “Pre-empted” is, unfortunately, putting it mildly. “Scorpion” has been canceled.

The show has been underperforming in the ratings for a while now, so the decision wasn’t a big surprise to people who track these things.

Indeed, even series star Katharine McPhee, who played Paige, the more socially well-adjusted member of Team Scorpion, seemed less than surprised. She took to Twitter just hours after the cancellation was made official to offer a resigned farewell.

“Thank you so much to CBS for this journey, to my awesome cast-mates and crew whom I learned from every day and to all the wonderful ‘Scorpion’ fans for being so passionate about what we created. We’ll always be a family.”

It helps that she’s keeping pretty busy lately — she’s starring in a hit Broadway musical (“Waitress”), and has been picking up other screen gigs in her off time from “Scorpion” (such as the indie film “Louisiana Caviar,” released earlier this year).

“Scorpion” lead Elyes Gabel has built up less of a cushion to fall on. He’s seemingly given most of his time to the show since it debuted in 2014.

Gabel played Walter O’Brien, an “eccentric genius” tasked with pulling together a team of fellow brains to tackle the “complex, high-tech threats of the modern age.” The show made it an impressive four seasons before getting the axe, despite, as I said before, never pulling in the kind of numbers CBS expects.

Q: When does the new season of “Major Crimes” start? I have not been able to find any information about the regular season.

A: This is a little awkward. There’s a simple reason you can’t find any information about the next season of “Major Crimes”: there won’t be one.

The TNT procedural series — which started as a spinoff of the network’s popular series “The Closer” but became a long-running, established hit in its own right — ended earlier this year after six seasons on the network.

It went out with a bang, too. I won’t give it away here, but there was a pretty shocking twist toward the end of the show’s final season that would have made it pretty hard to continue.

But there was never any talk of continuing. TNT announced before the sixth season began that it would be the last. The writers, given this advance notice, made the most of the freedom that comes from knowing this was the end. Not only did it allow them to write a proper ending to the show’s storylines and characters, but it gave them the freedom to write big, irreversible events like that thing I’m not talking about — in short, to write whatever they wanted, without having to deal with plot consequences.

Gordon Ramsay's 24 Hours to Hell & Back

Acclaimed chef Gordon Ramsay pulls up to a struggling Cajun restaurant in a new episode of "Gordon Ramsay's 24 Hours to Hell & Back," airing Wednesday, June 20 on Fox. He spends 24 hours setting it on the path to success, and quickly discovers that the most glaring problem is that the staff lack accountability for their actions.
