

Today's anacrostic puzzle solution

Title: Shakespeare's advice: Beware trivial truths

Quote: But 'tis strange: And oftentimes, to win us to our harm, The instruments of darkness tell us truths, Win us with honest trifles, to betray 's In deepest consequence

- A. MIDNIGHT SUN ... In Utqiagvik (formerly Barrow), Alaska, May 10th/11th begins this summer phenomenon/insomniac nightmare
- B. ANNE FRANK ... World's most famous diarist
- C. CHESTNUTS ... They can be roasted on an open fire, according to a Christmas song
- D. BUTTERFLIES ... Stomach anxiety critters
- E. EYEWITNESSES ... According to psychologist Elizabeth Loftus, their "... testimony is very powerful and convincing to jurors, even though it is not particularly reliable."
- F. TOPSTONE ... The final piece capping a masonry wall
- G. HARRISON FORD ... Indiana's most well-known Jones
- H. SHERWIN- WILLIAMS ... Store at Linway Plaza which made famous this icon
- I. BOTTOMS OUT ... Reaches the lowest point of a decline
- J. ART STUDENT ... This young man, likely
- K. NC ... It's between VA and SC
- L. QUEST ... King Arthur's knights went on one in search of the Holy Grail
- M. USHERETTE ... Young lady who'll help find you your seat up in Section ZZ (the football players are ants but you saved a bundle)
- N. OUTSET ... The beginning of an endeavor

Acrostic: Macbeth's Banquo